W. P. Tyrrell of Belmond, president of the Wright County Beef Producers association, and Bernard Collins of Clarion, a key member of the Wright County Swine Producers association, were in the Iowa delegation that on Wednesday of last week attended a meeting at Omaha on the National Meat Promotion plan. Of 24 states invited to take part in the discussion, 19 had representatives on hand.

Mr. Collins was named on a committee of 11 chosen by Gov. Leo Hoegh and Nebraska's Gov. Victor E. Anderson to go before the U. S. Congress and ask enabling legislation that will make possible a nationwide check-off on livestock sales. Wilbur Plager of Des Moines, president of the National Swine Growers association and secretary of the Iowa association, was appointed chairman of the steering committee.

On the strength of polls conducted among the farmers of Wright and Cass counties in Iowa and two meat-growing counties in Nebraska, deductions from the sale price of livestock to go into the proposed promotion fund were suggested at the following rates: cattle 10 cents per hundredweight, hogs five cents and sheep 2½ cents.

Spokesmen for the raisers of range livestock for feeders showed enthusiasm for the check-off proposal, Mr. Tyrrell reports, and declared that the western stockmen could be counted on to go along with the plan. This would produce a double check-off on great numbers of livestock and fatten up the promotion fund considerably.

Mr. Tyrrell added that it was the concensus of the movement's leaders that the check-off would be the most successful if completely divorced from government and every effort is being made to keep it independent of federal controls.

Ed and Alfred Nuehring were visitors in the Rudolph Nuehring home in Mason City Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Keith of Rowan, president of the association, cordially invites attendance of the general public at these meetings. Lansing Outlines Auto Risk Plan

In an advertisement appearing in this issue of The Independent, Jack Lansing announces a new "Selective Merit Rating Plan" recently adopted by the Farmers Mutual Automobile Insurance company of Madison, Wis. Lansing, who has been local agent for the firm for the past two years, claims the new plan offers substantial savings in auto insurance premiums to Iowa motorists.

He says that the selective merit rating applies on both liability and on comprehensive and collision coverages and that the lowest rates apply when no driver under age 25 drives the car insured, and when the car is not used in business. Each risk is graded according to its merits and the company has announced that the plan applies to both farm and city dwellers.

Cooper-Stoltenberg Wedding Rites Saturday at Goldfield

MR. AND MRS. STOLTENBERG

Miss Myrna Rae Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cooper of Goldfield, became the bride of Gene E. Stoltenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stoltenberg of Belmond, at a candlelight service in the Goldfield Methodist church Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Rev. M. L. Jones of Belmond performed the double-ring ceremony in the presence of 200 guests. The altar was decorated with Easter lilies, white stalks, snapdragons and seven branch candelabra. Large, white satin bows were pew markers.

Mrs. Viola Braden played the nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. G. C. Whyte of Goldfield as she sang "Because" and "I Love Thee" preceding the ceremony and "The Wedding Prayer" as the bride and groom knelt at the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of imported Chantilly lace and nylon illusion over white satin. The bodice was of lace covered with iridescent sequins and tiny seed pearls and had French sleeves, tapered to a bridal point over the wrists. The skirt was three-tiered.

Her full circular, finger-tip veil of imported Chantilly lace was attached to a crown-shaped tiara of sequins and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of Easter lilies centered with pink sweetheart roses and a shower of satin ribbons. Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings, a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Robert Gilbert of Mason City, sister of the groom, as matron of honor wore a pink net over taffeta ballerina-length gown with a matching headband. Mrs. William Basinger of Des Moines as bride's matron wore a mint green net over taffeta ballerina-length gown with a matching headband. Both attendants carried cascade bouquets of carnations and hyacinths.

Judy Drollinger was the flower girl and wore a pink taffeta frock with matching net headband. George Whyte, Jr., ringbearer, was dressed in dark trousers and a pink coat. He carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Robert Gilbert of Mason City, brother-in-law of the groom, was bestman and William Basinger of Des Moines was groomsman. Ushers were Oscar D. Ness of Elk Horn, cousin of the bride, and Arlo Wayne Stoltenberg, cousin of the groom. The men wore dark trousers and white dinner coats and had pink carnation boutonnieres.

Marlin Stoltenberg, brother of the groom, and Marcia Stoltenberg, cousin of the groom, were candlelighters.

The mother of the bride wore a pink faille dress with navy accessories. The mother of the groom wore a navy faille dress with pink accessories. Both wore corsages of pink sweetheart roses.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. Dining room hostesses were Mrs. Leo Bartzen and Mrs. Ray Snyder of Goldfield.

Refreshments were served from a decorated serving table centered with a four-tiered wedding cake of pink and white topped with a wedding bell. Huckleberry surrounded the base of the cake.

Mrs. Oscar Ness of Forest City, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Harold Rhine of Miller, aunt of the groom, cut and served the wedding cake. Mrs. Ed Jenks of Des Moines, cousin of the bride, presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Ed Stoltenberg of Mason City, aunt of the groom, poured.

Waitresses were Bonnie Evenson and Sondra Stoltenberg, Mrs. M. O. Hansen of Ames, Beverly Stroup of Minneapolis, Patricia Sorenson of Emmons, Minn., and Sharon Larson of Des Moines.

Mrs. Robert Smith of Ottumwa, classmate of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Rolfe Holtan of Forest City, Evelyn Gangestad and Margaret Wolf of Ackley were in charge of the gift table. Mrs. Alva Hill of Goldfield was in charge of the flowers. Aline Martinek of Knoxville, cousin of the bride, played organ music during the reception.

Mrs. Stoltenberg graduated from the Goldfield High school in 1951 and attended Iowa State Teachers college for two years. She has taught in Ackley and Belmond for the past three years. Mr. Stoltenberg graduated from the Belmond High school in 1948. He served four years in the U. S. Navy and is now attending Iowa State college, Ames.

For going away, the bride chose a two-piece navy blue and white tunic dress with navy and white accessories and an Easter lily corsage. After a short wedding trip in the south, the couple will be at home in Belmond.

The wedding took place on the 32nd wedding anniversary of the groom's parents.

BELMOND HAS SLIGHT CONNECTION WITH U.S. ARMY'S "MR. MISSLE"

One of the key figures in this nation's determined struggle to keep pace with and, if possible, outstrip Russia in the battle for supremacy in the field of guided missles is a man with indirect Belmond connections. He is Brig Gen. Holger N. Toftoy, whose sister was the late wife of Ben T. Benson, who in turn is a long-time resident of this community.

Last week a lengthy article about General Toftoy appeared in the Mason City Globe-Gazette, telling of his brief residence in north Iowa as a young man and of the prominence he has gained as an expert in his unusual field.

The Toftoy family lived for a time on a farm that is now the site of the Mason City airport. During that epriod, General Toftoy worked for a few summers in Mason City. In the intervening years, he has become one of the nation's most intriguing military figures and his story has been told in such widely read publications at Time, Life and NewsWeek magazines.

The Globe-Gazette reported, "While responsible for the entire Army program (concerned with guided missles and rockets), General Toftoy's most dramatic contribution in the field was probably fact that he brought some 130 top missle scientists from Germany just as the western front was cracking to pieces in 1945."

North Iowa has good reason to take pride in its rather slight claim to this man who is the nation's No. 1 hope, should the nightmare of intercontinental push-button warfare ever become an actuality. And Mr. Benson is frankly proud of the relationship by marriage that gives him such a personal interest in the general who has won the nickname "Mr. Missle."

Farmers Warned To Keep Eye On Grain In Storage

With warmer weather ahead, it is advisable for farmers to do some careful checking of farm stored grain which they have under price support loans, the Wright county ASC committee warned this week.

They said that a little effort now to examine stored grain for possible damage and contamination from rodents, birds, insects, heating and excess moisture may prevent losses from lowered quality. As a general thing, there is little loss during cold weather, they pointed out; but when the temperature climbs, conditions become more favorable for damage.

The committee emphasized that the producer who has a loan on farm-stored commodities has full responsibility for both their quantity and quality.

"A price-support loan is made on a specified amount and grade of corn, oats, soybeans or whatever commodity is involved," they declared. "It is a non-recourse loan only while the quantity and quality of the commodity are equal to or better than when the loan was made."

The committee pointed out that if the farmer pays off his loan and sells the grain, he will get less for it if the grain is damaged or below loan quality. If the farmer delivers the grain to the government in satisfaction of the loan, the settlement will be based strictly on the quantity and quality at the time of delivery and any deficiency must be paid by the farmer.

It is suggested that any farmer who discovers trouble in his stored grain and does not know what to do to correct it should notify the county ASC office immediately and also ask advice, either from the ASC office or the county extension office. Prompt action is of greatest importance.

Card of Thanks

Thanks for the floral and memorial tributes and all other kindnesses shown during the death of our husband and father. A special thanks to the Helping Hand Society for serving lunch. Mrs. Otto S. Strasburg and family. 25t1

I have no words with which to express my deep appreciation to Doctors Pitcher, Leinbach and Hruska for their skill and conscientious care during my surgery and in the days following. To the entire staff at Belmond Community hospital, my heartfelt thanks.

To Pastor Severseike and relatives and friends here and elsewhere, who were faithful in prayer for me throughout my illness, for every kindness extended to me, my humble thanks. And above all to my Heavenly Father, who is granting to me a fine recovery, I want to say with the Psalmist of old, "Bless the Lord . . . and forget not all His benefits . . . who healeth all thy diseases".

Jens P. Johnson 25t1*

I wish to thank all those who gave flowers, the many who came in to offer their good wishes and all who in any way helped to make the opening day of my business a success. Herman Janssen. g25t1

It's usable horsepower that counts!

Rated horsepower figures don't tell the whole story of truck performance!

Many passenger-car-type engines have to strain at the job of developing power to pull a normal load. They have to "give it all they've got" to move their loads and keep them rolling, cost big money in wear, repair and shortened life.

INTERNATIONAL Truck engines—built for trucks—turn at relatively low rpm—deliver high usable power at normal road speeds. They are part of the all-truck engineering that asks no passenger car component to do a truck job—part of the thinking that builds trucks stronger, to last longer . . . save you the BIG money in operating and maintenance costs.

Come in and let us give you all the facts!

ZONING AND PLANNING AREN'T MATTERS OF WHIM, BUT IMPORTANT GUIDE POSTS

There is one thing that should be kept in mind as we citizens of Belmond evaluate the proposition of city zoning and planning to the end of deciding if its adoption would enhance our community's future. A phenomenal increase in our national population is a statistical certainty during the next few decades — and a corresponding increment is in store for those cities and towns that set out to KEEP their share.

These coming years of growth will see some communities progressing and prospering, others struggling to hold their own, and many surrendering vital segments of their population to the attractions of centers offering greater opportunities.

Where are we going to fit into that picture? At present, many of us view the possibility of bringing new industry to Belmond from the standpoint that, "It would be nice, but . . ." Let's not kid ourselves. Another five, 10 or 15 years may see Belmond's greatest prospect of "growing with the country" hinge directly upon whether it can HOLD the natural increment in ITS population by providing more jobs. And that calls for some careful planning for the future.

Necessity recently forced us to erect a new sewage disposal plant, the need for which might have been clearly seen many years in advance. The time is coming when similar necessity is going to leave us no choice but to expand our water facilities. In how many other regards are we going to be FORCED into action unless we do some systematic planning NOW?

This question introduces another. What does a firm look for in seeking a new industrial site? These are the major factors: an appearance that testifies civic pride, competence of city government, competence of the fire department, water rates and sufficiency of pressure and supply, adequacy of police department, traffic conditions and congestion.

Also hospital facilities, condition and capacity of sewer facilities and ability to handle industrial wastes labor supply, adequacy of school facilities, adequacy of recreational facilities, availability of transportation means, site location—and, INEVITABLY, existence of CITY ZONING AND PLANNING.

It is not a matter of whim that the Civic Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce views establishment of a zoning and planning commission as so vital. Neither is it any reflection upon our hardworking mayor and councilmen, whose time is so fully occupied by problems of the day.

If you want the brightest possible future for your children and your children's children—HERE, in the town which you take pride in calling "HOME"—then the problem of zoning and planing is one of legitimate and logical concern to YOU.

PAROLE BOARD ATTITUDE TOWARD TOM RUNYON IS COMPLETELY INEXCUSABLE

We have watched with more than passing interest the efforts that have been made in late weeks to obtain a hearing for Tom Runyon before the state parole board. We would like to add our opinion to that of Wiley Beveridge, expressed last week in the Clarion Monitor — and those of a great many other Iowans whose respect Runyon has won — that he is not getting a fair shake.

We have several times commented on Runyon and the law-breaking spree — which included theft of an auto at the outskirts of Belmond back in 1935 — that led to the life sentence he is now serving. In an autobiography he had published a year or so ago, he made no excuse for the misspent, early years of his life and no plea for sympathy. But his many good works in behalf of his fellow prisoners and the influence he has had in bringing about prison reforms as editor of and writer for the prison magazine "Presidio" leave little question as to the completeness of his rehabilitation.

Bitterly opposing Runyon's chance at freedom is 60-year-old Mrs. Virginia Bedell of Spirit Lake, who has taken deep offense at criticisms Runyon has directed at the parole board — in the interest of other prisoners, it should be noted. The resulting dispute between Mrs. Bedell and the influential supporters of Tom Runyon's desire for a hearing lays open to serious question the philosophy of the parole board and its understanding of its responsibilities.

It is to be assumed that the board members, and particularly Mrs. Bedell, view punishment as the primary objective of imprisonment rather than rehabilitation. If this IS their viewpoint — an unenlightened throwback to a day long passed — a housecleaning on the parole board is past due. When personal considerations prevail over unprejudiced examination of cases on their own merits, such a body has reached the limit of its usefulness.

Indicative of Mrs. Bedell's animosity is her accusation that Runyon committed "one of the most brutal and unprovoked and inexcusable murders in Iowa history." That Runyon was an accessory to the murder of a helpless, Britt farmer is true. But Mrs. Bedell must know that it was subsequently proved that Runyon DID NOT fire the fatal bullet. She patently chooses to distort the truth to put the nationally-famed lifer in the most unfavorable light possible.

Tom Runyon is deserving of a parole hearing —AND a parole — if ever a prisoner was. That he is denied even the privilege of a hearing does incalculable harm to the reputation of penology in Iowa. Governor Hoegh could well bear this in mind when estimating the degree of his responsibility in the matter.

Loop Cagers Only Make Honor Roll

Sports writers of the Iowa Daily Press association very clearly did not regard the top North Iowa conference teams of the 1955-56 campaign on a par with the Belmond powerhouse aggregations that dominated NIC play during the two seasons preceding.

Whereas the Broncos' Ron Hansen was an all-state second team IDPA choice last year and Ken Loats was named to the fourth team in '54, the best the North Iowa loop could do this year was grab a half dozen listings on the honor roll.

Jerry Chandler, BHS junior guard, was one of the six NIC cagers given honorable mention as the IDPA annual all-state selections were released last week.

Three of the league's other backcourt stars also were cited: Darrell Belville and Jim Brosdahl of Lake Mills and DuWayne Carnes of Northwood. Loren Moen, Lake Mills, was the only NIC center to make the honor roll and Dick Halland of Northwood the only forward.

In the Des Moines Register's all-state selections published Sunday, Lake Mills grabbed most of the glory insofar as the North Iowa loop was concerned. The Bulldogs' Darrell Kinden made the honor roll at forward, Loren Moen at center and Darrell Belville, guard.

Dale Nielson, Britt's classy forward, was the only other NIC honor roll nominee. It is noteworthy that not a single player from the championship Northwood aggregation was even given honor roll listing.

BHS Tracksters Have Ten Meets On '55 Schedule

Coach Dick Hobbs announced this week that BHS track men this spring face the heaviest schedule of meets in the school's history. Ten engagements have been lined up for the thin-clads and more than two dozen boys are currently hard at practice.

More Candidates Wanted

In addition to these, the following are also out for track at present: Roland Jenison, Duane Lowenberg, Kenny Langlitz, Dick Kuhlers, Jerry Chandler, Larry Schimp, Larry Stadtlander, Jon Green, Bill Halfwassen, Ted Thompson, Bill Ayers, Donavan Goeman, Tom McNulty and Jon Mehus.

It is the hope of Coach Hobbs that several more will join the squad as weather conditions permit serious work outside. He has been having the boys work outdoors at every opportunity and says that quite a bit of promising new talent is showing up.

Two Dates Indefinite

No definite dates have been set for the Bison Relays at Buffalo Center and a triangular that will pit the Broncos against Clear Lake and some other team, at Clear Lake.

April 14 — Valley Relays, West Des Moines.
April 17 — Triangular with Forest City and Ventura, Forest City.
April 20 — Eagle Relays, Eagle Grove.
April 27 — Triangular with Clarion and Britt, Clarion.
May 8 — Mohawk Relays, Mason City.
May 12 — District meet, site indefinite.

Two "Hot" Series Posted by Albers

Eddie Albers last Thursday night turned in the hottest evening of Bowling that Bowl-Mor Lanes has ever witnessed as he topped league play in both the Mainstreeter and Boardsplitter leagues. He totalled 1,365 pins for six lines, averaging 227.5 per game for the night.

Rolling as lead-off for Tip Top in the Mainstreeter loop he had a high game of 256 and a series score of 684. Anchoring Belmond Hardware of the Boardsplitters he had a best game of 257 and a three-game total of 681. With the Hardwaremen he also had a pair of 212's, and with the Tip Top 223 and 205.

Paced by that 223, the Tip-Toppers in the second game racked up the highest net team game of the season with 1,013 pins. Jack Crosby helped out with a 213, Jack Lobdell contributed a 212, Anson Avery a 193 and Maynard Holmgaard 172. Their gross of 1,108 was also one of the year's best.

Growing Old... to serve you better

Ever since the first ROCKET chugged bravely over the midwest prairies, 104 years ago, the Rock Island has been doing a 24-hour-a-day transportation job for its patrons.

And it has never stopped growing—growing in the sense that it is constantly improving service and facilities.

This growth means many things. To shippers it could mean covered hoppers . . . or damage-free cars . . . or those mighty, mobile power plants, the ROCKET FREIGHTS . . . or perhaps the Convert-a-Frate cars, soon to come.

To travelers it certainly would mean Rock Island's fleet of modern, light-weight ROCKETS, including the famous Golden State (Chicago-Los Angeles) . . . and it could mean the new Jet Rocket now in service between Chicago and Peoria.

It also means a capable personnel, those willing-to-serve Rock Island representatives who consider it a privilege to help you with your shipping or travel problems.

V-8 WINS CLASS A

In this year's Economy Run a new Ford V-8, with Fordomatic, was the official victor over every car in its field, with a winning average of 47.7643 ton-miles per gallon. This means that the sturdier, heavier Ford carried more weight, with greater gas economy per pound, than any car in its field.

This latest Ford victory was scored over a rough and rigorous 1,468.8-mile route running from Los Angeles to Colorado Springs. Through the heat of Death Valley and over chilling mountain heights . . . through gas-eating city traffic and over the straight-line open road . . . Ford proved anew its traditional reputation for economical performance.

The winning Ford was a regular-production model taken right from the assembly line. It was no different than thousands of '56 Fords you see on the road and in dealer's showrooms. This proves that Ford, the Performance, Style and Safety leader, leads in Economy, too! That adds up to four big reasons why the '56 Ford is worth more when you buy it, while you drive it, and when you sell it, too!

The "ton-mile" formula is used by contest officials to insure equal chance for all cars in each class, regardless of size or weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by the number of miles traveled, divided by number of gallons of gasoline consumed.

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Preparing 'Way Back When items for this week, Ye Ed noted with interest a statement of ownership of the Belmond Printing and Publishing Co., precursor of The Belmond Publishing company. Today's firm is owned soley by the three Mainstreeters; but 40 years ago, a fair share of the entire countryside had part ownership in the firm that published the Herald-Press.

W. C. Ramsay was editor and business manager of the H-P, directly aided and abetted by his twin brother, Wallace R. Ramsay. Co-owners included a number of individuals of present or recent prominence in Belmond: C. C. McGuire, Chester Luick, Ray Klemme, Era Luick, Herman Schultz, George Elder, Oscar Jacobson and W. C. Tyrrell, Jr.

But that's just a start. Others were: Mrs. J. D. Ames, A. L. Luick, John Berg, C. O. Fitts, W. J. Morse, J. H. Ramsay (Clarion), E. Luick, H. F. Luick, W. H. and J. W. Ramsay (Garner), M. D. Sullivan, T. A. Davenport, J. L. McAlpine, P. J. McBurney, Joseph Bohning, W. W. Goetz, B. J. Johnson, J. J. Barry F. A. Stevens and C. N. Reese.

—M-S—

The Mainstreeters always manage to get along amicably on matters of practice and policy. Can't recall ANY disagreements of consequence. So near as we know, the brothers Ramsay never experienced any difficulties due to too many cooks, either. But Ye Ed will readily concede he's happy not to have so many people looking over his shoulder when he sits down to generate some editorial observations.

—M-S—

A card to the Mainstreeters from Larry Murray, who's soaking up sun down at Phoenix, Ariz., was good for some first-hand dope on a prominent Belmondite-by-adoption, Foster Castleman, husband of the former Joyce Waddington. Wrote the wandering engineer:

"The 2nd best player Saturday was Castleman. He hit four out of five when the Giants needed them and did a good job at 3rd. Besides, he is a pleasant, sincere, hard-working and generally fine person to be around."

Who was the Giants' best that day? Remember that Willy Mays was homering all over the place last Saturday. Larry commented, "This Mays is amazing, both at bat and in the field. Like this Rigney, too!" . . . Larry adds, "Got a sunburn the first day here."

—M-S—

We know one fellow in town who is so firmly resolved that Belmond shall be the site of driver's license examinations at least once a month that he has permitted his license to remain expired for the past six months. He says he'll renew it when examinations are administered locally. If he gets in a fender-rumpling tangle before the highway patrol assigns an examiner here, we'll let you know when visiting hours are. He's probably just stubborn enough that he wouldn't pay the fine, either — as a matter of principle.

Just a word of warning to the male readers of this column, so they won't wonder how come the cold stare from their wife's mother next Sunday — that is, if she's learned that it's National Mother-in-Law Day. Yep, that's right. Next thing you know, they'll be coming out with a Shirt-tail Relations Day. That ought to mean presents for just about everybody.

Frankly, we don't think this Mother-in-Law deal will go over. Since a woman MUST, in the natural order of things, be a Mother before she's a Mother-in-law she naturally qualifies for bouquets on Mother's Day. Most mother-in-laws are pretty good janes. But do they rate a double round of presents just because they succeeded in marrying off an offspring? . . . We just don't think it'll go.

The gents who dream up the special weeks give us bread-winners ONE kind of a break, anyway. Mother-in-Law Day (April 8) is ALSO the first day of Noise Abatement Week. So if you run into any arguments over failure to observe the former, you should be well within your rights to utter a stern "sh-h-h-h!!" Or just laugh it off. April 8-16 is also American Comedy Week.

—M-S—

We have it on the word of a gentleman of responsible reputation that a couple of respected, Belmond housewives were seen recently at the city dump scavenging some discarded furniture. Though we have complete confidence in the dependability of our informant, our libel fund is a little low right at the moment, so we're not going into this matter in any further detail.

—M-S—

Eldon Boyd, president of the Centennial Whisker club, says he's been receiving quite a few inquiries as to where Shaver's Permits can be obtained. Men choosing to take the easy way out (few wives seem to be very tickled by the growth of a beard by their mate — they don't get close enough) and retain sleek jowls can purchase the required permits at Thompson & Keleher Clothiers, Belmond Hardware, Swede's Tavern, the Smoke Shop, Redmond's Billiard hall or the P&G (Ron Smith's your man, there).

CARD PARTY FRIDAY

A benefit card party under sponsorship of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held at 8:00 Friday at Veterans' Memorial hall. A parcel post sale will be conducted in conjunction with the [illegible]. Admission at 50 cents [illegible] will include prizes and [illegible] the general public is in-

Bethany Reformed's Congregation Will Dedicate New Church Next Wednesday

Dedication of the newly completed Bethany Reformed church will be held on Wednesday of next week, with worship services being planned for both afternoon and evening. The dedication climaxes building plans that were launched not long after the church was formed on Feb. 1, 1953. Starting with a charter membership of 39, the pastor, Rev. Ralph Meyer, reports that the church now has more than 60 members.

Larry Dorr, representing the contracting firm of A. R. Dorr Sons, will open the dedication ceremonies by handing keys to the new sanctuary to the chairman of the building committee, Andrew Bohning. Others who served on this committee were Bud Boelman and Ernest Eckhoff.

Afternoon Service 2:15

The formal dedication service will be held in the church nave starting at 2:15 p. m. Guest speaker will be the former supervisor of the Bethany congregation, Rev. Johann Schmidt, pastor of the Zion Reformed church near Chapin. Special music for this service will be provided by Mrs. Rena Pals as pianist and by the choir, with Norman Pals as soloist.

An open house and social hour will be held following the afternoon service, from approximately 6:45 p. m. until 7:45, during which time members of the Bethany congregation will be happy to have their friends of the community view the facilities of the church.

Guests Will Be Welcome

Guest speaker for the evening service at 8:00 o'clock will be Rev. LeRoy Nattress, a member of the faculty of Northwestern Junior college at Orange City. Mrs. Mavis Ruter will be pianist for the evening and will accompany Mr. Meyer in a vocal solo and the choir. Two songs will be sung by the Sunday school children, with Karon Bohning as accompanist.

Mr. Meyer offers in behalf of the Bethany congregation a cordial invitation to all friends of the church to witness the dedication ceremonies and to inspect the new church home.

Construction of the 60x32 foot, brick-sheathed structure was started Sept. 1. It has a full basement and is adjoined on the south by a 17x11-foot bell tower that extends 35 feet in height, to the top of its spire. Long range plans call for the present edifice to serve ultimately as a religious education unit, with a large auditorium to be built on at some later date. Overall cost of the new church approximated $31,000.

Board to Solicit Annual Fuel Bids

Tuesday, April 24, at 10:00 a. m. was the date and hour set this week by the county board of supervisors for letting of contracts to supply the county's 1956-57 needs for gasoline and diesel fuel.

Skelly Oil company has held the contract for the year's period just ending. Its winning bids were 3.56 cents off of tank wagon price on gasoline and 2.5 cents off wagon price on diesel fuel.

Other action taken by the board at its meeting this week included rejection of a request by Don Champlin, secretary for the Soldiers Relief commission, for a raise in salary. Champlin currently receives $250 per month and had applied for an increase of $50.

Eldon "Bud" Loats Gets Advancement

Eldon F. "Bud" Loats, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Loats, has just been assigned to a new job with the Fine Division of the American Cynamid company, representing an important advancement for him as a salesman of drug supplies. He was released by the Lederle Division of American Cynamid, which he has served with outstanding success for the past four years, so he could take advantage of the opportunity that was opened to him.

A new preservative chemical is produced by Fine that has been highly successful in keeping poultry without freezing and enables it to retain top flavor for a greater period of time. Several local stores have been offering for sale "Acronized" chickens that have been treated with the preservative and state that customers are reporting very favorably on them.

Mr. Loats will contact large poultry packing houses throughout the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys to introduce the new product. His wide territory, which he will have to cover by air, is prompting him to move his wife and four children from Atkins, near Cedar Rapids, to Dubuque.

It is believed by the producers of the new preservative that it will prove just as successful in the red-meat and fish packing industries as it has been in the poultry trade. Consequently, "Bud" considers that his new assignment offers virtually unlimited possibilities.

Since he joined with Lederle following his discharge from Korean war duty in April of 1952, Mr. Loats has enjoyed very unusual success in his field. Two years ago he won the company's Gold Cup award for sale of veterinary pharmaceuticals, being one of only five salesmen in the nation to be so recognized.

During the past week, Mr. Loats was at Fine Division's headquarters in New York City being briefed in his new job. It is his parents' understanding that he will start his new work as soon as he can get his family settled in their new home.

E. Brunes Again Scribe of County TB Association

Ethel Brunes of Belmond was re-elected secretary of the Wright County Tuberculosis and Health association at that organization's recent annual meeting held at Clarion. Other officers are: Dr. R. F. McCool, Clarion, president; Mrs. A. B. Parsons, Eagle Grove, vice president; and Charles Kramer, Clarion, treasurer.

It was reported at the meeting that $4,313.09 was realized from the 1955 sale of Christmas seals, representing a gain of $251.42 over the 1954 proceeds. Donations from Eagle Grove, Clarion and Belmond all exceeded those of the previous year. Belmond contributions, at $642.30, reached an all-time high. A good share of the towns and townships reported increases over '54.

Eagle Grove's seal campaign brought a total of $1,016.25 and Clarion's $899.88. On a per capita basis, Belmond topped the list with an average of 29.6 cents per person, followed by Clarion with 28.5 and Eagle Grove with 24.3.

Out of the total county proceeds, 39 per cent is turned in to the Iowa Tuberculosis and Health association and 14 per cent goes to the Iowa Heart association for use in heart research. A further donation by the county group for heart research is contemplated and details regarding the contribution will be forthcoming next week.

Following the performance, the Greenlanders were joined by dancers of the company and Mr. Mrs. Robert Vance of Mason City for lunch.

Burdsal New Head Of Toastmasters

Officers elected last week by the Belmond Toastmasters club to guide the organization during 1956-57 were installed during the course of a Ladies Night dinner program held last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rosene.

Tom Burdsal was elected to succeed Al Mueller as president. Mr. Mueller, as installing officer, also inducted the following into offices to which they were newly elected: Dick McFarlin, educational vice president; Rev. Ralph Meyer, administrative vice president; Bob Rosene, secretary-treasurer; and Eugene Griffin, sergeant-at-arms.

Wednesday night's dinner climaxed a membership drive which added six names to the club's roll of members. The winning team was to eat steak and the losers, beans; but since the contest resulted in a tie, everyone ate steak. The dinner was a pot-luck affair, with the club's treasury providing the steaks.

Sewer Bond Sale Set for April 16

Notice of the city council appears in this issue that $60,000 in municipal sewer construction bonds will be offered for sale to the best bidder at par plus accrued interest on April 16.

These bonds will be used to finance the sewer construction, for which contract was let last week at $71,157.50. Reason for the lower amount of the bond issue is accounted for by the fact that Clarence Kirkendall will meet some $13,000 of the total expense—for that portion of the sewer extension that will directly serve Kirkendall addtion.

The bonds will be written in amounts of $1,000, with blocks of $5,000 to mature on Nov. 1 of each year from 1957 through 1968.

Three Girls Sent To Wayward Home

Judge G. R. Hill in Wright county district juvenile court at Clarion last Saturday sentenced to terms at the state training school for girls at Mitchellville the three Belmond girls he'd found guilty of delinquency earlier in the week.

He declared the trio — ages 17, 15 and 14 — to be incorrigible. However, he paroled them to the Home of the Good Shepherd — a home for wayward girls at Sioux City — on good behavior.

Judge Hill ruled that the girls would not be committed to Mitchellville unless later actions should call for such a step. Their sentences were to age 21, or until such time as they might sooner be released and discharged by the state board of control.

Shower of CGD $$$ Descended

April showers—of coin of the realm—really descended on Main street Tuesday. In fact, $175 in Cash Gift Day money deluged lucky number holders before the downpour was over. At 3:00 o'clock, Mrs. Wilmer Gabrielson was splattered $100 worth. At 2:00 p. m., pleasant sprinkles of $25 each had brought smiles to the faces of Geraldine Jenison, Stanley Moe and to Mrs. John Wiemann of Alexander. The only numbers that didn't "bring rain" were 1,209, 3,314 and 3,840 at 2:00 p. m. and 3,638 at 3:00 o'clock. After that cloudburst of cash, the CGD committee finds its fund dried up a bit; but there'll still be five $25's to go for at 2:00 next Tuesday, and one $100 award at 3:00.

Top Grade Honors In Junior High To Diane Fetrow

Seventh-grader Diane Fetrow topped the junior high school honor roll for the third quarter of the current year with 24 grade points, representing straight A's in all her subjects. With an A counting four points and a B three, an 18 total—the equivalent of a B-average—is required for listing on the honor roll.

Nineteen students in seventh grade, in addition to Diane, earned places on the honor roll during the third quarter. After the roll leader came Dennis Anderson and Conrad Krass with 22; Jay Mennenga, Kay Stecher, Mike Taylor and Paul Thompson, 21; Nancy Gabrielson, Barbara Musselman, Howard Pals and Diane Sorenson, 20.

With 19 points were Lynne Boller, Kirk Cunningham, Diane Kessler, Jerry Jenison and Betty Just; and with 18 points—Dale Gabrielson, Nadyne Johnson, Miran Kling and Roland Schroder.

In the eighth grade, Lynn Jenison missed a straight-A average by only a point, totaling 23; and he was followed by Ilene Miller and Rosalie Griffin with 22 each.

At 21 were Mary Lou Cox, Carol Finn, Nancy Gallagher, Ardith Pals and Gary Ruka; 20—Duane Dorenkamp; 19—Merle Anderson and Jeff Hansen; and 18—Linda Hauge, Larry Kramer and Linda Stevens. Fifteen, in all, made the eighth grade honor roll.

Lions Award Dr. Leinbach 1955 Man-of-Year Honors

DR. S. P. LEINBACH

Dr. S. P. Leinbach was named the Lions club's choice as Belmond's Man-of-the-Year for 1955 at that organization's regular meeting Tuesday noon at Jones Cafe. He was awarded an appropriately inscribed desk pen set denoting the honor bestowed upon him.

In his acceptance, Doctor Leinbach modestly described himself as "merely the front man for the great many people who have helped to make Belmond the fine health center it is."

Marked 20th Anniversary

Selection of the respected physician as Man-of-the-Year was prompted by his leadership in making Belmond one of the nation's really outstanding rural health centers, the many civic services he has performed for his home community and also to give recognition to the statewide esteem he has won for work in the field of rural medicine.

Last July, Doctor Leinbach reached the 20th anniversary of his entry into medical practice in Belmond. In the intervening years he has served on the city council, the school board, on the official board of the Methodist church and has been a consistantly staunch proponent of all undertakings for the betterment of the community.

Clinic Virtually Unique

He has been the guiding spirit behind the creation of a health center here that has won a nationwide reputation in medical circles. He has followed up on plans originally launched with his late partner, Dr. G. H. Steele, in creating a clinic virtually unique in a town of Belmond's size. And the presence of the fine medical talent he has assembled was an important influence in the successful campaign to erect the new community hospital that Belmond now possesses.

In addition to his influence at home, Doctor Leinbach has won the high regard of physicians throughout the state for his efforts to raise rural health standards. His reputation in this regard last year led to his appointment as a member of the Iowa State Board of Health.

Heads Rural Health Group

He was already serving as chairman of the Iowa State Medical Society's important subcommittee on rural health and had previously headed its grievance committee.

During the past year or so he has furthered the cause of improved rural health in Iowa by helping coordinate the private endeavors of various, interested agencies toward this common end. He played an important role in helping to inspire recent establishment of an Institute of Agricultural Medicine at the University of Iowa, which is the only institute of its kind.

GMI Plant Adds Office Manager

Keith Wiggins, lately of Minneapolis, on Monday of this week assumed the duties of office manager at the office of the General Mills soybean processing plant here. He succeeds Henry Stokke in the position.

Mr. Stokke, since coming to the Belmond plant in May of 1948, has served both as office manager and soybean buyer. Growth of the soybean enterprise, plus addition of the responsibility for whole-grain purchasing for the new feed mill, in the past year so expanded Mr. Stokke's duties that it was necessary to relieve him of the office managership.

Besides his buying activities, Mr. Stokke will engage in selling of soybean oil meal in the Iowa territory and intends to spend two or three days a week traveling in this connection.

Mr. Wiggins is a native of Keswick, Ia., attended Iowa Weslyan university for two years and was graduated from the University of Iowa in 1951. After his freshman year in college he spent two years in the U. S. Navy, being attached to the Naval Air Transport Service in California. He joined General Mills five years ago and has been employed in the accounting department of the soybean division at the Minneapolis head office.

$25 TO HOSPITAL

Belmond Community hospital recently received a memorial gift in the amount of $25, contributed by relatives and friends of the late George Kalkwarf.

R. M. EVANS
Will Speak in Belmond

Demos Plan Dinner on April 19th

Wright county's revitalized Democratic forces plan to hold a dinner at Belmond's Veterans' Memorial hall on Thursday, April 19, to foment interest in the party's vigorous effort to present a strong ticket in this year's election. The affair is under sponsorship of the Wright County Democratic Women. All voters of independent leanings are being urged to hear the three speakers who have been engaged for the evening's program.

Two candidates for important offices will be heard — R. M. "Spike" Evans of Arnold's Park, who is seeking the U. S. Senatorial nomination; and Rev. Merwin Coad of Boone, candidate for nomination as a contender for the post of U S. Representative from the 6th District. Mrs. Herbert Arthur of Ames, chairman of the Democratic Women of Iowa, is also to speak.

Was AAA Administrator

Mr. Evans has had a distinguished career as a spokesman for agriculture. An Iowa State college graduate, he lived in Australia briefly following World War I, where he engaged in the export-import business. A yearning for Iowa brought him back to this state, however, and he entered the general farming and livestock business near Laurens, where he still conducts a farm operation.

In 1933 he was appointed a member of the committee which originated the Corn-Hog Program and in November of that year he was appointed chairman of the first corn-hog committee to serve Iowa. He was appointed as a special assistant to the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture in 1936 and two years later became national administrator of the Triple-A farm program. In 1940, the sugar section of the crop insurance program and the Soil Conservation Service were added to his responsibilities.

Urges 90% Parity

President Roosevelt in 1942 appointed Mr. Evans as agriculture's representative on the Federal Reserve Board. When his term on the board expired in 1954, he returned to Iowa.

Mr. Evans is a staunch supporter of the move to restore 90 per cent of parity supports and is in favor of parity payments to producers of livestock if necessary to increase the prices of livestock and livestock products. He also has recommended expansion of the school lunch program to use up surpluses and making additional food available to families in need.

Detailed information on the other two dinner speakers will appear next week.

WHETHER the significance of this picture lies in the determination of local Democrats to "spike" the Republicans' guns, or if the golden spikes simply pay homage to U. S. Senatorial candidate R. M. "Spike" Evans of Arnold's Park was not made clear when it was delivered to The Independent. At any rate, Gerald McNulty is shown delivering honorary spikes to the first purchasers of tickets to the Democratic dinner that will be held at Veterans' Memorial hall on April 19. Could those be smiles of anticipated victory on the faces of (left to right) Ervin Johnson, Jim McMurray and Vernon McLaughlin? Mr. Evans will be one of three prominent speakers scheduled to speak at the dinner.

Lightning Causes Power Stoppage

While Belmond went relatively unscathed by the high winds that struck this vicinity Monday evening, after a temperature rise to the high 70's in the afternoon, the accompanying storm was responsible for about a half hour break in electrical service.

Cecil Carstens, local manager for Iowa Electric Light and Power company, says the power interruption resulted when lightning struck the company's diesel generating plant at Britt. Switching equipment on two generating engines was burned out and considerable additional damage was done.

Switches at both the Belmond generating plant and the one at Iowa Falls, from which this community was receiving its power at the time, were automatically kicked out by the mishap at Britt. Close to 30 minutes was required to discover the source of the trouble and make certain it was safe to resume the distribution of electricity.

One large tree in the city park was blown down by Monday night's wind. The only damaged caused was to a picnic table upon which the tree fell.

VFW Installation Set for Tonight

Larson In Lucky Escape Following Car Crash Sunday

Larry Larson, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Larson, escaped with only a painfully bruised shoulder as the car he was driving went into a ditch early Sunday morning, rolled over and threw him into a roadside field.

Home to spend Easter vacation from his classes at the University of Iowa, Larry had been to the Surf ballroom at Clear Lake with some friends. He had been dropped off at his parents' home on the party's return to Belmond to get his father's car and then saw his girl friend to her Kanawha home.

On his way back to Belmond he was traveling the gravel road two miles north of town and arrived at Highway 69 before he'd expected to. He was unable to negotiate the turn south and the car went into the east ditch. After he'd been thrown clear, Larry said the hurtling car appeared certain to roll over him but was deflected by a fence post.

Other than the bruised shoulder, Larry was unhurt and was able to resume his school work at Iowa City on Monday. The car was extensively damaged.

Latest Selection Order for Draft Told by Chairman

Garfield Halverson, Sr., chairman of the Wright county local selective service board, announces that a new order of selection has been established for 1-A and 1-A-0 registrants, exclusive of special registrants—doctors, dentists and veterinarians. Regular registrants will be selected and ordered to report for induction in the following sequence:

(1) Delinquents who have attained the age of 19 years. "A delinquent," Mr. Halverson explained, "is a registrant who fails or neglects to perform any duty required of him under the act."

(2) Volunteers who have not attained the age of 26 years in the sequence in which they have volunteered for induction.

(3) Non-volunteers who have attained the age of 19 years and have not attained the age of 26 years and who do not have a child or children with whom they maintain a bona fide family relationship in their home, the oldest being selected first. The chairman says, "a registrant who has abandoned his family or who is divorced and no longer maintains a bona fide family relationship falls in this category."

(4) Non-volunteers who have attained the age of 19 years and have not attained the age of 26 years and who have a child or children with whom they maintain a bona fide family relationship in their home, the oldest being selected first.

"It's too late to notify the board of changes in family status after the Order to Report for Induction has been mailed The time to bring such information to the attention of the board is at once, so the board can act on it." Mr. Halverson explained.

(5) Non-volunteers who have attained the age of 26 years, in the order of their dates of birth, the youngest man selected first.

(6) Non-volunteers who have attained the age of 18 years and six months and who have not attained the age of 19 years, in the order of their dates of birth, the oldest being selected first.

"You can see immediately" Mr. Halverson said, "how very necessary it is for all registrants to keep their local boards informed at all times of any changes that might affect their classification, such as change in schools, address, employment, births, deaths, etc. Our local board clerk, Golda B. Hecox, is always on hand to help and advise any registrant who needs information or assistance."

Collisions Cause Less Than Half Of Car Fatalities

Less than half of last year's 510 fatal traffic accidents in Iowa involved collisions between motor vehicles, the state safety department reported today.

Clinton Moyer, state safety commissioner, said 223 fatal accidents occurred when cars or trucks collided, 214 occurred when cars hit fixed objects, overturned, or ran off the highways, and 73 accidents were pedestrian or car-train accidents

Moyer said the number of noncollision fatal accidents indicates that "individual failure to adjust to road conditions is one of our most serious problems."

Of the 606 persons killed last year, 235 died in non-collision accidents compared to 214 in 1954. Moyer's report was based on a summary of fatal accidents in 1955 just released by the safety department.

According to the report, 753 drivers were involved in the fatal accidents last year. Sixty-five of them were driving faster than 70 miles-per-hour when the accidents occurred.

Ninety-nine of the drivers had been drinking, 35 apparently fell asleep at the wheel, and 90 were residents of other states, according to the report.

The 606 deaths last year were six less than in 1954.

IOWA LEADS NATION IN AMOUNTS OF CORN UNDER SUPPORT, RESEAL

Iowa continues to hold a prominent place in the national grain price support picture, the Wright county ASC committee reports. Of all the 1955-crop corn under price support in 38 reporting states by mid-February, 29.4 per cent was in Iowa, according to the latest summary released by the agriculture department in Washington. Iowa led all the states as to the amount of 1955 corn under support. Illinois was second with 23.5 per cent of the national total.

Although the involved quantities were much smaller than those of corn, Iowa had 32.1 per cent of all the 1955 soybeans under support in the United States on Feb. 15th. Iowa's percentage of all 1955 oats under support in the nation on the same date was 13.4.

Iowa had well over half of the 1954-crop corn which had been resealed in the nation by mid-February, and also more than half of the 1953-crop corn which had been placed under extended reseal. Over one-seventh of all the 1954 oats resealed in the nation by February 15th was on Iowa farms.

Following are the amounts of 1955 grain under price support on Feb. 15 in the nation, in Iowa and in Wright county, respectively: corn — 300,197,970 bushels, 88,455,911 and 2,015,939; oats — 67,852,041, 9,139,944 and 121,651; soybeans — 29,987,938, 9,644,633 and 186,867.

Reseal figures for the nation, Iowa and Wright county, in that order, include: 1954-crop corn — 45,199,007 bushels, 24,584,719 and 695,733; 1953-crop corn — 38,843,680, 20,477,373 and 391,077; 1954-crop oats—7,598,570, 1,095,638 and 10,805.

The five top states for 1955 corn under support on Feb. 15 had the following amounts under loans and purchase agreements: Iowa 88.4 million bushels, Illinois 70.8 million, Minnesota 43.1 million, Indiana 25.2 million, Missouri 15.7 million.

Albers Takes City All-Events; Averages 215 Per Line

Eddie Albers copped a lion's share of the glory as the 6th annual men's city bowling tournament was held last week at Bowl-Mor Lanes. He averaged better than 215 pins per game to take the all-events title with a record-breaking 2,039 that included only 99 handicap pins for the nine lines. His only "bad" series was a respectable 572 in the singles. He splintered the maples for a scratch 691 with Tip Top in team play and had a fancy 677 in the doubles.

His doubles effort — 677 33—710 — was good enough to compensate for a mediocre 521-36—557 by his partner, Jack Crosby, to give them top money in the two-man competition. Only in singles did he fail to finish among the money-winners.

Mosiman Takes Singles

Albers' all-events total was 74 pins better than the 1,965 that won for Dr. Ralph Muhm of Kanawha last year. By series, the break-down of his game-scores was as follows: team — 203-266-222; doubles — 244-187-246; singles — 183-180-209.

Cecil Mosiman carried off the singles title with a 182-236-198—105—721. This surpassed by 34 pins the gross total that won the singles championship for "Doc" Muhm last spring.

DeKalb Wins Team Title

Kanawha's DeKalb team won the five-man event with a 3,042, which included 545 handicap pins. This was 127 pins short of the total that Tip Top rolled last year to gain the team title. The Kanawhans were paced by Lynn Knoll's scratch 592, which he piled up with games of 224-168-200. DeKalb used six men, the low scorer being dropped after both of the first two games. Rolling for the champs, besides Knoll, were L. Espe, L. Mallard, D. Amosson, W. Brower and C. Johnson.

Following Albers among the 48 who entered the all-events competition were: Don Mathiason 1,968, Roger Kinseth 1,928, Mosiman and Fred Pals tied at 1,923. Prize money was $14.40, $12, $9.60 and $6 (two).

Knoll-Espe Duo 2nd

Mathiason placed second to Mosiman in the singles with a gross 686. Others in the money were; Harvey Abbas 676, Alf Assink 670, Kinseth 669 and "Buster" Anderson 665. There were 56 singles entries, putting the prize money at $14, $11.20, $9.80, $8.40, $7 and $5.60.

Knoll and Espe were only 17 pins behind the winning doubles team, with a gross of 1,250. Next came Paul Quigley and Mel McMannus with 246 and the Leo-Hilton-"Bud" Trafford duo with 1,244. Thirty-one pairs contended for the doubles prizes of $12.80, $18.60, $12.40 and $6.20.

Tip Top, Bank Tie

The defending champion Tip-Toppers tied with First State bank for second place in team play, each garnering 2,997 pins with the help of handicap. Mello Maid followed in fourth with 2,997 pins with the help of handicap. Mello Maid folin fourth with 2,962. Nineteen teams were entered and the cash pay-off was $38, $23.75 (two) and $9.50.

Insofar as records of George Sharp, secretary of the Belmond Bowling association, show, Albers' all-events tally established the only new record of the tournament.

Albers Will Defend County Bowling Title at E. G.; Meet Starts Friday

Defending Champion Ed Albers will lead a fast field of 32 pinmen in pursuit of the 1956 Wright county bowling title as the annual county tournament gets underway Friday night at the Eagle Bowl, Eagle Grove. Altogether, 86 bowlers are entered in this year's tourney, providing for 1st and 2nd flights of 16 each and 22 in the 3rd flight.

Fred Gordon, runner-up for the championship two years ago, led the local qualifying field with a fine 637 series. Albers was not required to qualify. A score of 507 or better — or league average equalling that figure for three games — was needed to make the title flight. Belmond has 14 keglers in the championship bracket, Eagle Grove 10 and Clarion eight.

Umstead Tops Qualifiers

Cal Umstead of Eagle Grove led all the qualifiers with a 650. Following Gordon were three more Belmond keglers: Roger Kinseth with 569, Leo Hilton 566 and Oscar Jenison 561. Others from here who rolled series that qualified them for the championship flight were— Cecil Mosiman 537, R. B. Thompson 532, Anson Avery 521, Dr. A. M. Larson 511 and Bob Nelson 507. Four other Belmond pinmen fell short on their qualifying scores but made the grade on their league averages — Jack Crosby, George Sharp, Jack Lobdell and Jim Mariga.

Pairings for the upper bracket of the title flight, which takes to the alleys tomorrow night at 7:00 o'clock, are: Ed Albers vs. Denny Payne (C), Vern Schaeffer (EG) vs. George Sharp, Al Mechem (C) vs. Cecil Winbigler (EG), Howard Harvey (EG) vs. Dr. A. M. Larson, D. Gaulke (C) vs. Fred Gordon, Leo Hilton vs. Marv Franzen (EG), Gary Roepke (EG) vs. Joe Thielen (EG), C. Peterson (EG) vs. R. B. Thompson.

Finals on April 15

CAPTAIN HONORS TO LOWENBERG, DALE CAQUELIN

Ten varsity basketball squad members were awarded Honor B's for their play during the 1955-56 season as a highlight of the basketball banquet on Wednesday night of last week sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Tom Lowenberg and Dale Caquelin received stars along with their letters, denoting their election as honorary co-captains of the varsity team.

Besides these two, other seniors awarded monograms were Roger "Joe" Smith and Kenny Langlitz. Lowenberg, Caquelin and Smith were all receiving major letters in the sport for the second time.

Juniors who lettered for a second time were Jerry Chandler and Larry Schimp. Other junior cagers honored were Dave Long, Bill Murray and Larry Kinseth. A manager's letter went to Jim Fetrow.

Besides the seven returning lettermen, Coach Dick Hobbs will have back next season Gary Ersland and Larry Flanagan. They didn't get in enough game time to earn monograms but earned the coach's commendation for the loyalty and spirit they displayed throughout the campaign recently ended.

Two of 12 freshmen-sophomore cagers who received minor B's were thus rewarded for the second time. They were Tom McNulty and DaDean Obrecht, whom Coach Hobbs predicted would be of future, important value to the varsity ranks.

In addition to this pair, eight other sophomores received letters: Jon Mehus, Bill Kaufman, Ronnie Courson, John Studebaker, Douglas Nodland, Bob Smith and Marvin Katuin. Three freshmen got minor B's — Kenny Hawley, Howard Mussell and Allen Dean. Managers' monograms went to Alan Flanagan and Cecil Eccles.

Bill Strannigan, Iowa State college basketball coach, proved himself a very interesting and entertaining speaker during the program that followed the banquet.

EMPLOYING GOOD TEACHERS PAYS OFF IN A GOOD MANY IMPORTANT RESPECTS

This week the local school board was engaged in the annual chore of setting teachers' salary schedules for the next school year. Although there has been a steady up-trend in teachers' salaries for a number of years now, it became promptly apparent to the directors that another round of raises will inevitably be required to maintain past teaching standards in 1956-57.

Comparing present school salaries to those that prevailed in pre-World War II days, some patrons of Belmond Community School district may be wondering if the end will ever come; for it's true that teachers' pay has increased tremendously. But before anyone is tempted to decide that the limit has been reached—regardless of what effect the leveling off of school salaries might have on the quality of education our schools provide—some careful thought is called for.

It must be borne in mind that teachers WERE woefully UNDERPAID for all too long. With the burgeoning birth rate of the post-war years, the law of supply and demand has come to the rescue of the teaching profession and adjusted salaries more nearly to the level where they SHOULD be.

That still leaves the question, though, of whether a school district should arbitrarily decide not to go beyond a certain point in competing for well qualified teachers. Just what would the cost to the children be if this were done?

It goes without saying that the quality of the education received by our children would suffer. Basic skills tests administered yearly in our schools have shown that children in the Belmond district are, by and large, receiving a better-than-average education under the school board's present policy of strenuously competing for well qualified teachers.

Is it important, then, that our children DO receive a BETTER-than-average education? A Chicago university professor recently analyzed the results of a standard, basic skills test given 35,000 high school seniors from all parts of the country in 1943—and again last year. Some of his findings based on the EFFECT of the superior educations that was provided in some of the states studied were highly significant.

Development of a higher degree of responsibility was clearly suggested by the fact that the states with the best educated youngsters have the highest percentage of voters going to the polls on election day. Also interesting was the fact that a direct relationship exists between the quality of education and the rate of draft rejections in each state! And it was clearly implied that the level of economic opportunity is lower in the states providing the poorest educations, for they were found to have the heaviest migration of people to other areas.

It should come as no surprise that it was found that the states having the most poorly educated seniors were those which spent the least on their public schools. So the choice left open to our school board in the matter of salary raises is clear. They realize, as we all should, that good teaching involves much more than the A's, B's, C's and D's that appear on the report card. School is building a way of life for our children. Only when our school administrators show and inclination to settle for less than the best instruction they can obtain for those children need we who foot the bill feel any real concern.

COSTS OF COUNTY SHERIFF MODERATE FOR FINE JOB THAT OFFICE IS DOING

The Independent has in the past repeatedly expressed the opinion that taxpayers shouldn't worry over the cost of services they're provided if they are services they demand and if they are getting full value received. We believe the cost of operating the Wright county sheriff's office is a good illustration.

Last week the Iowa Taxpayers association released comparative figures on the cost of operating sheriffs' offices in the state's various counties during 1954. As a matter of fact, county law enforcement in that year cost us slightly more than the state average on a per capita basis. In the state as a whole, the per person cost was 55 cents; in Wright county, 60 cents.

Nevertheless, we compared favorably with our neighbors. Per capita cost in Hamilton county was 79 cents, in Hardin 68, in Humboldt 67, in Hancock 63 and Franklin, 49. But cost figures are significant only when measured against what they buy; and we sincerely believe that Sheriff Bob Blecker and Deputy Dale Walrod give us MORE and BETTER law enformement and property protection for our money — by a good margin — than is enjoyed in the average county.

More than once we've phoned the sheriff of a neighobring county and been both dismayed and disgusted at the small progress he has made toward obtaining basic facts on a case we wanted to report. On the other hand, we have yet to make an inquiry of Blecker or Walrod and been left with the feeling that we obtained less than the amount of information we felt we had a right to expect.

Such information, we might point out, is ordinarily a fair measure of how competently a case is being investigated.

At only a nickel per person more than state average, we sincerely believe that Wright county is getting a bargain with what it is investing in law enforcement.

OAA Recipients Assisted Little By Own Children

A recent study of 5,714 Old Age Assistance recipients receiving nursing care in Iowa revealed that 40 per cent of these aged men and women had no living children, according to Mrs. Mary Huncke of the State Board of Social Welfare.

"Of the 60 per cent with children, less than one-third receive any form of contribution from their sons and daughters. Of all nursing care cases, 17 per cent receive contributions from children. Only 191 of these aged receive help of more than $25 monthly."

Of the 17 per cent, or 972 individuals, who receive support from children, the amounts are as follows — showing in order the range of monthly payment, number in the category and per cent of the 972 total: $1.00 to $10, 469 individuals, 48.3 per cent; $10.01 to $25, 312 persons, 32.1 per cent; $25.01 to $50, 147 persons, 15.1 per cent; over $50, 44 persons, 4.5 per cent.

In February the state granted Old Age Assistance to 40,119 individuals totaling $2,425,961 at an average of $60.47 each. In Wright county there were 197 recipients receiving an average grant of $58.71, or a total of $11,565.50.

Aid to Dependent Children grants in the state for February went to 6,727 families including 24,284 individuals, and totaled $743,593. This averaged $110.54 per family or $30.62 per person. In Wright county the total cost was $1,817.50 and averaged $106.91 for each of 17 families and $20.40 for each of 64 individuals.

Payments of Aid to the Blind in the state for February totaled $109,136.50 and were paid to 1,475 persons at an average of $73.99 each. The six blind persons in Wright county receiving aid averaged $58.71 each for a total of $321.

SINCE Banker B. C. Hewlett was soaking up some sunshine in Florida when honors fell due the First State bank last Friday, Cashier "Lu" Cox was called forward to receive them. He's shown accepting from Jack Row of Clarion, Iowa sales manager for the U. S. Savings Bond division of the treasury department, a plaque recognizing the bank's quota-topping performance on E and H bond sales during 1955.

MUCH ATTENTION was attracted Friday by this Carmen Gia Volkswagon sports coupe of Jack Row's when it was parked on downtown Main street. Jack says it's an ideal car for the traveling salesman. Rides easy on all kinds of roads and gets about 36 miles to the gallon. Iowa distributors of the German go-cart get only about one a year. Oddly enough, Wright county boasts two of them. There's one in Eagle Grove, also.

MR. AND MRS. POOLMAN

MISS JUDITH BAKER AND HARLAN POOLMAN WED ON MARCH 25TH

White calla lilies and white and pink snapdragons were the flowers used in decorating the Congregational church Sunday afternoon, March 25, for the wedding of Miss Judith Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Baker, and Harlan M. Poolman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Poolman of Galt. Rev. William Schorman performed the double-ring ceremony at 3:00 p. m.

The pews were marked with white bows and greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over tulle fashioned with a fitted bodice and having a high scalloped neckline and finger-tip sleeves. Her finger-tip tulle veil fell from two crowns of sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of miniature roses.

Mrs. Howard Tice of Ames, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor and also the soloist. She sang "We Thank Thee Lord" and "The Lord's Prayer". She wore a pink linen dress styled with a rounded neckline and flared skirt. The junior bridesmaids were Loree Baker and Diane Poolman. They were dresses similar to that of the matron of honor. All carried bouquets of delight pink roses.

Delos Poolman of Galt served his brother as bestman and the groomsmen were Roger Tendall and Maurice White. Terrill Baker, Darwin Marker and Robert Tysdal were ushers. The ringbearer was Paul Ostendorf and the flower girl, Claudia Ostendorf.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors for 240 guests. Mrs. Melvin Tysdal of Galt and Mrs. Cliff Evans of Clarion were hostesses. Mrs. Jim Carroll of Alexander cut the five-tiered wedding cake, which was decorated in white with pink bells on the top and corners. Mrs. Robert Ostendorf of Goodell poured and Mrs. Jack Fulton served the punch. Waitresses were Carol Pals, Bonnie Tysdal of Galt and Carol Schwab of Dows.

Karmen Schwab of Dows was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Bob Greenwood, Mrs. Carol Oxley of Kanawha, Mrs. Dick Elliott and Miss Marlys McGarvey opened the gifts.

The bride is a graduate of Belmond High school and Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls, and is teaching at Britt. The groom is a graduate of Clarion High school, served four years in the U. S. Navy and is farming northwest of Belmond.

1ST STATE BANK HONORED AGAIN FOR EXCEEDING QUOTA ON BONDS

First State bank of Belmond was honored last week for having exceeded its 1955 quota for sales of series E and H savings bonds to individual customers. This was the second year the bank has been cited for surpassing its quota.

In recognition of the bank's achievement, Cashier Luin Cox last Friday was presented a bronze plaque mounted on walnut and with the official seal of the United States Treasury department superimposed. The presentation was made by Jack W. Row of Clarion, sales manager of the U. S. savings bond division for Iowa.

Inscribed on the plaque is the statement:

1955 DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD for having exceeded quota in the sale of United States Savings Bonds
Presented with sincere appreciation.
G. M. Humphrey
Secretary of the Treasury

On the reverse side of the plaques is a further statement of recognition, pointing out that they were purchased with funds contributed by patriotic and civic-minded firms and organizations of Iowa. Only Iowa banks are being recognized in this manner. More than 300 banks will receive them.

Last year the First State bank was given a four-color, engraved "Minute Man" citation for exceedings its 1954 savings bond quota.

Crop Substitute For Corn Found In Grain Sorghum

Grain sorghum may soon replace corn to some extent in many crop programs, particularly in drier and warmer parts of the Corn Belt. Before farmers buy next year's seed corn, they might look at the facts about growing sorghum, suggests E. S. Dyas, Iowa State college extension agronomist.

This crop usually yields satisfactorily wherever corn does well, producing a buckshot-like grain, about equal to corn in feeding value. Experimental hybrid sorghum varieties consistently outyielded corn in Iowa tests during the past two years.

57-92 Bu. Per Acre

Dyas says the margin between corn and sorghum was highest where the weather was dry. Drouth-stricken southwest Iowa's sorghum test plots yielded from 57 to 92 bushels per acre. Costs and methods of sorghum production are similar to those for corn. Dyas reports that the best planting time is about 10 days to two weeks after corn planting.

Using an ordinary corn planter equipped with sorghum plates, you can get good stands under average conditions by planting four to six or seven pounds per acre. Placing a seed about every 1½ to two inches of row should give a growing plant every three inches, Dyas says. Sowing one to 1½ inches deep gives best results, if soil moisture is adequate.

Cultivate Like Corn

Cultivation is also similar to that for corn. When the heads and stem tops are brown and dry, a carefully adjusted combine will give good seed threshing without extensive cracking. Moisture content should be down to at least 13 per cent for continued storage.

You can get information concerning culture and varieties suggested for your area from your county extension director, Dyas adds.

Sorghum varieties suggested for Iowa this year include several high-producing varieties, according to I. J. Johnson, agronomist at Iowa State college. Johnson points out that trials to compare sorghum varieties have been conducted for only the past two years. From these limited results, the following varieties are considered acceptable.

Grain Sorghums

Norghum—early, tall, red-seed variety with good yielding ability but somewhat susceptible to lodging. For early planting (late May) od early June in northern Iowa and late planting (late June) in central and southern Iowa.

Reliance — early-maturing, red-seeded variety, similar in growth habit to Norghum, but better in grain quality and lodging resistance. Satisfactory in yield. Planting dates, same as for Norghum.

Forage and Silage

Norkan, Axtell, Rox Orange and Waconia Orange — good yielding, palatable types for early planting (late May) in northern Iowa and late planting (late June) in central and southern Iowa.

3 BHS Speakers To State Contest

Three BHS students will contend for state speech honors at Storm Lake on April 20-21. Maryellen Johnson, in oratorical declamation, and Sharon Thompsen, dramatic, qualified for the final competition by earning Division I ratings at the district contest held last month at Sheldon. Both of the girls are seniors.

Kathy Dorr, a junior, received a medical waiver qualifying her to compete at Storm Lake when illness prevented her participation in the district contest. She will be a contender in the humorous division.

Joan Kriens, junior, in interpretive reading and John Studebaker, sophomore, in radio speaking received II ratings at Sheldon.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Alvis S. Berhow, who passed away April 5, 1955.

We often sit and talk of you
And the way you died
And that you could not say goodbye.
The blow was hard, the shock severe,
We never thought your death so near,
And ony those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.
You had a smile for everyone,
A heart as pure as gold
To those who knew and loved you
Your memory will never grow old.

In loving memory of Mrs. Henry Eide, who passed away April 7, 1953.

Three years have passed since that sad day,
The one we loved was called away.
God called her home, from a world of strife,
To shine among the angels in a fairer, brighter life,
Safe in the arms of Jesus, safe from all grief and sin,
Forever and forever, where all is pure within.
Our hearts are full of sorrow
Tears have dimmed our eyes,
But we shall meet her once again,
In the home beyond the skies.

Ask Nominations For Master Swine Producer Honors

Nominations are being received now in Wright county for entrants in the 1956 Iowa Master Swine Producers project, according to Extension Director Aaron R. Bowman. He says the name of any market hog producer may be submitted for this honor.

If you have a neighbor, friend or member of your family who you believe does an outstanding job of market hog production, or if you would like to enter your own name in the project, Bowman suggests that you report this to the extension office in Clarion as soon as you can.

The nominations may also be presented throught local high school vocational agriculture instructors, veterans' "voc. ag." instructors, any of the directors of the Iowa Swine Producers' association or directly to the animal husbandry extension service at Iowa State college, to Radio Station WHO at Des Moines or to the Iowa Swine Producers' association at Des Moines.

Deadline June 1

Bowman says all nominations should be made by June 1. The earlier the entry is made, the better, so that the required records can be kept. A producer must have raised hogs himself at least five years to be eligible for the project. He must have at least 10 sows, and all sows must have farrowed by June 1.

In determining noteworthy achievement, the amount of pork produced per sow and the total amount of pork produced will form the basis for consideration. Consideration is also given to the consistency and general ability of the swine producer. Each producer's record will be considered on its merits.

The 25 Iowans who appear to the committee of five judges to have turned in the best accomplishments will receive public recognition during the fall of 1956.

Past Wright Winners

In past years, men from Wright county who have received recognition as Iowa Master Swine Producers have included: Dorsey Southard of Clarion; R. E. Lee Aldrich, Jr., of Belmond; Lynn Thomson, Clarion; Amos Wagner & son Arthur, Eagle Grove; Herbert Hinz, Blairsburg; LeRoy Mikelson, Clarion.

Some of these men have since moved out of the county or are not now actually farming.

Traffic Accident Losses in Wright Lower During '55

Iowa Department of Public Safety today released the 1955 traffic accident record for Wright county, listing 330 reported accidents, a property loss of $128,515 and personal injury costs of $78,850.

The county accident record in 1954 was 334 reported accidents, $143,825 in property damage, and $114,900 loss in personal injuries, according to the department. While the accident total was reduced by only four, total financial loss was $51,360 less in 1955.

Milo Chalfant, director of safety responsibility, said the Wright county record was part of a total state loss in 1955 of $28,924,024 in 54,877 traffic accidents.

The state record for 1955 showed an increase of 4,000 traffic accidents and $1,285,245 in financial loss over 1954, Chalfant said.

State Safety Commissioner Clinton Moyer called the report "an almost incredible outline of general public indifference to the total problem of traffic safety."

He pointed out that financial loss figures listed in the report are "minimum and direct costs only. If we could estimate the indirect costs I would guess that the loss figures would almost double," Moyer said.

He called on Wright county residents to make an organized effort behind community and county officials to cut the accident rate.

April 30th Final Deadline to File For Pay on Wool

Wool producers of Wright county were reminded this week by the county ASC office that they have until the last day of April to file their applications for incentive payments in the first year's operation of the wool program. The deadline date of April 30 applies only to wool sold during the marketing year beginning April 1, 1955, and ending last Saturday, it was stated by the county ASC committee.

Applications for the incentive payments must be filed with the county ASC office. So far 585 applications have been filed with the Wright county office. Payments will be made this summer.

Iowans Show Interest

Generally speaking, Iowa farmers have shown keen interest in the wool incentive program, it was reported by the ASC committeemen. As proof of this, they cited the latest national summary of the department of agriculture, which showed that 78.4 per cent of the estimated 1955 Iowa wool crop was covered by incentive payments applications at the end of January.

Only California, with 83.9 per cent, stood higher than Iowa in this respect. Iowa's estimated wool production of 9,919,000 pounds ranked 11th among all the States.

Wright county wool growers were urged by the county committee to be especially careful about providing the required sales record when submitting applications for incentive payments.

List Data Required

The sales record for shorn wool must show name and address of buyer, date of sale, name and address of producer, net weight of wool sold and net proceeds to producer after normal deductions.

Those who marketed lambs and yearlings for slaughter between last April 1, 1955, and last Saturday — March 31 — must provide bill of sale with name and address of slaughterer; date of sale; name and address of seller; and number, description, and net live weight of animals sold. They also must certify that the animals were purchased for slaughter, and that they had or had not been shorn at the time of sale. Thirty-day ownership is required to be eligible for payment.

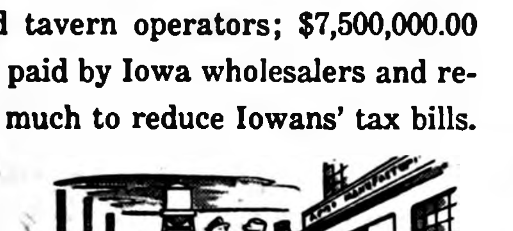
EVERY Iowa taxpayer receives the benefit of the substantial taxes being paid by the brewing industry.

For example, the annual taxes on beer sold in Iowa now amount to $25,453,545.48, including: $11,495,912.04 Federal tax on beer sold in Iowa; $3,167,762.44 Iowa tax paid by wholesalers; $2,000,000.00 in sales taxes; $1,289,871.00 license fees of Iowa wholesalers and tavern operators; $7,500,000.00 other State and Federal taxes paid by Iowa wholesalers and retailers. All this helps by that much to reduce Iowans' tax bills.

Millions More For Iowa's Prosperity



ALL Iowa benefits, too, from the contribution the brewing industry makes to our state's prosperity. Tens of thousands of Iowans are employed in this great industry. Millions of dollars are invested in Iowa property. And Iowa farmers profit directly from the huge volume of agricultural products used in brewing. Truly, it can be said—

VOL. 36 NO. 27 OFFICIAL CITY PAPER BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA— THURSDAY, APRIL 12, 1956 OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

There was quite a story behind the story of Dave Long's election as president of the North Central district of the Iowa Association of Student Councils last Thursday at Mason City. Seems that the local delegation was determined to shoot high in seeking office for the BHS candidate and had plotted a campaign to win him the vice presidency.

Then the rules committee made known that a single ballot would be cast for president and vice president, the top job going to the winner and the loser automatically becoming vice president.

That called for some rapid revamping of plans and the delegation boosted its sights. If Dave was to become vice president, they'd have to "'go for broke' and run him for president. His opponent, Jo Ellen Robinson of Hampton, descends from a family of politicos who have been very prominent in Republican party affairs; but SHE ended up as "veep."

—M-S—

This column recently threw Wiley Beveridge of the Clarion Monitor a curve, and we'd like hereby to set the gentleman straight. In his "Scribblings by Gee Doubleyou Bee" column last week, Wiley listed with frank awe the variety of abilities which Clark H. McNeil possesses—farmer, insurance man, politician, speech-maker, grain dealer, amateur auctioneer, etc., etc., etc.

Then Wiley expressed his surprise at learning recently via The Independent that the gentleman of many talents includes piano musicianship among his skills.

Now, to the best of our knowledge, that's an aptitude that Legislator McNeal lacks. Our reference to a piano-playing McNeal had to do with son, Clark E. McNeal, who offered entre act divertissement on the ivories at the eighth grade operetta. We hate to spoil a good story, but we suspect "they" might laugh if Clark H. sat down at the piano. . . . However, we're making no bets.

—M-S—

Forest City's Chamber of Commerce, like many another over the country, has never been too convinced with the accuracy of the 1950 census count in their community. Consequently, some time back it undertook a nose-count of its own. The C-of-C believes that within another week or so, it will have a close-to-accurate private census completed, with individual cards on file for every family in the city. It's last "official" count showed a population of 2,766. The enumerator conducting the new tally is already certain that the current population will prove to be in excess of 3,000 and probably reach a preliminary estimate of 3,220. . . . It would be interesting to know how WE stack up with that 1950 count of 2,169, would it not?

—M-S—

Fifteen members of the Belmond hospital staff went a-visiting last Thursday morning and behind the mass movement of varied talent lay a distinctly unusual purpose. Purpose of the hegira was to pay a call on the Hancock County hospital at Britt.

They were very favorably impressed by the 32-bed institution, too, it might be added.

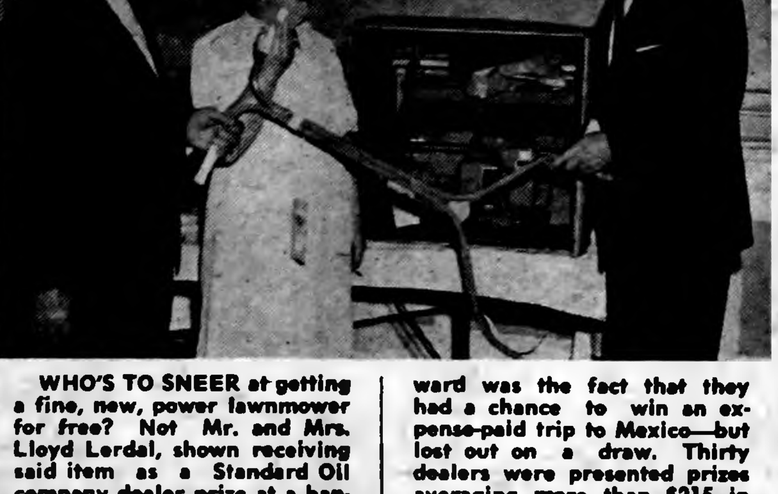
The visitation was arranged by Administrator "Stu" Kutz and his Britt counterpart, Herbert Porter. Both gentlemen felt the visit was well worth the time and trouble involved, and a return call by a delegation from Britt is expected in due time.

Belmond Sophs At "Career Day"

Sophomores of Belmond High were among 600 young people from nine north Iowa schools who attended annual "Career Day" on Tuesday of this week at Forest City. Other students participating in the event were from the high schools at Lake Mills, Buffalo Center, Manly, Forest City, Ventura, Hanlontown, Thompson and Rake.

Dayton Countryman, Iowa attorney general, delivered a keynote address at 10:00 a. m. and the remainder of the day was divided into four periods during which each student was able to confer with an expert in some trade or profession in which he or she has interest.

Conference leaders experienced in approximately 40 different lines of work were on hand for the day to tell students of the attractions the work provides and to answer questions.



WHO'S TO SNEER at getting a fine, new, power lawnmower for free? Not Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lerdal, shown receiving said item as a Standard Oil company dealer prize at a banquet at Mason City on Monday of last week, put on the company to honor outstanding dealers. The only reason the Lerdals might have been disappointed at such a fine reward was the fact that they had a chance to win an expense-paid trip to Mexico—but lost out on a draw. Thirty dealers were presented prizes averaging more than $215 in value, Division Assistant Manager R. R. Aune (right) doing the honors. Mr. Lerdal had the best tire sales record in the Mason City division.

Congregationalists Plan to Hold Parsonage Dedication Sunday

Dedication of the new Congregational parsonage, across from Johnston Funeral Home on First street SE, will be held this Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. It has just been completed at a cost of $20,500, including price of the lot.

Dr. Judson E. Fiebiger of Grinnell, superintendent of the Iowa Conference of Congregational Christian churches, will preach the morning sermon and participate in the afternoon ceremonies.

Dinner Planned at Noon

A pot-luck dinner will be served at the church at noon, after which members of the congregation and friends will move to the new parsonage for the dedication. An open house will follow. Opportunity will be given later for others to visit the new home.

Providing 1,700 square feet of space, the parsonage has three bedrooms plus a dressing room and bath upstairs; downstairs there is a kitchen, living room with dining area at one end and a den which will serve as a combination guest room and study. There is a full basement. Features include attached garage, hardwood floors throughout and a fireplace in the living room.

To Sell Old Parsonage

Plans have been made to sell the old parsonage at 507 East Main street and add the proceeds to those funds already pledged or paid in toward construction costs. It is estimated that all but about $2,000 of the building expense will be met from these sources and it is hoped that gifts still in prospect will cover most of the balance.

Stephen Hinman has served as chairman of the parsonage committee, which also included Glenn Baker, L. W. Murray, Dwight Tyrrell, Henry Steenblock, Mrs. R. B. Thompson and Henrietta Pals.

Some Work Unfinished

Weather conditions have held up laying of the chimney brick and laying of the concrete walks and drive. Landscaping has, of course, had to be delayed until later in the spring, also.

However, it was the decision of the parsonage committee that the dedication should be held at this time as Rev. William Schorman and his family have already been occupying the abode for several weeks and an indefinite delay would be required if the dedication were postponed until the home's absolute completion.

Prominent Church Figure Speaker For Dedication

Dr. Fiebiger, who will participate in the dedication of the new Congregational church parsonage Sunday, has had a distinguished career as a Congregational Christian churchman. Besides being superintendent of the Iowa Conference of Congregational Christian churches he is a member of the executive committee and past chairman of the Iowa Council of Churches and a former Mid-West Regional chairman of Congregational Christian churches.

A graduate of Defiance college in Ohio, which bestowed on him an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree in 1947, he also holds a Bachelor of Divinity degree from Yale Divinity school.

After a period of ministry at Toledo, O., following his graduation from college, he filled pastorates at Stanfordville, Albany, Utica and Brooklyn, N. Y.. before accepting his present position in 1947.

KANAWHA JCC FORMED

A Kanawha Junior Chamber of Commerce was established Monday night, under the guidance of a delegation of Belmond Jaycees. Ralph Baer, editor of the Kanawha Reporter, was elected as the new group's president. As extending organization, the Belmond Junior Chamber will hold its regular meeting at Kanawha next Tuesday and at that time plans will be laid for the new unit's Charter Night.

PAPER PICK-UP FRIDAY

Tomorrow (Friday) evening the Belmond Jaycees will conduct another of their periodical paper pick-ups.

Moral Offenses Continue, With 4 New Arrests

Last week saw a continuation of the wave of sex crimes that has been prominent in Wright county news the past several weeks. Four Woolstock men, including Town Marshal Roger Brock, were involved in the latest outbreak.

Brock, 26, and Calvin Anderson, 28, were arrested Saturday by Sheriff Bob Blecker on charges of statutory rape. On the preceding Thursday, Don Bauman, 28, had been taken into custody on a charge of lascivious acts with a child.

Opening wedge in these cases was the arrest on Wednesday of last week of Herbert Busch, 45, of Woolstock on a count of incest. The same girl, identified by Sheriff Blecker as "an adolescent under 16 years of age," was involved in all of the cases.

Bond for Busch was set at $5,000 and for the other three at $1,500. Brock and Anderson posted the required amounts. Busch and Bauman are being held in the county jail pending district court action.

Sheriff Blecker and Deputy Dale Walrod were busily engaged Tuesday in investigating a series of school break-ins that occurred in the early morning hours of that day. Thieves entered the schools at Dows, Galt and Goldfield and break-ins in Cerro Gordo county at Swaledale and Meservey the same night followed the same mode of operation. Authorities of the two counties were comparing notes to see if the crimes might have been linked.

The superintendents' offices seemed to be the thieves' target. At Swaledale $125 was taken and at Meservey, $30. There was no loss at Galt and only a dollar in change was missing at Dows, but $30 was stolen at Goldfield.

Dave Pierce Died Sunday at Age 81

Death came Sunday at University hospital, Iowa City, to David Scott Pierce, a long-time resident of Belmond, just 26 days before his 82nd birthday. He had lived here since accompanying his parents, James M. and Mary Pierce, to this community in the decade following the Civil War, of which his father was a veteran. He was born in Illinois on May 4, 1874.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday at Fulton Funeral Home by Rev. M. L. Jones and interment was in Belmond cemetery. Pallbearers were Ralph Jones, Gerald Berns, Dale Kessler, George Baxter, George Coburn and William Meints.

During his active years, Mr. Pierce had been a painter and paper-hanger. He had been in failing health for some time prior to his death.

He was married three times, first to Dora Haupt, who passed away only a few months after they were wed. To him and his second wife were born two children; a son LeRoy, who was killed in WWI action in France, and a daughter Dora, now living in Wisconsin.

On May 28, 1923 he married Ella Mae Smith and five children were born to them: David LeRoy Pierce of Des Moines, Mrs. Robert (Marcia) Buckles of Waterloo, James W. Pierce of Hapeville, Ga., Mrs. Dean (Mavis) Gunderson of Belmond and Mrs. Ed (Avis) Quandt of San Antonio, Tex.

Surivivors besides his widow and the six children include nine grandchildren.

OKICIPI-GROUP

$100 Per Year Pay Raise to Teachers

An across-the-board raise of $100 in teachers' salaries was approved at the regular April meeting of the Belmond Community School district's board of education held last week. Harold Simerson, president of the board, states that the increase was required to keep the Belmond district in line with salary schedules being maintained by comparable schools in this part of the state.

This increase will make starting salaries in the Belmond school system as follows: teachers with two years of college training, $2,950; three years of training, $3,200; holders of B. A. degree, $3,500; M. A. degree, $3,700.

Totals Additional $4,200

According to Mr. Simerson, the over-all increase will entail raising the appropriation for teaching salaries a total of $4,200, which will require only a one-half mill levy for this specific purpose. It is the board's belief, he added, that it should prove possible to hold the total millage in the district in line with the levy for the current year in spite of this additional cost for instruction.

Other salary provisions remain the same as in recent years. For teachers with two years' training, annual tenure increments of $100 are paid for five years, making the top $3,450; three years' training, $100 tenure increments annually for seven years, top $3,900; B. A. degree, $100 tenure increments annually for nine years, top $4,400; M. A. degree, $100 tenure increments annually for nine years, top $4,600.

In addition, family heads receive and additional $250 per year; and single men or teachers whose spouses are regularly employed in the school system or elsewhere are paid an additional $150.

Eight Teachers Resign

Extra pay to head coaches runs $400 to $600 annually, depending upon responsibilities shouldered; and to assistant coaches, up to $350, depending upon the number of sports. Vocal music instructors draw an additional $250 per year, as does the dramatics coach; and the journalism advisor gets a $150 bonus.

The vocational homemaking instructor is hired on a 10-month basis. Salaries of the high school principal, band director and vocational agriculture instructor are not included in the regular schedule.

At its meeting last week, the school board received resignations from eight current members of the faculty. They were: Charles Branstetter, social studies, coach and boys physical education; Betty Branstetter, girls physical education; Mable Schuller, junior high English; Donna Doeringsfeld, grade vocal music; Myrna Cooper Stoltenberg, 5th-6th grade language; Sylvia Johnston Kleen, 5th-6th grade reading; Lois Kleen, 2nd grade; and Esther Hasse, also 2nd grade.

FARMERS: FRIDAY 13TH COULD BE LUCKY DAY

It is predicted by experts who have extensive experience to back up their augury that soil moisture is going to hold the key to crop success on Wright county farms in 1956. If they are right, a demonstration to be held west of Hagie's Hybrid Corn plant at Clarion tomorrow—Friday the 13th—could make it a "lucky day" for farmers who attend.

The demonstration, scheduled for 3:00 p. m., was set up at the request of Extension Director Aaron Bowman and will be the first of its kind ever conducted in Iowa. The topic clearly specifies the demonstration's purpose, "How to estimate the soil moisture of your farm."

Four soil experts from Iowa State college will be on hand —E. R. Duncan and Frank Schaller, extension agronomists; Robert Shaw, climatologist; and Don Nielsen, soil physicist. Mr. Bowman promises that all farmers, "voc. ag." instructors, veterans' instructors, farm managers and others closely concerned with Wright county agriculture will find the demonstration interesting and will gain valuable information from it.

Borings will be made in the soil of several sections of the county and at different levels. Samples from these areas will be tested for moisture and these same samples will be on hand for the demonstration.

Farmers will have an opportunity to feel the samples, personally, so they can obtain an idea of the texture, compactness and adhesiveness of soils with varying amounts of moisture from different sub-surface levels.

Agronomists from the college will explain how soil moisture should be taken into consideration in deciding upon rate of planting and even the choice of fields to be planted. Mr. Bowman says extension directors from surrounding counties have been invited to witness the demonstration. And in view of its potential importance, he anticipates they will ALL be on hand.

Meeting on Pool Slated

Rev. William Schorman, chairman of the swimming pool committee, announces that a public meeting is to be held at the city hall on Friday of next week — April 20 — at 8:00 p. m. At that time a decision is to be reached as to whether anything can be done to finance the proposed community pool, for which an unsuccessful public subscription drive was conducted last year.

Although close to 75 per cent of the potential contributors in town were contacted for pledges and a considerable amount of rural canvassing was done, when the fund campaign slowed down to a stop last summer the total of donations and pledges stood at approximately $24,200. Of that amount, a little less than $5,800 was in cash.

Bond Issue A Possibility

It had been estimated that a pool of adequate size to serve Belmond and environs would cost around $70,000 to $80,000. Considering the size of the deficit left, the swimming pool committee considers it a virtual certainty that the money still required could not be raised by public subscription at this time.

One of the matters to be discussed at the general meeting is whether there might be sufficient sentiment in favor of a municipal bond issue to investigate the possibility of completing financing of the pool in that manner. Mr. Schorman says the pool committee will look into the present municipal debt limit and the total obligations now standing against it so that questions in that connection can be answered.

Donations Could Be Returned

Should there be any interest in this approach to financing a pool, then consideration would have to be given to the will of the people in regard to pledges previously made. It would have to be ascertained, Mr. Schorman points out, whether these pledges would remain valid if the fund were to be supplemented by a bond issue, or if a large majority of them would be withdrawn.

There is plenty of money in the fund at present to return all cash that had been paid on pledges, the pool committee chairman assures, and if it is decided that the project should be abandonned for the time being all actual donations will be returned. Quite a few hundred dollars was raised from general sources, rather than private donation, and administrative, advertising, printing and other expenses of the committee ran something under $170.

Couple of $25 Prizes Claimed

Tuesday, the Cash Gift Day fund spilled out a little happiness. Not a lot—but some. Fifty dollars worth. Twenty-five apiece went to Ruth Boelman (No. 1,908) and Mrs. Marie Gabel (2,487). Numbers that would have been good for another $25 each were 1,319, 3,562 and 3,971; and $100 numbers were 1,727 and 2,992. Next week there will be four $25's to aim at Tuesday at 2:00 p. m. and two $100's at 3:00 o'clock.

County TB-Health Association Gift To Aid Research

Last Friday notification was sent to Dr. James R. Culbertson, director of the heart research station at the State University of Iowa, that his facility was being presented with a donation of $1,000 from the Wright County Tuberculosis and Health association. The announcement was made by Dr. Robert F. McCool of Clarion, president of the association.

In informing Doctor Culbertson of the gift, Dr. McCool wrote: "I would emphasize that there are no strings to this money, but our treasury has a surplus which we felt should be put to use. We felt that we would rather make a direct donation rather than have it go through an organization where indirect administrative costs would decrease the available amount.

All Obligations Met

"Our current local, state and national obligations are all paid for the year, so this money is available for use as determined by our board of directors. I am confident that you will put the money to good use in any way you see fit, and I hope that our small help will open the door to some of the many mysteries of the heart."

In elaborating on the thinking that led the association's directors to make this handsome gift to the heart center, Secretary Ethel Brunes informed The Independent that the association is opposed to letting a surplus gather that exceeds what might be needed for contingencies and to finance the annual case-finding program.

X-Ray Surveys Abandonned

Around a couple of thousand dollars excess had accumulated, which the association felt under obligation to "put to work" for the benefit of its contributors to as full a degree as possible and still maintain a reasonable balance.

She also observed that periodical countywide chest x-ray programs, such as conducted in Wright in 1953, used to call for accumulation of sizeable surpluses. However, tuberculosis incidence has been reduced to such a relatively minor health problem that x-ray programs of such broad scope seem unlikely to be required in the future.

Beef Producers' Dinner April 19 At Eagle Grove

Dr. Leslie Johnson, head of the animal husbandry department of Iowa State college, will be the principal speaker at the Wright County Beef Producers' banquet and annual meeting which will be held at Eagle Grove on Thursday of next week.

Dr. Johnson formerly conducted beef research for the United States Department of Agriculture and spoke to the Beef Producers about four years ago. A blizzard cut the attendance on that date. Dr. Johnson will bring up-to-date information on recent research in beef breeding which has influenced the rates of gain.

Kenneth Fulk, fieldman for the Iowa Beef Producers' association, will discuss the proposed meat promotion program in advertising and research, which is being pushed in the beef producing states.

Standing Rib Roast

The dinner, which will be held in the Legion Memorial hall in Eagle Grove, will start at 6:45 p.m. A short business meeting will precede the speaking program. Three directors will be elected for two-year terms. Directors are to be elected from the northeast and southwest districts and one at-large.

A pound of standing rib roast will again be served as the meat portion of the banquet. This has become a tradition in Wright county and, as in the past, it will be cut and served by chefs from George A. Hormel and company.

Another tradition is the guessing contest. Hats will be presented to the winners of last year's guessing contest and those attending the dinner will guess the price of the top carload of steers at Chicago for the first week in October, 1956.

400 Tickets for Sale

Only 400 tickets will be sold for the beef producers' dinner. Several farmers in each township have a supply of tickets, but they must make a final report on all ticket sales by Sunday. Ticket sellers for the various townships in this vicinity are as follows:

PENN TO CHEROKEE

George W. Penn, Jr., of Waterloo, who had been in custody at Clarion on charges of lascivious acts with a child, was given hearing in district court last Thursday. Under the sexual psychopath law passed by the 56th general assembly, he is to be held in confinement at the Cherokee state hospital for the insane for psychiatric treatment until hospital officials are ready to make a report to the court on Penn's mental status.

Final Rites Held For Jim Quigley

Death came suddenly to Jim Quigley, 63, of Fort Dodge last Thursday afternoon when he suffered a heart attack while raking leaves at the home he shared with his sister, Grace Quigley. He had been in apparently good health prior to the fatal attack. A long-time farm resident of the Belmond and Goodell vicinities with his brother Pat, he and the latter had moved to Fort Dodge last year.

James Quigley was born at Burr Oak in Winneshiek county on May 22, 1892, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Pat Quigley. The family later moved near Belmond, made their home in Texas for a time, and then returned to Iowa and farmed near Goodell. Jim and his brother Pat had farmed south of Belmond for a good many years before their move to Fort Dodge.

They retired from the farm to make their home with their sisters Grace and Bessie Quigley. The latter died last fall.

Funeral services were conducted Monday morning at St. Francis Catholic church, Rev. R. A. Ormsby officiating and Fulton Funeral Home in charge. Burial was here in St. Francis cemetery.

Survivors include, besides Grace and Pat, Mrs. Joe (Esther) Fulton, Fort Dodge; Frank, Belmond; and Mrs. John (Nellie) Nelson, Minneapolis.

3 New Store "Faces" Soon on Main Street

This week there was good prospect that within a month's time the number buildings on the 200 block of downtown Main street will be reduced to two as plans went forward to erect three new cement block buildings on the north side of the street.

Razing of the building that has been housing the Smoke House pool hall next to George's Auto Electric was completed last week. A. R. Dorr Sons planned to start construction of the new building by midweek and they predicted it would be completed within three weeks. Francis Sandry is owner of the property.

Glass Front Planned

Actually, a 60-foot cement block addition to the old tavern building was completed last fall and what is now in process of construction is a 60-foot extension to the sidewalk. The finished building will have an over-all depth of 120 feet and will be re-occupied by the Smoke Shop upon completion.

The new front will be primarily of glass, having a dark-glass door to the east and nine large panes—five of dark glass and four of glare-proof clear glass—largely comprising the rest of the front.

Behrends to Build

Ted Behrends plans to have the frame building that his shoe shop occupies and the adjacent Coffee Shop torn down May 1 and will build onto the 28-foot cement block addition he put up at the rear of his shop three years ago. The completed building will be 23 feet and four inches wide and have a total depth of 80 feet. An office will be built adjacent to the present rear part of the shop, to the back of the space now occupied by the Coffee Shop.

An inverted front, similar to those characterizing the new Waddington and Kinseth buildings, will give the shoe shop exterior an attractive appearance. Mr. Behrends has been in business here the past 10 years; and in addition had a shoe repair shop in the same location for nearly three years before selling out at the time he entered military service during World War II.

Cairns' Plans Tentative

Jim Cairns has tentative plans to build at the same time as Mr. Behrends. He not long ago acquired the property that most recently was the location of Uncle Don's Tavern and plans to have the frame building now there torn down. If his plans materialize, he will erect a 24x70-foot cement block structure in its place as quarters for Jim's Paint and Wallpaper store.

When and if the new building becomes available, Mrs. Cairns plans on expanding her line of novelty gifts and craft and hobby materials and to add a complete line of gift wrappings. Mr. Cairns says the store's present quarters in the old State Bank building have been inadequate to display his complete line of paints and that he will find good use for additional space, too.

Contractors Selected

The Cairns have made Belmond their home for about 2½ years. Besides operating the store, Mr. Cairns has engaged extensively in business as a painting contractor.

Leo Dorr has the contract for construction of the Behrends building and if his plans work out, Mr. Cairns will have A. R. Dorr Sons do his building. The hope is that both new structures will be completed and ready for occupancy within three to four weeks after the old buildings now on the properties have been torn down.

Hottest Race? For County Attorney

Four candidates for the post of Wright county attorney, three of them seeking the Republican nomination in the June primary, were in the field last week as papers for two new candidates went into circulation.

The newcomers were Arthur Draheim, Jr., of Clarion, who for the past two years has been an appeal referee for the Iowa Employment Security council; and Martin H. Morrisey of Clarion.

One Demo Candidate

Mr. Draheim, who just this month resigned his state post to open a private law practice at the county seat, will be a Republican candidate. Mr. Morrissey, lone Democratic candidate, was secretary of the county central committee of that party until recently resigning.

Mr. Draheim, latest to enter the GOP attorneyship race, is a 1943 Clarion High school graduate and had his college career interrupted by a World War II stint in the Army Air Force as a security specialist. He received a B.A. degree at Iowa State Teachers college in 1950 and took a brief fling at teaching.

Graduate of Drake

He then took up the study of law at Drake university, getting his law [illegible] and gaining admission to the Iowa Bar association in 1954. At Drake he was an officer in the Young Republicans organization and on the Honor Council. Upon graduation from Drake, he joined the Iowa Employment Security commission.

Known as "Newt" to his friends, Mr. Draheim is married to the former Rose Marie Johnson of Corwith. He is a member of the Clarion Congregational church, the American Legion and other civic and fraternal organizations.

REACHES 100TH BIRTHDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Middleton and sons last Sunday helped Mr. Middleton's grandfather, W.E. Warnes, celebrate his 100th birthday anniversary at Friendship Haven, Fort Dodge. Prior to the trip to Fort Dodge, the Middletons were dinner guests at the home of Mr. Middleton's parents, the Gus Middletons, at Eagle Grove and the entire party went from there to Friendship Haven. Mrs. Warnes is also living and makes her home at Friendship Haven. She's 92.

JENISON TRANSFERRED

AF Marlin Jenison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jenison, has been transferred from Parks Air Force Base, San Francisco, Calif., to Scott AFB, Belville, Ill.

D. Trager Rounds Famed Cape Horn

Dallas J. Trager, machinist's mate third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Trager of Belmond, Iowa, became a "Moss Back" March 20 aboard the attack cargo ship USS Wyandot as the vessel rounded Cape Horn en route to the U. S. after 72 days in the Antartic with Operation Deepfreeze.

The Wyandot is one of the few warships that has sailed around the southermost extremity of the South American continent since WWII. Despite mariner's tales of violent winds and high seas which are peculiar to Cape Horn, the vessel's passage through the little-traveled sea lanes was unusually calm.

On the way up the South American coast, the Wyandot will visit Montevideo in Uruguay and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. She is scheduled to arrive in Norfolk, Va., April 20.

Dave Long Elected as President of District Student Council Assn.; Also Belmond Delegate to Boys State

Dave Long, Belmond High school junior, on Thursday of last week was elected president of the North Central district of the Iowa Association of Student Councils as delegations from some 46 high schools gathered at Mason City for the annual district convention. Other members of the BHS delegation were Tom Lowenberg, Gordon Sandman, Linda Bonte, Meredith Jenison and Wilma Pruisman.

Just two candidates were nominated for the presidency, the other being Jo Ellen Robinson of Hampton High school. A spirited campaign in behalf of their nominee was conducted by the BHS delegates. They report that Dave's status as an Eagle Scout was one of the major factors in winning him the nomination and then assuring his success in the election.

No newcomer to the art of politics, Dave has twice been elected to the presidency of his class. He headed the Class of '57 as a freshman and again as a sophomore—a very unusual honor. He is currently one of two junior class representative on the Student Council.

This is not the first time that Belmond High has had the distinction of electing a district officer of the Student Council association. During the 1954-55 school year, Bob McLaughlin was a district cabinet member.

The Belmond group was accompanied to Mason City last week by Ernest Doeringsfeld as faculty representative.

DAVE LONG

Dave Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Long, has been chosen by Eimbrink post of the American Legion to represent Belmond at annual Hawkeye Boys State, to be held at Camp Dodge in June.

Highly rated by members of the Belmond High school faculty who were asked for their opinions regarding the candidates, Dave's extra-curricular activities have been mainly confined to sports.

Although of rather slight build — he carries only 145 pounds on a 5-foot 10-inch frame — Dave has won major letters in two major sports at BHS.

He won a varsity letter in basketball this past season, after two years of experience in the freshman-sophomore ranks. Track activity brings up to a total of three the number of major letters he has won thus far in his BHS career. He earned monograms on the cinder track as both a freshman and sophomore and appears certain to pick up his third this spring.

As a gridder, he was a member of the froshmore football squad his freshman year. An injury kept him inactive most of the season he was a sophomore, but he was on the varsity roster last fall and saw periodic action — though falling some short of enough time to win a let-

Irving Bier, 64, died suddenly last Saturday about 2:00 a. m. at his farm home 2½ miles east of Goodell after only a day's illness. He had suffered a heart attack the day before.

Funeral services were held at 1:30 p. m. Monday at the home and at the Meservey EUB church at 2:00 p. m. Rev. P. W. Pfaltzgraff, pastor of the Meservey church, and Rev. A. I. Interment was in the Clear Lake cemetery. Pallbearers were Harvey Steenblock, Lambert Barkema, Ben Vierkant, Carl Green, Steve Dorenkamp and Merle Zieman.

Born on the Bier farm east of Meservey on Sept. 15, 1891, son of Conrad and August Bier, the deceased attended the Meservey school and then took up the occupation of farming. He had farmed for many years in the Goodell vicinity. On April 1, 1945, he was married to Gladys Olson of Clear Lake. He is survived by his widow and one son, Avery, born of an earlier marriage.

New Officers Elected By Youth Fellowship

The E. U. B. Youth Fellowship held their April meeting Monday evening at the church. Mrs. Henry Brede gave a book report "Hunger and Hope." Lois Dirks was devotional leader and the lesson was "The Bible and It's Value." Sharp Defeats Albers in County Bowling, 638-597

Defending Champion Eddie Albers tumbled from the list of title contenders in the annual Wright county bowling tournament now underway at Eagle Grove when he bowed last Friday night to fellow-townsman George Sharp in the second round. The Belmond pair engaged in a red-hot scoring duel that saw Albers defeated by virtue of a mediocre 166 in his second game.

Sharp hit the high series for the first two rounds of the tourney with a 638 on lines of 209-226-203. Albers held a two-pin lead after the first game with a 211 and finished with a 220, but trouble during that middle game cut his series total to 597.

Kinseth, Crosby Advance

Two other Belmond bowlers joined Sharp in the quarter-final round of play by winning a pair of matches apiece last Friday. They were Jack Crosby and Roger Kinseth. Eagle Grove keglers, enjoying the advantage of competing on familiar alleys at the Eagle Bowl, filled five of the eight spots in the third-round bracket. Clarion got only one pinman past the first two rounds.

Tomorrow night, championship matches to determine the semi-finalists will pit the following bowlers against one another: Sharp vs. Howard Harvey (EG), second-round winner over Al Mechem (C), 487-472; Marv Franzen (EG), winner 530-517 over Fred Gordon (B), vs. Gary Roepke (EG), winner 513-491 over C. Peterson (EG).

Belmond Pair to Tangle

Howard Tuttle (C), winner 560-530 over Jack Lobdell (B), vs. Cal Umstead (EG), winner 584-535 over Al Coleman (C); Jack Crosby (B), winner 538-532 over Cecil Mosiman (B), vs. Roger Kinseth (B), winner 582-514 over C. Martin (EG).

It is certain that not more than two Belmond pinmen will reach the semi-finals, in view of Crosby and Kinseth opposing each other in the third round. Marv Franzen of Eagle Grove is the only former county champion still in the running. He had 148-223-159 against Fred Gordon, who came back with a 192 after a 165-160 start but couldn't quite take up the slack.

First Round Winners

First round winners in the title flight were: Albers (B) 532, over D. Payne (C) 527; Sharp (B) 523, over Vern Schaeffer (EG) 468; Al Mechem (C) 541, over Cecil Winbigler (EG) 497; Howard Harvey (EG) 624, over Dr. A. M. Larson (B) 447; Gordon (B) 509, over D. Gaulke (C) by forfeit; Marv Franzen (EG) 484, over Leo Hilton (B) 466; Gary Roepke (EG) 510, over Joe Thielen (EG) 417; C. Peterson (EG) 506, over R. B. Thompson (B) 465.

Cal Umstead (EG) 524, over Frank Flores (C) 458; Al Colman (C) 514, over Dick Basham (C) 509; Jack Lobdell (B) 557, over Anson Avery (B) 494; Howard Tuttle (C) 490, over Orval Roepke (EG) 467; C. Martin (EG) 502, over Bob Nelson (B) 479; Roger Kinseth (B) 527, over Oscar Jenison (B) 512; Crosby (B) 565, over V. Bierl (C) 504; Cecil Mosiman (B) 544, over Jim Mariga, (B) 506.

Belmond Bowling Association Will Elect, April 18th

Annual meeting of the Belmond Bowling association will be held at Bowl-Mor Lanes on Wednesday evening of next week, April 18, at 8:00 o'clock. Manager Jack Crosby says the alleys will be open to association members for free bowling from 7:00 p. m., until meeting time and again following the business session. Free coffee and doughnuts will be served, also.

Louie Mennenga is retiring president of the association. Other officers who served during the current season were: Bob Prelip, Kanawha, vice president; George Sharp, secretary; and Maynard Holmgaard, treasurer. Besides replacements for these men, two new directors will be elected.

Cash prizes and trophies won in the recent city tournament will be awarded at the annual meeting.

Thinclads Travel To Pocahontas For First Action

Belmond High school's tracksters will open their season this Friday at the annual Pocahontas Relays, and then go into action again next Tuesday in a triangular at Eagle Grove against the host team and Britt.

Cold weather has given Coach Dick Hobbs little opportunity to work out his runners in a satisfactory manner, but he has a pretty good line on the personnel of his relay teams. He has hopes that his two-mile quartet may develop into a fitting successor to the fine team that represented BHS in this event last season.

Barring development of another half-miler capable of beating out one of the four, present contenders for places on the two-mile team, it will apparently be composed of "Joe" Smith, Arlo Stoltenberg, Larry Schimp and Dave Long. The veteran pair of Smith and Stoltenberg were both running fine 880's by the end of last spring.

This outfit will be entered at Pocahontas, likely along with the medley and half-mile combos. Hobbs expects to use DaDean Obrecht and Ronnie Courson on the 220 legs of the medley event, Stoltenberg on the 440 and Smith will run the half. Make-up of the 880 quartet will be drawn from among Obrecht, Courson, Tom Lowenberg, Dean Pruisman, Jerry Chandler and Billy Ayers.

The triangular at Eagle Grove will give Hobbs his first opportunity to see what he has for the individual events. It appears at this point that the Broncos will have fair strength in the running events but will probably be weak in the field events.

WHO'S WHO IN BELMOND—

Hiddleston's Been Busy Fellow

• • •

"CHET" HIDDLESTON
Round Peg in A Round Hole

C. C. "Chet" Hiddleston, president-manager of Woodward's department store, came to Belmond only three years ago in January. But in that relatively short period of time he has already left an indelible mark on his new hometown. He's not a fellow to stand on the sidelines and gripe. Instead, when he sees a thing he believes needing done, his reaction is to hitch up his britches and say, "Come on, let's do it!"

One noteworthy result of this let's-do-it attitude was reorganization of the Belmond Chamber of Commerce on a bureau basis under his presidency in 1954-55. It can be said without much risk of contradiction that the Chamber had never been so dyamic an organization as it became under his leadership.

Civic Bureau Clicks

Whereas its interest in undertakings of a purely civic nature had previously ranged from moderate to indifferent, with establishment of the Civic Bureau the C-of-C became one of the strongest forces for community betterment that Belmond has ever had. Moreover, under Chet's guidance, the Chamber began to enjoy wider support than ever before in spite of the fact that dues were raised materially. And, in turn, the broader financing gave the Chamber sufficient funds to further extend its effectiveness.

Since relinquishing the presidency, Chet has been chairman of the Retail Bureau of the Chamber and has been doing a fine job in that capacity. But the range of his activities makes it clear that he is by no means exclusively trade-minded. Quite naturally, he's eager to see Belmond thrive and grow as a shopping center; but he also wants to see it become a better community from every aspect.

On Methodist Board

Witness the variety of affiliations and offices that can be listed under his name: member of the Lions club, and one of its vice presidents; member of the Methodist church, vice president of its Family Fellowship and also a member of its official board; secretary-treasurer of the Gridiron club. He also belongs to the Odd Fellows, the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Born April 22, 1919, at Gardner, Kans., he was graduated from Gardner High school in 1936 and after a few pick-up jobs went to work for Betty Rose coat factory at North Kansas City, Mo. After two years as a factory hand he got into the selling end of the business — and developed an interest in the retail mercantile trade that inevitably led to his acquiring a store of his own in due time.

Saw WWII Naval Service

Besides his attraction for merchandising, Chet also acquired a wife at the coat factory — a fellow employee, Imogene Peters, whom he wed Sept. 8, 1941. They have one daughter, Roberta, who's 11 years old.

In June of 1942 Uncle Sam decided he needed Chet's help to win the war and he wore the uniform of the U. S. Navy until November of 1945. He was in the Navy Air corps, saw considerable service in the Pacific — most of that time in Navy intelligence — and was discharged holding the rating of Bosun's Mate 1/c.

Strip-Mined After War

After the war he digressed temporarily from the goal of a mercantile store of his own. He bought up some war surplus strip-mining equipment, leased some coal land near Venita, Okla., and mined coal for four years. This experience was followed by a year as a welder in the General Motors assembly plant at Kansas City, Kans.

Then, at last, came the opportunity to make the switch into merchandising. An uncle of Chet's, Frank Chambers of Decorah, was one of the founders of the Woodward's organization and possessed an interest in the Woodward's an interest in the Woodward's store at Webster City. When an opening for an assistant manager developed there, Chet grabbed the job on Mr. Chambers' recommendation. He was promptly satisfied that he had found his proper niche.

Store Business Has Grown

After two years at Webster City, the opportunity to buy controlling interest in the Belmond store came along and Chet snapped it up. He's had no cause for regret, for the store's volume of business has grown remarkably under his management — AND he has found Belmond, itself, a town very much to his liking.

Hobbies don't stack up very importantly in Chet's scheme of things. He likes to bowl and sponsors a team in the Mainstreeters' league. But his business and the various community interests that he has developed through it occupy a lion's share of his time.

Chet is very obviously a round peg comfortably fitted into a round hole. He's doing what he finds most pleasant and challenging to do. And in that respect, he's luckier than a lot of other folks.

● POOL—

In such event that the project is given up for the present, one of the problems that will call for solution is disposal of the cash remaining after personal donations are returned.

Considering the number of Iowa communities in Belmond's population range and smaller that successfully financed the construction of swimming pools during the past year, the committee is quite disappointed that the local undertaking fell so far short of success. They still feel that a genuine need exists for a pool in Belmond.

Mr. Schorman says it is the committee's hope that the city hall will be well filled for the meeting a week from Friday so that solutions fairly representative of the will of the community can be arrived at as the various problems outlined above are brought up for discussion.

Packed Auditorium Sees Kay Whitten and Kenny Jury Crowned as 4-H Fun Nite King and Queen Last Friday

A full house saw Wright county 4-H clubs select Kay Whitten of Rowan queen and Kenny Jury of Dows king of the 1956 4-H Fun Nite which was held Friday evening at the Clarion school auditorium.

The king and queen were selected from 26 candidates as part of the regular 4-H Fun Nite program, which included skits presented by the various 4-H clubs. Kay Whitten of the Iowa U-Go-I-Go 4-H club was crowned queen by Jim Larrick, the retiring king and boys' 4-H county president. Kenneth Jury of Blaine Livewires 4-H club was crowned king by Kay Keller of the Wall Lake Wee Women, last year's queen.

Fourteen skits were offered, with a nice balance between music, dancing, pageant and humor displayed. Beth Robie of the Dayton Dandies, girls' 4-H county president, and Jim Larrick, Grant Growers, were mistress and master of ceremonies.

Club Skits Listed

The 4-H Fun Nite skits presented and the sponsoring clubs were: "Parting is Such Sweet Sorrow," Belmond Busy Bees and Pleasant Pioneers; "Old Cars Never Die — They Just Fall Away," Blaine Blue Ribbon Winners and Blaine Livewires; "Columbus Discovers America," Eagle Red Peppers and Eagle Grove Eager Beavers.

"Grandpa and Grandma Come to Town," Vernon Victors and Up and Coming Vernonites; "Opening the Album of Memories," Woolstock Willing Workers and Woolstock Junior Stockmen; "Norway Jolly Ramblers," Norway Jolly Joy Makers and Norway Ramblers; "Waiting For the School Bus," Lake Leaders; and "Iowa Marches," Iowa U-Go-I-Go and Iowa Hawkeyes.

Girls Chorus Sings

One of the features of the 4-H Fun Nite was a group of numbers by the Wright county girls 4-H chorus, one of the few county choruses in the state. It is directed by Mrs. Clair McOllough of Lincoln township and the pianist is Jane Baker of the Norway Jolly Joy Makers.

Candidates for king and queen of 4-H Fun Nite and the clubs they represented were: Sara Simerson, Belmond Busy Bees; Lynn Mennenga, Pleasant Pioneers; Rita Schroeder, Blaine Blue Ribbon Winners; Kenny Jury, Blaine Livewires; Sharon Hoffman, Belles of Boone; Charles Keller, Lake Leaders; Margaret Hagie, Dayton Dandies; Kenny Loux, Dayton Dynamiters; Joyce Kraft, Eagle Red Peppers; Dick Meyers, Eagle Grove Eager Beavers; Jeanine Hardy, Grant Go Getters; Rich Howieson, Grant Growers; Kay Whitten, Iowa U-Go-I-Go; Roger Bohning, Iowa Hawkeyes.

Federated Women's Clubs Holding County Convention Here Tomorrow

Belmond club women will play a prominent part in the Wright county convention of federated clubs that is to be held tomorrow at the Methodist church. Full morning and afternoon sessions have been planned, with a luncheon to be served at the church at noon.

There are 12 federated clubs in the county, Culture Study, Progress and the Belmond Woman's clubs being the ones in this community. Their respective presidents are Mrs. Merle Bonte, Mrs. Paul Jenison and Mrs. Martin Qualen.

Other clubs that will be represented at the convention are the Agenda and Women's Federated, Clarion; Thursday club, Dows; Equality and Woman's club, Eagle Grove; Alpha Delphian and Bayview, Goldfield; Femmines, Jr., and Review, Rowan.

During the registration period that will open at 9:30 a. m. Friday, a musical interlude will be provided by Mrs. Paul Jenison and Mrs. Ronald Courson, followed by pronouncement of the invocation by Rev. M. L. Jones and pledge of allegiance led by Mrs. Al Mennenga. A welcome to the guests will be expressed by Mrs. Robert Rosene of the Progress club and the response will be given by Mrs. E. C. Johnson of Eagle Grove.

Business routine will occupy a major portion of the remainder of the session, with time provided just before noon for an address by Mrs. E. J. Hennings of Arcadia, 6th District director of the Iowa Federation of Women's clubs.

A memorial service, with Mrs. O. J. Cambier of Clarion in charge, will open the afternoon session, followed by organ music played by Mrs. Wesley Phillips, also of Clarion. Then Mrs. Harry Ladman of Clarion will introduce the speaker of the afternoon, Samuel H. Shih, a Chinese student who is attending Iowa State college.

After reports are received from the various county committeewomen, the Belmond Woman's club will present a skit entitled, "Every Husband." Following the report on registration, the convention's resolutions will be read by Mrs. Charles Sellers of Rowan. The meeting will conclude with an invitation from Mrs. Henry Graepler of Dows to hold the 1957 convention at that community and recitation of the club collect, led by Mrs. John Whyte of Goldfield.

Boone Preacher, Demo Candidate, Dinner Speaker

An invitation to the public to hear addresses by three prominent figures in the 1956 contest for election honors, following next Thursday night's Democratic dinner at Veterans' Memorial hall, has been issued by the Democratic Women of Wright County. The women's group, sponsors of the dinner, reports that the speech-making will start about 7:30 p. m. and will be open to all at no charge.

It appeared possible this week that all tickets for the preceding dinner would be sold well in advance of the appointed day. Tickets are available locally at Courson Insurance Agency at $2.00 apiece.

Coad Successful Minister

As announced last week, the speakers of the occasion will be: R. M. "Spike" Evans of Arnold's Park, who is contending for the Democratic nomination as candidate for the U. S. Senate; Merwin Coad of Boone, seeking nomination as candidate for U. S. Representative from the 6th District; and Mrs. Herbert Arthur of Ames, chairman of the Democratic Women of Iowa.

The Rev. Mr. Coad is somewhat of an anomaly in political circles—a highly successful minister who regards that he can best enhance the cause of good government by direct participation in politics. Only 31 years old, Mr. Coad has been pastor of the Central Christian church at Boone for five years and for 2½ years before that was engaged in the ministry at Lenox.

Backs Rigid Price Controls

A native of Auburn, Neb., the young preacher was graduated from Texas Christian university in 1945 and has taken advanced work in religion at both that school and Drake university. At Boone he has added nearly 400 persons to the membership of his church and directed a successful campaign for construction of a $100,000 education addition.

Mr. Coad has some well-defined ideas on social and economic legislation. He's a staunch believer in a farm program that entails rigid, high price supports with cross-compliance controls; increased school lunch consumption of farm products and further relaxation on emergency farm loans.

Taft-Hartley Opponent

He says he would seek immediate tax relief to those of low and medium income brackets and also would work for basic revision or repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law, charging it places inequities upon labor. He also recommends linking the Social Security program to the cost of living index to keep payments in relation with current living costs.

Mrs. Arthur, who is the wife of an architectural engineer and has two sons, has held offices of statewide importance in a varitey of organizations. She is a past president of the Iowa League of Women Voters; is Christian citizenship chairman of the Iowa Fellowship of Congregational Christian Women; a member of the Iowa Board of the United Nations.

Also, she is 5th District chairman of the Iowa Federation of Women's Clubs; and national Chairman of Television for the United Church Women.

Marc Ihm Again Will Head Rural Community Chest

Marc Ihm of Rowan was re-elected president of the Wright County Rural Community Chest at the April monthly meeting of the organization held Tuesday of last week at Clarion in Hagie's conference room.

Jack Rampelberg of Clarion advanced to the post of 1st vice president and the vacancy in the 2nd vice presidency was filled by Peter Kalkwarf of Belmond. Mrs. Leo Woodley of Clarion will serve for the third year as secretary and James Sebby of Clarion will be treasurer. Floyd Robie of Clarion, as past president, is an ex officio director.

On Board of Directors

Following a specific formula to arrive at length of terms, by geographical location, the following old and new directors from the Belmond vicinity will be serving on the board during the coming year: Belmond—Mrs. Art Homervold; Norway — Gerhard Thompson; Pleasant — Peter Kalkwarf; Iowa — Thomas Groom; Rowan — Mrs. Florence Aldinger.

Others currently on the board, besides the persons already mentions, are: Mrs. Oliver Huntley, Goldfield, Boone township; James Sebby, Clarion, Lake; Mrs. Violet Lindvall, Clarion, Grant; Mrs. R. G. Nolte, Goldfield, Liberty; Craig Nelson, Goldfield, Eagle Grove; Mrs. Casper Hahn, Clarion, Dayton.

Special May Speaker

Kenneth Tillman, Clarion, Lincoln; Merle Poolman, Galt, Blaine; Edith Nelson, town of Galt; Mrs. Everett Beisner, Dows, Vernon; Mrs. Harold Dahlgren, Clarion, Wall Lake; Mrs. William Fischer, Eagle Grove, Woolstock; Mrs. George Jones, town of Woolstock; Earl Puffet, Eagle Grove, Troy.

All persons in the territory covered by the Rural Community Chest are welcome to attend the monthly meetings held the first Tuesday of each month at Hagie's conference room. At the May meeting, William Schneider of Des Moines, head of the United Fund of Iowa, has promised to be present and offer some suggestions to help make the 1956 Chest drive a success.

Dudley Bonte attended the Ice Follies at Minneapolis, Minn., Saturday as guest of the Mason City Globe-Gazette along with carriers from various other communities. He earned the outing by achieving a route increase of 10 customers.

Even When The Weather's Dry . . .

IT PAYS TO FERTILIZE!

THIS IS A MISTAKE!

Fertilizer applied NOW is your best hedge against loss in yield during a dry growing season — regardless of whether or not you have moisture at this time. Actual records prove it.

HERE ARE THE FACTS:

Corn (no fertilizer) 43.8 bu. per acre.
Corn (40 lbs. Nitrogen) 73.8 bu. per acre.
Corn (80 lbs. Nitrogen) 83.9 bu. per acre.

In 1953, also a dry year, farmers who fertilized were able to get 60-bushel yiels. Farmers who did not fertilize often had to settle for as little as 20 bushels per acre.

CUT YOUR FERTILIZER COSTS!

Buy From Your Eagle Grove Plant

Your co-op, and the Consumers Cooperative Association fertilizer plant in Eagle Grove can supply you with the Mixed Fertilizer of the right formulation for your requirements. Buy through your co-op and get the important savings through patronage refunds that cut your costs and "ease the squeeze."

FINK-BRUNS NUPTIALS HELD AT LUTHERAN CHURCH AT LATIMER

Miss Elwilda Fink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fink of Latimer, and Max Bruns, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Bruns of Alexander, were married at St. Paul's Lutheran church at Latimer before an altar decorated with baskets of pink gladioli and candelbra. Rev. A. T. Kellerman performed the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Verald Fink of Latimer and Darlene Estchen of Mason City, wearing waltz-length gowns of mint green crystalette and headbands of carnations and acacia, were candlelighters. Herbert Einsphar was organist and accompanied Arlan Duit of Chapin, vocal soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. Her veil of imported silk illusion fell from a pearlized flower tiara and she carried a cascade bouquet of sweetheart roses with white streamers and rosebuds.

Mrs. Winifred Schramm of Knoke, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Elaine Bruns, Alexander, and Mrs. Melvin Allen of Hampton were bridesmaids. All wore gowns of pink crystalette with matching mitts and headbands of carnation and acacia. They carried cascade bouquets, also of carnations and acacia.

Jacki Westaby of Alexander, in a gown similar to the bride's attendants', was flower girl. Jimmy Braun of Belmond was ringbearer.

Duane Blau of Mason City was bestman and groomsmen were Dean Bruns of Alexander and Marvin Fink of Latimer. Ushers were Verald Fink, Latimer, and Curtis Bruns, Coulter.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress with white accessories and the groom's mother a turquoise dress with pink accessories. Both wore corsages of sweetheart roses and carnations.

After the ceremony a reception for 250 guests was held in the church parlors.

The bride, a graduate of Franklin Consolidated High school, is employed at Farmers Hybrid offices, Hampton. The groom, also a Franklin graduate, served two years in the Army and is now engaged in farming. After a southern honeymoon trip, they are now at home on a farm near Alexander.

Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them: for this is the law and the prophets. — Matt. 7:12.

OUR DEMOCRACY BY NO MEANS ALWAYS FOLLOWS THE WILL OF THE MAJORITY

Last month the latest of repeated attempts to find a better way to elect this nation's president and vice president failed to make the grade in Congress. As a result, there appears every likelihood that the Electoral College will continue to hold antiquated sway over this vital, democratic procedure — with the chance that the voice of the people may be extensively muffled in the procedure.

Efforts to revamp the system of electing our two chief officers remind us for all the world of the wrangles that have accompanied our own state's endeavor to come up with a fairer apportionment of representation in the legislature. Everyone concedes it's unfair to a majority of the people the way matters stand; but the favored, rural areas seem satisfied to tolerate the status quo so long as the inequality is to their benefit.

In its deliberations on the electoral system, the U. S. Senate readily acknowledged that some corrective steps should be taken to make presidential elections reflect more accurately the will of the majority. But enough of the gentlemen in this august body have enjoyed "machine" help in acquiring their elevated status that the prospect of diminishing the power of well organized minorities has very little appeal to them.

For one reason or other, the last thing most of the Senators seemed to want (at least, such a proposal was voted down by a 69-13 margin) is to see our president elected by direct vote of the people, with a simple majority deciding the issue.

The "big states" constitute such influential blocks of electoral votes and at the same time are so wieldly that, although the people they contain do not comprise a voting majority, the senators are disinclined to reduce the impact that the big states exert.

One of the staunchest proponents of a more fairly proportional method of choosing presidential electors argues that the present block electoral voting — with all a state's votes going to the candidate with a simple majority, though his margin be as little as a single ballot — makes candidates cater to organized minorities and pressure groups within the biggest states and metropolitan centers.

So matters stand. In Iowa, rural forces oppose the introduction of fair apportionment. On the national level, the more populous areas predominate in influencing the election of our chief executive. All of which proves that our democratic processes still need to be tinkered with before we actually attain the ideal of which we Americans claim to be the proudest — that the will of the majority decides what's what and who's who in our government.

WRONG DOING IS WRONG DOING, EVEN THOUGH YOU CLOSE THE DOOR ON IT

Read a story the other day in the Christian Science Monitor's column "As the Small Fry See It" that handed us a chuckle — then made us reflect a bit soberly on the common, human frailty that underlaid it.

While her mother was busy with the new baby, three-year-old Ellen found a can of chocolate syrup in the kitchen and took it to her room. She was busily sampling it with her fingers when discovered by her father, who chided, "You should have asked your mother for permission to have the syrup — and you should have used a spoon."

Ellen corrected him with the declaration, "I shoulda shutten the door!"

The incident reminded us of a good friend of ours who consistantly ignores stop signs unless a vehicle is approaching on the main artery that would oblige him to stop, anyway.

Should he ever be nabbed by the law indulging in this pecadillo, we can well imagine his reaction would not be, "I should start observing stop signs."

Not at all. He'd only think, regretfully, "THIS time I shoulda stopped."

We can well imagine that a good many income tax reports are filled out in the same spirit. An all too prevailing attitude exists in this day of calloused consciences that a wrong is a wrong only if you get caught at it. The disgracefully small percentage of wage-earners submitting state income tax returns clearly testifies to the accuracy of this charge.

We hope that Ellen learned a lesson of value from her experience with the chocolate syrup; that her Daddy forcefully pointed out to her that shutting the door on mischief doesn't alter it's BEING mischief. We'd also be happy to see a get-tough policy enforced against the multitude of state income tax cheaters.

To the conscientious minority helping to pull the wagon, it's more than a mite aggravating to KNOW that so many are dragging their feet.

Honors to Henry Raecker for 40 Years' Ministry

Rev. Henry Raecker, brother of Garfield Raecker, last Sunday was honored on the occasion of the 40th anniversary of his entry into the ministry. Special observances were held at his present church, the Grace EUB church at Marshalltown. A stained glass window in the newly constructed church was dedicated in honor of the pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Raecker and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Raecker and son, accompanied by a sister of the minister, Mrs. Arthur Fillenwarth of Sanborn, went to Marshalltown to attend the special service. Many other relatives, friends and former parishoners from out of town were present to pay their respects to the honoree.

The new church in which the ceremonies were conducted was built under the leadership of the Rev. Mr. Raecker, who has been its pastor for the past five or six years.

Following the services a dinner for relatives of the pastor was served by women of the church and the children of Mr. and Mrs. Raecker. After dinner, a reception was held and program presented. Moisture Shortage Expected to Present Farmers Serious Problem

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Scoutmaster Jake Freshwater is looking for a couple of dads who might be free to drive cars when local Scouts and Explorers take a five or six-day jaunt to the Black Hills in late May. No Scouts under rank of 1st Class are to be taken — with the exception that if the father of a younger Scout is one of the drivers, his youngster will be welcome to go along. Any dads willing to volunteer for "the duty" are asked to contact Jake or Explorer Leader Dick Evenson.

North Iowa conference athletic teams have found it pretty tough to capture state basketball and other state athletic honors, but we'll put the newspapers of the seven conference towns up against any comparable group in Iowa when it comes to grabbing off journalistic honors. At last week's annual convention of the Iowa Press association, the NIC publishers walked off with a total of 13 places or honorable mentions! They gathered in three 1sts, three 2nds, two 3rds and five honorable mentions.

Both the Forest City Summit and Buffalo Center Tribune were rated the BEST papers in the state in their respective circulation classes; and the Garner Leader was judged 1st in Best Service to Agriculture. (Last year the Lakota Review, which George Carman publishes in addition to the Buffalo Center Tribune, placed best in ITS class; so it couldn't compete again this year).

Forest City won citations in SIX divisions of competition, Buffalo Center, Garner and the Northwood Anchor in two each and The Independent in one. (We didn't quite get skunked.) It might be added that the Lake Mills Graphic used to "win 'em all;" but in recent years, Publisher Gordon Aasgaard has let the other boys have a chance. Editor John Anderson has made vast improvement in the Britt News-Tribune in the several years he's been at the helm there and may be among the prize-winners soon.

—M-S—

We're mighty proud to be associated, through conference affiliation and fellow membership in the Hawkeye Press club, with such a fine group of newspapermen as those running the above papers. That they're a bunch of "swell Joes" in addition is just frosting on the cake. Our enthusiastic congratulations go to all of them.

—M-S—

Last week's Iowa News Bulletin of the Iowa Development Commission reported that the average value of land and buildings of an Iowa farm today is estimated at $36,077 as compared to $27,566 in 1950. This is an increase of nearly 31 per cent, the estimate being based on the total value of Iowa farms of $5.9 billion as divulged by the 1954 agricultural census.

We anticipate that these figures will prompt the reply, "All right, but they say that the average Iowa farm is steadily becoming a lot larger." Actually, the change was only from an average of 168.7 to 176.5 acres between 1950 and 1954 — an increase of only 4.6 per cent compared to that 31 per cent rise in value.

During the four years that separated the two surveys, the number of Iowa farms decreased from 203,159 to 192,933. Incidentally, as might be guessed, Iowa ranks first in the nation in regard to total area in the state devoted to agriculture. If any Texans are looking, that's percentagewise. Nearly 95 per cent of Iowa's 35,868,800 acres are in farm land.

—M-S—

A girl's plastic billfold has been in our collection of found articles for several weeks. It contains only a small amount of change, but we expect some youngster would like to have it back. It will be turned over to the owner upon proper identification. Whose is it?

—M-S—

Belmond's "most eligible bachelor," Henry Larsen, last week ended a long-time conspiracy of silence by divulging the date of his birthday — which was April 12 — and going so far as to confess that last Thursday he reached his 80th milestone. Henry was born on a small isle near Fyn, next-to-largest of the numerous islands that largely compose the country of Denmark, in 1876. He came to the USA when he was 33 and after a couple of years as a farmhand started farming for himself in Cerro Gordo county.

In 1916, after four years "on his own," Henry moved onto a farm in Hancock county; and in 1920 transferred his farming operations to Wright county. From 1924 until he retired in 1944, he rented the Tyrrells' "east farm," which contains 210 acres.

Since moving into Belmond 12 years ago, he's kept a hand in the farming business by feeding a few cattle and hogs each summer on the seven acres on the Iowa river bank that adjoin the property he owns near the south end of River avenue. Henry's avocation is Masonic work and he spends a lot of time at it. He's a 32nd degree Mason and is a regular attendant at consistory functions at Des Moines. Perhaps it's his state of bachelorhood that has kept Henry youthful-appearing to a degree belying his years. He's truly "80 years young."

—M-S—

In an advertisement in this issue, Louis Tokman and George Heginger of Belmond Auto company do a bit of modest boasting over their recent acquisition of another Ford Four-Letter Award. It was Belmond Auto's 8th in a row. Of all Ford dealers in the sales area in which Belmond is located, only FOUR qualified for a Four-Letter Award last year!

Schiemann Given GMI Promotion; Job to Dannewitz

Tom Burdsal, manager of General Mills' feed mill here, announced last weekend that Gene Schiemann has been given a promotion that will take him back to Minneapolis as assistant credit manager for GMI's north central sales region. He had been employed in the accounting department of General Mills for 5½ years before his transfer to Belmond in February of last year to assume the duties of production planner at the feed mill.

His new duties will have to do with credit involved in all orders for formula feed produced at Belmond and any other feed of the company distributed in the north central area. Included in the territory are Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, eastern Montana, upper Michigan, northern Illinois and northern Iowa.

General Mills has recently acquired sales offices in the American Hardware Mutual building on Lake Calhoun in Minneapolis, and Mr. Schiemann will have his headquarters there rather than at the GMI main office. He will assume his new duties on Monday of next week.

Replacing Mr. Schiemann on an acting basis will be M. B. Dannewitz, who joined the General Mills organization in late November of last year after close to nine years of residence in Belmond as proprietor of the Model Cleaners. His position to date has been that of accounting clerk on the feed mill staff.

The production-planner's job entails receiving orders from all dealers in the north central area who truck feed to their establishments, coordinating these with those going out by rail and planning mill production accordingly. He must see that adequate supplies of the wide variety of Larro feeds produced here are always on hand to fill orders, keep warehouse inventories up to sufficient levels — and, Mr. Burdsal admits, try to anticipate in advance when demands for certain feeds will increase.

Pool Meeting Friday Night

A reminder is offered by Rev. William Schorman, chairman of the swimming pool committee, that a public meeting on the fate of the swimming pool campaign is to be held tomorrow (Friday) night at 8:00 o'clock at the city hall. At that time, opinions will be solicited as to whether the project should be pursued further—or should be dropped for the time being. The only apparent avenue that could be followed to make the pool a reality in the near future seems to be a municipal bond issue for that purpose, the chairman says. Whether or not such a step would be feasible will be left up to those in attendance at the meeting, he adds. Other questions of importance pertaining to funds now on hand will be considered at that time.

Cairns' Plans Set For New Building

Jim Cairns has informed The Independent that his tentative plans to build new quarters for Jim's Paint and Wallpaper store have materialized and that the building that formerly housed Uncle Don's Tavern will be razed the first of the month to provide the building site.

Building of his new store will coincide with construction of the new location of Ted's Shoe store and the two structures will be joined by a party wall.

Sarah Probst, proprietor of the Coffee Shop, has announced that she will continue in business in a new spot after her present quarters — adjacent to Ted's Shoe store — are torn down. She has leased the location opposite Helland and Long Implement store on Main street that was occupied by Curt Luick's lunch room before it was struck by fire last year.

This building is owned by Martin Thoe. He will have the fire damage repaired and the interior redeocrated so the site will be ready for occupancy by the first of May.

ISC Specialists Find Deficiency In County Serious

"Is there enough soil moisture for regular rates of planting corn?" This is the big question Wright county farmers will need to answer for themselves by corn planting time.

College experts found soil moisture deficient in three areas tested in Wright county, according to results announced at a field demonstration on soil moisture arranged by Aaron R. Bowman, county extension director, and held west of Clarion last Friday.

Deficiency in soil moisture varied from seven inches to three inches, depending on location, soil type, previous crop grown and the amount of rainfall since last summer.

Soil Moisture 70% Short

Clarion-Webster soils should hold approximately two inches of soil moisture per foot and a depth of five feet is considered, on the average, the area reached by roots of corn and other deep-rooted crops. On this basis, local soils should have approximately 10 inches of soil moisture at corn planting time. The corn crop needs about 20 inches of soil moisture and this region's summer rains normally supply the other 10 inches.

On the basis of these estimates, Bob Shaw, climatologist of Iowa State college agronomy department, and Don Neilson, soil physicist of the same department, found Clarion type soil on plowed meadow ground to have only three inches of moisture or 30 per cent of capacity.

The area sampled was in Section 9 in Lincoln township, one of the areas very deficient in moisture last summer. Even with normal rainfall this summer, this area would have only approximately 13 inches of soil moisture, when 20 inches is needed to mature a good corn crop.

Deficiencies "Serious"

The two other areas sampled were on oats stubble just west of Hagie's plant at Clarion, where the demonstration was held, and on plowed meadow in Section 19 in Lake township. Both of these areas were 3½ inches short of the normal amount that should be in the soil by corn planting time. The area in Lake township, north of Holmes, had sufficient moisture last year to mature a good corn crop.

Both the Clarion area in Lincoln township and a meadow area west of Clarion had serious deficiencies of soil moisture in the three to five-foot area. Samples were taken in each foot up to a five foot depth.

Planting Recommendations

E. R. Duncan and Fred Schaller, extension agronomists, had certain planting recommendations to make where the soils are deficient in moisture at planting time. They recommend: (1) use starter fertilizer; (2) put additional nitrogen, if needed, in deep because surface application will cause too much weed growth, which competes for soil moisture.

(3) Do not disc or spring-tooth the ground too frequently or too deeply because each time the soil is stirred, moisture is lost; (4) reduce corn planting rate to the equivalent of one kernel every 12 inches. This might be three to three and a half kernels on 40 inches, or power-check two to each 24 to 36 inches.

Maximum Yields "Out"

Duncan pointed out that where the moisture is deficient, a lower planting rate usually results in fewer barren stalks and nubbins. He also emphasized that farmers should not expect maximum yields under lower planting rates and deficient moisture. However, these suggestions will give better yields of corn than normal or heavier planting rates under the condition of deficient moisture, they declared.

All the college specialists agreed that their estimates of the deficiencies in moisture are conservative. Ordinarily, many Webster soils would have free water at the four to five foot levels.

Schaller and Shaw recommended that farmers make several borings on their own farms to estimate soil moisture. Tractor mounted post hole diggers would do the job, if the soil is examined at each foot. Clarion-Webster soil with sufficient soil moisture will form balls readily, will feel "slick" and soil will stick to thumb when rolled between thumb and forefinger.

Normal Rain Won't Suffice

It will take more than the normal amount of rain this spring to bring the soil moisture up to capacity. Three inches of rain does not add three inches of soil moisture under the normal conditions under which this area gets rainfall.

The demonstration held Friday was requested by Bowman and was the first of its kind ever held in the state. Several county extension directors from adjoining counties attended, as well as commercial interests from as far away as Des Moines.

Fort Dodge Chorus to Sing Here

Music lovers of Belmond and the surrounding area are going to enjoy a real treat when the Men's Civic Glee club of Fort Dodge presents a concert at the high school auditorium Monday evening of next week at 8:15 o'clock.

This concert is being sponsored by the Lions club of Belmond and the Lions invite everyone in Belmond and the surrounding territory to come to the program. No admission will be charged.

The Fort Dodge Men's Civic Glee club, organized 26 years ago, is one of the oldest active male choruses in Iowa. Its members have come to be recognized as "Fort Dodge's Unofficial Ambassadors of Song."

Since it was organized, the Glee club has appeared in more than 85 towns and cities in northwest Iowa and the group has been invited to return for as many as five concerts in many of these communities.

The group had its start when several men lounged before the fireplace in the Fort Dodge Y. M. C. A. lobby back in 1930. One of the men started a song and soon all were harmonizing. The impromptu session was so enjoyable that the idea that they meet again was quickly approved. These men met on several occasions and became the nucleus of what was to become the Men's Civic Glee club of Fort Dodge.

The glee club now has 45 members representing a wide range of occupations. Though most of the men are Fort Dodgers, the club also draws some of its members from half a dozen or more towns in the area. Neither the chorus nor its members receive any pay. They sing together because they enjoy singing and the fellowship of the group.

The club sings only by invitation—and only when the program is sponsored as a community project by some civic or service group. Appearances are strictly for good-will, and the glee club never appears on a program when admission is charged.

Clayton Hathaway is the director and Mrs. Helen Frye, the accompanist. A women's chorus appears regularly with the glee club.

ASSISTANT COACH AND FIVE NEW TEACHERS GIVEN FACULTY POSTS

Six new faculty members to serve in the schools of Belmond Community School district were hired last week, including a new coach to assist Dick Hobbs in both football and basketball. The latter is Jack Steinberg, a 1947 graduate of Garner High school, who earned considerable prestige as a coach during three years in that capacity at Melrose High school.

Other new additions to the teaching staff announced by Harold Simerson, president of the school board, are: Arba Rose Selgelid, Renwick, 5th-6th grade reading; Janice Marie Stokke, Forest City, 4th grade; Judith Gilbertson, Ledyard, 5th-6th grade language; Carolyn Olson, Thompson and Shirley Ford, Jewell, both to teach 2nd grade.

Was Star at Garner

Mr. Steinberg, who is married and has a six-month-old daughter, was a versatile athletic star at Garner and lettered in all varsity sports. After graduation from GHS, he enrolled at Notre Dame university and won numerals in both basketball and baseball but suffered a knee injury that brought an end to his career as a sports competitor. He transferred to Loras college, Dubuque, as a sophomore and was graduated "cum laude" in 1952. He has taken graduate work as a summer school student at Iowa State Teachers college.

During 1953-55 he coached basketball at Melrose, during which time his teams won 57 games while losing only 21. The Irish won two conference championships under his guidance and were runners-up the other year. They were also sectional tournament champs twice and won one district title.

Was Hired in Montana

His success at Melrose brought him a contract last year as head basketball coach and freshman football coach at the Great Falls (Mont.) Central High school, one of the state's largest schools. But in mid-summer his father, J. C. Steinberg, Garner hardwareman, suffered a heart attack and the young coach surrendered his contract at Great Falls so he could be closer to home.

In order to be located in this area, he accepted a coaching job at Alexander for the current year. He was hampered by a dearth of material there. At BHS he will assist Coach Hobbs in football, direct the freshman-sophomore basketball squad and coach baseball.

Selgelids Moving Here

All of the new grade teachers will be launching their careers here, with the exception of Mrs. Selgelid. A 1931 graduate of Eagle Grove High school, the latter taught in Wright county rural schools until 1949. She then spent three years at Vernon Consolidated, Renwick, and the past four years has taught at Renwick.

Mrs. Selgelid attended Eagle Grove Junior college 1948-1950 and then qualified for her Standard Elementary certificate by taking summer work at Buena Vista college Storm Lake, the next three years. Her husband and child will move here with her after the close of the current school year and he will engage in sales work for Mussell Chevrolet company.

All four of the other newcomers are graduating this spring from Waldorf college at Forest City. Miss Ford and Miss Olson have been doing practice teaching since the first of the year at Forest City, Miss Gilbertson at Fertile and Miss Stokke at Lake Mills.

Set Registration Of Pre-Schoolers

Independent Again Ranks High Among Papers Rendering Community Service

Contending for honors in the Iowa Press association's Best Community Service contest for the third time in five years, The Belmond Independent last week at the press group's annual state convention was judged one of the four most outstanding weekly newspapers in Iowa in the community service category. The Independent won first place in 1952 and 1954 and was ineligible to enter the contest in 1953 and 1955.

This year's first place winner was the What Cheer Patriot-Chronicle and second was awarded to the Eldora Herald-Ledger and Index. First honorable mention went to the Clarinda Herald-Journal. The Independent was rated next and third honorable mention went to the Monticello Express. Judging was done by Colorado publishers under the auspices of the Colorado Press association.

400 Eligible to Compete

There are 401 weekly and semi-weekly newspapers in Iowa and entries are received each year from all whose publishers consider that their endeavors in the line of community service warrant consideration for state recognition.

Five projects were included in The Independent's community service entry. Topping them was the campaign carried on by this newspaper to induce the spending of county road construction funds for their intended purpose. County officials have credited the campaign with having a direct influence on the decision early this year to launch a 10-year, three million dollar program of hard-surfacing in Wright county.

Auxiliary Promotion Cited

The Independent also cited its efforts to inspire establishment of a Belmond Community Hospital Auxiliary, the cooperation it gave the movement and the publicity given its membership drive and subsequent activities.

Also reviewed were this newspaper's promotion of the school bond issue which provided funds for construction of the Goodell grade school, the shop building and bus barn here and acquisition of additional land for further expansion of the school system; and the Main Street column's library clock fund.

Finally, the part The Independent played in the unsuccessful effort to obtain a community swimming pool for Belmond was presented as evidence that "you can't win 'em all" when you participate in the widest possible range of undertakings for civic betterment.

County F. B. Asks "Ike's" Signature On Farm Measure

Although the American Farm Bureau Federation stood unalterably opposed to the high parity provision of the farm bill presented to President Eisenhower, the Wright County Farm Bureau last week sent a telegram to the president urging him to sign the measure.

It was regarded by the county Farm Bureau board, according to a spokesman, that presence of the soil fertility bank provision—which the Farm Bureau has ardently fought for — would assure farmers additional income this year.

This prompted the telegram to President Eisenhower, despite the fact that the bill contained amendments which the Farm Bureau Federation has sternly disapproved.

"Because additional income is of the utmost importance to our Wright county farmers this year," stated the announcement from the county board of directors, "we felt it best to get the proposed measure in force in spite of its faults."

The telegram, and others in the same vein, failed to swerve President Eisenhower from carrying out his threat to veto the farm bill if it provided high, rigid price supports.

Johnson Funeral Today at Hampton

Albin Johnson, son of Mrs. Gus Johnson and brother of Edus Johnson, died Tuesday at Hampton of complications developing from a ruptured appendix. He was a native of Belmond and a frequent visitor here, but had made Hampton his home for the past 50 years.

IT'S OFFICIAL; JENISON'S PM

Appointment of George Jenison as Belmond's postmaster was approved Monday of this week by the U. S. Senate. Word of the Senate's action was wired by Rep. James I. Dolliver to C. C. Christie, chairman of the Wright county Republican central committee. Mr. Jenison has been serving in an acting capacity since resignation of J. C. Brady from the postmaster's position on Jan. 29 of last year to accept a district postal appointment. Mr. Jenison is in his ninth year of service with the local post office, having been appointed as a substitute clerk on July 1, 1947. He became a regular clerk on Oct. 1, 1948.

Funeral Services For Boelman Baby Held on Saturday

Funeral services for Reece Joyce Boelman, three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joyce Boelman, were held Saturday at the Immanuel Reformed church. They were conducted by Rev. O. G. Poppen and Rev. Ralph Meyer and Fulton Funeral Home was in charge.

Interment was in the Immanuel Reformed cemetery. Pallbearers were Emery Wenzel, Norman Haupt, Duane Dorenkamp and Billy Halfwassen.

The infant was born Jan. 6 and passed away April 12.

Monday, a large group of friends and neighbors assembled at the Boelman farm to do field work for Mr. Boelman that he had been unable to take care of during the illness of his little son. The helpers were equipped with some two dozen tractors and got a large quantity of planting, plowing and discing done during the morning and afternoon.

COLLIER AT CONVENTION

L. A. Collier, local manager for the Central Telephone company, on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week attended the 60th annual convention of the Iowa Independent Telephone association at Des Moines.

ON THE AIR once again, with installation Saturday of its new two-way radio, the Belmond police department can now converse over the Wright county police circuit via the sheriff's channel. It was planned that the radio also be equipped to transmit and receive over the state highway patrol circuit, so contact could be maintained continuously with the state station north of town. However, a converter that would enable reception of transmissions from the state station was omitted from shipment from the manufacturer and temporarily the police car can be reached by the state station only by relay. It can call the highway station, and both receive and transmit over the sheriff's channel. Emmett King, chief of the state station, is shown above (left) as he went about the inconvenient task of installing the new equipment. Officer Gilford Paxton (right) is pictured using the set. The new police car was received last Thursday. It still requires a siren and spotlight to be fully outfitted.

Ill Wind Blew Nobody Good

Gone with the wind is any chance of cashing in on the half dozen Cash Gift Day numbers that would have been good for greenbacks on last Tuesday. Whether the bluster of the weather kept the crowd down, or Lady Luck was simply in hiding (hid by dust, perhaps), not a cent of cash was claimed. At 2:00 p.m., numbers potentially good for $25 apiece were 1,456, 2,301, 3,083 and 3,714. At 3:00 o'clock the $100 numbers were 1,122 and 3,495. Hoping the dust will be settled and cash-hunters will be out en force next Tuesday, the CGD committee is posting SIX $25's at 2:00 o'clock and a pair of $100's again at 3:00 p.m.

Even When The Weather's Dry...
IT PAYS TO FERTILIZE!
THIS IS A MISTAKE!
Fertilizer applied NOW is your best hedge against loss in yield during a dry growing season — regardless of whether or not you have moisture at this time. Actual records prove it.
HERE ARE THE FACTS:
Corn (no fertilizer) 43.8 bu. per acre.
Corn (40 lbs. Nitrogen) 73.8 bu. per acre.
Corn (80 lbs. Nitrogen) 83.9 bu. per acre.
In 1953, also a dry year, farmers who fertilized were able to get 60-bushel yiels. Farmers who did not fertilize often had to settle for as little as 20 bushels per acre.
CUT YOUR FERTILIZER COSTS!

Sharp Winner of County Bowling Title

Scoring at a consistant pace that gave him an average of exactly 192 pins per game for 15 lines of tournament competition, George Sharp kept the Wright county bowling championship in Belmond by whipping Cal Umstead of Eagle Grove in Sunday afternoon's finals. Sharp wound up with a 561 at the Eagle Bowl against his opponent's 530.

Roger Kinseth made a game try toward making it an all-Belmond final, but dropped a 550-522 decision to Umstead in the semi's and had to settle for third place. He downed former county champion Marv Franzen of Eagle Grove in the consolation match, 531-501. Sharp had reached the title round by swamping Franzen in the semi-finals, 589-529.

Third round results in the championship flight were as follows: Umstead over Howard Tuttle (Clarion), 529-385; Kinseth over Jack Crosby (B), 509-492; Sharp over Howard Harvey (EG), 569-464; and Franzen over Gary Roepke (EG), 588-422.

Sharp was awarded a trophy and $16 as a cash prize for winning the championship. He succeeds Ed Albers, his second-round victim, as title-holder. Kinseth got $6.00 as third-place winner and Umstead $10 as runner-up.

Belmond had no bowlers in the lower flight finals. Maynard Holmgaard, in the second flight, was the only local pinman besides Sharp and Kinseth to advance as far as the semi-final round.

Medley Team 3rd In Opening Meet

Belmond High's tracksters found the going a bit rough in the strong 13-team field that competed in the Class A division at the Pocahontas Relays last Friday and the best they were able to do was a tie for 10th place with four points. These points were chalked up by the medley relay team, which picked off a third.

Sophomore Doug Nodland ran a nice opening quarter to keep the Broncs well in contention and he was followed by Tom Lowenberg and Dave Long on the two 220 legs. Joe Smith covered the 880 and turned in a good performance.

Hopes for a place in the two-mile relay went down the drain when Belmond was well back in the ruck at the end of the starting leg. Smith ran a good anchor race but was able to pull the Broncs up to only sixth place, one short of a pay-off spot.

Coach Dick Hobbs reports that a pair of sophs did well for initial performances of the season, though they failed to win points. Bill Kaufman cleared 5-4 in the high jump and barely failed at 5-6. Dean Pruisman cleared 9-6 in the pole vault and had a near miss at 10 feet, which would have given him a share of 5th place.

Garner Winner Over Bronc Nine

A bad first inning, in which Belmond errors helped Garner get off to a 4-0 lead on Monday afternoon of last week, sent the BHS baseball team down to a 5-4 defeat in its opener against the Cardinals.

Both Tom Lowenberg for the Broncos and Ed Hrubes for the Cards were effective on the mound, allowing only three hits apiece; but Lowenberg's occasional wildness accounted for eight walks while his rival issued only half that many passes. Hrubes struck out 11 Broncs and Tom fanned six batters.

Belmond's hits were delivered by Jerry Chandler and Lowenberg — a triple apiece — and Roland Jenison, who connected for a single.

Games still on the Bronco schedule include one at Clarion this Friday and at Kanawha next Monday. Sectional tourney play is to start April 30.

MARIE ANN MAYLAND, WILLIAM WILSON WED IN BRITT CEREMONY

Miss Marie Ann Mayland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mayland of Britt became the bride of John W. Wilson of Kanawha, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson of Britt — former Belmond residents, Sunday, April 8, at 2:30 p. m. in the First Lutheran church at Britt. Rev. Paul W. Adix performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with bouquets of red and white carnations.

Mrs. Paul W. Adix of Britt played the nuptial music and accompanied Virginia Newton of Britt as she sang "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown made with a lace bodice having short puffed sleeves, ruffle trimmed, and a ballerina-length satin skirt with a net overskirt. Her shoulder-length veil was attached to a crown trimmed with seed pearls. Her jewelry, a gift of the groom, was a necklace with matching earrings. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with two lavender orchids.

Erlene Mayland of Britt, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Susan Shetters of Chicago, Ill., was bridesmaid. They wore ballerina-length formals of blue and yellow, respectively, with matching crowns. Miss Mayland carried pink carnations and Miss Shetters orchid carnations.

Donald Gifford and Arnette TerHark, both of Kanawha, were the groomsmen. Ushers were Lewis Mayland of Britt, brother of the bride, and Harold Anderson of Goodell, cousin of the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church basement for 200 guests from Belmond, Goodell, Kanawha, Ledyard, Lakota, Humboldt, Forest City, Woden, Clarion, Buffalo Center, Titonka, Ackley, Wellsburg, Sibley and Britt; Bigelow Minn., Chicago, Ill., and New London, Conn.

The bride is a 1955 graduate of Britt High school and also attended Gale Institute of Minneapolis. She has been employed by the Burlington Railroad at Chicago. The groom attended school at Kanawha and is employed by the Lampert Lumber company, Kanawha.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length, white satin, princess style gown fashioned with full-length sleeves and a stylish bustle effect in the back. She carried a bouquet of white orchids, which she placed at the altar of the Blessed Virgin Mary after the ceremony.

Notice! Now Is The Time to Clean Up All Yards, Alleys, Streets

At this season when many of our citizens have brightened up their part of the community by removing all rubbish, refuse and other unsightly remnants of winter and have arranged garden and flower plots, it is the recommendation of the Mayor and Council that everyone carry out the idea of spucing up for spring, thus making for a truly inviting appearance and continuing the very desireable reputation our town enjoys as a good place to live in.

For the benefit of those gardens that are now molested by over-active dogs and chickens, it is recommended that dogs and poultry be restrained as their trespassing could cause difficulties for their owners.

Ill-Advised Turn Brings Collision

Two occupants in a car driven by Allen Meyers, 16, of Belmond were hurt Saturday about 9:45 a.m. when the Meyers car was involved in a collision on Highway 3 four miles east of Clarion. Mrs. John Just, 31, was badly bruised about the right eye and her daughter Judy, six, was bruised on the right arm.

LeRoy Smith, 52, of Rowan, who was driving a farm tractor and four-wheeled trailer west on the highway turned onto a gravel road to the south and Meyers was unable to avoid hitting the trailer, Deputy Sheriff Dale Walrod reports.

Headed east, the Meyers car bounced off the trailer and head-on into a car driven from the opposite direction by Elsie Cupp, 68, of Galt. About $500 estimated damage was done to each of the autos.

In the court of Clarion Mayor R. C. Bowman on Monday morning, Smith was fined $10 and costs for failing to yield the right-of-way.

Sale of Shetland Ponies at Pavilion

A sales event unique to this area is being held at Belmond Sales Pavilion this Friday and Saturday when E. E. "Ernie" Schroeder will conduct an all-pony sale in collaboration with W. M. Meyers and Roy B. Johnson, both of Buffalo Center.

Mr. Schroeder says that 225 Shetland ponies have been consigned to the sale, 75 of them very high class registered Shetlands that are expected to bring fancy prices. Top prices should run $800 to $1,000 or better, the Belmond pony breeder anticipates.

Auctioneers will be specialists in the pony field, Col. Maurice Conrad of Keota and Frank Lolli of Macon, Mo. Ring men will be Penn Wheelis of Waco, Tex., and Dr. H. M. Parrot of Albia. Pedigrees will be read by Perry Carlisle of Perry, Okla.

Twenty-two Iowa and Minnesota breeders made advanced consignments to the sale. Mr. Schroeder believes that local persons might find the sale a very interesting spectacle. No ponies over 46 inches tall are accepted for sale. Selling will start on each day at 10:00 a. m.

Never shall your memory fade.

SOLDIERS RELIEF COSTS IN COUNTY ARE UP BY 114 PER CENT SINCE '51

The story of "The Five Little Peppers and How They Grew" has been a childhood favorite over a good many years and no doubt holds a place in the memory of a lot of adults. We'd just like to suggest that Wright county grown-ups might find just as interesting the plot of another potential story that could be entitled, "Soldiers Relief Payments and How They Grew."

How much of this story would turn out to be fact and how much fiction, we're not prepared at this time to say. But there certainly appears to be the makings of a good tale and we would like to know the story in full.

Something over a year ago, The Independent had some comment to make on the curiously rapid rise in soldiers relief costs in this county. We'd like at this time to observe that it is continuing — and how! To demonstrate our point, we'd like to pass along the total expenditures for soldiers relief in Wright county for the first three months of this year as compared to the five years immediately preceeding. The totals include all expense except per diem and travel money paid to the commissioners—which is insignificant in that it averages only $25 or $30 per month.

1955 . . .	8,285.90	1952 . . .	6,294.76
1954 . . .	6,758.80	1951 . . .	4,895.35

A little, quick pencil work indicates that outlays of the soldiers relief commission have gone up a matter of 114 per cent since 1951. We'll readily concede that the end of the Korean war probably brought the number of ex-servicemen in our population to the highest level ever. But the added numbers should fall within the most-employable group in our sociological structure and it is hard to believe that any large numbers of these young men are unable to find gainful employment.

We'll further agree that the amount of soldiers relief required by World War I veterans is conceivably increasing some, year by year, as these former servicemen advance in age. But we can't believe that this accounts for the tremendous increase in our soldiers relief bill in Wright county.

Those first three, cold months of the year ordinarily account for about 28.5 per cent of the year's total soldiers relief expense. On that basis, the 1956 outlay for soldiers relief promises to reach approximately $37,000 — compared to $17,133 in 1951.

It seems highly improbable that the potential case load of the soldiers relief commission has increased sufficiently to justify that $20,000 jump in expense in just six years. Some very basic changes in policies followed in granting relief would seem to be indicated. Perhaps the commission is shouldering financial responsibilities that should fall to other agencies. Perhaps policies governing eligibility have become more liberal than circumstances justify.

Whatever the explanation, there is surely a clear indication an analysis of soldiers relief costs in our county would be to the point. Something is out of kilter.

H. R. GROSS APPEARS INDIFFERENT ABOUT YE ED'S PROFERRED OPINION

In his capacity as a member of the executive committee of the Iowa Committee for the Hoover Report, Ye Ed recently had occasion to write a couple of Iowa Congressmen.

He urged Ben F. Jensen, as a representative on the House Appropriations committee, to lend his support to a recommendation currently before that body for the closing out of 34 commercial-type enterprises which the federal government is unnecessarily conducting under the Defense Department in competition with private businesses of like nature.

As a representative on the subcommittee of the House Civil Service and Post Office committee, H. R. Gross received the other letter. It had to do with contemplated liquidation of the Postal Savings System as a government enterprise that no longer serves a useful purpose and is operated at a cost to the taxpayer.

The liquidation has been urged by the Hoover Commission, as was abandonment of the commercial-type enterprises mentioned.

We'd like to pass on to you the replies from these two gentlemen.

From Mr. Jensen: "I am pleased to acknowledge receipt of your letter and hasten to assure you that I have and will continue to demand that the Federal government get out and stay out of any business which should be done by private enterprise. The recommendations of the Defense Department have not as yet been presented to the full Appropriations committee, but you may be sure this matter will receive my earnest attention."

From Mr. Gross: "Thank you for giving me the benefit of your views on legislation to liquidate the Postal Savings System. A subcommittee of the House Post Office and Civil Service committee is to conduct hearings on these bills, and before making a commitment, I will want to hear all the testimony."

Do you get the impression that Mr. Jensen is just a bit more concerned about what the "folks back home" have to say than is Mr. Gross? That's the way we felt, too.

VOL. 36 NO. 29 OFFICIAL CITY PAPER BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, APRIL 26, 1956 OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

City Council Gives "Go Ahead" to Drafting Planning Commission

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

One of the most intriguing names we've run across in some time is Barking Sands, Kauai, Hawaii, where Pfc. Duane Dippel's Marine outfit — 2nd Battalion of the 4th Regiment — recently participated in "Operation Mauka," first full-scale assault by Marines of the 1st Provisional Marine Air-Ground Task Force. Why "Barking Sands," we wonder?

Duane is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dippel. He was one of nearly 8,000 Marines taking part in the exercise — along with about 20 Navy ships and 5,000 Navy personnel of Amphibious Squadron 1.

Pfc. Dippel's regiment "hit the beach" by amphibious craft and helicopter. Says the news release, "Simulated naval gunfire, close air support and atomic bomb simulators added realism in this test of the newest concepts of amphibious warfare in the atomic age." With all the racket that must have been going on, we wonder if anyone could HEAR the sands bark?

—M-S—

Mrs. Dwight Tyrrell, a member of the county extension service's Family Living committee, asks that we call attention to the fact that next week (April 29-May 5) is National Home Demonstration Week. The Family Living group believes that many local homemakers may find of interest special broadcasts and telecasts planned by WOI and WOI-TV, Ames, in observance of the occasion. . . . NOW if you miss 'em, it won't be our fault!

—M-S—

We're in receipt of a clipping from the Racine (Wis.) Journal-Times of April 10 which states that John Prasch, one-time BHS football coach, has been doing all right by himself since he left Belmond about 1940. Don't recall just where John went after he left here, but he's been climbing steadily up the ladder and next year will assume the principalship of a large, new high school in a Long Beach, Calif., suburb. These California jobs are just about tops in the nation.

John came here fresh out of Coe college. His coaching career was interrupted by World War II service with the Naval Air corps in the Pacific.

He coached at Sycamore Township, Ill., High school for two years prior to going to Racine's Washington Park High school in 1948. He was made principal of the school two years later. Along the way, John picked up an M. A. degree in education at the University of Iowa in 1946 and while at Racine has been taking graduate work at the University of Chicago and at Northwestern towards a Ph. D. in school administration. For a young fellow of only 28 years, he's been making rapid strides!

We probably ought to scream this in a banner headline, instead of making a Main Street item of it — rare as it is these days that the public gets something for nothing. However, we take this means of calling to your attention that the Belmond Fire department is throwing a free, public dance at Vets' Memorial building next Wednesday in appreciation of the generous response to the annual sale of Firemen's Ball tickets. Even if you don't dance, you might drop around to listen a few nickels' worth. The price is right!

Viva Parker, who is unquestionably one of Belmond's most beloved teachers, had her 30th year in the teaching profession touchingly honored last Friday by a party planned and produced by her 4th grade class. Her return to the classroom after the noon hour was delayed by several none-too-subtle subterfuges on the part of fellow teachers—and when she got there she found the stage all set for the big event. The room was decorated with pink and blue crepe paper, a lovely "tea table" was decked out with lunch cloth, silverware AND six cakes!

On the board was written, "Dear Mrs. Parker: This is in honor of your 30th year of teaching. We love you and we are going to miss you. We hope you have a million more years. God Bless You. Your 1956 Class."

Ice cream in ample quantity accompanied the cake, and there was a nice anniversary gift. A record player provided "mood music." Viva admits that another "million years" of school teaching strikes her as a bit too much of a much, but she was deeply pleased by the children's thoughtfulness. There was some genuine "thoughtfulness" involved, too, as three tests had been scheduled for the afternoon; and needless to say, these were cancelled. Viva says the cake-eating record for the occasion was NINE pieces. There was LOTS of cake!

As a convenience to those who are "going places," The Independent will post in its front window on Fridays the state highway department's weekly map showing detours that are currently in use over the state. If you're heading on a trip, it might pay to take a look at it. Could save you a rude shock, en route.

Tot, 3, Uninjured in Nine-Foot Fall

Judy Ruter, little three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ruter, emerged virtually unscathed on Wednesday afternoon of last week after a nine-foot tumble into an open manhole. She was riding by the hole on her tricycle when it apparently tipped and she plunged through the opening.

Workmen for Kinseth Plumbing and Heating only moments earlier had taken off the manhole cover temporarily in doing some work in the [illegible] block on Sixth avenue SE. [illegible] removed the [illegible] of the manhole [illegible] proved to be a [illegible]

Once Hospital Patient Here with Broken Leg, Hoffman Now Seeks World Sky-Diving Honors

Lyle Hoffman of Seattle, Wash., who was an unintended "guest" of Belmond Community hospital for a period of weeks in the late summer and early fall of 1954 following a five-car mix-up on Highway 69 just north of town, was a visitor here last week. He and his family were keenly impressed by the fine treatment he received while recuperating from a fractured leg and this was the first opportunity he'd had to revisit the community.

He's kept contact with Belmond, though, through correspondence with Nurse's Aide Dora Ennen, who has a daughter in Seattle; Ed Reichardt, who was his roommate in the hospital; and Fred Fulton, whose ambulance brought him to the hospital and later — while Hoffman was still in a body cast—transported him to Ames to start his return trip to the west coast.

It was passingly mentioned at the time of the accident that the young Washingtonian was a parachute jumper by avocation, and it was pursuit of this hobby that brought him back to Belmond. It seems he's not only a parachute jumper, but a "sky diver" — the elite de elite of the profession. As one of the nation's best at the trade, he was en route to Trenton, N. J., to try out for a five-man U. S. team that is going into training for international competition this summer.

The world championships will be held in Moscow, Russia, July 15-30, with sky divers from 14 nations contending for honors. Hoffman explained during his stop here that "sky diving is competitive in the way ordinary diving is competitive and is judged on form. The difference is that instead of entering the water at the end of your acrobatics, you open your 'chute."

Actually an upholsterer by occupation, Hoffman says he can make sky-diving pay to the extent of meeting expenses but feels "it wouldn't be a dependable way of making a living;" which sounds like a masterpiece of understatement.

He was able to resume his business of upholstering a year ago last March. He is now so completely recovered from the effects of the near-fatal smashup on No. 69 that he endeavored eight practice parachute jumps last month to "warm up" for the international championship try-outs. He credits the expert medical attention he received at the Belmond hospital for making it possible to resume his dangerous hobby.

The meet in Russia will mark the first time the USA has fielded a team in world parachuting competition. Hoffman says that parachuting as a sport has recently become popular in many countries mainly because of the discovery of the art of sky diving.

As he explained it, the trick is to maneuver the body into a position horizontal to the ground and then utilize wind resistance to engage in a variety of acrobatics while plummeting earthward. Meanwhile, it is advisable that the diver maintain a certain degree of awareness as to his diminishing altitude so he isn't eliminated by a concluding and exceedingly fatal "splash."

Hoffman seemed pretty confident of making the U. S. team, as he said he likely would not be back this way until late August or early September. He plans to get in a bit of fishing at Clear Lake with Ed Reichardt at that time, before continuing on his way home. Perhaps The Independent will be able to obtain some "inside dope" on the World Championships to pass on to its readers at that time.

First State Bank Gets Sewer Bonds

First State bank of Belmond was successful bidder last week in the sale of $60,000 worth of municipal sewer construction bonds to finance the sanitary sewer extension to the east part of Belmond. Bid of the local bank was based on an interest rate of 2.6 per cent. This was close to a quarter of a per cent under the next best bid.

Four financial institutions submitted bids on the bonds. The effective interest rate offered by Becker & Cownie, Inc., Des Moines, was second low at 2.84375.

Iowa Des Moines National bank, Des Moines, employed an interest consideration og 2.80452 in its bid. First of Iowa Corp., Des Moines, taking a small premium into consideration, had an effective bid of 2.9686.

Notice is given in this issue of the estimate of levy that will be required to retire the bonds and the date of May 7, a week from Monday, is set for hearing on the estimate. According to the levy estimate, a total of $70,092 will have to be raised by taxation to pay the principal and interest on the bonds, which are to be retired by 1966.

GIFT TO HOSPITAL

A memorial gift in the amount of $5.00 was recently received by Belmond Community hospital in the name of the late Mrs. Olander Sandberg of Goodell.

Bid of Sinclair Low on County's Gas, Diesel Fuel

Six companies contended for the contract for Wright county's needs in the line of gasoline and diesel fuel that was let at a meeting of the board of supervisors held Tuesday at the courthouse. The sharp bidding produced better prices for both fuels than those at which the Skelly Oil company provided them for the 12-month period just ending.

The contracts were awarded to Sinclair Oil company, which had the best composite bids on the two fuels although it was not lowest on either. Sinclair offered to provide gas at 3.67 cents below posted tank wagon price and diesel fuel at 2.57 cents under wagon price. Skelly's bids last year were 3.56 on gas and 2.5 on diesel fuel.

Lowest bid the county received Tuesday on gasoline was that of Cities Service, 3.75 cents below wagon price; but this firm's diesel bid was only a 1.75-cent discount. Wright and Humboldt Co-op had low bid of 2.6 cents discount on diesel fuel; but its gasoline price was 3.6, a shade higher than Sinclair's. Since the requirements are for an estimated 150,000 gallons of gasoline and only 50,000 gallons of diesel fuel, the Sinclair offer was the most favorable.

Other companies bid as follows as to discounts below wagon price: Phillips 3.63 and 2.0; Standard Oil 3.18 and 2.0; Skelly 3.58 and 2.5. It will be noted that, although it failed to submit the best bid, Skelly Oil's was lower than that which brought it the county contract last year.

The county board resumed the policy of buying fuels by bid six years ago, after a lapse of some years, and the winning bid for 1956-57 is the lowest it has received in the six-year period.

Two Youths Face Pilfering Charges

Two Belmond youths, ages 16 and 17, were taken into custody by local police on Thursday of last week after they were found in possession of several items that had been stolen from parked cars.

Sheriff Bob Blecker says the pair have implicated themselves in a number of incidents of pilfering, attempted breaking and entering, theft of gasoline and larceny in the night time.

According to the sheriff, information regarding the youths' extra-legal pursuits has been turned over to County Attorney Ralph Austin preparatory to filing of charges in juvenile court.

Further investigation is being conducted into some of the incidents in which the two boys have confessed involvement, the sheriff added.

Ramsay School's Division of PTA To Meet Monday

Officers of the junior high-high school division of the Belmond Parent-Teachers association were elected at a meeting held Wednesday evening of last week and new officers of the Ramsay Elementary school division will be elected at a meeting planned for next Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. The Goodell PTA election will be conducted at a meeting to be held in the new school building May 7.

Mrs. Duane Jenison was chosen as president of the junior high-high school PTA. She succeeds Mrs. Hale Mason. Other new officers of this division are: Mrs. A. M. Larson, vice president; and Mrs. Chester Hill, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Robert Garms is retiring president of the Ramsay PTA and Solomon Krass of the Goodell division.

Dr. M. J. Colbert will be speaker at the Ramsay division meeting, which will be held at the high school auditorium. He will take as his topic, "Emotional Problems of Growing Up." The program will also include two numbers by grade school singers under the direction of Donna Doeringsfeld.

Mrs. Garms urges a good attendance at this meeting and issues a particular invitation to all mothers who will have children entering kindergarten this coming fall, so they will have an opportunity to get acquainted.

Seniors to Give Play on May 4th

Climaxing more than a month of practice by the cast of 13, the annual BHS senior class play will be presented on Friday of next week at the high school auditorium under the direction of Margaret Lapitz. Curtain time will be 8:00 p. m. This year's production will be "Seventeenth Summer," written by Anne Coulter Martens and based on a book by Maureen Daily.

Leading roles will be taken by Maryellen Johnson as Angie Morrow, a youngster of 17 busily engaged in growing up, and Marlan Cunningham as her boy friend. Annette Swenson will play Angie's older sister Margaret and Elna Jenison, another sister, Lorraine. Mr. and Mrs. Morrow will be portrayed by Bradley Hammond and Sharon Thompsen. Corrine Davenport is cast as their youngest daughter, Kitty, a 10-year-old.

Tom Stadtlander will take the part of Margaret's fiance and John Pulver will depict Lorraine's heart interest. Phyllis Lee and Connie Hill are cast as two of Angie's friends.

SCHOOL TO WHICH CLASSWORK WAS TRANSFERRED TUESDAY

Classes Start in New Goodell School

On Tuesday of this week, the 72 students of the Goodell community enrolled in grades one through six began class work for the first time in the new grade school in Goodell upon which construction was started last July. It had been expected that the building would be in use several months earlier, but numerous, unexpected delays repeatedly set back the date of occupancy.

First and second grades, taught by Mrs. Jim Carlson, share one of the classrooms; third and fourth, taught by Mrs. Carl Robbins, another; and fifth and 6th, instructed by Mrs. Grant Chapman, the third. The first and second grade room will also be used for morning kindergarten classes starting next fall.

Besides the classrooms, the new building contains a large, multi-purpose room which will be used for recreation and as the hot lunch room. Up to this week, classes have been held in the Goodell Community hall and lunch was served for the children at Myland's cafe. Mrs. Roy Foss has now taken up the duties of hot-lunch cook. Henry Nolte, janitor, completes the school's staff.

All equipment has now been received and installed except the lockers that will go in the classrooms. Asphalt tile is used for flooring throughout, and in the multi-purpose room is inlaid with appropriate markings for a basketball court. This pastime will be available to the youngsters as soon as baskets have been erected. Another feature of the multi-purpose room is fold-away tables that are pulled out from the wall when needed at lunch time.

Supt. Don Faris says that the Goodell faculty will be augmented by the addition of a part-time kindergarten teacher when school begins next autumn.

More Commercial Construction in Progress, Including New Offices Being Built by Drs. Classick and Misner

Business construction was continuing apace in Belmond this week, with several new undertakings in progress in addition to projects reported earlier. These include the building of new, joint office quarters by Drs. H. J. Classick and R.E. Misner, veterinarians; complete remodeling of the one-time Mussell Chevrolet garage beside The Independent by Lee Mussell, for occupancy by Madsen Heating and Plumbing; and finishing of a remodeling job by Dr. A. M. Larson on the building in which his office is located.

Doctors Classick and Misner are erecting a 35x60-foot office building on the property south of Bowl-Mor Lanes, which will include a 40-foot basement and on the ground floor a joint office for their use and a rental office of equal size—40x17½ feet. To the rear of the adjoining offices will be a 35x20-foot work space for the doctors' use.

Paneled Front Planned

Ordinary cement block will be used for side wall below ground level and the upper walls will be Hadite concrete block. The front will have a paneled effect provided by combined use of the Hadite block and split block variegated colors ranging from buff to rust. Doctor Classick believes the building will be the first in town employing precast concrete joists. The basement and first floor will be poured concrete and the roof 35x45-foot area will be composed of precast concrete slab, topped with moisture barrier, sheeting and tar-and-gravel surface.

Excavation for the building has been completed and pouring of the footings was slated for Wednesday of this week. General contractors are Ted Zook and Leo Dorr, Sr.; Meinders and Bonte are doing the plumbing and heating; and Packard and Jenison the electrical wiring. The veterinarians hope to be in their new, totally fireproof building in about 60 days.

Classick Here 15 Years

Doctor Classick has practiced in Belmond for 15 years and Doctor Misner joined in partnership with him in 1950. Both of them and both of their wives are natives of the same, small South Dakota town of Hurley.

Remodeling of the former Chevrolet garage is being rushed in an effort to have it ready for occupancy by the first of May. It will have an almost entirely new front, inset entryway at the center. The interior will provide space for a 24x20-foot office at the front and, at the rear, a 24x44-foot workshop with ample storage space.

Since 1949, when he went into business for himself, Fred Madsen has had his office in his home and work area in a building to the rear at 439 East Main. He has also used

SCION OF FORMER LOCAL FAMILY REIGNS OVER BEAUMONT FESTIVAL

A huge banner headline in Beaumont (Texas) Enterprise of last Thursday proclaimed former Belmondite W. C. "Bill" Tyrrell as King Neches VIII, ruler of the 8th annual Neches River Festival that is the top ceremonial event of the Texas metropolis.

While King Neches rules over the pomp and pageantry, serving with him are the Queen of the Neches and an assemblage of Knights, which this year included Movie Star Preston Foster along with Beaumont dignitaries. This year's festival served the double purpose of commemorating the 75th anniversary of Beaumont's incorporation.

The story of King "Bill's" coronation and other phases of the spectacle was lavishly illustrated, with pictures covering the equivalent of more than a full page of the Enterprise.

Reigning incognito over the early stages of the festival, King Neches was unmasked Thursday afternoon on the city hall steps by Mayor Elmo Beard. Commented the Beaumont newspaper, "The royal display took place a few dozen yards from Tyrrell Public Library, donated to the city by the late Capt. W. C. Tyrrell, grandfather of the Neches King. Capt. Tyrrell also donated to the city the land for the park now bearing his family's name.

"The Neches King is the son of the late W. C. Tyrrell. The ruler's mother makes her home in Caldwood. Mr. Tyrrell is a local oilman and investor. Students of the Beaumont tradition were gratified with Mr. Tyrrell's selection. . . . It was felt appropriate in view of the active and generous part he, his father and grandfather have played in the growth and development of the city."

KING "BILL" Tyrrell as he appeared when a candidate (successful) for state representative from Wright county in 1942. Five years later he moved from Belmond to Beaumont, Tex.

Keep Eyes Peeled for GMI Trial Balloons; It COULD Pay Off!

Residents of the Belmond area, being more familiar than most persons with GMI's sideline of producing plastic balloons for propaganda-carrying purposes, should take something of a proprietary interest in the parade of "trial balloons" that is in the course of being launched — or soon will be — from Minneapolis.

General Mills asks people of this vicinity to keep an eye pealed for the balloons and for the leaflets that will be dropped from them. "The General" wants to know as precisely as possible where these leaflets come to earth. Each will contain a postcard to be clipped out and placed in the mail.

Some of the return cards will bring the lucky finders a souvenir award from GMI, so it will be worthwhile to see that they are duly mailed.

In addition to the leaflets, a few of the balloons will carry a lightweight barograph to measure the height the balloon attains. Any of these recovered should be left carefully intact, as opening the cardboard containers will ruin the critical records inside. These barographs will be about seven by five by three inches in size.

Finders of these instrument boxes will discover attached a Betty Crocker Friendship Fund certificate on which they may specify the name of their church or a favorite charity, to which Gold Medal Flour will send $20 upon receipt of the instrument. The barographs will be pre-addressed and stamped for easy mailing.

Purpose of these trial balloon launchings is to obtain needed information to continue effectively the American Crusade for Freedom, which for several years has used balloon flights to scatter free-world propaganda behind the Iron Curtain in Europe.

Leaflets and barographs are expected to drop over a wide area in Iowa, Wisconsin and Illinois. Whether any will chance to drop in this immediate vicinity cannot be predicted certainly. But if they do, "the General" wants to know about it; and the Independent urges its readers to give their fullest cooperation.

Wednesday at 2:00 p. m. Garner will take on the Belmond-Britt winner and at 3:30, Wesley will oppose the survivor of the Klemme-Hayfield game. Finals are scheduled for Friday of next week.

CGD TOTAL UP TO $400!

Takers for $350 were sought fruitlessly Tuesday as not a single Cash Gift Day winner was turned up. No's. 2,601 and 3,566 would have been worth $100 each at 3:00 p. m. and $25 numbers at 2:00 o'clock were 1,047, 1,790, 2,262, 2,935, 3,713 and 4,174. They were all "out"—but they stayed "out." Figuring that perhaps the cash-chasers are looking for money in bigger hunks, the CGD committee is going to post THREE $100's at 3:00 p. m. next week—and four $25's at 2:00 o'clock Tuesday. That's a total of $400; and it's well to bear in mind that vacation time is coming.

"OK" Contingent Upon Candidates' Consent to Serve

Mayor Henry Hokel informed The Independent this week that the city council has given the green light to establishment of a city zoning and planning commission, advancing by an important step a proposal to that effect that was launched by the Civic Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce about nine months ago.

At a meeting of the council held Monday night, the Civic Bureau committee that has been fostering the proposal submitted to the city fathers a list of some three dozen citizens as suggested candidates for membership on the commission.

Commission Size Indefinite

The councilmen marked their respective lists in order of preference and have asked the C-of-C committee to contact the prospects in order of their recommendation to ascertain their willingness to serve on the commission.

It is as yet uncertain just how many commissioners will be appointed. Mayor Hokel says the concensus of the council is that the body should consist of not less than seven nor more than nine members. Original members of the commission would serve for periods varying from one to five years and all appointed subsequently would serve five-year terms.

Clair Hugh, chairman of the C-of-C zoning and planning committee, says his group will expedite the screening of commission candidates in the hope that the commission can be formally appointed next week.

Conference Coming Up

On Friday, May 4, a state Town and Community Planning Conference is to be held at Iowa State college, Ames. It is regarded by both the committeemen and the councilmen that attendance at this conference by some of the commissioners would be of great value to the commission.

This conference will be headed by Prof. J. R. Fitzsimmons of ISC, widely recognized authority on city planning, who sat on the panel that discussed the subject at an open meeting here in early March. Carl Hamilton, Iowa Falls newspaper publisher who was also on the panel here, is on the conference program as a speaker.

Ordinance Follows Later

Mr. Hugh emphasizes that establishment of a zoning and planning commission is only the initial step in a lengthy process of study, analysis and organization that will have to precede the drafting and adoption of a zoning and planning ordinance.

Much groundwork needs to be done by the commission before application of zoning and planning regulations will be feasible, he explains, and in other communities this has required as much time as a year or more.

According to members of the council questioned individually by The Independent, their approval of proceeding with appointment of the proposed commission is contingent upon willingness of the leading nominees to serve.

"Good" Commission Needed

If a considerable number of the key candidates should refuse, these councilmen said they would regard this as a serious handicap to the success of the zoning and planning proposal.

However, confidence was expressed by Mr. Hugh and Henry Stokke, chairman of the Civic Bureau, that leading citizens would consider success of the proposal of great enough importance that they will be readily willing to hold positions on the commission.

Belmond Library Site of District Meeting May 3rd

Belmond City library will be site of the annual meeting of District 2 of the Iowa Library association on Thursday of next week, with Librarian Faye Colby as official hostess. Chairman in charge of the meeting will be Gladys Kehm, a member of the Mason City library staff. Mrs. Colby says there are 49 libraries in the district and she anticipates that between 120 and 150 persons may be in attendance.

Because the full facilities of the library will be needed to accommodate the meeting, Mrs. Colby says that the library will be closed to the public on that day. She adds that this is the first time that a district meeting has been held here.

A coffee at 9:45 a. m. will open the day's program, with Mrs. George Kyser in charge. A welcome to the guests will be spoken by Mr. Kyser, president of the local library board.

Russell Schaal, also a member of the Belmond board, will appear on the program. He will discuss a proposed bill that is due to be presented before Congress that would enable states to obtain federal aid for expanding rural and small-town library service on a matching-funds basis.

This has to do with a five-year plan which would affect rural areas and communities of less than 10,000 population. It envisions the development of library service on a rural district basis, with bookmobiles augmenting the range of books that are made available to rural library patrons.

All members of the Belmond library board will assist in conducting the district meeting. Trustees, in addition to Mr. Kyser and Mr. Schaal, are Mrs. C. C. Benson, Mrs. Mrs. G. J. Hruska, Matilda Skovlin, Clair Hugh and Lura Cox.

TRACTOR BRIGADE PUTS QUICK FINISH TO DELAYED FIELD WORK

Pictured below are some of the tractors that raced thither and yon over the Joyce Boelman farm on Monday of last week as neighbors and friends assembled to do field work that had fallen in arrears. Mr. Boelman had been unable to get into the field due to illness that befell his three-moth-old son, Reece Joyce, and which resulted in his death on April 12.

Equipped with 14 discs, six harrows and three seeders, during much of the day a total of 23 tractors were busily engaged on the farm. The days' efforts saw 80 acres seeded in oats and 120 sowed with grass seed, 240 acres of ground double-disked and 200 acres harrowed.

The Boelman family provided lunch for the workers at noon, which was served by Mrs. Henry Halfwassen, Mrs. Elmer Wenzel and Mrs. Gene Guth.

Men who gave of their time, provided equipment—and, in many cases, both—were: Ralph Schmidt, Virgil Koenen, Ben Mennenga, Loren Mennenga, Carl Mennenga, Elmer Mennenga, Carl Barkema, George Barkema, Foster Barkema, John Pat.

Ben Dorenkamp, Wilbur Leiberknecht, Lem Long, Harry Kuhlers, George Kuhlers, Elmer Waltzing, Gene Guth, Adolph Meinders, Dean Meinders, Will J Boelman, Bud Boelman, Elmer Wenzel, Jerry Hall, Roger Boelman, Henry Halfwassen and Herman Boelman.

Mr. and Mrs. Boelman were, needless to say, deeply touched by the display of thoughtfulness and helpfulness.

ANCIENT SYMBOL

The characteristic three gold balls that mark the pawnbroker's shop originated with the famous Medici family of ancient Italy. The three gold balls were the coat of arms of this great Renaissance banking dynasty.

AND THIS IS THE SYMBOL of security—the better-than-ever U.S. Savings Bonds! Remember, if you buy a bond a month at $37.50, in 9 years 8 months you will have built up a healthy cash reserve of $4,913.40!

ZERO HOUR

More accidents occur between the hours of 6 to 7 P.M. than in any other period of the day!

PAY CHECK

This year, Americans' personal income will be more than $300,000,000,000.00—and a great number of these same Americans, interested in their security, will invest a part of their pay checks in U.S. Savings Bonds. Why not be one of them?

Broncs Miss 2nd Place at Eagle by One Point

Showing the best all-around strength of any Belmond track squad in many years, the BHS runners and field event specialists finished a strong third in Class C of the Eagle Relays at Eagle Grove last Friday night with a total of 51 points. They lost second place in the final event on the program when Pocahontas grabbed second in the mile relay to the Broncos' fifth and nosed out the Belmond brigade by a single point.

It was squad depth that accounted for the good showing of the Purple and White as they came home winner in only the two-mile relay. This, the Broncs won with ease in the time of 8:59.8. Anchorman "Joe" Smith galloped in some 30 yards or so ahead of his Ventura rival in second place. In a majority of the other events, the strong Ventura Vikings rather predominated proceedings to win the Class C title with 74½ points.

Nosed Out in Medley

Jim Fetrow led off for the Broncs in the two-mile event and brought the baton in second. Larry Schimp moved Belmond into first and Arlo Stoltenberg added to the Broncos' lead so that Smith was in no degree pushed to nail down the victory.

One of the evening's most thrilling finishes came in the Class C mile medley, in which Sheffield edged Belmond by a fraction of a stride. Schimp ran the opening 440 for the Broncs and, apparently tired from his effort in the two-mile, finished well back in the field by quite a discouraging margin. Tom Lowenberg and Jerry Chandler ran commendable 220's to get Smith off in third, about 10 or 12 yards behind the leader.

"Joe" steadily took up slack, passed Ventura on the final curve and made his bid against Sheffield entering the straightaway. He pulled up to within a foot of his rival, but the Claydigger fought off Smith's brave challenge and preserved his meager margin in the dash to the tape.

440 Team Talks 2nd

Belmond's 440 team composed of Dadean Obrecht, Dean Pruisman, Smith and Chandler also brought the Broncs a second place; and Obrecht and Chandler, with Long and Lowenberg running the two middle legs, came in third in the 880-yard relay.

In the crucial mile relay, Long ran as lead-off for Belmond and was clearly "run out" from his exertions earlier in the evening. He finished far back in last place, Roland Jenison closed in on the field somewhat, and Doug Nodland gained further headway on the third leg.

Lowenberg ran a determined race as anchorman and on the home stretch burst into fourth place—which would have given Belmond a second-place tie in the meet; but he tied up in the final yards and Manson stole into fourth place to deprive the Broncs of the additional point they so badly needed.

Scored In Every Event

It is noteworthy that Belmond scored in every event on the program. Here's how the Broncos placed in the individual events: 100-yard dash—Obrecht 3rd; 120-yard high hurdles—Long tied for 4th; 180-yard low hurdles—Long tied for 3rd; pole vault—Pruisman tied for 2nd; shot put—Tom McNulty 2nd; discus—Gary Meyer 2nd; high jump—Bill Kaufman tied for 2nd; football throw—Schimp 3rd; broad jump—Chandler 5th.

Coach Dick Hobbs announced after the meet that the event may have been the last of the year for Pruisman. The promising sophomore pole vaulter and sprinter has been declared scholastically ineligible for further competition.

Following the three top teams in Class C scoring Friday came Mason with 26½ points, Buffalo Center 23 and Sheffield 22. In Class B, Britt finished sixth—and last—with 26 points. Eagle Grove the Class A title.

Many Close Races for League Titles Feature Men's '55-56 Bowling Season

Last week, with a sprinkling of make-up games and a final, full round of matches in the Tri-City league, what was probably the best all-around season in the seven-year history of the Belmond Bowling association drew to an end. Play in the men's leagues was on a consistently higher plane than in previous years. This is indicated by the fact that it took a 600 series or better to win top individual series honors in every one of the leagues — a situation that has not previously prevailed.

Play in the women's league was to be concluded this week, with a red-hot, two-way battle for the championship in progress between Chapman's and the Belmond Greenhouse team to be decided on the final night.

No Run-Away Races

Not one of the men's league championships was won in run-away fashion this year, making the season also the most interesting one to date. A single game gave Twin Lakes a decision over Hagie's Hybrids in the Kanawha league and Mello Maid edged Belmond Hardware by the same margin in the Boardsplitters'. Thompsen Clothiers had only a game and a half bulge over Tip Top in the Mainstreeters'.

A similar battle royale prevailed amongst the General Mills teams, with Larro Feeds outlasting the Elevator gang by a one-game edge. Only Nelson's Gravel in the Tri-City league won by so "comfortable" a margin as four games.

Thompson Series Best

Top team performances of the season were the 3,195 series by the Mainstreeters' Thompson Office five and the 1,133 game turned in by the Boardsplitters' Belmond Hardware outfit. Ed Albers, with the Main Street Tip Toppers, had high individual scratch series with a 714; and he also had high average with 188 in the same league. Thompsen's Jim Mariga and Tip Top's Jack Crosby (both Mainstreeters) shared high game with 277's.

Following are the top performances in each league in the way of gross team scores and individual scratch records:

Kanawha league: high team game, Hagie's Hybrids 1,070; team series, Twin Lakes 3,037; high individual game, George Abbas 265; individual series, Henry Abbas 600; average, Jim Hartwig 170.

Hardware Has top Game

Tri-City: high team game, Elliott's 1,058; team series, Jim's Paint 3,078; high individual game and series, Jack Lobdell 244 and 617; average, Lobdell 165.

Mainstreeters: high team game and series, Thompson Office 1,115 and 3,195; high individual game, Jim Mariga and Jack Crosby 277; individual series, Ed Albers 714; average, Albers 188.

General Mills (which had only four men to a team, rather than five); high net team game, Office 748; high gross game, Office 858; high net team series, Odds & Ends 2,025; high gross series, Odds & Ends 2,328; high individual net game, Larry Greenwood 259; high gross game, Ed Banning 285; high individual net series, Ed Albers 629; high gross series, Larry Greenwood 680; average, Albers 181.

BHS Nine Drops Pair to Clarion

Belmond High's baseball team last Thursday absorbed its third defeat in a row by bowing to Clarion, 11 to 9, at the county seat. A week earlier on the local diamond the Broncs lost to the Cowboys by a 6-4 count.

Heavy hitting has featured the Belmond efforts to capture victory No. 1, but errors and inconsistent mound performances have counteracted the slugging.

In the first game with the Cowboys, Bill Murray laced out a homer and Larry Schimp connected for a double. Last week, both Tom Lowenberg and Roland Jenison homered and Tom McNulty smashed a two-bagger.

Pitching in the first Clarion encounter, Tom Lowenberg gave up seven hits while Mosher held the Broncs to four. Last Thursday, Belmond outhit the Cowboys nine to six, but never were able to recover form the Cowpokes' big, first inning that saw five runs cross the plate.

Tom Lowenberg hurled one and two-thirds innings in the second loss and Dale Caquelin went the rest of the route. Jenison starred at bat with a pair of singles besides the homer in four plate appearances.

Mrs. Percy Watnem of Ottosen visited Mrs. H. J. Classick Wednesday afternoon of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Bamford and Sharon Ann spent the weekend in the home of Mrs. Bamford's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Quinby, and they also visited her grandfather, Ed F. Bailey at Cedar Rapids.

Clara Johnson returned to Cedar Rapids Sunday after a week spent in the home of her mother, Mrs. Gus Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hohensee of Pocahontas spent the weekend in the Roger Boelman home.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter Faulhaber visited in the Berdell Busick home near Clarion last Monday evening.

Mrs. Jim Cairns attended the 70th anniversary services of Zion Lutheran church at Ruthven Sunday. Ruthven is her hometown. She also visited her brother, Donald Eaton, and family, there.

Albers President Of Bowling Assn.

Ed Albers was elected president of the Belmond Bowling association as that group held its annual business meeting at Bowl-Mor Lanes on Wednesday night of last week. He succeeds Louie Mennenga as head of the association.

Arlo Stoltenberg was elected vice president and George Sharp and Maynard Holmgaard, secretary and treasurer, respectively, were returned to those offices for another year.

Trophies and cash prizes won in the annual city bowling tournament were awarded and George Sharp was given a round of applause as the new Wright county bowling champion.

Skovlins Report On Lengthy Tour Through Europe

On Oct. 19, Mr. and Mrs. Skovlin joined their daughter in Madrid and during the period intervening from that time until their return to the States the Skovlins made a number of tours in and around Spain. Among the places they visited were Spanish Morocco and the island of Majorca.

After arriving in New York, Mr. and Mrs. Skovlin proceeded to Detroit, where they picked up a new car and then headed for Jacksonville, Fla., to visit her brother, Frank Baumgardner. They will return to their home at Enterprise, Ore., via the southern states and California.

Mr. Skovlin, who was in the clothing business here in the early 'twenties, last year retired after 29 years as a store manager for the J. C. Penney company.

Junior Cancer Crusade, Mailing ACS Magazine Help Boost "Cancer Month"

An important function of the Wright county unit of the Iowa division, American Cancer Society — not only during National Cancer Month, which April happens to be, but the whole year through — is depicted above. Mrs. Hazle Draheim, secretary-treasurer of the county organization, is shown at a desk in her Clarion home engaged in the job of addressing 3,200 copies of "New Horizons" to go into the mail last week to Wright county families.

"New Horizons" is the publication of the Iowa division of the ACS and is distributed free of charge to anyone who wishes to be on the mailing list. It has a statewide circulation of 275,000 copies. Persons who would like to receive it may so arrange by mailing a request to Mrs. Draheim, PO Box 173, Clarion.

The magazine is mailed from every post office in the county and other Wright county readers receive it from Kanawha, Blairsburg and Renwick. The mailing is done by permit so the cost of sending each copy is only one cent, Mrs. Draheim says. Though she has been secretary-treasurer of the Wright county ACS unit since 1948, she still finds jobs such as the mailing of "New Horizons" bring her great satisfaction in the knowledge of the potential good they do in combatting cancer.

Another feature of Cancer Month has been the conduct of Junior Cancer Crusades in the various schools of the county. In Belmond, all children in kindergarten through sixth grade were asked to cooperate by taking home cancer literature for their parents to read. Upon returning to their classrooms with a card signed by all adults in the home, stating that the cancer pamphlets had been read, the children were awarded a pin to show their participation in the program.

School Nurse Alta Smith reports that nearly all the local classes participating in the Junior Cancer Crusade enjoyed close to 100 per cent cooperation on the parts of the children and their parents.

Ted's Shoe Stock To Hill Building

Ted Behrends announces that the shoe stock of Ted's Shoe store will be moved to the H. N. Hill building on or about May 1, when razing of the store's present location gets underway. He will carry on with retail sales at the temporary quarters and also conduct his shoe repair business there.

It is presently planned that wrecking of the current site of Ted's Shoe store will be started the early part or middle of next week. Ted expects the new store to be ready for occupancy within a month or six weeks.

Final Discussion On Pool Put Off Until Next Month

Since an extremely small turn-out met last Friday night at the city hall with the swimming pool committee to decide on the fate of the community swimming pool campaign, it was agreed that a final decision should be left to a later date.

Rev. William Schorman, chairman of the general committee, says that the group accepts as an indisputable fact that no pool can be built at this time financed by public subscription. Barely a third of the amount that would be needed was donated or pledged during last year's drive.

May Consider Bond Issue

This leaves the possibility of financing the project in large part by municipal bond issue as the only alternative to completely abandonning the idea, Mr. Schorman said, and the group that met last Friday felt that it was not sufficiently representative to judge the acceptability of such a step.

Consequently, it was the will of the gathering that all civic, service, church and social organizations be invited to send representatives to a meeting about a month from now to take final action in the matter. At that time, the feasibility of a bond issue will be discussed if a majority of those present wish this to be done.

Plan Return of Money

At that time, also, the mechanics for returning donations received to date will be set up. At the time solicitations were conducted last year, it was stated that cash gifts would be returned by June 1 of this year if the pool campaign failed.

Commenting on the project as a whole, Mr. Schorman said thanks of the town are owed to a considerable number of individuals who put many hours of time into the administrative chores involved in the undertaking.

Some Pledged Generously

He added that quite a few of the solicitors also did very conscientious jobs; and gatitude of the community should go to those would-be contributors who evidenced willingness to support the project in generous fashion.

As matters stand, it is the present intention to hold proposed representational meeting to take final action on the pool proposal about the third week in May. Unless marked enthusiasm is shown at that time for approaching the matter of financing by another avenue, Mr. Schorman says, there appears no question but what the entire project will be dropped.

IYOWAKIYA GROUP

Members of the Iyowakiya Camp Fire group held their regular meeting Monday, at which time they elected officers as follows: Teresa Quigley, president; Jolene Harris, vice president; Hope Jenison, secretary; Marlys Beavers, treasurer; and Donna Griffin, scribe. A hike, with a trail lunch, was planned for Saturday afternoon.

It will be a production of the Iowa State Players. McLaughlin takes the part of a "typical insane asylum guard."

COMMITTEE JOB TO SMITH

The men's glee club of Loras college recently underwent reorganization, with new assignments being handed out to a number of its members. Pat Smith, '55 BHS graduate who is now a Loras freshman, was named a member of the newly formed Music Activities committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Locatell and Lynne of Iowa City spent from Thursday until Monday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orphie Anderson.

Doug Walrod New Daytime Officer

Mayor Henry Hokel reports that Doug Walrod has been added to the city payroll in the joint capacities of day policeman and supervisor of the sewage disposal plant at a salary of $325 per month. He also made known that the salary of Officer Gilford Paxton is being raised to $300 per month in recognition of his promotion to the post of Police Chief upon the retirement of Art Awe the end of this month.

Mr. Walrod, who has done repair work for Elliott Hardware and Appliance the past two years, takes over his new duties next Tuesday, May 1. His combination assignment will require that he spend an hour or two of each morning and afternoon at the disposal plant.

He will be regarded as "on duty" as a policeman during those hours, however, as he will be at all times accessible via police radio and telephone.

The new officer is a native of Belmond and a BHS graduate with Class of '44. He saw military duty during World War II with the Navy, serving on a seaplane tender in the Pacific. He is married and has four children.

Before opening his repair shop a little over two years ago, Mr. Walrod was lessee of the Skelly service station for two years. He had been an Elliott employee prior to operating the station.

He succeeds Augie Trager as disposal plant supervisor. The latter has been a full-time employee in that capacity; but the city council decided that the plant supervision could be satisfactorily done on a part-time basis and consequently chose to combine the job with that of day officer on the police force.

Trailer Camp Will Add to Population

Belmond is due to experience a sizeable, temporary boost in population within the period of a week or so as construction crews descend on the community to carry on work to be done in this vicinity. Including families of the laborers, the influx should bring well over 100 additional persons to town at the peak.

John Van Gerpen, who is setting up a trailer camp to the rear of his property on Highway 69, expects 30 "trailer families" whose breadwinners will be working on the widening of the highway. He's been told the trailers will be moving in about the middle of next week, if the work schedule is followed closely. This group will be here from 10 weeks to three months.

According to Mr. Van Gerpen, the widening project is to sweep toward Belmond from south of Greyhound station and from Klemme, with Belmond to be the center of operations for about 10 or 12 miles in each of the two directions. Such materials as sand and crushed rock will be shipped in here by rail and trucked to the work sites.

It is Mr. Van Gerpen's understanding that the black-top project on the cemetery road at the east edge of town will add six or seven more trailers to the total, and that another five or six workmen on the sewer extension will be making their home here while the project is in progress.

As of mid-week, only a vanguard of three trailers had set up their quarters at the Van Gerpen trailer court; but the hatcheryman said he will be able to accommodate up to 38 if circumstances require.

Farm Bureau Sets Up Discussion On School Taxation

Casper "Cap" Hahn, president of the Wright County Farm Bureau, announces that that organization is holding a public meeting on the subject of "Your School and Taxes" next Monday at 8:00 p. m. at the Clarion Legion hall.

Mr. Hahn says, "This meeting is designed to give information to every taxpayer. We hope that there will be a large attendance and that those present will bring questions they would like to have answered. Opportunity will be given to ask questions based on the evening's discussion, also."

The meeting will take the form of a panel discussion, the panel to be composed of men well versed in the topic. Its members will be: Clark McNeal, state representative from Wright county; Ed Opedahl of Humboldt, also a state representative; Glen Taylor of Des Moines, who heads the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation's legislative department; H. B. Vandelip of Dows, member of the county board of education; and Hubert Hiemstra, chairman of the county Farm Bureau's legislative committee.

Problems of school financing will be a major consideration of the next General Assembly, Mr. Hahn points out, and the Farm Bureau believes that public understanding of those problems will be helpful in prompting sound legislation on school taxes.

CANADIAN VISITORS

Mrs. F. O. Fitts entertained the past week, two nieces from Ontario, Canada, who were making their first trip to Belmond. They came by plane to Waterloo, where they were met by members of Mrs. Fitts' family. The nieces, Mrs. Tom Patterson of Brampton, Ont., and Mrs. Fred Waterhouse of Kitchener, Ont., are daughters of the late twin sister of Mrs. Fitts. They found in their aunt many resemblances to their mother.

NEW DOUGHNUT MACHINE

Tip Top Super Valu's proprietors, A. W. and Harold Johnson, announce they have acquired a Hole-in-One doughnut-making machine which they think is somewhat of a marvel. They say that it not only makes delicacies that rival "mother's" in deliciousness, but that it can turn them out considerably faster than "mother" ever could.

DRAFT OFFICE CLOSED

The Wright county selective service office in the post office building at Clarion is closed today while Clerk Golda Hecox and Assistant Clerk Inoa Zeigler are attending a conference at Charles City.

SISTER AND BROTHER Marlys and A. B Richard Christensen, graduates of BHS in 1953 and '54, respectively, are both headed for milestones in their U. S. Air Force careers. Marlys is about to complete her basic training at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Tex., and Richard before long will become an administrative specialist after schooling at Francis E. Warren AFB, Wyoming. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Christensen, now live on a farm near Britt.

Learned Business Young

Before starting his own business, Fred worked for Elliott Hardware. He learned the plumbing and heating business from his father, the late Fred Madsen, Sr., "learning the ropes" as a boy.

Doctor Larson has already had glass brick windows—centered by ventilators—installed to bring natural light into his office; has had a concrete platform and steps built to give access to the waiting room and upstairs apartments; and installed an aluminum door at the waiting room entry.

This week, A. R. Dorr Sons were to clip off the area of rough concrete block on the front wall of the building to give the exterior and entirely smooth surface. The exterior will be coated with off-white plaster. A two-foot rise above the roof at the building front is to be cut off to give the building a lower appearance—and eliminate a snow-catcher.

Wrought Iron Railing

The appearance of the building will be further enhanced by placing of a wrought iron railing along the entry stairs and around the platform. Doctor Larson has the stairs lead to the platform from the west to save excessive extension onto the sidewalk.

The veteran dentist is soon to start on his 32nd year in Belmond. He has been in his present location since 1950, in which year he bought the building and moved from the offices he had shared with Attorney Roy Henderson.

Signal at Local Crossing Studied

Evidence that protests over absence of a warning signal at the M. & St. L. tracks at the south edge of Belmond may bring action from the state highway commission was forthcoming last week. Correspondence had been directed to the commission by the Chamber of Commerce and a number of women's and service organizations of the community.

Last Thursday's Des Moines Register reported that the hazardous crossing here came up for specific mention at a meeting of the highway commission the previous evening at Ames.

In an account of the commission's proceedings, it was observed that commission safety specialist W. O. Price recommended that the bdy give early consideration to erecting grade-crossing warning signals at several points.

"The subject came up," the Register article reported, "in the discussion of a Minneapolis & St. Louis crossing at Belmond, where two persons have been killed in the past six months."

In a letter received by Luin Cox as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Price advised, "The city authorities are trying to arrange for opening of this crossing by trimming out brush and trees in one of the quadrants, which may give some temporary relief."

He then added, "Also, we have this crossing listed for consideration of signals in our next program of that kind."

Committee Warns Centennial Items' Sale Restricted

At a meeting of the centennial committee held Friday evening of last week, a motion was passed declaring that all novelties and merchandise items directly related to the centennial observance must be regarded as under the jurisdiction of the committee.

This action was based on the combined facts that this policy has been predominantly followed in all communities observing centennials, and that financing of the local celebration is running up against serious problems.

Chairman Gus Taylor says, "This ruling is to be regarded as applying to all business places, commercial organizations and individuals. It is important that the privilege of the committee to control sale of all centennial items be rigidly observed.

"Stores, groups or individuals interested in selling such items are requested to obtain prior permission from the centennial committee. It will determine whether arrangements to the mutual benefit of the applicant and the centennial project can be worked out. The committee feels it should be kept in mind that any revenue it loses through profit derived by business places, groups or individuals from such sales will likely have to be made up by private subscription in the long run."

It has been the committee's wish, he added, to reduce to a minimum the need for financing the centennial by individual assessment. This will require maximum utilization of revenue sources that normally constitute fund-raising mediums of the planning committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Bruns and family of Wesley were Sunday dinner guests in the Cleo Wilson home.

Even When The Weather's Dry. . .

IT PAYS TO FERTILIZE!

THIS IS A MISTAKE!

Fertilizer applied NOW is your best hedge against loss in yield during a dry growing season — regardless of whether or not you have moisture at this time. Actual records prove it.

HERE ARE THE FACTS:

Corn (no fertilizer) 43.8 bu. per acre.
Corn (40 lbs. Nitrogen) 73.8 bu. per acre.
Corn (80 lbs. Nitrogen) 83.9 bu. per acre.

In 1953, also a dry year, farmers who fertilized were able to get 60-bushel yiels. Farmers who did not fertilize often had to settle for as little as 20 bushels per acre.

COUNTY ASC CITES ADVANTAGES OF COMPLYING ON CORN ACREAGE

Laws governing the conduct of the government's price support, acreage allotment and cost-sharing conservation programs in 1956 are the same as in 1955, it was reported this week by the Wright county ASC committee. Proposals to change present laws governing ASC operations have come to an end so far as the present cropping year is concerned.

Corn and wheat acreage allotments that have been mailed to each owner and operator in this county will stand.

Compliance Price Boosted

The committee pointed out that President Eisenhower has announced that the national average price support rate for 1956 corn produced on farms in compliance with their corn acreage allotments will be $1.50 per bushel. This is 10 cents higher than the previously announced national average support rate of $1.40, and only eight cents under the rate for 1955.

It is also mentioned that the president announced that a lower support rate would fixed for 1956 corn produced on farms not in compliance with their corn allotments. Details of this special provision have not been worked out, but the non-complying rate is generally expected to be low enough to make allotment compliance attractive.

Decisions Can Now Be Made

With farmers now in position to make final decisions on their cropping plans for this year, the committee urged them to point their 1956 operations toward the maximum benefits obtainable through price support and acreage allotment programs administered by ASC.

"These programs proved of great assistance in difficult times of the past, and they can help tremendously in 1956 if farmers themselves will take full advantage of them. The thousands of Iowa farmers who have used price support allotment programs in the past provide the best possible proof of their value in helping to maintain income and to curb over-production. The experience of these farmers should influence others to take the same steps in meeting present difficulties," declared the ASC committee.

Favorable Factors Cited

In urging compliance with individual corn allotments, the committee suggests that Wright county farmers consider the following factors and gear their operations to the protection afforded by announced price support rates:

1. With corn supplies at a record level, a cut in production of that grain is obviously necessary.

2. Individual farm allotments already fixed for 1956 are about the same as those for 1955, less what would have been diverted into the proposed soil bank. Iowa farmers had even lower allotments in 1940 and 1941 and turned in a high rate of compliance.

Soybean Support Higher

3. The national price support rate of $1.50 per bushel for corn produced in 1956 on farms in compliance with their corn allotments is especially attractive in comparison with the probable lower free market price.

4. Higher support rates than in 1955 for 1956 soybeans, flaxseed and grain sorghum, which are not subject to acreage restrictions, offer producers a means of maintaining or increasing over-all farm income.

The 1956 price support rates for barley, oats and rye are only a cent or two below those for 1955 and these crops, too, are not subject to acreage restrictions. The 1956 national average support rates for these commodities are $2.15 per bushel for soybeans; $3.09 per bushel for flaxseed, $1.80 per hundredweight for grain sorghum, 93 cents per bushel for barley, 59 cents per bushel for oats and $1.16 per bushel for rye.

Wool Incentive Payments About Forty Per Cent

Incentive payments under the government wool program for the marketing year ended March 31 may average around 40 per cent of the average price growers received for their wool, according to the Wright county ASC committee. So far, 682 applications for wool incentive payments have been filed at the county ASC office in Clarion. Producers have until the end of this month to file applications on sales completed by March 31.

The committee stated that a current government report indicates that wool prices during the first 10 months of the 1955 marketing year averaged 44 cents per pound, grease basis. Since most of the wool eligible for payments in the 1955 program was sold during the 10-month period covered by the report, the average price for the year is not expected to be materially different when final reports are in.

If this average holds for the full marketing year, the individual producer may estimate his incentive payment at approximately 40 per cent of the price he received for his wool. On this basis, the payment for lambs sold for slaughter will be about 70 cents per hundred pounds of live weight. These estimates are based on the average incentive price of 62 cents per pound, grease basis.

Incentive payments for the first year's operations under the program will be made this summer. A one-cent-per-pound deduction from wool incentive payments and a 5-cent-per-hundred-pound deduction from slaughter lamb and yearling payments will be made to finance the campaign to enlarge the market for wool and lambs. These deductions were approved in a referendum held last August.

Ed Reno Crewman On Giant Carrier

Edward F. "Eddie" Reno, 1953 graduate of Belmond High school and son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Reno, former Belmond residents now living at East Toledo, O., is included in the crew of 2,500 that recently took over the recommissioned USS Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The giant carrier has been altered to serve as sea base for A-bomb-carrying, faster-than-sound jet planes. The big task was performed at Puget Sound naval shipyards at Bremerton, Wash., and following ceremonies conducted recently was to start undergoing tests of its new equipment that will take until mid-June.

These completed, the huge ship will depart on a 14,000-mile cruise around Cape Horn to its home port at Mayport, Fla. Late in the year, the FDR will join the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

Reno is an Aviation Mechanic Third Class in the Roosevelt's crew. He would greatly enjoy hearing from Belmond friends, who can reach him via the following address: Edward F. Reno AM3 324-57-79, USS Franklin D. Roosevelt CVA42, V6 Div., %FPO San Francisco, Calif.

FB Still Well Short of Quota

As of April 1st, the Wright County Farm Bureau's 1956 membership drive was still short of attaining its quota by a matter of 286 members. Of its assigned goal of 1,373 members, the Wright county organization had signed up 1,087.

MENNENGA TO OKLAHOMA

Kyle Mennenga, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mennenga, on Monday of last week concluded a 14-day Navy leave at home and left for Norman, Okla. There he will attend aviation motor machinist's mates school with fair prospect of emerging with a third-class rating at the end of eight weeks. He's hoping that advanced schooling will be in store for him at the end of that time and plans to participate in football this fall if circumstances make it possible.

Following are quotes from Mr. Vermeer's statement on feeding Vis-Vita and ground oats only.

"I started these 72 pigs on Rolled Oats with 5 pounds of Vis-Vita per one hundred pounds of Rolled Oats.

"At twenty days old the pigs were on full feed and eating good. They were weaned at 8 weeks of age and were the best and largest pigs I have ever started on feed.

"At this time, I put the pigs on a self-feeder of ground oats with one pound of Vis-Vita added per bushel of oats all the way to market. My cost for feed was $7.75 per one hundred pounds of pork—the cheapest gain I have ever had.

"The hogs were sold to a local hog buyer at five months of age. One group brought twenty five cents premium over top market price—average weight 197 pounds. Another group brought ten cents over top at 199 pounds.

"I kept 25 gilts from this herd for breeding, average weight of 325 pounds and are top meat type gilts. I will continue them on the same ration.

"I fed no corn or supplement other than Vis-Vita during this feeding period. I would recommend this ground oats and Vis-Vita to any hog feeders, and my future hog feeding programs will all be the oats and Vis-Vita ration."

Be sure and ask us about Vis-Vita's big Cash Award Contest.

ALL COULD WELL FOLLOW GOOD EXAMPLE OF THE MAIN STREET "TRAIL BLAZERS"

Heard an out-of-town salesman remark the other day, "I don't know of another place anywhere near Belmond's size that looks as prosperous and progressive as this town."

There was little question in our mind that his observation was prompted by the flurry of activity on downtown Main street that is in the process of giving us the NEWEST look we've possessed in years. And we think an enthusiastic pat on the back should be given those propertyowners who are expressing their confidence in Belmond's future by investing money to give their business establishments an appearance of which the community can be proud.

It's all too true that "nothing succeeds like success;" and maintaining an appearance of successfulness is an important factor in BECOMING successful and STAYING that way.

We hope that a few Main street establishments that have let several dollars worth of paint stand between them and a "new look" of their own will be inspired to join the ranks of those "slicking up" their places of business. Several require the basic improvement of simply identifying themselves with a neat sign telling the world WHO they are and WHAT business they are in. Others could do wonders with some very minor fixing up in the way of small repairs and fresh trim.

This IS centennial year, after all. What better time for us ALL to "doll up" and look our very best? We'll have a lot of "company" coming this summer. So let's all put on our "company face," follow the example of the Main street trail-blazers and go all-out to look one hundred years YOUNG in celebration of the big event.

IF WE GET HARD UP FOR SUBSCRIBERS, WE KNOW WHAT WE CAN DO ABOUT IT

Editor Paul Woods of the Sheldon Mail is beginning to suspect he's been missing a trick in the promotion of his product. Considering the widespread use of such adjectives as "magic" and "miracle" in modern-day advertising copy, along with the tantilizing prospect of a "secret ingredient" in practically everything from dog food to face cream, he wonders if a little imagination might not boost his circulation list.

We're tempted to steal his idea and unleash some highpowered copywriting techniques at OUR non-subscribers. If they sell soap, it seems reasonable they should sell newspapers. Mr. Woods suggests the campaign might go something like this:

"At Last! It's Astounding! It's Colossal! New MIRACLE ingredient used exclusively in The Independent gives you new pep, new vigor, makes your life brighter! Yes, the paper on which The Independent is printed is made from trees grown in glorious, health-giving sunshine of Canada! It's chock-full of sunshine vitamins, its strength LOCKED-IN by our SECRET PROCESS! Just hold the paper firmly while you read—feel those energy-giving vitamins literally flowing into your hands, up your arms, throughout your body, giving new zest to living! And you can have this miracle at no extra cost!"

If this works, he suggests continuing along this line:

"NOW! New MAGIC for garbage wrappers! When you wrap your garbage in old issues of The Independent, feel confident that you will not offend! New wonder, magic ingredient in the ink penetrates the ripest specimens, effectively controls UGO*, makes you feel free to meet the cold glare of your neighbor's eyes! Now you can receive DOUBLE value with each Independent subscription—read the paper for news, use the old papers to prevent UGO*!

"(*UGO—'Unpleasant Garbage Odor' — not mentioned in polite society.)"

Or how about this?

"Feel Secure! Why worry about dishes sliding off your cupboard shelves? After you read The Independent, use old copies for new, super-safe shelf lining! SECRET process makes paper non-skid, even in the most humid weather. Your dishes will be SAFE when you place them on GUARANTEED Belmond Independents! Remember, they are processed with our own secret ingredient, magic formula!"

Sometime when it becomes obvious that we're going to have to increase our production capacity anyway, we may give the system a whirl. We're convinced Brother Woods HAS something!

The HIGHWAY STORY

By Bob Hullihan

Frank was a planner. He always knew where he was going and how he would get there. Being on time was his talent, and he probably never made a purely impulsive move in his 51 years.

People who remember him like to tell how he would pull out a smoothworn watch, glance at it briefly, then give it a quick, affirmative nod like a man agreeing in perfect understanding with an old friend.

So in love with making closely timed plans was Frank that often when he had to travel the state he would leave his car at home with his wife, preferring to work out neat connections with trains and buses along the way.

That was why he felt confident and successful that cold afternoon as he sat eating a sandwich in a lunchroom along the highway. He was about to make a clever connection.

He had figured out that by catching a bus at this little way-station, he could arrive at his destination an hour earlier than expected. And that was the sort of thing that made him happy.

The bus was due — out came the watch — in exactly three minutes. Frank picked up his bag, stepped firmly from the lunchroom, and walked to the edge of the highway where he stood sheltered from the wind by a large truck parked while the driver ate dinner. The bus would stop on the opposite side of the road.

It must have been a minor triumph for Frank when the bus arrived right on time for he stepped out from behind the truck and onto the highway with the long stride of a man who knew exactly where he was going.

But he didn't know. He had no idea. The car that hit him and killed him had not been considered in his plans at all.

BELMOND BUSY BEES

Regular meeting of the Belmond Busy Bees 4-H club was held Saturday, April 14, at the clubhouse. The meeting was conducted by Sondra Stoltenberg in the absence of the president. It was decided to have the annual Mother's Tea on May 19, and to have a fund-raising project in the latter part of May.

Sharon Swenson gave the picture study on a bird painting by Audubon. A demonstration and talk were given by Nadine Rabe and Mary Alice Studebaker on "Homemade Games" and "Family Fun Indoors," respectively.

Workshop was spent in working on record and expense books and in judging the mitered corners each girl brought. Lunch was served by hostesses, Marjorie Johnson and Carolyn Wenzel.

NEARLY 40% OF OAA RECIPIENTS GET MONEY FROM OTHER SOURCES

During February the state department of social welfare made a special study of the sources of income, other than Old Age Assistance, reported by recipients. It was found that 39.5 per cent, or 15,863, of the 40,119 individuals receiving assistance had other sources of income which totaled $397,012 for the month.

L. L. Caffrey, chairman of the state board, said, "The highest percentage, 64.4 per cent, of income was from Federal Old Age and Survivors Insurance which totaled $255,590 for the month. This type of income is likely to increase as time goes on, because more people approaching 65 years are now being covered by this insurance plan.

Relatives Help Some

"We note that this is bringing some decrease in Old Age Assistance applications from the 'just 65' group. However, it will not eliminate applications from older men and women who find their social security payments are inadequate to provide nursing care or other special needs of the aged."

Relatives contributed 22.2 per cent of the total income, or $87,292. Other income, such as rent, earnings, and private pensions totaled $54,130 or 13.6 per cent of the total income. The average amount of income over and above the Old Age Assistance grants of these 15,863 recipients was $25.03 each.

Case Load Dropping

The gradual decrease in the Old Age Assistance case load continues, with a drop of 88 cases between Feb. 1 and March 1 of this year. In March, the state granted aid to 40,031 individuals totaling $2,426,167 at an average of $60.61 each. In Wright county there were 203 recipients receiving an average grant of $59.41 each or a total of $12,059.50.

There were 6,825 families including 24,584 individuals receiving Aid to Dependent Children grants in the state for the month of March at a total of $757,244.50. This averaged $110.97 per family of $30.81 per person. In Wright county the total cost was $1,891 and averaged $83.95 fo reach of the 17 families and $29.09 for each of the 65 individuals included.

Aid to the Blind for March in the state totaled $109,363 and was paid to 1,483 persons at an average of $73.74 each. In this county the total was $334.50, paid to six individuals at an average of $55.75 each.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Riekens and family of Clear Lake spent Saturday with his mother, Mrs. Martha Riekens.

Final Rites Held For "Al" Johnson

Infection produced by an appendix rupture that had occurred four days earlier brought death to Albin Johnson, 69, at Hampton's Lutheran hospital on Tuesday of last week. He had undergone surgery at the hospital on the preceding Friday. Although a native of Belmond, Mr. Johnson had moved to Hampton as a young man of 21 and made that community his home thereafter.

Funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon at the Hampton Methodist church, conducted by Rev. Ralph A. Baker, assisted by Rev. David Beggs, pastor of the Hampton Congregational church. Burial was in the Hampton cemetery.

Born Feb. 8, 1887

Born at Belmond on Feb. 8, 1887, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Johnson, Albin attended the public schools here before moving to Hampton in 1908. He was married on July 3, 1911, to Grace Shafer of Hampton and two children were born to them. His widow, his son Willard and daughter Ruth, all of Hampton, survive him.

Mr. Johnson was for many years a commercial traveler, giving up this occupation in early 1930 to operate a service station of which he remained proprietor and owner until selling the business Jan. 1, 1954.

For approximately eight years, Mr. Johnson served as a member of the Hampton city council. He belonged to the Hampton IOOF lodge for 48 years and held numerous offices. He was also a member of the Rotary club, the Chamber of Commerce and the Methodist church.

Mother, 89, Survives

Surviving besides members of his immediate family are: his mother, Mrs. Caroline Johnson, 89, 89, and brother Edus of Belmond; a sister, Clara Johnson of Cedar Rapids; and three grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his father, two brothers and one sister.

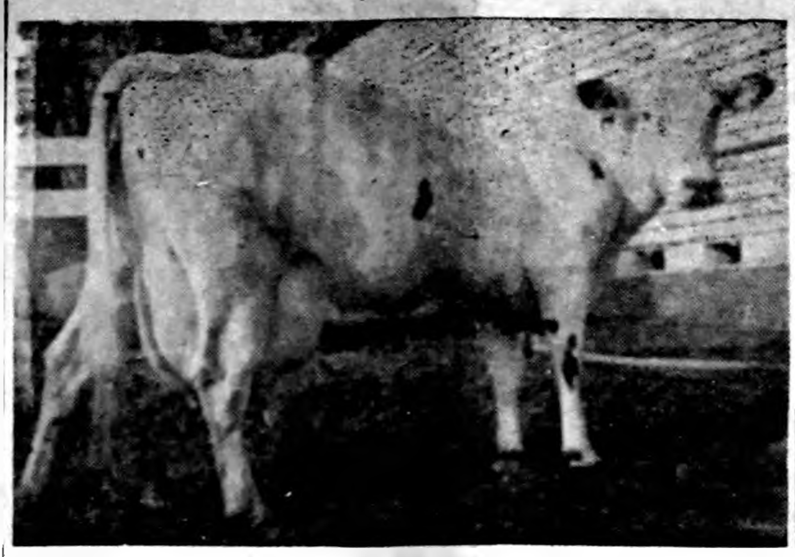
● Belmond Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Middleton of Eagle Grove were guests at a dinner Sunday evening in the Dick Middleton home honoring Dick Middleton on his birthday anniversary.

Pvt Billy Johnson of Fort Knox, Ky., who is home on furlough, visited his aunts, Mrs. Julia Packard and Mamie Nelson, Sunday afternoon.



THIS HOLSTEIN, Ormsby Homestead Viola, owned by Richard Swanson of Galt, was the highest-producing cow on which records were kept by the Wright County Production Testing association during the 1955-56 year just ended. She produced 15,520 pounds of milk and 622 pounds of butterfat in the 324 days the tests covered. Starting as a six-year-old, in her first 305 days of lactation Viola had a record of 16,430 and 642 pounds of milk and butterfat, respectively. She's a granddaughter of Carnation Imperial Chieftan, a bull once owned by the North Iowa Breeders' cooperative.

Bowman Suggests Farmers Consider Limestone Needs

Wright county farmers may be missing a bet by not applying limestone this spring to acid soils on their farms. Soils that are corrected for calcium deficiency will give greater response to fertilizer applied and other good farming practices used, Extension Director Aaron Bowman says.

He reports that 5,000 soil tests show that one-third of all Wright county soils need from one to more than four tons of lime to supply the calcium needs and correct the acidity. Bowman also adds that soil bacteria multiply more rapidly in sweet soil where the acidity has been corrected. The bacteria help break down the humus and unavailable fertilizer, which in turn results in increased crop yields.

Not only is it a good practice, but Oscar Hanson, manager of the Wright county ASC program, says farmers can get federal cost sharing payments under three conditions: (a) for lime applied to land to be seeded to legumes and grass mixture in 1957; (b) which was seeded to legumes and grass mixtures this year; (c) or meadows or pastures seeded previous to this year. This payment amounts to $1.80 per ton, or approximately half the cost delivered and spread on the farm.

Farmers who wish to apply lime to acid soils should first do the following: 1. Collect a composite sample of soil and have it tested for lime requirement. (This test is run at Iowa State college or at the county extension office. You can also use the test taken previously at Iowa State college, if one was taken). 2. Apply to the ASC office at Clarion for cost-sharing payments on lime application, if lime is needed. The application must be made before the lime is applied to qualify for a cost sharing payment.

Lime applied either in the spring or fall this year, on fields that will be seeded to legumes in 1957, will have a longer time to correct acidity. This usually results in better stands and more growth of legumes.

SCS Volunteers To Meet Tuition Expense for Camp

Commissioners of the Wright County Soil Conservation district announce that they are helping sponsor the 1956 Iowa State Teachers college conservation camp that will be held at Springbrook state park near Guthrie Center.

Five quarter-hour credits are given by ISTC for each of the three-week sessions that will be held at the camp, with emphasis being placed on major fields of conservation. The commissioners add that a wide range of recreation facilities guarantee a pleasant time for all who enroll.

There will be sessions June 3 to 23, June to July 14 and July 15 to Aug. 4. Tuition is $29.50 for teachers with degrees, $25 for those without. Board and room is $55 per session.

Commissioners of the county soil conservation district will pay tuition for all Wright county teachers interested in attending. Further information may be obtained from the Soil Conservation Service office, Evans-Kay building, Clarion.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Watkins spent Sunday afternoon in the Fred Vestweber home at Bradgate.

Lynn Thompson's Herd Record Best By DHIA Tests

According to the annual summary compiled by Dean Heckman, supervisor of the Wright Dairy Herd Improvement Association cooperative, seven out of the 15 herds on test during the year ending March 1, had a herd average of more than 400 pounds of butterfat. Lynn Thompson and Roland Reimann's herd of registered Holsteins was high with an average of 12,921 pounds of milk and 458.1 butterfat.

LeRoy Miller's herd of registered Holsteins was second with 12,399 pounds of milk and 429.5 butterfat. Wendell Swanson's registered Holsteins produced 12,378 pounds of milk and 429.5 butterfat to put them in third place. Merrill Tellen's average was 10,321 pounds of milk and 423.2 fat from his herd of registered Brown Swiss.

Bob Marshall exceeded the 400 mark with his grade Guernseys with an average of 8,264 pounds milk and 405.4 fat. Morris Miller's herd of registered Holsteins had an average of 11,173 pounds milk and 404.3 butterfat, while Rich Tesdhal came up with an average of 10,414 pounds of milk and 401.3 fat from his mixed grade herd of Holstein and Guernseys.

Wendell Swanson had the highest income over feed costs. His herd averaged $286 per cow over feed costs and Merrill Telleen was second with $282 per cow. The rations of all top herds included silage and each herd, with the exception of Merrill Telleen's, had water before them at all times, Mr. Heckman reported.

Farm Bureau Sets Up Plans to Get More Voters Out

Wright County Farm Bureau is laying plans for a determined drive to increase in comparison to past occasions the percentage of eligible voters in the county participating in the June primary election. An effort along the same line was made in 1954, but the results were not so satisfactory as they might have been.

One means of impressing voters with the importance of casting their ballots will be a contest sponsored by the State Farm Bureau Women's committee in which boys and girls will be invited to compete. They will be asked to complete in 25 words or less the following statement: "I believe my parents should vote because . . ."

Mrs. Pete Kalkwarf, vice chairman for Pleasant township, says that a plaque will be awarded the student whose entry is judged best. Any boy or girl 18 years of age or under is eligible to enter. The entries are to be mailed to the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation office at Des Moines by May 15 and they will be judged by districts and by county.

In addition, the IFBF is offering two $50 prizes in each of the nine Farm Bureau districts for counties having the best voting performances. One of the prizes will go to the county that has the highest percentage of eligible voters participating in the election and the other will go to the county showing the greatest percentage increase over turn-out in 1954.

These prizes will be used to finance visits to the 57th General Assembly of at least 10 workers from each of the winning districts who played major roles in the get-out-the-vote campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. Merton Wiggins and family of Manly were Sunday afternoon visitors in the parental Justin Lowenberg home.

Stored '55 Oats Eligible for Loan On Reseal Again

Oats produced in 1955 which are now in storage on Wright county farms under government price support loans may be resealed and kept on the farms another year under a program announced this week by the county ASC committee. Because of present adverse weather conditions, many farmers are expected to reseal their oats as protection against a short crop this year.

A storage payment in line with current Uniform Grain Storage Agreement rates — probably 11 cents per bushel — will be paid to farmers who reseal or convert purchase agreements. Farmers who hold their grain until the resealed loans or the converted purchase agreement loans mature will receive a full storage payment for one year.

If a farmer redeems his loan prior to maturity, he will receive a pro-rated storage payment based on the period of time he stored the oats under reseal after July 1.

Farmers having loans on farm-stored 1955 oats have until receipt of a delivery notice from the county ASC office to apply for resealing. Holders of purchase agreements have until the end of this month — April 30 — to advise the county office if they wish to convert their agreements into loans.

Red Cross Asks For Added $125

Residents of the area comprising Belmond chapter of the American Red Cross were asked this week to respond to a special appeal for disaster relief funds to the amount of $125. Rev. M. L. Jones, chapter chairman, says no direct solicitation will be conducted; but he hopes that people will give voluntarily with sufficient generosity to make up the needed amount.

He explains that the chapter's full obligation to the national body was not met this year, due to failure of the Wright County Rural Community Chest to attain its goal last fall. This failure resulted in the Red Cross quota for the chapter area being undersubscribed by $180.

The heavy drains on disaster relief funds caused by the terrible floods in both New England and on the west coast last year, plus demands growing out of the recent tornados in the south, have prompted the Red Cross to solicit further funds at this time from chapters that have not completely fulfilled their quotas for the current year.

Contributions to help make up the Belmond chapter deficit, in order that the obligation as to disaster relief funds can be met in full, may be left at the First State bank, Mr. Jones says.

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Didn't succeed in getting the full dope on this particular item, but feel we should pass on what we do have. It has to do with an irrigation system that Guy Baker put into use last Friday on the farm that last year and some few prior was operated by Bob Slining.

Couldn't reach Guy by phone, but we hear tell it's an impressive set-up that very effectively carried water to his parched fields.

Better than that, the day after he put it in operation the perverse weatherman turned on the "Rain" faucet to illustrate to Guy that irrigation isn't needed in these parts — and the entire state's been benefiting by Guy's initiative practically ever since! . . . You wondered what brought the rain? That was it.

Last week's paper had hardly rolled off the press than Ye Ed spotted three boys hauling home one of those General Mills plastic balloons that The Independent had asked its readers to be on the lookout for. Unfortunately, neither a leaflet nor barograph was attached, suggesting that the balloon had probably bounded along the ground for some distance and its "pay load" was snagged off by a fence or some similar obstruction.

The youngsters who captured the balloon were Tommy Middleton, Jerry Frohling and Roger Meyer.

It was found just east of Highway 69 about a quarter mile north of town, caught on a fence. If any other balloons are recovered in the Belmond vicinity, with neither leaflet nor baragraph attached, please notify The Independent. We'll see the proper authorities are informed as to approximate point of descent. . . . We suspect that one thing "The General" is endeavoring to prove is that the balloons DO NOT represent an aviation hazard, as the Commies have claimed.

Mayor Henry Hokel says that Belmond has been growing a bit too fast lately for him to keep up with the pace. This situation, plus the fact that he's occasionally subjected to a "rib" due to the prominence of his official position, brought him a red face not too long ago. It's to the mayor's credit that he finds it an amusing joke on himself.

A gentleman who'd stayed overnight at the new Siesta motel on Highway 69 discovered the following morning that the hub caps were missing from his new car. He called the mayor to report the theft. Unfortunately Henry had never learned the name of the new hostelry, and when the man told where he'd spent the night Mayor Hokel thought he was being made the victim of a gag.

"Mister," His Honor accused, "either you don't know what town you're in or don't know where you slept last night. We've got no such motel in Belmond!" Sputtering epithets, the wayfarer slammed down the receiver. . . . Henry's later embarrassment was compounded by the fact that he sold the motel owner the land on which it's built!

We hope you found the story of Parachutist Lyle Hoffman (that appeared last week) just as interesting as we did. Of course, we regard sky-diving as strictly for the birds — but every man to his own tastes. Lyle mentioned that funds for sending Uncle Sam's sky-divers to compete in Russia this summer are being obtained wholly by public subscription, with the aviation industry expected to pick up a healthy share of the tab.

Donations are tax-deductible (remember, THAT helps — a little) and we were advised by Mr. Hoffman where donations to the cause might be sent.

If any of you folks want to toss a bit in the hat, the Mainstreeters will see that the money reaches its proper destination. Might be one way to prove to the Commies that even when we're "up in the air," we can give 'em aces and spades and still whip 'em. Lyle added that both men and women will compete in the international 'chute meet; and that the 14 entries this year represents twice as many nations as competed in 1954.

Tokman Reports Thrill of Shaking Hand of Henry II

Louis Tokman, co-proprietor of Belmond Auto company, returned Sunday frm a Ford dealers' sales meeting at Chicago possessed (he believes) of a distinction no other dealer in the Iowa-Illinois-Wisconsin area can match. It came about by the presence of the Ford company's "top brass" at the meeting held at the Conrad Hilton hotel.

President Henry Ford II was among the high officers in attendance, and thereby hangs the tale. "Louie" had an opportunity to shake Mr. Ford's hand, making Henry II the third Ford president he's had the privilege of greeting in this personal fashion.

Mr. Tokman recalls that on the occasion that he made the acquaintance of the senior Henry Ford, the "celebrities" were barricaded off from the rest of the banqueters. "Louie" negotiated the barracade and after arriving at an understanding with a guard who blocked his advance, was cordially greeted by the founder of the Ford empire.

On a later occasion, Mr. Tokman had the opportunity of shaking hands with the late Edsel Ford, when he was head of the company.

More than 1,200 Ford dealers from the three-state area attended the Chicago meeting. Appearing on the program in addition to Mr. Ford were Ernest R. Breech, chairman of the board, and L. D. Crusoe, vice president of the company's car and truck divisions.

Gus Ziska learned Saturday of the death on that day of his son-in-law, Russell Brookman of Miami, Fla., husband of the former Dorothy Ziska.

Monkey Business? Kids Loved It!

ANYONE WHO saw "The Man with the Golden Arm" knows what it's like to have a 40-pound monkey on your back. Not quite so demoralizing, but more literal, was the experience of President Dwight Tyrrell of the Belmond Jaycees last week when an actual monk' was placed in his custody.

It was part of a gag to drum up a good registration for the up-coming state Junior Chamber of Commerce convention at Sioux City. A chapter in possession of the simian has to have two delegates registered for the state meeting before Jocko can be turned over to a neighboring Jaycee outfit.

Belmond's JCC got the monkey from Clarion last Thursday night and the following evening passed him along to Garner. But during the day on Friday, President Tyrrell made use of the opportunity to provide local school children with a bit of excitement by visiting the lower-grade classrooms with his buddy. When this picture was taken, monk' and temporary master were visiting kindergarten.

JAYCEE PREXY VISITS HERE

Minneapolis Production Company Booked Up to Stage Historical Pageant as Feature of Centennial Program

Representatives of some two dozen Belmond organizations met at the city hall Wednesday evening of last week, at the call of tbe centennial planning committee, and made clear that they regarded any thought of abandonment of the proposed celebration should not be considered. Due to reluctance on the part of some individuals to promise whole-hearted support to the project and a rather late start on detailed financing plans, some talk of cancelling the celebration had developed.

By the conclusion of the representational meeting, though, it was made clear that widespread enthusiasm for the centennial still exists and an immediate effort will be made to hit a brisker pace in its planning.

M. E. "Gus" Taylor, who has headed the centennial committee since it was organized early this year, submitted his resignation as chairman. He explained that the pressure of business responsibilities made it impossible to continue in that capacity.

When no suggestions as successor to Mr. Taylor were forthcoming from the group, the three-man finance committee volunteered to serve jointly as chairmen of the planning committee and shoulder responsibility for completing organization of necessary sub-committees. Consequently, further development of the centennial plans will rest with R. W. Courson, J. R. "Pat" Gallagher and Chet Hiddleston.

Producing Company Engaged

Their first, major step, after conferring with such members of the general committee as they could quickly contact, was to engage Hal Garven Productions, Inc., of Minneapolis to produce the centennial pageant. A pageant committee has already done important work toward creating a script and their efforts will be passed on to the Garven organization to provide needed background material. Further information regarding the pageant will be released in the near future.

Colbert to Leave For Teaching Job

Dr. M. J. Colbert, who joined the staff of Steele Memorial clinic last August as an internist, on Tuesday of this week announced that he has accepted a position on the faculty of the University of Illinois college of medicine at Chicago. His plans call for his departure from Belmond in mid-June to assume his teaching duties.

"It is with very deep regret that I leave Belmond, for the clinic staff has been grand to work with and the people of this community have been wonderful to me and my family," Dr. Colbert said.

He added that he received the offer from the U. of I. medical college a month ago and that he finally decided it represented too fine an opportunity to pass up. He will teach his classes in internal medicine at Cook County hospital in Chicago, holding the rank of instructor at the outset.

It will not be his first experience in teaching, as during a period of military service he instructed at the Army's medical field service school at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., for 21 months.

Belmond Entries Awarded Two Top Ratings In Speech

Maryellen Johnson at the recent state speech contest held at Storm Lake earned the unusual distinction of winning a Division I rating for the second consecutive year. It is believed that no BHS representative has ever received comparable state recognition. Maryellen is a senior and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson.

Last year she won the highest possible rating in dramatic declamation. Demonstrating her versatility in the forensic field, she competed this year in the oratorical division.

Miss Johnson's Division I rating was one of two brought home by BHS from the state contest. Kathy Dorr, a junior, put herself in a position to match Maryellen's achievement by attaining a top rating in the humorous speaking. She will be eligible to contend for state honors again next spring. Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Dorr.

Belmond's third entrant at Storm Lake, Sharon Thompsen, received a Division II rating in dramatic declamation. She, too, is a senior and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Thompsen.

Both of the Division I winners received gold-engraved certificates from the state speech association and Miss Thompsen was awarded a similar certificate engraved in green. Each of the girls will also receive school pins denoting their achievements.

OFFICE TO CHAPMAN

Frances Chapman of Belmond was among the new officers elected by residents of Elm hall, Iowa State college, last week. She will serve as secretary of the women's dormitory during the 1956-57 school year.

Principal C. Hugh Resigns from Post

Resignation of Clair Hugh from his position as Belmond High school principal was received Tuesday by the board of education. Mr. Hugh informs The Independent that he is leaving the field of education to accept a position in the mortgage loan department of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company.

After a period of training that will extend through the summer, he will assume the post of assistant loan agent for the Cedar Rapids district, engaging in farm, commercial and residential loan work. His wife and three small children will move to her former home, West Union, after the close of school; but he plans to move his family to Cedar Rapids next fall.

Mr. Hugh has been a member of the Belmond staff for eight years. For four years he was an instructor of chemistry, physics and mathematics. He was appointed to the principalship four years ago. In the summer of 1953 he completed graduate work at the State University of Iowa that brought him a Master's degree in education.

Mrs. Hugh is also a former BHS faculty member. As Josephine Wiley she was the teacher of commercial subjects. Their children are: Carolyn, age 3½ years; Steven, 15 months; and Robert, two months old.

Supt. Don Faris says it is with sincere regret that news of Mr. Hugh's decision was received by him and the members of the BHS faculty. He praised the principal's ability as a school administrator and said it would prove a difficult task to find a successor of equal competence.

Jaycees to Hold Road-e-o Trials

President Dwight Tyrrell announces that the Belmond Junior Chamber of Commerce plans to Chamber of Commerce plans to participate in the national Jaycee Teen-Age Road-e-o program by selecting a local champion driver on Sunday, May 20. The Belmond winner will be sent to the state contest at Perry on May 26.

Ed Bruner has been put in charge of registration and contestants must register with him by Monday, May 14. To be eligible, an entrant must be at least 14 years old and less than 20 years old at the time of the national finals in mid-June.

Contestants must pass a written examination to qualify for the actual driving trials. The Road-e-o proper will consist of a variety of driving-skill tests. President Tyrrell says that worthwhile prizes will be awarded to the top place-winners in the local trials.

More than 80 youngsters will be entering kindergarten in the Belmond community school system next fall, last week's pre-registration by School Nurse Alta Smith revealed. 4th Quarter Best Ever with Volume At 1.158 Million

Release last weekend of state sales tax figures for the final quarter of 1955 revealed that Belmond concluded its biggest business year in history with a record breaking three-month retail sales volume of $1,158,000. This marked the fourth time in a period of five quarters that Belmond's trade volume exceeded the million dollar mark and wiped out the previous "high" of $1,095,400 that was set the second quarter of last year.

Besides witnessing the biggest quarter that Belmond retailers have ever enjoyed, 1955 saw a year's trade here zoom past the four million level for the first time. Whereas retail trade here in 1954 came to only $3,694,300, more than half a million was added to that figure last year to bring the total for '55 up to $4,197,700.

Clarion Trade Slipped

Every quarter of last year showed a sizeable rise over the corresponding quarter of 1954, resulting in an over-all gain of 13.6 per cent in taxable sales. This was by no means representative of a general trend in this area, but instead reflected a business "boom" that was essentially local in nature.

Clarion's retail trade in 1955 was off 1.1 per cent compared to the previous year, although the county seat merchants had a volume of $5,616,700. Eagle Grove showed an increase of 4.2 per cent which enabled it to surpass Clarion's '55 volume by about $83,000, whereas it had had $310,000 less trade than Clarion in 1954.

In its contest with Garner as a trade center, Belmond in 1955 came out the winner for what was undoubtedly the first time since sales tax has provided a measure of business volume. In 1954, for example, the Hancock county seat outstripped Belmond in business volume by the healthy margin of $420,000.

But Garner experienced a gain in trade of only three-tenths of a per cent last year and trailed Belmond by a matter of more than $71,000 for the year. Only in the third quarter of 1955 did Garner's sales exceed Belmond's. In each of the other three quarters, local sales were higher in total. The fourth quarter saw Belmond's trade volume surpass Garner's by more than $57,000.

"Rural" Business Dropped

Another significant comparison to be drawn from relative sales in 1954 and 1955 involves the figures for Belmond and for what the state tax commission lists as "rural Wright county." The latter includes all places of business except those in Belmond, Clarion and Eagle Grove, and their sales volume has regularly exceeded that of Belmond's merchants by a wide margin.

However, from a total of $4,088,550 in 1954, rural Wright county's trade slipped by a matter of 4.3 per cent in 1955—down to $3,910,320. While Belmond did $394,250 less business in the earlier year than did the rural area, last year local merchants had more trade by $287,380 — a shift of $681,630 in the one year's time!

To strike an average on the business gain here last year, trade by the quarter figured $125,850 higher than in 1954. That brought the quarter average up to $1,049,000.

B. Speedling New Deputy to Sheriff

On Tuesday of this week, Ben Speedling, 25, of Clarion assumed the duties of Wright county deputy sheriff. He will serve as a second deputy, Dale "Pink" Walrod continuing in the same capacity he has filled for the past three years.

The new officer is a son of L. L. Speedling, Clarion chief of police. Young Speedling is a 1949 graduate of Clarion High school. The past 4½ years he's been employed by the state highway patrol as a driver's license examiner's clerk.

Sheriff Bob Blecker says Speedling will spend most of his time on clerical work of the office but will be called on for field work when circumstances require.

Ground-Breaking for New Methodist Church Slated

Plans for the new $150,000 Methodist church were approved by the congregation during last Sunday's services and ground-breaking ceremonies formally marking the start of construction are scheduled for next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Kesota stone, which ranges in shades from buff to pink, will be used in building the edifice. It will be of modern Gothic architectural style, characterized by vaulted roof and exposed, laminated arches over the nave. It will consist of two units, one to be occupied by the sanctuary and the other to serve as the education unit.

The sanctuary portion of the church will extend east and west centered on the property at the east end of Main street, with the main entrance on the east. It will consist of the chancel and nave, covering the east 65 feet of the wing, which will have a width of 38 feet. The nave will be separated by folding doors from an adjoining 30x38-foot room that will be used as the women's parlor and to accommodate overflow crowds attending services.

The nave proper is designed to seat 266 persons, a balcony at the rear provides seating for an additional 50 to 60 and the choir stall will seat 20. Seating facilities for 200 worshippers will be provided by the overflow room, putting maximum capacity for services at close to 550.

Over-all length of the two-story educational unit, extending north and south, will be 105 feet and its width will be 44 feet. In contrast to the rest of the exterior of the church, the west wall will be built mainly of glass block.

The first floor will provide space for the kindergarten and nursery, the parlor — which opens onto the nave, a kitchenette and women's rest room. On the second floor will be the junior and primary departments of the church school, divided into at least six rooms for classes and activities of the various age groups.

There will be a full basement under the church. Fellowship Hall will lie under the nave in a room 65x35-feet in dimension. At the west end will be the 26x20-foot kitchen, which will open onto both the Fellowship Hall and Fireside Room, or youth center. Dimensions of the latter will be 43x26 feet.

In the remainder of the basement space will be additional class rooms, for children of junior high and high school age, the main rest rooms for both men and women and the furnace room.

THREE OF FOUR new teachers signed to contracts last week by the Belmond Community School board are pictured above (left to right): Marleen Meyers, grade music instructor; Myrtis Drevs, girls physical education; Frances Quenett, grade principal and remedial reading. Four More Teachers Sign Contracts, Including Principal for Grade School

Four more teachers have been signed to contracts by the Belmond Community school board for the 1956-57 school year. They are: Martis Drevs, girls physical education; Marleen Meyers, grade vocal music; Francis Quenett, elementary principal and remedial reading; and Mary Marker, 1st grade.

Miss Drevs' home is Moville. She is graduating this spring from Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls, with a Bachelor of Arts degree in physical education.

A native of Laurel, Miss Meyers is also an ISTC graduate. She obtained her B. A. degree, with music and mathematics as her major subjects, in 1951. She taught at Dana for two years following her graduation and for the past three years has been teaching at Union.

Mrs. Quenett, who is a widow, comes to Belmond with 11 years of teaching experience behind her. Her original home was Welcome, Minn. She graduated from Winona (Minn.) State Teachers college, in 1923. She is currently elementary principal at St. James, Minn., where she has been a member of the faculty for two years. She has also held teaching positions at Chatfield and Ceylon, Minn.

Miss Marker is a graduate of Boone High school and this spring at Grand View college, Des Moines, is completing her requirements for a teaching certificate. After receiving her high school diploma in 1951, she worked as receptionist for a Des Moines optician, did clerical and secretarial work for Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., at Chicago and Des Moines and served as a nurse's aide at Blank Memorial hospital, Des Moines, until the fall of '53 to earn money for completing her schooling.

Alvin Halfpap Picks Up $100

Spirits were undampened in the Alvin Halfpap farm home Tuesday evening. Not only were the fields getting another welcome dousing of rain, but the fact that he couldn't work because of the rainfall resulted in Alvin's being in town to pick up a $100 Cash Gift Day prize in the afternoon. No. 2,570 did the trick. At 3:00 p. m., No.'s 1,597 and 3,643 would have also have been worth $100 apiece; but they didn't show up. Neither did 1,248, 2,371, 3,406 or 3,982 at 2:00 o'clock — worth $25 each. Prizes next Tuesday will be the same as this; four $25's and three $100's.

McLAUGHLIN IN TKE

Robert McLaughlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McLaughlin, last Sunday was formally initiated as a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon social fraternity at Iowa State college.

Rollenes Accept New Church Call

Rev. A. T. Rollene, for the past eight years pastor of the Belmond Baptist church, last Sunday submitted his resignation to the congregation and announced he has accepted a call to another church. He will fill the pulpit at Horton Baptist church, located in a rural community nine miles north of Waverly.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollene came to Belmond from Macon county, Mo., in October of 1947. During their time here, many improvements were made in the church and the congregation increased considerably in size. The Sunday school attendance, for example, has more than doubled in the past three years.

Just when they will move, the Rollenes have not decided. They hope they may be able to remain until a new pastor has been obtained. Both Mr and Mrs. Rollene were active in community affairs. She was elected as the first president of the Belmond Community Hospital auxiliary and currently is serving her second year in that capacity.

Exam Scheduled To Fill Vacancy In Force at PO

Opportunities to apply for employment in the Belmond Post Office were announced in a bulletin issued this week. Examinations are for substitute clerk-carrier positions, which have a starting pay rate of $1.82 an hour. Deadline for applications is May 31.

Applicants must pass a written test and reside in the delivery area or be a bona fide patron of the post office named above. Minimum age limit given in the examination announcement is 18; however, there is no age limit for persons entitled to veteran preference.

Interested persons may obtain further information and blanks from the Belmond post office; or from the Director, Ninth U. S. Civil Service Region, New Federal Building, 1114 Market street, St. Louis 1, Mo.

Postmaster George Jenison says that the immediate purpose of the examination is to obtain a man to fill the vacancy in the force left by the resignation of former postmaster J. C. Brady and his (Jenison's) advancement to that position.

The examination will also serve to create a roster of eligible candidates to fill any future vacancies that should develop in the post office staff. He says that the roster remaining from the last, previous examination for substitute clerk-carriers has been depleted.

JOINS HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Dr. William J. Peterson, superintendent of the State Historical Society of Iowa, reports that Mark F. Kline of Belmond was one of three persons enrolled as life members of the society during April.

Visitors to Tour Disposal Plant

Belmond will be site of a Region 2 conference of the Iowa Sewage and Industrial Wastes association on Wednesday of next week, with some 30 to 50 plant operators, superintendents and city councilmen expected to attend the meeting and inspect the new disposal plant here.

After registration between 8:30 and 9:30 a. m., the morning session will convene at the city hall and a word of welcome will be spoken by Mayor Henry Hokel. Glenn Eccles, local water superintendent, will be one of four speakers on the morning program.

Main speaker of the morning session will be Bob Rosene, engineer with Rowat-Murray, who will speak on Methods of Treatment for Various Types of Wastes and Value of Records in Operation and Future Expansion."

A guided tour of the Belmond sewage disposal plant will be the feature of the afternoon program, with personnel of Rowat-Murray — designers of the plant — in charge. It was originally intended that a public open house at the plant be held the day following the conference, but a change in plans calls for this event to be delayed until next month.

Collier to Become Lions' President

Len Collier was chosen by the Belmond Lions club to serve as its president during 1956-57 as that organization held its annual election Tuesday noon at Jones cafe. Mr. Collier on July 1 will succeed Dr. P. A. Rietz as president of the club.

Other officers elected were: Chet Hiddleston, 1st vice president; Maynard Johnston, 2nd vice president; Jim Cairns, 3rd vice president; Dr. A. M. Larson, secretary-treasurer; Neil Flanagan, Lion Tamer; and Friend Bras, Tail Twister.

Four directors were named, also. Lloyd Lewis and Carroll Hensel are to serve one-year terms on the board and Rev. M. L. Jones and Wes Hunzinger were elected for terms of two years.

2 BHS Alumnae Get Teaching Jobs

Two BHS graduates of 1952 have obtained positions in nearby schools for the 1956-57 school year. They are Lois Soma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Soma, and Betty Clare Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Henderson.

Miss Soma, who this spring is completing her second year of teacher training at Luther college, Decorah, will teach in the first grade at Clarion. She worked as receptionist and bookkeeper at Belmond Community hospital between the time she graduated from high school and started to college in the fall of '54.

Miss Henderson will teach speech and English in the high school at Forest City. She will receive her Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Iowa at the end of the summer quarter, in August. She had a year of schooling at St. Catherine's college, St. Paul, and 1½ at the University of Minnesota before enrolling at Iowa to complete her college studies.

BELMOND TAKES NIC TRACK TITLE FOR FIRST TIME

Rain-drenched but loaded with glory, the BHS track team returned home from the North Iowa conference track meet at Buffalo Center Tuesday night with six trophies —which was all there were. They denoted the championship and first place in every one of the five relays. It was the first NIC track title the Broncos have ever won.

Belmond amassed 95 points to edge runner-up Buffalo Center by 11½. Britt placed third with 74 and Forest City fourth with 39½. All the loop schools had teams on hand, despite the downpour.

Besides sweeping the relay events —the 440, 880, mile, two-mile and medley—Belmond had the following individual winners: 100, Dean Pruisman; mile run, Jim Fetrow; pole vault, Pruisman; and high jump, Bill Kaufman.

Come Next Spring
A simple, homey account of an Arkansas farm family's efforts to regenerate an errant father and husband (Steve Cochran), this movie is a pleasant surprise. In fact, it's quite a relief from some of the blustering, big-screen productions that often hide their hearts in sound and fury. Ann Sheridan quietly plays a sensible wife who tries to re-establish her husband with the family and a hostile community. I recommend and highly endorse this heart warming picture to all my patrons. It will be a treat for the entire family.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rickards of Clear Lake were last Wednesday evening visitors at the Leonard Pals home.

● Belmond Locals

Hans Larson of Port Clinton, O., who has spent the winter visiting his daughter and family in Palo Alta, Calif., arrived here a week ago Saturday for an indefinite visit with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr and Mrs. E. H. Strait and family.

Dr. and Mrs. L. R. Parsons were Sunday afternoon and evening visitors in the Dr. W. F. Missman home in Klemme.

Mr. and Mrs. James McMurray and Michael visited in the John Goodridge home in Kanawha Sunday.

Beef Association Once Again Names Tyrrell Director

W. P. Tyrrell of Belmond was reelected as director from the northeast quarter of the county at the annual banquet of the Wright County Beef Producers association held recently at Eagle Grove. He is currently president of the association and presided over the early part of the banquet program. Joe Tokheim of Eagle Grove was reelected director from the southwest district and Leo Woodley of Rowan as director-at-large.

Main speaker at the banquet, which as usual featured standing rib roast provided by Hormel and company and prepared by chefs on the staff of the Austin, Minn., firm, was Dr. Leslie Johnson. He is head of the animal husbandry department of Iowa State college. Remarks were also heard from Kenneth Fulk of Des Moines, field representative of the Iowa Beef Producers association.

Following the election, Extension Director Aaron Bowman served as master-of-ceremonies and introduced the program features. He called attention to the fact that Mr. Tyrrell was recently elected to the board of 12 directors of the Iowa Beef Producers association as representative of Wright and six other counties of the area.

Bowman announced that Erwin Michaelson of Vincent won the 1955 price guessing contest based on the top carload of cattle on the Chicago market during the first week in October. His prediction of $25.25 was just 20 cents under the price that actually prevailed. Michaelson's reward was a $10 hat.

A picnic kit as second prize went to Rev. Perry Sampson of Kanawha on a guess of $25.85; a knife as third prize was awarded to Jim Noonan, Eagle Grove jeweler, whose guess had been $24.35; and Andy Christians, Kanawha farmer, on a $26.30 guess won fourth prize, which was a stock knife.

Kanawha Jaycees Chartered Monday

Kanawha's newly formed Junior Chamber of Commerce came into formal being Monday night as its Charter Night dinner was held at the Kanawha Odd Fellows hall. The organization, which was sponsored by the Belmond J. C. C., had a charter membership of 22 and since has added several more members.

George Sharp served as toastmaster of the charter program and the president's pin and gavel were presented to Ralph Baer, editor of the Kanawha Reporter, by Presiden Dwight Tyrrell of the Belmond chapter.

Address of the evening was given by Fred Bennett of Boone, past state president of the Jaycees and now president of the senior Chamber of Commerce at Boone.

The Kanawha organization's national charter was presented by Don McCoy of Clear Lake, who is a candidate for the state J. C. C. presidency this year; and the international charter was presented by Don Hubacher of Mason City, state vice president.

About a dozen Belmond Jaycees and their wives attended the Charter Night banquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Jenison, Bill and Tim visited Saturday and Sunday in the Carl Woole home in Sioux City.

Women's Bowling Championship to Greenhouse 5

Coming through with a flourish in the final round of the season, the Greenhouse bowling team won the Women's league 1955-56 championship last week by 2½ games over second-place Chapman's. In their final match, the Greenhouse girls chalked up a 3-0 decision over Howell Music while Chapman's dropped all three of their games to Bowl-Mor. The Chapman five had entered the final round with a half-game lead.

Although the runners-up turned in a mediocre performance in their concluding match, it was a record-breaking series by the Greenhouse that turned the trick. The new champs posted the highest series of the season in their wind-up appearance on the lanes with a 720-690-729—123—2,262. The best team series turned in previously was a 2,245 by Rowat-Murray, the defending title-holders.

In putting together their record series, the Greenhouse bowlers had the following individual scores: Mary Gordon 503, Orana Quigley 478, Nita Behrends 432, Alice Busick 390 and Eva Larson 336.

Chapman's had some consolation coming in the fact that they produced the highest team game of the year, an 832 rolled only a week earlier. Rowat-Murray had posted the previous high series only the week before, too. High individual series of the season was a 561 turned in by R-M's Lois Hafermann. Best individual game was Alice Busick's 221. Mrs. Hafermann had the highest average in the league at 155 pins per game.

This was probably the best season the Women's league has ever seen, from the standpoint of close competition. Last year, Rowat-Murray had a seven-game edge on second-place Flanagan's, whereas this season the top four teams were clustered within 5½ games of each other—and four other teams were less than 10 games behind the champions.

ABOUT 5 TONS OF SURPLUS COMMODITIES DISTRIBUTED

Margaret Bailey, county welfare director, reports that approximately 10,000 pounds of surplus commodities were received in Wright county on April 12 and distributed the following week.

Approximate distribution of commodities by towns was as follows: Eagle Grove, 3,688 pounds; Clarion, 2,064; Belmond, 1,422; Rowan, 854; Dows, 805; Goldfield, 598; Galt, 272; and Woolstock, 130.

Bronco Thinclads Beat Forest City

Belmond High's track and field team posted an 80-61 victory over Forest City in a dual meet Tuesday of last week, sweeping all of the relays and scoring in all but one of the individual events. Belmon won 11 events to the Indians' seven.

Individual winners for the Broncos were: mile run, Jim Fetrow, 5:09; 440, "Joe" Smith, :55; 880, Larry Schimp, 2:19; discus, Gary Meyer, 117 feet; high jump, Bill Kaufman, 5-5; shot put, Tom McNulty, 38 feet.

Belmond place-winners in the individual events also included: 100 — Obrecht 2nd, T. Lowenberg 3rd; 220 — T. Lowenberg 2nd, Kenny Langlitz 3rd; high hurdles — Long 3rd; mile run — Jim Stadtlander tie for 2nd; 440 — Nodland 3rd; 880 — Stoltenberg 3rd; low hurdles — Long 3rd; football throw — Schimp 2nd; discus — Richard Kuhlers 3rd; broad jump — Chandler 2nd; high jump — Courson 3rd; shot put — Meyer 2nd.

Only in the pole vault was Belmond blanked, and Coach Hobbs reported that Dean Pruisman subsequently regained his eligibility so he was able to compete in the North Iowa conference meet Tuesday at Buffalo Center. The event went at 7-6 at Forest City, and Pruisman has regularly been clearing 10 feet or better.

Improved performances by BHS individual contestants at Forest City included 111 feet by Kuhlers in the discus and 5-3 in the high jump by Courson.

CATTLE BRING GOOD PRICE

It is reported by the Chicago Stock Yards that a lot from Wright county was among the high-selling shipments last week. Larson Brothers, who farm near Clarion, were on the market Monday with a shipment of quality steers that brought $25 per hundredweight.

Bronc Ball Team Posts Win No. 1

Belmond chalked up its first baseball victory of the season here Thursday afternoon when the Broncos took the measure of Franklin Consolidated 11-0 on a one-hit pitching job of Tom Lowenberg. The game was a five-inning affair under the 10-run rule.

Extra base hits were produced in profusion by the victors. Dale Cacquelin setting the pace with two homeruns and a triple in three plate appearances. Roland Jenison and Bill Murray both included a double as each hit safely twice and Jerry Chandler also connected for a two-bagger.

Lowenberg struck out three batters and gave up a half dozen passes but let only one man get beyond second base. Belmond collected 10 hits altogether.

The decision to engage a com-good script, but it became apparent that professional know-how would be keenly needed in the costuming, staging, direction and producing of the historical show.

100 Costumes Provided

The Garven company will, for example, provide 100 major costumes and guidance in making others that will be needed; will provide stage curtain and wings; will produce professional lighting and background music; will send an experienced director to whip the production into shape for presentation.

In addition, the Minneapolis concern will lend aid in developing other phases of the centennial celebration that should help material-mercial production company to write, costume and direct the pageant was prompted by a growing awareness that a local production seemed destined to run into nearly insurmountable obstacles. The centennial committee had complete confidence in the ability of the local pageant writers to produce a ly in financing the undertaking. Although a fairly heavy fee is required for these multiple services, it has been the experience of other communities employing the Garven Production company that the pageant has very largely been self-financing and in some cases has even turned a profit.

Progress Review Planned

Co-chairmen Courson, Gallagher and Hiddleston say that a complete review of all committee activity is to be undertaken in the next week or 10 days to ascertain precisely what each sub-committee has achieved to date in respect to its particular assignment. They emphasize that the dwindling weeks that remain until the celebration will allow for little lost time in developing the various aspects of the celebration and that steady headway is a "must" from this time on.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Homervold, Jean and Janet of Dows were Sunday dinner guests in the Herbert Hill home.

DROP IN ROAD MAINTENANCE EXPENSES IN '55 SHOWS ECONOMY BEING WATCHED

When announcement was made last January of the ambitious road-surfacing program to be undertaken in Wright county, The Independent emphasized that some radical changes in past road maintenance practices would have to be introduced by the supervisors if the program were to stand any chance of success. We wish now to state that it is most gratifying to note that the 1955 Wright county financial report, which was made available to the public last week, provides clear indication that the board IS endeavoring to introduce some semblance of good sense into its administration of road maintenance. It gives us more pleasure than we can say, to call this to public attention.

Road maintenance in Wright county last year cost $378,367, which was a reduction of nearly $63,500 from the amount expended out of the maintenance fund in 1954, close to $80,000 less than was spent in 1953, and more than $93,000 under the all-time-high year of 1951!

What does this mean? Well, in 1951 a cost of $115,827 was attributed to "repairing equipment" — a catch-all expense category that by tradition has seemed to gather in a mutitude of expenses that are rather awkward to explain in detail. Last year, "repairing equipment" was held to $73,600.

Then, there's been the matter of all too extravagant purchases of new road equipment. In 1952 the outlay was $113,151, in 1953 it came to $111,594, and in 1954 new equipment was bought in the amount of $104,597. Last year, the financial report shows, equipment purchases were held to $71,053!

To draw the most impressive contrast possible, in 1952, almost $215,000 was spent on "repairing equipment" and purchases of new equipment. Last year money spent under these two headings came to less than $145,000 — a difference of $70,000. We can only regard that this dramatic change in affairs indicates an awareness on the part of the supervisors that unnecessary expenditures HAD reached ridiculous proportions.

We note further, in comparing the 1955 financial report with that of 1954, that: shop expense came down from $27,865 to $22,442; materials and supplies from $29,334 to $15,806 (could be some carry-overs influenced this; we don't know).

All of these reductions in maintenance costs come to something over $82,000. This sounds impressive — and IS, in light of the extravagance of earlier years. BUT, even GREATER reductions are called for during the current year if enough money is to be salvaged from maintenance costs to finance the road-surfacing program. To carry out the 1956 portion of the program will require $139,000 FROM COUNTY FUNDS. The board will still have to do some scraping to come up with a sum like that. Where is it to come from?

Well, in 1955 the money expended directly on road maintenance and surfacing amounted to $123,692. Our records show this figure to be the highest since 1950. Employment of an exhorbitantly large labor crew accounts in large part for this cost. And to all appearances, more economical use of labor on road maintenance stacks up as a MUST if sufficient funds to carry on the construction program are to be available.

The supervisors are certainly to be commended for the more realistic attitude they are clearly taking toward the inefficiencies that have for so long characterized Wright county's road maintenance program. In 1955 they took an important step in the right direction. But they have quite a distance to go — and the success of that long awaited road-surfacing program rests directly on whether they go the rest of the way, with no back-sliding in the direction of old, established extravagances.

COUNTY AUDITOR'S OFFICE PERFORMING JOB IN "BETTER THAN BEFORE" MANNER

As mentioned above, the basis of our comments on the county road work was the 1955 Wright county financial report, which is available at the county auditor's office this year earlier than it has been for a considerable period of time. This speaks well for Auditor Myron Price and his clerical staff, who have been handling the responsibilities of the auditor's office in an admirably expeditious manner.

A new staff taking over this office has a LOT to learn. We might observe that "Mike" and his helpers have been learning fast. They have been keeping well abreast of their work, county proceedings have regularly been available for publication in the official newspapers ON TIME, and we have found the personnel of the office always courteous and cooperative.

We're pleased to comment on this state of affairs because it puts the auditor's office on the same high plane of efficiency that has consistantly characterized the other courthouse offices. It has not always been thus.

April 25, 1956

Open letter to J. R. G.

I been hearin stories an I do recollect as how they is jus that: stories, coulden be true nohow in this here town.

Now, the ways I beena hearin it, seems evvyones so busy a arguine an hasslin about how much money theys gonna make and lose outen our 100th birthday that the birthday party is bein sorta lost ina shuffle.

Pears to me we got jus an ordinary town, mighty fine, mind ye, an bustin at the seams we is growin so fast, but still an all a small town. So why be sumpin we aint? Shure itted be great to go all out n really do evvythin up brown but issat whut the peeple really want?

Shure yore meetins have all been open, so to speak, but who wantsta poke there noses inta argue. Has ennyone asked 75 or 100 people whut they wood like to do to cellybrate? Twould seem this 100th birthday shood be to show the progress our town's made and I shure do feel we've progressed.

Now it's ben a long time since there's been any real honness to goodness all-out get-togethers. Take big picnics where evvyone gets ta meet neighbors they haint spoke to for ages, mebbe a big pavement dance would liven things up. Ladies always like a fashion show, specially when it cud remind them of how wimmen usedta dress. Contests allays draw big crowds, horeshoe, tugowar, tournerments, lots of games, the kids allays like to show off in races of enny sort, an a real good ball game.

Everyone loves a parade an I don't mean no band and four or five floats, but like we usta have. Now you wooden remember, but I kin rekollect when parades useta reach from the park out to the depot. Ya kin see I rekollect a good manny of the 100 yars.

Seems to me there's jes lotsa youngsters around between 65 and 90 who cud offer a goodly menny idees an I betcha they don't care for no fancy doin's neither.

I beena spoutin off I recken withen out much sense. But I shure wood hate to hafta think of the ol town havvin a 100th birthday an not a cellybratin it attall. But then too, when ya think about it the other way, twould be offel to have the busyness men ta lose money, specially when they aint lived here so long an watched the ol town grow.

There aint so many of us old folks left and we aint got the gitup an go of the youngsters on main street. So mebbe twould be better to forgit the cellybrashun. We got a goodly lot of memories, most offem good of ur town to rekollect over, an kin sort of cellybrate in our own way.

12 Div. I Ratings Won by Belmond At Music Contest

Belmond High school musicians fared well in the Class B state music contest for soloists and small groups held last Friday and Saturday at Humboldt, earning a total of 12 Division I ratings and 15 II's. This was the first year the local school has competed in Class B, for schools with average daily attendance of more than 200. Previously BHS has fallen in Class C.

Considering the stiffer competition experienced in vying with larger schools and the fact that a heavy schedule of extra-curricular events in recent weeks had infringed considerably on practice time, Directors Roland Brom and David Weltha regarded the Belmond showing was relatively satisfactory.

Eleven Instrumental I's

Eleven of Mr. Brom's instrumental entries brought home I's and eight more were given Division II ratings out of a total of 24. Soloists who got top ratings were: Shirley Pals and Gloria Rogalla, flute; Ronnie Courson, tenor saxophone; Lois Riekens, Mary Ennen and Connie Gabrielson, snare drum.

Division I instrumental groups were: flute trio — Sara Simerson, Judy Oberhauser, Shirley Pals; flute quartet — above three plus Gloria Rogalla; trumpet trio — DaDean Obrecht, Bradley Hammond, Richard Smith; brass sextet — Obrecht, Hammond, Dwight Mennenga. Ted Thompson, Paul Nassen and Gary Gabrielson; brass choir—Obrecht, Hammond, Howard Pals, Smith, Mennenga, Marjorie Gabrielson, Howard Mussell, Thompson, Tim Trees, Arlo Stoltenberg, G. Gabrielson.

II Winners Listed

Those receiving Division II ratings in the instrumental section were: cornet solo — Obrecht, Hammond; French horn — Mussell; flute trio — Joan Kriens, Rogalla, Karen McMurray; woodwind trio — Simerson, Carol Waddington, Wilma Pruisman; alto sax solo — Doug Nodland; flute—Joan Kriens; baritone horn — Paul Nassen.

Only one BHS entry in the vocal section of the contest received a Division I rating, but eight others were given Division II's. The top-rated singer was Neva Kyser, treble voice high.

Division II Vocalists

Soloists who rated Division II were: Donna Nolan, treble voice medium; Bill Murray, tenor; Doug Nodland, baritone; and Brad Hammond, bass. Groups that received "excellent" ratings were: girls trio — Neva Kyser, Gloria Rogalla and Karen Dannewitz; boys quartet — Murray, Larry Schimp, Nodland and Hammond; and mixed quartet — Maryellen Johnson, Elna Jenison, Paul Nassen and Ronnie Courson.

Schools competing at Humboldt, in addition to Belmond and the home school, were: Britt, Emmetsburg, Hartley, Storm Lake, LeMars, Rock Rapids, Sheldon, Spirit Lake, Eagle Grove, Forest City, Lake Mills and Sac City.

The concert band, girls glee club and mixed chorus will compete in the state contest for large groups Saturday at Hampton.

FFA Misses Out On Gold Awards

Belmond's Future Farmers failed to come home with any gold medals from the recent state FFA convention at Waterloo, but did earn silver awards on two entries and bronze on one.

A silver rating went to the chapter exhibit, over which John Studebaker served as chairman with Donovan Goeman, Larry Stadtlander, Terril Baker and Wayne Pals as his committee; and a similar rating was given John on his reporter's scrapbook. Vernon McLaughlin's treasurer's book got the bronze award.

Official Belmond delegates to the convention were Gary Ersland and Donovan Goeman and Gary Gabrielson went as a member of the state FFA band. Others in the local delegation that attended the parley, accompanied by Advisor Francis Kelly, were the members of the exhibit committee plus Ronnie and Dennis Vanness, Tom McLaughlin and Lynn Mennenga.

Inspecting the plant in the press day process of producing the week's issue of The Independent were: Terry, Richard and Harlan Meints, Lowell and David Lein, Meridee and Marilyn Brager, Arthur and Mary Alice Lyons, Fred Danger and Pamela Lemke.

In addition to visiting the newspaper plant, the children also spent about an hour at the city library.

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

In this issue appears the Mainstreeters' 11th annual selection as Belmond's Mother-of-the-Year. The rite of selecting a recipient for this honor is one which we take very seriously and which we look forward to each year with pleasure. We feel confident that our 1956 choice will be accepted as a most appropriate one. We like to feel that with selection as Mother-of-the-Year goes the blessing of added years of happy, useful life.

It saddens us to note that the ranks of our Mothers-of-the-Year were broken for the first time in 1955 with the death of our initial choice for this honor (in 1946), Mrs. Sam Johnson. But all the others will receive next Sunday the traditional rosebud that the Mainstreeters send yearly to past selectees.

Reviewing the list, our choices since 1946 have been: 1947, Mrs. Mary "Molly" Barry; 1948, Mrs. Mary Lister Dillon; 1949, Mrs. H. F. Petersen; 1950, Mrs. Nic Nelson; 1951, Mrs. Charles Gealow; 1952, Mrs. D. D. Pals; 1953, Mrs. J. W. McLaughlin; 1954, Mrs. F. O. Fitts; 1955, Mrs. Lucia Courson. To Mrs. Gabriel Gabrielson, our 1956 "Mother," will go a bouquet of roses bespeaking the community's respect and affection for her.

—M-S—

Calling all Mainstreeter Pen Pals again. It's always a thrill to see the response when we toss out a suggestion to you willing letter-writers and card-senders. There's a birthday coming up that should certainly not pass unnoticed. It's Susan Collinson's 5th, and that's a pretty important one. It will be May 24th.

Don and Mary Collinson are still engaged in their pre-missionary studies, so the address to be used is: 42 Rue Darwin, Ixelles, Brussels, Belgium.

Incidentally, our informant tells us that Susan's father and mother have a wedding anniversary falling on June 6th; so friends of the Collinsons might bear that date in mind, also. We're kinda hoping we may get a note from Don and Mary one of these days so we can tell you all how they're making out. Maybe this will bring it.

—M-S—

The wheel has taken a full turn again, and Chairman Chet Hiddleston of the Co-of-C's retail bureau has found it necessary to send letters to all Main street employers calling attention to the downtown parking problem. There are too many parking spaces being occupied by the cars of merchants and their employees, Chet declares.

Seems this situation develops in serious degree just every so often. Intentions are good, but carelessness sets in — and the first thing you knew, shoppers are mumbling over the long distances they have to carry grocery boxes and what-not.

We'd like to suggest to the retail bureau that it might help if all cars of businessmen and their help were identified by a noticeable sticker on the windshield that would make apparent whom these autos belong to. It would make the owners a bit more self-conscious about parking on the "main drag" if EVERYONE knew. Sound like an idea?

Hansens, Elliotts In 3-Car Mishap

Serious injury was escaped by all 10 persons involved in a three-car mishap at the junction of Highway 18 and 69 just north of Garner about 9:50 p. m. Sunday. But Mr. and Mrs. George Hansen and son Jeff, and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Elliott —who were in the "middle" car— were all still painfully sore at mid-week from muscle strain.

The dual accident occurred when the Hansens, accompanied by the Elliotts, were returning home from an evening at Mason City. The Hansen car paused at the highway intersection to permit a car approaching from the the west to pass, when the former was struck in the rear by a car driven by Earl Skjeie of Forest City.

Impact of this collision caused Hansen's car to sideswipe the one headed east, driven by M.W. Weber of Mason City, who was accompanied by his wife, daughter age nine and son, 11.

Skjeie admitted afterward he simply hadn't seen the Hansen car soon enough to avoid trouble. He then tried to pass on the left, found that lane blocked by the oncoming Weber car, and was unable to return to the right without striking the Belmond party.

Besides muscle strain, Mr. Hansen suffered a fractured rib; and Skjeie received a facial laceration. The glasses of both Jeff Hansen and the little Weber girl were broken. Damage to the cars was estimated as follows: Hansen's $1,000, Weber's $600 and Skjeie's, $500.

PROPERTY-OWNERS, NOTE

The Stuff's NOT Poison Ivy

This week's Cash Gift Day money could have been poison ivy, the way everyone kept clear of it. Not a cent was claimed. No's. 1,073, 2,790 and 4,035 were the $100 digits at 3:00 p. m.; at 2:00 o'clock holders of the following numbers missed out on $25 apiece: 1,301, 1,922, 2,547 and 3,816. Trying to pry a little cash loose, the CGD committee is boosting the ante to $450 next Tuesday [illegible] $35's at 2:00 o'clock and [illegible] again at 3:00 p.m.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TOTS JOIN OFFICIALS OF CHURCH IN SPADEWORK AT METHODIST GROUND-BREAKING

Several hundred members and friends of the Methodist church assembled Sunday afternoon at the site of the new church on east Main street to witness the ground-breaking ceremonies. Dr. R. E. Misner, lay leader of the congregation, was in charge of the program.

Among the highlights of the program was the reading of two poems written especially for the occasion. One was the work of George Runion of Chicago, uncle of Mrs. M. L. Jones, who read it for the gathering. He is a retired contractor who is in his mid-eighties. Mrs. Ella Luick was author of the other and read it herself.

Ceremonial spadesful of earth were turned over by the following, after the ground was initially broken by Ray Klemme, who as an affiliate of the church since 1894 has held membership in the church longer than any other living member of the congregation:

A cornet solo, "The Church's One Foundation," by Bradley Hammond and pronouncement of the benediction concluded the rites.

OLDEST AND YOUNGEST participants in the Methodist church ground-breaking Sunday were (left) Ray Klemme, who has been a member since 1894; and 15-month-old Sharon Bamford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Bamford. Honor of turning the first sod went to Mr. Klemme.

High Toastmaster Office to Rosene

Bob Rosene of the Belmond Toastmasters club, retiring governor of Area II of the Iowa organization of Toastmasters, last Saturday was elected lieutenant-governor of District 19. The entire state comprises this district and election to one of the top posts in the district organization represents a distinct honor bestowed upon the local Toastmaster.

He and Mrs. Rosene and Tom Burdsall, president of the Belmond club, represented the local unit at the state speech contest and business meeting that was held last Saturday at the Iowa State college Memorial Union, Ames.

Other district officers elected were: Martin Seltzer, Des Moines, governor (he was a guest at the Area II speech contest held here in early March); George Dane, Iowa City, also a lieutenant governor; and Russ Kellogg, Boone, district education officer.

John Billings of Fort Dodge, winner of the area contest conducted here, placed second in the state competition. In the final scoring he totaled just a point less than the district winner, Ragie Gold of Davenport. Rev. William Schorman of Belmond was the Iowa champion of 1955.

BHS Band Given Division I Rating In State Contest

Belmond's concert band was one of only four out of 11 Class B high school bands awarded Division I ratings at the state music contest for large musical groups of Class A and B schools held last Saturday at Hampton. The BHS girls glee club and mixed chorus did not fare quite so well, both receiving Division II ratings.

The only Class B bands that matched the success of Director Roland Brom's organization were those from Iowa Falls, Osage and Humboldt. This year, the competing bands were given 15 minutes in which to present a selection or selections of the director's own choice. Belmond's selection was the overture to the opera "Benvenuto Cellini" by Berlioz.

FOR A HOUSE OF GOD

By Ella Luick

These spade-thrusts turn
Not merely sod,
But hope in hearts that yearn
To build a lovely house of God.

For long before the frame
Of Gothic wall and spire
Can house the worshipper to name
The One alone who is able to fire

A faith with strength to keep
The hope and aim and plan,
The spade must dig down deep
To build the house of God for man.

Hospital Auxiliary To Meet May 16th

Second quarterly meeting of the year will be held by the Belmond Community Hospital Auxiliary at 2:00 p. m. next Wednesday at the city library basement. It will have as its theme the 1956 study topic of the National Association of Hospital Auxiliaries, "Disaster Planning." Mrs. M. J. Colbert is program chairman for the meeting.

She has arranged for Dr. S. P. Leinbach to give a talk on the Iowa Eye Bank, established last year at Iowa City by the Lions clubs of the state. He will display the eye removal kit and transportation container that has been bought by the Belmond Lions to handle any eyes donated locally and will explain how the eye bank operates.

Stuart Kutz, administrator of the Belmond hospital, will also be a speaker. He will have as his topic, "Planning Today for Tomorrow's Disaster."

A report on the state convention of the Iowa Association of Hospital Auxiliaries will be given by Mrs. A. T. Rollene, local president, and Mrs. R. H. Gowdy, vice president. They attended the state meeting that was held last week at Des Moines.

Mrs. Clifford Johnson, auxiliary secretary, says that membership in the organization for the current year stands at close to 320.

PACK MEETS TUESDAY

Final meeting of Cub Pack 16 for the current school year has been set ahead from Wednesday to Tuesday night of next week, due to commencement. It will be held at the school hot lunch room, as usual.

Comes to $53,000 More Than Early Estimate of Cost

Contracts were let last week to Hallett Construction company of Crosby, Minn., for the approximately 11 miles of Portland cement concrete that comprise the first installment of Wright county's 10-year road surfacing program. Total cost of the four, separate projects listed for 1956 will come to $320,835.38.

This amount is close to $53,000 in excess of the originally estimated cost of $268,000, but runs close to $32,000 less than the average of similar lettings in late months. It had been anticipated by state highway commission officials that bids on, the board of supervisors will total as high as $352,750 on the basis of experience over the past few months.

"Available" Funds, $268,000

Despite the relatively favorable cost of $2.47 per square yard that Hallet Construction based its bids on, the county board of supervisors will find it necessary to amend the apportionment of road funds. More money will have to be withheld from maintenance and devoted to construction than had been planned earlier in the year if sufficient funds are to be available to finance the surfacing work. The alternative, apparently, would be to "borrow" from funds earmarked for the 1957 portion of the program.

As budgeted at the start of the year, funds were to be available for this year's work from the following sources: $140,000 from state and federal farm-to-market allotment for the year, plus $28,000 carried over from last year; and $100,000 from county road construction funds.

Holmes Project Added

One thing that upset the advance plans was inclusion of 1.003 miles of concrete fom Highway 3 north through Holmes at the insistence of residents of that vicinity. This work was not to be done for several years, and advancing it to 1956 added an unanticipated $29,696.46 to the total cost of the current year's surfacing. Otherwise, last week's lettings would have run only about $20,000 more than the funds the supervisors expected to have available for the program.

By individual projects, the Hallett bids last week were as follows: [illegible]66 miles north from Clarion, $102,047.97; 4.245 miles south from Clarion (both on County K), $124,285 93; 2.199 miles east from Humboldt county line toward Eagle Grove, $64,805.02; and the Holmes mile, $29,696 46. Next lowest aggregate bid on this work was entered by Fred Carlson Co., Decorah, at $336,244 44 Five firms bid on the contracts.

Maintenance Cut Needed

When questioned by The Independent about the problem posed by the amount of the contract bids, County Engineer P. T. Struck stated, "Money in sufficient quantity to handle the county's direct share of the cost of the 1956 surfacing projects is available from county funds specifically appropriated for construction—if it should be actually used for that purpose. For a number of years past, though, a large portion of the construction fund has been transferred annually to road maintenance.

"A reduction in road maintenance expenditures would make unnecessary such heavy diversion of money from the construction fund into maintenance. It appears that is the only practical means of financing the '56 surfacing projects out of current funds. Certainly it would be preferable to throwing the 10-year program behind at its very outset by using this year some of the money committed for 1957 work," Mr. Struck declared.

BRONCOS PLACE SECOND

Belmond placed second in an eight-team field in Tuesday night's Bison Relays at Buffalo Center, scoring 62 points. Ventura was winner with 83½. The Bronco two-mile and medley relay teams won 1sts, as did Dean Pruisman in the broad jump. This Saturday the BHS track team will compete in the district meet at Charles City.

54 Seniors Will Receive Diplomas on Wednesday

Commencement activities open Sunday night when the baccalaureate service will be held at the auditorium at 8:00 o'clock. The sermon will be given by Rev. Ralph Meyer of the Bethany Reformed church. Bill Halfwassen will play the processional and recessional and special music will be provided by the BHS girls trio and boys quartet.

The girls sextet will provide a musical interlude.

DR. J. J. MURRAY
Commencement Speaker

John J. Murray, professor of history at Coe college, will deliver the commencement address on Wednesday night. He will speak on the importance of scholarship and learning. Professor Murray has gained an enviable reputation in his education field, has won numerous honors and done a great deal of writing. His latest book, "An Honest Diplomat at the Hague," has been receiving fine reviews.

Some insight into Dr. Murray's versatility is provided by the fact that he is working on a cookbook on Tudor foods, which will be ready for publication late this summer. He has been elected to fellowships in the Royal Historical Society of England, the Karolinska Forbundet of Sweden and Historiche Genootschap of Utrecht, Holland. He held a Fullbright research scholarship to the Netherlands in 1951-52.

Hugh to Read Honor Roll

Rev. M. L. Jones of the Methodist church will pronounce the commencement invocation and benediction and special music will be provided by the high school girls sextet and boys glee club. The class honor roll will be read by Mr. Hugh and the evening's speaker will be introduced by Supt. Don Faris. Climaxing the program, Mr. Hugh will present the seniors to Harold Simerson, president of the school board, who in turn will present the graduates with their diplomas.

VERSATILITY EXHIBITED BY BOTH TOP SCHOLARS OF CLASS OF '56

In announcing Connie Hill as valedictorian and Corrine Davenport as salutatorian of the Belmond High school class of 1956, Principal Clair Hugh the first of this week pointed out that both of the top scholars demonstrated once more that good grades and extensive participation in extra-curricular activities are not incompatible. Both of the girls were leaders in other phases of school activity besides studies.

Miss Hill was president of the Class of '56 as a junior. She participated in state speech competition all of her four years in BHS and also was on the staff of the student newspaper, "Hoofbeats," from a freshman on.

She sang with the girls glee club her first two years in school, was in the cast of both the Junior and Senior Class plays and was a member of Quill and Scroll, honorary journalistic society. In addition, Connie has been active in youth organizations of the Trinity Lutheran church, has served as president and secretary of the Lutheran Daughters of the Reformation and is a member of the Luther League.

As leader of her class in grade standings, Miss Hill has been awarded a $150 freshman scholarship by Luther college, Decorah, and she plans to enroll there next fall to avail herself of the grant.

Miss Davenport was on the "Hoofbeats" staff for four years and edited the paper as a senior. She, too, was elected to membership in Quill and Scroll; and she was also a member of Girls Athletic association, Pep club and Future Homemakers of America. Like Miss Hill, she had roles in the class play as both a junior and senior.

SEVERSEIKE MC'S PROGRAM

Odean Severseike, son of Rev. and Mrs. O. M. Severseike, on Tuesday of this week served as master-of-ceremonies for St. Olaf college's annual Honors Day program. The ceremonies were broadcast in the morning over WCAL, Northfield, Minn. Odean will graduate next month with highest honors and plans to attend the University of Minnesota school of medicine next fall.

Two PTA's Pick '56-57 Officers

In election held Monday of last week and Tuesday evening of this week, respectively, new officers were chosen by the Parent-Teachers associations of Ramsay Elementary school and the Goodell grade school. Mrs. Duane Anderson was elected president of the Ramsay PTA and Solomon Krass was re-elected as Goodell president.

Other officers elected by the Ramsay PTA unit were: Mrs. Stephen Hinman, vice president; and Mrs. Loren Bamford, secretary-treasurer. Completing the Goodell staff of officers were: Mrs. Roy Janssen, vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Boller, secretary; and Mrs. V. E. Harris, treasurer.

CALIFORNIA VISITOR

Mrs. Donald Sult of Twenty Nine Palms, Calif., visited several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jenison.

Belmond Jaycees Honored as Best New Unit in Iowa

Belmond's Junior Chamber of Commerce was awarded the One-Year Milestone Sweepstakes award at the state Jaycee convention held last Friday through Sunday at Sioux City. This award goes annually to the outstanding chapter among those which have completed their first full year of existence during the 12-month period preceding the convention.

Other contenders for the Milestone award this year were the new clubs at DeWitt, Greene, Hampton and Tipton. Not only did the Belmond Junior Chamber win the Milestone trophy by a comfortable margin, but local delegates were told by state Jaycee officials that they regarded Belmond to have a good chance of winning the national Milestone prize.

Civic Service Award, Also

The achievements of the Belmond chapter also qualified it to receive the state Civic Service award. To gain this recognition, a club had to complete two local projects and participate in at least three national Jaycee projects.

High ranking was won by the Belmond Junior Chamber on its two local undertakings, development of Tyrrell park and last fall's Hallowe'en party for the school children. In addition, the Jaycees sold flags in cooperation with the national Americanism project; collected donations to the U. S. Olympic fund and the March of Dimes; nominated a candidate for the Outstanding Young Farmer of America; and contributed to the national J. C. C. "Operation Brotherhood."

When the local Teen-Age Road-e-o has been conducted, the Belmond Jaycees will also be eligible to receive the J. C. C. "Starting America's Leaders" award.

Clarion Does Well

In reporting Belmond's successes at the state convention, Mr. Tyrrell said, "I speak for all of the local Jaycees in saying 'thanks' to the entire community for the cooperation that made it possible for us to win the honors we received. What small glory we received reflects much greater glory on the home town in which all we Jaycees take such pride."

Clarion's Junior Chamber brought further credit to Wright county by taking top honors in its population division and also sweepstakes honors in Youth Activities, Religious Activities and Public Affairs.

In addition, Dr. James Lott, who heads the Clarion J. C. C., was recognized as the most outstanding local Junior Chamber of Commerce president in the state during 1955-56. This is the highest distinction that can be bestowed upon an individual Jaycee in Iowa.

Scholarships Go To Three Seniors

Three BHS seniors who will graduate next week have been awarded scholarships at state educational institutions for the 1956-57 year as a result of participation in a competitive examination at Britt on March 27.

Loretta Fuller has been granted a merit scholarship at Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls, that has an annual value of $126. Merit grants to a value of $108 apiece were awarded to Bradley Hammond and Arlyn Frohling, who will continue their educations at Iowa State college, Ames.

'56 Choice for Belmond's Mother-of-the Year, Mrs. G. Gabrielson

Fifty-five years ago this coming October, a forlorn, Norwegian girl rode into Belmond on a freight train from Hampton, wondering if she hadn't made a mistake in leaving her native Stavanger. But when a distant relation, Ole Gunderson, met her at the depot and addressed her in Norwegian she took heart and felt a bit more "at home."

In the intervening years, Anna Sunde Peterson has become so thoroughly "at home" that as Mrs. Gabriel Gabrielson she is the Mainstreeters' 1956 choice as Belmond's Mother-of-the-Year.

Awaiting her arrival in this country was her home-town sweetheart, who'd come to America two years earlier and was working in Minnesota. She made her home for the time being with a brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Rasmusson, who returned to the old country the following year. But Anna had cast her lot permanently with her new homeland and on Feb. 18, 1903 she and Gabriel Gabrielson were wed in the Gunderson home that is now the residence of Bill Meints.

Both Anna and Gabriel had worked in a factory at Stavanger, but farming was what they wanted to do. For several years Mr. Gabrielson worked as a farmhand, but soon launched out on his own by renting what at the time was the Gunderson farm. Later they rented the Simon Simerson place, now operated by the latter's son Harold C. Simerson; and finally, in 1925, they rented the C. B. Johnson farm two miles north and 2½ west of Belmond — which remained "home" until failing eyesight forced Gabriel's retirement in 1944.

The years on the farm, and the years since, have all been full ones for Mrs. Gabrielson. Ten children were born into the family, and all but one are still living. The influenza epidemic of 1918 took the life of a daughter, Burley, who was then 11. But that tragedy and the affliction that finally claimed Mr. Gabrielson's vision have been the only dark shadows on more than 50 years of otherwise happy family life.

All of the other children are residents of this vicinity and the elder Gabrielsons' home remains definitely the center of the family circle. The sons and daughters are, in age order: Tolford, Elmer, Mrs. George (Elizabeth) Waddington, Gerhard, Norman, Lester, Mrs. Ed (Beulah) Reasoner, Mrs. Kenneth (Ruby) Boller and Mrs. Wesley (Ruth) Boller.

Although Mrs. Gabrielson and her husband have always felt great affection for their adopted land, they have kept ties with the old country strong by using Norwegian as their household language. It was used exclusively in their home until the presence of daughters-in-law and sons-in-law in the family group required that the conversation be converted to English. The elder Gabrielsons still use their native tongue between themselves or when any of the children drop in for a chat.

MRS. GABRIEL GABRIELSON
She Likes to "Keep Going"

Since her arrival in this country, Mrs. Gabrielson has always been a regular subscriber to a Norwegian-language newspaper, printed in this country. Currently it is the Poste, published in Decorah. Both she and her husband take great pleasure in keeping abreast of "neighbors" in both America and Norway in this manner.

It is Mrs. Gabrielson's fond hope that she may have an opportunity to return to Norway for a visit, while she's still physically capable of making the trip. She has a sister and brother still living at Stavanger. She also has a sister living in Washington, two brothers — Olaf and Peter — at Eagle Grove, and another brother in Chicago.

She's always had a deep love for children; not just her own, but any children. This has manifested itself in late years in her ready availability as a baby-sitter. Perhaps her affinity for children also explains her pleasure in a household chore that gives most women little delight— patching clothes!

Her daughters say that since she's had no children of her own to "do for," she spends hours rejuvinating the clothes of her grandchildren They marvel at her ability to take a garment that is virtually in remnants and make it once again useful with loving stitches and patches.

She used to do a great deal of crocheting, also; regarding it almost a mite sinful to sit at any time with idle hands. The homes of all her sons and daughters have been beautified by the products of this pastime Her eyesight has been less keen in recent years and this has forced her to relinquish her fancy-work hobby to a considerable degree, but she still indulges in it on occasion.

Her chickens were a source of much pleasure to her, when she was still on the farm; and only at her children's insistence did she give them up when she moved to town. Her enjoyment of her setting flock appeared to be mutually shared by her contented hens, who seemed to enjoy her company and would gather around her in the hen yard even when it was obvious that no feed was in prospect.

Baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith as a girl in Stavanger, Mrs. Gabrielson has always found much joy and comfort in her religion. She was a faithful member of St. Olaf church while she and her husband were on the farm and was very active in the Ladies Aid. She takes great pride in the life membership the St. Olaf Aid presented her on May 9, 1946. Her husband's disability has made her attendance at the Trinity church and participation in its activities less regular in the 12 years they've had their home in Belmond, but her loyalty is no less complete.

It is Mrs. Gabrielson's ardent belief that one should always, as she puts it, "keep going." In addition to her baby-sitting, she has in recent years helped out whenever she could at the Packard-Nelson nursing home. With all her activity, she also finds plenty of free time to read to her husband — often from the Bible or their Norwegian newspaper.

Like other of the Mainstreeters' Mothers-of-the-Year, Mrs. Gabrielson is a source of true inspiration to her family — and to all who know her. The Mainstreeters take pride in presenting Mrs. Gabrielson as their 1956 choice, and wish her many more years of happy, useful life.

Bronco Thinclads Finish in Fourth At Mohawk Relays

Belmond was barely nosed out of third place in the 12-team, Class B field at last Friday night's Mohawk Relays at Mason City's Roosevelt stadium. Greene edged Fayette in a two-way scramble for the championship, 30 to 26. Then came Ventura with 17 points, Belmond with 16.2 and Postville with 16. Two other North Iowa conference teams finished 6th and 7th, Britt and Buffalo Center, with 11.2 and 11 points respectively.

Had the Bronco runners succeeded in passing the baton better, third place might have been their by a relatively comfortable margin; but faulty exchanges hampered their efforts all evening. A bad pass in the mile relay, concluding event of the program, was particularly costly.

Needing five points in the mile event to go ahead of Ventura, the Purple and White team was running a strong second to Greene in the fastest heat of the divided event when Anchorman "Joe" Smith led Jerry Chandler too far and several valuable yards were lost in achieving the exchange. Smith, who had already run two half-miles and a 110 leg in the 440, then turned in an excellent performance but was nipped at the finish by Britt's Dale Nielson. He'd unquestionably have been beyond Nielson's reach, but for the slow pass. As it was, Belmond was shoved back to 4th in the event on a time basis and lost a pair of points.

Smith lost his balance trying to stave off Nielson's bid and picked up some painful cinder burns when he sprawled on the track. The two, fine 880's Joe had run earlier played a major part in bringing the Broncos six points for a 3rd in the mile medley and four more for a fourth in the two-mile relay. Belmond's other points came on a 5th in the 440 relay and Dean Pruisman's tie for 5th in the pole vault with a 10-foot leap.

Running with Smith in the medley (in order) were Tom Lowenberg (440), DaDean Obrecht and Chandler (220's); in the two-mile, Jim Fetrow, Larry Schimp and Arlo Stoltenberg; and in the mile, Lowenberg, Ronnie Courson and Chandler. The four runners on the 440 team, in order, were Obrecht, Lowenberg, Smith and Pruisman.

Coach Hobbs Has Praise for Broncs On NIC Success

Results of the North Iowa conference track meet were available too late last week to permit a detailed report in The Independent. Belmond's unprecedented showing ward to each year with pleasure. ever won in track and, insofar as available records indicate, it was the Broncos' first victory on the cinder track beyond the dual or triangular level.

Coach Dick Hobbs was enthusiastic in his praise of the utter disregard his athletes showed toward the horrible conditions under which the chilly, rain-swept meet was conducted. None of the coaches could readily recall when one team had ever before completely monopolized the relay events as did Belmond in its successful drive to the championship.

Personnel of the five, winning relay teams was as follows: two-mile — Jim Stadtlander, Larry Schimp, Arlo Stoltenberg and "Joe" Smith; 880 — Dave Long, Ronnie Courson, Tom Lowenberg and Smith; mile medley — Lowenberg, DaDean Obrecht, Courson and Jim Fetrow; 440 — Obrecht, Courson, Jerry Chandler and Dean Pruisman; mile — Roland Jenison, Courson, Lowenberg and Smith. It will be noted that Smith anchored three of the victorious quartets.

As noted last week, other Belmond 1sts went to: Fetrow, in the mile run; Pruisman, pole vault and 100; and Bill Kaufman, high jump. Pruisman was the meet's only double winner, other than Don Albers of Buffalo Center in the two hurdle events and Dennis Newberry of Northwood in the shot and discus.

Other Bronco place-winners were: 220 — Bill Ayers 3rd, Chandler 4th; mile — Stadtlander 4th; high hurdles — Long 5th; 880 — Arlo Stoltenberg 2nd, Schimp 5th; football throw — Tom McNulty 4th, Schimp 5th; discus — Gary Meyer 3rd; shot put — Meyer 2nd, McNulty 4th.

BHS Nine Nicked By Hayfied, 3-1

Although they displayed as fine a brand of ball as any Bronco nine has demonstrated in a number of seasons, the BHS nine found its master in Hayfield last Friday afternoon and bowed out in the sectional baseball finals by a 3-1 count.

On Wednesday, the Broncs gained a well-earned victory over Garner in the first round, 4 to 3. Dale Caquelin gained the decision over Ed Hrubes, the Cards' fine moundsman, by striking out nine batters. He allowed a half dozen walks, but permitted only four hits and received errorless support from his team mates.

Hrubes was off form, giving up three walks and three hits in the single inning he pitched. Grieman, who relieved him in the second, also passed three batters, fanned five and was touched for two hits. Garner committed five errors.

Hayfield's Curt Blank had too much stuff for the Broncos in the finals. Going the entire route, he sent 11 men down swinging and permitted only two hits. Both the Hornets and the Broncs were guilty of a pair of errors.

Tom Lowenberg started on the mound for Belmond and yielded only three hits in the three and a third frames he worked. Caquelin relieved him in the fourth and was nicked for only a pair of safe wallops

Hayfield scored single tallies in the first and second innings, with Belmond reducing the margin to 2-1 in the bottom of the second frame. Then the Hornets picked up an unearned run in the fourth to settle matters.. Chandler opened the sixth with a double and stole third, but Bronco hopes for a rally died when Blank fanned the next three batters.

Bronc Tracksters Take Third Place In Clarion Meet

With several of the first-string runners unable to take part because of conflicts, Belmond High school's track team had to settle for 3rd in a triangular meet a week ago last Friday at Clarion with the host team and Britt. Clarion won with 81¾ points, Britt totalted 57¾ and the Broncos wound up with 46¾.

Belmond's 1sts came in the two-mile, mile and medley relays, discus (Gary Meyer, 117 feet) and shot put (Tom McNulty, 37-8). Bill Kaufman shared in a four-way tie for 1st in the high jump at 5-5.

Belmond's sprint relay teams suffered by absence of DaDean Obrecht and Dean Pruisman and Larry Schimp was not on hand for the middle distances and the football throw. Coach Dick Hobbs used Jon Green in the winning two-mile and mile relay combinations, giving the Goodell boy his first taste of competition.

Belmond place-winners in the individual events were: 100— "Joe" Smith 4th; 200 — Tom Lowenberg 3rd; high and low hurdles — Dave Long 4th; mile run — Jim Fetrow 2nd, Jim Stadtlander 3rd; 440 — Doug Nodland 4th; 880 — Arlo Stoltenberg 2nd; shot put — Gary Meyer 2nd.

State Must Deduct Outside Income In Estimating Old Age Assistance

All income must be considered by the welfare worker in determining the monthly grant for recipients of Old Age Assistance, Aid to Blind, and Aid to Dependent Children. "Welfare workers have no choice in this matter," says L. L. Caffrey, chairman of the state board of social welfare.

"Federal and state laws both make that clear and the workers who have the responsibility for correctly computing the amount of the monthly checks our recipients receive must work within the framework of the public assistance laws."

The programs administered by the state department of social welfare and its 99 county officers are assistance programs designed to meet the basic needs of people. They are not pensions in any sense of the word, though they sometimes supplement inadequate pensions and other income.

Exception for Blind

For example, an aged person may have needs of $70 monthly which may be considered by the welfare worker. From this figure must be subtracted any income available to the recipient such as Old Age and Survivors Insurance (Social Security), Workmen's Compensation, Unemployment Benefits private pensions, earnings, annuity payments, rentals, contributions from relatives, etc. So if the aged person with needs of $70 monthly receives Old Age and Survivors Insurance of $30, he would be eligible for Old Age Assistance of $40 per month.

It is only in the Aid to Blind program that any exception to the "all income must be considered" rule may be made. Revisions in the federal laws of 1950 required that states disregard the first $50 per month of earned income. This exception applies only to the current earnings of a blind recipient.

Report Income Changes

Mr. Caffrey mentioned the difficulties and disappointments occurring when changes in income and resources are not reported by recipients to their welfare workers. Recipients of assistance are always told that it is their responsibility to report any changes in their circumstances to the welfare worker so that required and permissible changes in grants may be made promptly.

"But", said Caffrey, "They forget, misunderstand, or take the advice of others. We wish people, our recipients as well as others, would understand that the welfare worker is the best source of information about the laws under which assistance may be granted. While it is true that when income increases, assistance grants must be reduced, it is also true when income is reduced grants may be increased to offset the resulting deficit. Of course, all increases or reductions in assistance grants must be in accord with the law and state department policies."

Other Income Counts

Old Age Assistance, Aid to Blind, and Aid to Dependent Children grants would all total considerably more each month if various forms of other income were not considered in computing the monthly payments.

"Old Age Assistance alone would probably cost approximately $397,000 more per month if we did not deduct these income payments before setting the amount of the individual monthly payments," Mr. Caffrey said.

ASC Committee Urges Farmers Study Compliance Decision With Great Care

Farmers of Wright county were urged this week by the county ASC committee, to spend a few minutes doing some figuring and some serious thinking on the question of whether they should comply with their corn acreage allotments this year.

They declared that a little arithmetic and due consideration of individual problems will give the average farmer the "right answer". This method will probably point to compliance as the better course in a majority of cases, particularly on farms where commercial fertilizer is used for corn and where soybeans can be raised safely.

The suggested arithmetic involves known figures, such as the farmer's own corn acreage allotment, his available acreage for intertilled crops such as corn and soybeans under a sound rotation plan, his average yields per acre, and the price support rates in effect for 1956.

Offer Sample Computations

The following computations are examples of the figuring they believe every farmer should do before deciding on compliance or non-compliance with his corn allotment. It is emphasized that no allowance for fertilizer costs has been made in the example.

Farm used in example—160 acres, with two 40-acre fields available for corn and soybeans in 1956 and with two other 40-acre fields in small grain, hay and pasture. The farm has a 40-acre corn allotment. Yields per acre used here are the five-year (1950-54) Iowa state averages but the indivdual farmer may substitute actual figures for his farm The national average support rate for corn produced in compliance with allotment is $1.50 per bushel, while the rate for "non-compliance corn" is $1.25. The national average support rate for soybeans is $2.15 per bushel.

The first computation is based on compliance with the farm's corn acreage allotment The other computations are for non-compliance operations.

Compliance Example

Forty acres of corn producing 52.3 bushels per acre equals yield of 2.092 bushels; value at support rate of $1.50 per bushel is $3,138. Forty acres of soybeans producing 23.2 bushels per acre equals 923 bushels; value at support rate of $2.15 per bushel is $1,995.20. Total estimated value of corn and soybeans, with farm in compliance with corn allotment, $5,143.20.

Fifty acres of corn at 52.3 bushels per acre equals production of 2,615 bushels having a value of $3,268.75 at the non-compliance support rate of $1.25 per bushel. Thirty acres of soybeans at 23.2 bushels per acre equals production of 696 bushels having a value of $1,496.40 at the rate of $2.15 per bushel. Total estimated value of corn and soybeans, $4,765.15.

Sixty acres of corn at 52.3 bushels per acre equals production of 3,138 bushels having a value of $3,922.50 at $1.25 per bushel. Twenty acres of soybeans at 23.2 bushels per acre equals production of 464 bushels having a value of $997.60. Total estimated value of corn and soybeans, $4,920.10.

Eighty acres of corn (no soybeans) at 52.3 bushels per acre equals production of 4,184 bushels. Total estimated value of this "all-corn plan" at $1.25 per bushel is $5,230.

Other Factors Involved

The committee said that merely multiplying yields by support rates may not give the complete answer in every case. To get that, the farmer must carefully consider such factors as his finances, fixed expenses, fertilizer costs, the greater soil-depleting qualities of corn, proper land use, and the established rotation system. Consideration should be given also to the fact that soybeans withstand dry weather better than corn and that planting a high percentage of available land to corn is like "putting all your eggs in one basket."

The committee pointed out, too, that farmers who are thinking of increasing their corn acreage because of the support offered for non-compliance corn should remember that loans can be made only on well-stored grain. In some cases this would call for additional on-farm storage facilities.

Wright's Crops In 1954 Had 22 Million Value

Livestock and livestock products contributed most heavily to the total value of farm products sold in 1954 by the operators of Wright county's 1,855 farms, a U. S. Department of Commerce bulletin revealed last week. The report was based on the 1954 census of agriculture and prepared by the Bureau of Census.

Close to 11 million dollars — $10,962,159, to be exact — was the total value of livestock and livestock products sold in Wright county during the census year. Value of all farm products came to $22,109,370.

Field Crops $9 Million

Crops sold in 1954 brought Wright farmers a total of $9,274,705, the report stated, with field crops accounting for $9,212,251. Horticultural specialties (nursery and greenhouse products) accounted for $54,819; vegetables, $5,431; and fruits and nuts, $2,207.

In the line of livestock, poultry and poultry products accounted for $1,105,251 of Wright county farm income and dairy prodlucts, $767,255.

No data was provided on the value of forest products sold from the county's farms, but it is regarded that the amount would have been insignificant.

Value of farm products sold does not include income of farm operators from non-farm sources, government payments for soil conservation, lime and fertilizer furnished, or subsidy payments.

Iowa Figure, $1.8 Billion

Value of farm products sold in all of Iowa in 1954 came to nearly $1.84 billion, an increase of 1.1 per cent from the sales of $1.635 billion in1949. Livestock and livestock products accounted for nearly $1.175 billion and field crops for slightly over $439 million.

Other categories figuring into the 1954 total value of Iowa farm products sold were: dairy products $116.7 million; poultry and poultry products about $96.48 million; vegetables $2.69 million; fruits and nuts $570,238; forest products $453,472.

3 Agencies Report To Rural Chest On Year's Needs

Reguar meeting of the Wright County Rural Community Chest was held Tuesday evening of last week at Hagie's conference room. Members of the Clarion Chest were on hand, also, to hear appeals presented by representatives of three agencies affiliated with the two Chests. Spokesmen were present in behalf of the United Fund of Iowa, Sister Kenny Foundation and the Iowa Children's Home Society.

The representative for the United Fund said this group's list of participating agencies has not been completely drafted for the current year. In 1955, nine agencies were affiliated with the UFI and so far five are included for 1956. They are the USO, Arthritis and Rheumatism foundation, American Hearing Society, American Hygiene association and the Jackson Laboratory at Bar Harbor, Me., for cancer research.

Mrs. Virginia Cambier of Clarion represented the Sister Kenny Foundation. Its primary purpose is to train therapists in the Kenny method of treating polio victims. This treatment method is used at Iowa Lutheran and Blank Memorial hospitals at Des Moines, where [illegible] polio patients were cared for last year; and another 80 patients from Iowa were sent to the Kenny Institute at Minneapolis. The foundation is asking $1,965 from Wright county this year.

Mrs. George Kyseth was representative for the Iowa Children's Home Society. She told of the agency's adoptive service, maintenance of foster homes and counseling service for unwed mothers. Of 500 children the society served last year, seven were in this county. Two unwed mothers were assisted, too. The society is asking $[illegible] of the Rural Chest.

William Stacy, extension sociologist from Iowa State collge, attended the meeting to record notes and take pictures as part of a survey of rural Community Chests he is making. He says that only 7.2 per cent of the Community Chests in Iowa are organized on a rural basis.

DAMAGE DONE BY GOPHERS CAN COST FARMER HEAVILY: BOWMAN

Crop damage from pocket gophers in Wright county farmfields has been increasing in recent years because of lack of concerted action to kill the gopher, Extension Director Aaron Bowman declares. He adds that this is the best time to control these destroyers, as at this time they are working alone. Their young are not yet born and the killing of one gopher can eliminate a whole family. Vegetation is short and gopher mounds are easy to see at this time.

The obvious damage these animals do in destroying a square foot of meadow under every mound they make is only a fraction of the loss they are causing Wright county farmers, according to Bowman. For each foot of obvious damage, they eat out about one square foot of plant roots. This can mean serious losses when gophers infest an alfalfa field.

Harold Gunderson, extension entomologist at Iowa State college, reports that tests have shown a farmer reduces his hay yield about 30 per cent when he sets his mower bar high enough to miss gopher mounds. Also, he has to operate his machinery slower where there is danger of hitting gopher mounds. It means lost time at harvest.

Gunderson says the best way to control gophers is to poison them, using any fresh, firm root vegetable as bait. The bait can be potatoes, carrots, parsnips, rutabagas or similar vegetables cut like french-fried potatoes about a quarter inch square and 1½ inches long.

Dust the bate with strychnine and then sharpen a broom handle or similar stick and use it to probe the ground about four to eight inches from the flat side of the two most recent gopher mounds of each system. When the broom handle breaks through into the runway, pull it out, drop a piece of bait through the hole, then close the hole with your heel. Rake the mound flat. When the whole field has been poisoned, drag down all the mounds.

One poisoning won't kill all the gophers. Next day look for new mounds. If any new mounds appear, repeat the poisoning four to six inches from the flat side of the two most recent new mounds of each system and rake those mounds down. Keep this up until no new mounds appear.

Librarians Choose Schaal Chairman For Next Meeting

Russell Schaal, member of the Belmond city library's board of trustees, on Wednesday of last week was elected co-chairman of the 1957 annual meeting of Region 2 of the Iowa State Library association. This action was taken during the business session of the regional meeting held at the local library. Beth Annis, Algona city librarian, will serve with Mr. Schaal in planning next year's meeting, which will be held at Britt if an invitation extended by the library of that community is accepted.

In addition to his district office, Mr. Schaal is a member of the Iowa State Traveling Library association and serves as chairman of that group.

Children Participated

A group of eight, Belmond second-graders took part in the program of last week's meeting by assisting Marie Svoboda of the Mason City library staff in a demonstration of a children's story hour. This and other phases of the program were set up by Gladys Kehm, also of Mason City, and Attorney E. B. Stillman, Clear Lake library trustee, who were co-chairmen in charge of planning the program. Faye Colby, local librarian, was hostess for the meeting.

Bouquets of flowers were presented by the district to Blanche Smith of Des Moines and Lydia Barrett of Mason City, both of whom are retiring from library posts they have held many years. Miss Smith has been chief librarian of the Iowa State Traveling Library association and Miss Barrett has been head librarian at Mason City.

Plan Summer Pogram

A highlight of the program was a talk by Mrs. Ira Larson, an Osage housewife who is the mother of six young children (oldest, age nine), who is an extraordinarily ardent library patron. Though having no official capacity with the Osage library, other than borrower, she attended last summer the annual librarians' workshop at the University of Iowa because of her interest in libraries and their good works.

Mrs. Donald Carr, Clear Lake librarian, and George Gardner, extension librarian from Mason City, offered suggestions along the line of summer reading programs. Mrs. Colby reports that she and the local trustees were very favorably impressed with the ideas offered and plan to introduce such a program here this summer.

Willie Announces Office Candidacy

Ben V. Willie, one-time Belmond resident who now lives in Eagle Grove and is a candidate for the Republican nomination for county attorney, was a Belmond visitor Tuesday. Offficial announcement of his candidacy appears in this issue of The Independent.

He is one of three lawyers seeking the GOP nomination. Another, Arthur Draheim, Jr., of Clarion was guest speaker Monday night at a meeting of the Belmond Junior Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Draheim concentrated his remarks on county finances.

It is the Jaycees' plan to have all the county attorney candidates speak to their group, prior to the primaries. Marvin J. Kjellberg of Clarion is also seeking the GOP nomination and Martin J. Morrissey, Clarion, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

All three of the Republican office-seekers have done door-knocking in Belmond vicinity and are carrying on aggressive campaigns.

LIBRARIANS WILL ASSURE YOU THAT THE WRITTEN WORD'S HOLDING ITS OWN

Last week a group of 78 dedicated individuals who believe that the printed word is still the best medium of spreading education, entertainment and enchantment among mankind met in Belmond for the annual meeting of Region 2 of the Iowa State Library association. We are moved to observe that in these days when prophets of doom are predicting the power of Johann Gutenberg's trade is inevitably to be usurped by other mediums — especially by television — we should be indeed thankful that there remain librarians and library trustees who are a living denial that this shall ever come to pass.

These are intelligent, forward-thinking men and women whose feet are too firmly on the ground to espouse a lost cause. They can tell you that in 1955 more titles were published by the book industry than ever before; that the circulation of leading magazines remain at record highs; that 1955 circulation of daily newspapers in the U. S. was 4.8 per cent greater that 1950 BTV (before TV — at least as it prevails over the land today); and that the weekly press has never been in a healthier state.

A group of local second-graders who participated in a demonstration "reading hour" as part of the program made clear that, not only do the small-fry still find thorough enjoyment in old fashioned reading-out-loud, but they KNOW what they LIKE — and what they like is a well-written story.

Patronage of the Belmond library has increased steadily in the past few years, concurrently with the growing prevalence of TV, and the demand for best sellers of the day — along with the "standards" of earlier years — shows no sign of slackening.

We have heard it repeated so often that "one picture is worth 10 thousand words" that we tend unthinkingly to accept it as the whole truth. But is it?

Preserved for posterity on the printed page are such eloquent thoughts of man at his best as Churchill's: "I have nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears, and sweat."; . . . Lincoln's: "That this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom . . ."; Voltaire's: "I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

Paint a picture of those thoughts. Yes, take 10 thousand canvasses to attempt it, if you need them. And you will.

Certainly, TV and pictorial journalism and all their kin have their place in the scheme of things. But so has the printed word. And don't thing for a minute that it's day is passing. It never will.

ANY UNDERTAKING NEEDS "BELIEVERS:" CITY PLANNING WILL NEED THEM, TOO

Recently we read somewhere a quotation from John Stewart Mill, who wrote: "One person with a belief is equal to a force of ninety-nine who have only interests."

And reading that, we were led to think upon the rather spectacular rise in fortunes that the high school track team is experiencing this year. Track has been a "poor relation" in the BHS sports picture for many years. Then came a "believer" in the person of Coach Dick Hobbs.

Look what happened. With no greater choice of material than Belmond High has been ready to provide in any given season, Dick has injected his enthusiasm into his runners, jumpers and throwers with the result that suddenly they are the best in the North Iowa conference!

This example could well be borne in mind by our city fathers when they set about appointing the proposed zoning and planning commission. On this board must be persons whose interest lies along the line of a better, more systematically planned community. But more than that, its membership MUST include a BELIEVER or two. Men or women so acutely concerned with Belmond's future development, so thoroughly SOLD on the merits of city planning that they can motivate their fellow members who, perhaps, may "have only interests."

City planning and zoning has within it the potential for great achievement. But that achievement cannot be looked upon as an automatic outgrowth of establishing a commission and passing an ordinance. It must be implemented with imagination, with determination, with inspiration. And if it is to be so implemented, the planning commission MUST have a nucleus of devoted "believers" in its aims.

A heavy responsibility rests on the city council, therefore, in selecting this commission. In turn, this commission can relieve councils of the years to come of much responsibility if this initial job of selection is well done.

The HIGHWAY STORY

By Bob Hullihan

"I looked up in the rear vision mirror and saw this little girl rolling in the street." A stunned and weeping driver made that statement to police moments after a five-year-old girl died on the curbing before her home.

Only ten minutes before, the motorist had been driving through the mid-morning quiet of a residential section of an Iowa town. Yes. perhaps he had been driving a little faster that the speed limit allowed but still, he had been cautious, normally watchful.

Then something struck his right front fender. It was such a light blow that he drove on, glancing into his rear vision mirror to see what had brushed his car. He saw a child "rolling in the street" behind him.

The little girl had skipped out from between two parked autos and into the side of the moving car.

There followed moments of dream-like helplessness. The child was carried to the curbing but she never regained consciousness. The neighbor women gathered, the ambulance came and the police. The driver became sick. He leaned against the car and weakly beat the fender with his fist.

There was nothing anyone could do. The child was dead when the ambulance pulled away. The driver had to be taken away in his own car -because he was incapable of taking the wheel again. All he could see was that stark scene reflected in the rear vision mirror.

One or more similar accidents happen every spring and summer in Iowa when the small children come out to play. When a child is near a street or highway, "rear vision" is not enough to protect him.

Plans for Centennial Currently Progressing at Stepped-Up Pace

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Clair Hugh tells us that ordinarily the BHS senior class honor roll consists of about 25 per cent of the class enrollment. But not this year. He, himself, was surprised to find that nearly 40 per cent of the Class of '56 "made" the honor list. When drafting the list, he found the 15th student to have a very respectable 2.92 grade average; and by the time he'd worked down to 2.8 (bottom of the honor roll averages) he'd added six more names—making 21 out of 54.

By that time, the BHS principal decided either the teachers had been grading the class a bit leniently—or else it was simply better than average.

A review of the Fifty-Sixers' progress through high school, as measured by the annual All-Iowa tests, convinced him the latter was the case. He says the current crop of seniors showed steady improvement through the four years of high school and that in last fall's A-I exams the class ranked in the 86th pecentile in the state! That's an enviable rating. Now all the seniors have to do is go out into the cold cruel world and PROVE they've "got it."

—M-S—

You've heard of persons being of "the same stripe." That circumstance cost Jim Fetrow a 4th place in the district track meet at Charles City last Saturday. In the final 10 yards before the finish, Jim was beaten out of 3rd by Tom Costigan of Buffalo Center—who, like the Bronco runner, wore a uniform that featured a white shirt with purple stripe. Apparently the finish judge picking 4th was confused by the similarity of appearance and thought he was simply seeing double.

At any ate, he reported a Calmar runner, some five yards to the rear, as winner of 4th.

While consoling young Fetrow in his disappointment. Ye Ed also tried to direct a little sunshine in Coach Hobbs' direction by observing that at least the Broncos were likely far enough out of the running for the team championship that the two points lost would make no difference. About that time the Greene High coach, a former Marine buddy of Hobbs', trotted up to inquire, "Dick, do you realize Bemond has this meet WON?"

—M-S—

"Bucky" Walters, the Greene coach, was a bit put out at Hobbs on one score. Greene and Fayette had figured to be the top contenders for the title, but Belmond was touted to give both of their strong two-mile relay teams a stern test. Walters believed the Broncs could whip Fayette in the event, so he held his runners out of the race to keep them fresh for other competition during the afternoon.

Than, due to to a misunderstanding, the BHS two-mile foursome didn't arrive in time to compete!

The Greene Ramblers would have been a cinch for second, and might very possiblly have won, had they been in the race—which would have given them 2nd place in the team standings instead of the disappointing tie for sixth (with Fayette) in which they ended up. . . . "Some pal!" was Walters comment to Hobbs over the slip-up and its developments.

—M-S—

Officer Doug Walrod informs us he has been receiving quite a few complaints about the use of bows and arrows by children too young to understand how dangerous they can be. Several minor injuries to playmates have resulted from careless aiming of arrows. He suggests parents either supervise the use of archery equipment in the hands of their youngsters or keep bows and arrows away from them.

—M-S—

Postmaster George Jenison informs us that the week of May 21-26 is Rural Mail Box Week—at least insofar as the postal department is concerned. AND, the boys at the post office suggest it would be a mighty nice thing if rural boxholders would observe the occasion with a little fixing-up where it's needed.

George points out that a rural mail box that's in poor condition can easily cause a carrier some delay in his deliveries. Worse yet, (from a personal standpoint) a box in poor shape may mean weather damage to mail.

So the PM suggests making use of the occasion by replacing boxes that are just n.g., giving the still-useful ones a coat of white or aluminum paint (and painting the owner's name on the ide, where the carrier can see it); also making sure that the approach to the box is weather-proofed with cinders or gravel.

MRS. MASON DIES

Mrs. Clara Mason, mother of Mrs. Francis Ainger and Mrs. Alfred Stadtlander of Belmond, died early Monday morning at her Clarion home following a heart attack.

WHO SAYS 13's UNLUCKY?

As Ed Wynn used to say on the radio, "The program's going to be different this week, Graham." It was Graham MacNamee he was talking to. We're talking to YOU. And it's those Cash Gift Day prizes we're talking ABOUT. With $450 as a target, only one number-holder connected with a bull's-eye Tuesday — and that was a $25 one. So the CGD committee is setting up a whole bunch of targets next Tuesday. Thirteen of 'em. There will be six $25's again at 2:00 p.m.; and at 3:00 o'clock SEVEN (a "lucky" seven to counteract that 13) $50's! The Cash Givers say that lettuce is getting moldy. . . . Oh yes. This week's winner? Mrs. Wesley Boller.

Silhouettes of Dumonds Will Be Centennial's Official Insignia

An appropriate centennial year gift was received recently by the city library in the form of a pair of silhouettes depicting Mr. and Mrs. Archer Dumond, two of Belmond's most prominent, early settlers. The pictures, handsomely framed, were the work of L. T. "Bud" Trafford and were presented to the library by the Progress club.

Mr. Trafford created the silhouettes from pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Dumond that appeared in the issue of The Independent that on Oct. 22, 1931, commemorated the 75th anniversary of the official platting of Belmond.

Archer Dumond was, with James M. Elder and William E. Rogers, esponsible for the plat being drawn and filed. The filing date was Oct. 20, 1856. At the time, only two other communities in the county had been platted, neither of which exist today.

Liberty, platted Aug. 13, 1855, was absorbed by Goldfield—which didn't come into being until Feb. 5, 1858. On June 18, 1855, an "Ostego" was platted in what is now Eagle Grove township, but it never materialized as a community.

The village of Belmond, as originally platted, lay entirely on the west side of the Iowa river, where in 1857 Mr. Dumont built the brick house that still stands today north of west Main street and is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Moe.

As reported in a story in this issue on development of plans for the Belmond centennial, the silhouettes of the Dumonds are being made official insignia of the centennial and will be featured on the official badge.

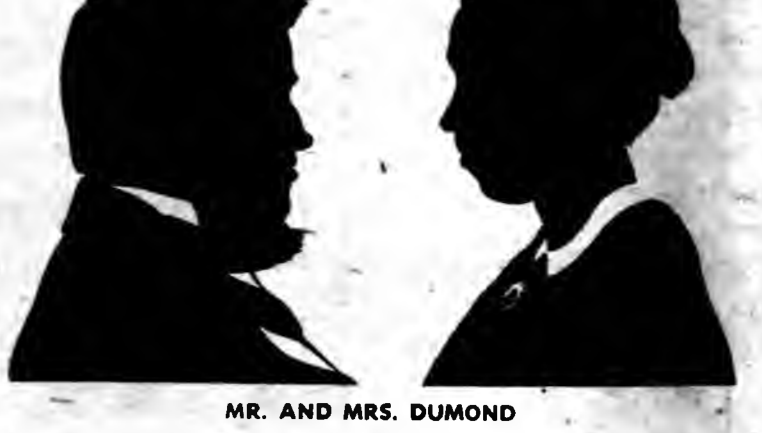
This decision was regarded by the centennial committee as appropriate, in view of the fact that the Dumond family was responsible for this community being the one and only "Belmond" in the United States

As the story was told in the 75th anniversary edition of The Independent by a daughter of the Archer Dumonds, Gittie Dumond Finch, her father wished to name the new village "Crown Point," after his family's native home in Indiana. Mr. Elder and other of his fellow settlers insisted, though, that the community be named in honor of Mr. Dumond.

Because of the prior platting and naming of Dumont in nearby Butler county, it was feared that the similarity of Dumond would be confusing and it is believed that the post office department discouraged use of the family name.

Mrs. Finch told that "Belmond" was a compromise that in effect honored both her father and her eldest sister, Emily Dumond. A lovely girl, Miss Emily was regarded quite the "belle of the village," and a happy combination of the term "belle" and the young lady's surname produced the name of the newly established town.

It is a story that has been often told, and in several versions, but the recollection of Mrs. Finch seems to have claim to a degree of authenticity that can hardly be questioned.



MR. AND MRS. DUMOND

Don Bunnell New Head of Chamber of Commerce

Don Bunnell was elected president of the Belmond Chamber of Commerce as that group organized for the 1956-57 fiscal year at a meeting held Thursday of last week at Jones cafe. The president, and all other officers, are elected by the board of directors from its membership. Mr. Bunnell succeeds Len Collier, who will serve as vice president during the coming year.

Henry Stokke was appointed by President Bunnell to continue as chairman of the Civic Bureau and Lloyd Lewis was named to succeed Chet Hiddleston as chairman of the Retail Bureau. Luin Cox was reappointed as secretary.

Three New Directors

Three new members were elected to the board: Harold Johnson, Lloyd Lewis and Maynard Johnston. The retiring directors were Don Nolan, Ed Gabrielson and Kenny Kinseth. Continuing as directors are Henry Wynia and Dr. R. E. Misner.

Mr. Collier, in reviewing the past year's achievements, praised the directors and the C-of-C membership in general for the many accomplishments of the past 12 months. He pointed out that division of the Chamber into two bureaus, which was done under the preceding president, Chet Hiddleston, has worked out excellently and done much to revitalize the organization.

An increase in the dues schedule has also broadened the effectiveness and influence of the Chamber, Mr. Collier said. This has brought the group's annual working fund up to about $2,700, more than a thousand in excess of what the dues formerly brought in. He added that the Chamber is in a sound financial state.

The retiring president took particular note of two of the projects of the Civic Bureau — promoting the establishment of a city zoning and planning commission and inquiry into the possibility of getting a new post office for Belmond. Under the chairmanship of Clair Hugh, very concrete progress has been made toward a municipal zoning and planning set-up, Mr. Collier observed.

Post Office Project Reviewed

Mr. Bunnell headed the post office committee and has also reported progress. Two officials of the postal department were recently in town to study the situation. They reported that there is no prospect of Belmond obtaining a new post office under a lease-purchase arrangement. However, if a new building should be erected with private capital, they said that the department would definitely be interested in leasing it for post office use under attractive terms.

It was also mentioned by Mr. Collier that prospects seem good for Belmond's having a driver's license examiner here on a once-a-month basis starting in June, due to Chamber efforts.

Black Calf Can Be Unlucky, Too, Drivers Discover

A couple of motorists last Friday discovered that a black calf crossing your path can be just as unlucky as a black cat. The delinquent juvenile cow was responsible for $450 damage to the new Chevrolet sedan of Paul Severson, 28, Minneapolis, and nearly scared the daylights out of Marilyn Shinn, 21, of Albert City.

Both were driving cars south on No. 69 about 9:25 p. m., south of Belmond, when the meandering bovine undertook to cross the paving. Miss Shinn's auto sidewiped the critter, suffering only a slight dent in the front, left fender.

The calf was apparently spun around directly into the path of Severson's car with the result that the front end of the vehicle was badly smashed and the animal was rendered completely hors de combat (that means, in this case, ready for the rendering works).

KORTHKAMP HOFFMAN HAMMER

Three More Teachers Sign Contracts As Faculty Members for Year '56-57

Engagement of three more faculty members has been announced by the Belmond school board, including a teacher of vocal music for the high school who has gained an extraordinary reputation in his field. He is Ivan Korthkamp, formerly of Decorah. Supt. Don Faris says that Mr. Korthkamp will also do some teaching of English.

The other newcomers are Mrs. Gertrude Hoffman, who comes from Lamoni and will also teach English as well as serving as instructor in speech and dramatics; and Janet Ann Hammer of Bode, who will have her first teaching assignment here after completing two years of pre-professional training at Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls. She will teach in first grade.

Recognized Authority

Mr. Korthkamp is a recognized authority on choral singing, has done considerable writing on the subject, is the composer of five choral works, has been widely engaged as judge for vocal music festivals and contests and has both lectured at and directed clinic courses on choral singing. He has taught in high schools varying in enrollment from 100 to 2,300. His extensive experience has led him to prefer a school of approximately Belmond's size and he says he also has a preference for living in a small community.

A graduate of Augustana college, Rock Island, Ill., and holder of a Master's degree in music from Illinois Wesleyan, Bloomington, Mr. Korthkamp after completing his college education taught first at Fairbury, Ill., and then at Decatur, Ill.

Taught Under Engelbrecht

He then went to Nevada, Ia., for six years, where his superintendent was Herb Engelbrecht, former Belmond school administrator. The Nevada school choir gained an unusual reputation under his leadership that brought it an opportunity to make a coast-to-coast broadcast over the NBC network.

After three years at Decorah High school, 1952-55, he left the school teaching field last June and spent the past year as a music store employee, choir director and in giving private lessons. He is perhaps best known in his field as the author of an extensively used handbook, "100 Things a Choir Member Should Know," which is now in its

RICHARD TROUT
Will Practice Law Here

Young Attorney Joins Henderson

Richard "Dick" Trout of Eagle Grove this week became associated with Roy Henderson in conduct of the latter's law business. Mr. Trout was graduated from Drake university with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1951 and two years later was awarded an L.L.B. by the Des Moines school.

For the past two years Mr. Trout has been employed by the Farm Bureau's Iowa Farm Mutual Insurance company as a claims adjuster. He plans to move with his family to Belmond in the not too distant future. He and Mrs. Trout have two children — a son Craig, age seven and daughter Lynn, who is four.

Originally a member of the Eagle Grove High School class of 1944, the young attorney quit school after the first semester of his senior year to enlist in the Navy. He saw World War II duty in the Pacific as a Radioman Second Class attached to the staff of an amphibious flotilla. His outfit participated in the invasions of Saipan, Tinian, Okinawa and Ie Shima. He was discharged in October of 1946 and returning to school early in '47, got his high school diploma the following June.

City Gets Thanks From Sewage Men

Mayor Henry Hokel received this week from Regional Engineer X.P. Boyles of the Iowa Department of Health enthusiastic thanks for the courtesy extended on Wednesday of last week to the Sewage Plant Operators conference held here.

Fifty-one representatives from 26 north Iowa towns were in attendance at the conference. Belmond's new disposal plant played the "star role" at the meeting.

Wrote Mr. Boyles, "We would like to express our appreciation to you for the very pleasant and effective arrangements carried out by the local municipal personnel; also to L. W. Murray and Bob Rosene of Rowat-Murry, Engineers."

There was a specific expression of thanks to Mayor Hokel for his welcoming address and participation throughout the entire meeting.

Dates for Pageant Set—August 10-11 Will Select Queen

Very concrete progress on plans for Belmond's centennial celebration has been made in the past couple of weeks, according to Co-Chairmen Ron Courson, Pat Gallagher and Chet Hiddleston. Steps taken by the general committee have included filing of corporation papers to form Belmond Centennial, Inc., which will be the administrative body in charge of planning and financing the Aug. 9-12 celebration. Mr. Gallagher has been made president of the incorporated group.

He announces that a tentative program for the four-day centennial observance has been drafted, including attractions that should make it a highly memorable event for all who participate in it. Since the program is still subject to change, it will not be released until next month; but four interesting and fun-packed days appear in certain prospect.

Queen Contest Planned

Preliminary plans for a lately added attraction were divulged by Mr. Gallagher, which will provide Belmond with a Centennial Queen to reign over the festivities. Her selection will be tied in with the sale of an official centennial badge, which is being created by L. T. "Bud" Trafford. This badge will feature twin silhouettes of two of Belmond's founders, Mr. and Mrs. Archer Dumond, from whose surname the town's name was adapted.

A reproduction of these silhouettes and a story about them will be found elsewhere in this issue. On the badge, Mrs. Dumond's portrait will be overlaid on that of Mr. Dumond to produce a double-cameo effect. Antique printing will proclaim the badge's purpose of marking the "Belmond Centennial, 1856-1956" and give the dates of the celebration. The twin silhouettes will comprise the centennial's official insignia and will be available for use on souvenir merchandise items.

Badges Good for Votes

Elaborating on the above-mentioned Centennial Queen contest, Mr. Gallagher stated that some 10 or a dozen local organizations will be invited to sponsor queen candidates. Entry fee will be $10. Before the centennial badges are put on general sale, these girls will have exclusive right to sell them for a period of two weeks. Each badge sold, at the price of one dollar, will entitle a candidate to one vote in the contest.

In addition, the purchaser will have the privilege of casting one ballot for the candidate of his or her choice at a voting booth that will be set up in the business district. An indelible mark will be made on the back of a badge, once it has been used for voting purposes, so multiple votes on a single badge will not be possible. Full details regarding the Centennial Queen contest, and names of the candidates, will be released in the near future.

Souvenirs Require "OK"

Mr. Hiddleston reports that permission must be obtained from Belmond Centennial, Inc., by any merchant planning to sell centennial merchandise of any nature. The seller must agree to remit to the centennial committee 10 per cent of the gross receipts from the sale of such items up to and through the time of the celebration. This franchise commission, like the proceeds from the centennial badges, will be placed in the centennial general fund to finance the celebration program. Agreement forms are obtainable from Mr. Hiddleston by any business places wishing to sell centennial merchandise.

Len Collier, retiring president of the Chamber of Commerce, informed the centennial committee last week that members of that organization have paid or pledged a total of more than $1,400 to make up a working capital fund that is

Takes Another Step Up

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hanson have received word from their son Daryl of his acceptance of a new position that represents a fine advancement in his chosen field, instruction in music. Next fall he goes to State University Teachers college, Geneseo, N. Y., on a three-year contract as assistant professor of music. The college is a branch of New York university.

At the New York school, Daryl will be band director, teach theory and music appreciation. He has also been engaged to serve as organist and choir director of the Geneseo Presbyterian church.

Daryl has made rapid progress as a teacher of music since serving as instrumental instructor at Clarion High school five years ago. After three years at Clarion he went to Superior (Wis.) State Teachers college for a year and this past year has been on the music faculty of Upper Iowa university, Fayette.

Besides the advancement that the new position offered, it was attractive to Mr. Hanson due to Geneseo's close proximity (30 miles) to Rochester, N. Y., home of the famous Eastman School of Music. He plans to avail himself of the Eastman school's closeness by starting graduate work there this summer on his Ph. D. degree. He hopes he can obtain his doctorate with four summers of study.

He, Mrs. Hanson and their son and daughter, ages five and three, will move to Geneseo about June 15.

'55 Sales of Autos In Wright County Over $2.5 Million

When figures were published last week in The Independent on the volume of taxable retail trade done in Belmond in 1955, the amount of money paid for new cars was not included. This tax of two per cent is remitted to the county treasurer and sent by him to the state tax commission; and a break-down by communities is not easily obtainable.

However, the quarterly reports of the tax commission does include tax revenue on new car sales by counties and The Independent has developed from these items some comparisons on motor vehicle sales in Wright, Franklin and Hancock counties for last year and the year before.

Sales Over $2½ Million

Wright outstripped both neighboring counties in both number of vehicles sold and gross amount of sales in both years, but showed an 8.4 per cent decline in sales last year as compared to 1954. Sales totaled 954 units in '55 and 1,103 the year prior, a drop of 149. While there was also a decrease in sales gross, it was not so great as that in number of units because higher prices were paid. The 1954 gross was $2,789,650, figuring an average price of $2.537. An average of $150 more per car (or other vehicle) was paid last year, so the volume drop was only $235,160 — to $2,563.490.

Franklin Gross Increased

Franklin car and truck buyers apparently purchased more heavily in the higher priced fields in 1955, as the average there per unit went up from $2,416 to $2,740 — a jump of $326. As a consequence, gross sales in '55 were $126,650 greater — rising from 1954's $2,188,850 to $2,315,500 — although only 845 units were sold last year compared to 906 in 1954.

Buyers in Hancock county trailed both Wright and Franklin in number of motor vehicles sold and in average price, both in 1954 and last year. Hancock's sales gross last year was $1,654,450, off $155,950 from the year before. And the number of unit sales decreased by 97, from 783 to 686. Hancock countians spent an average of exactly $100 per unit more in 1955 than in '54, the average prices being $2,412, up from $2,312.

DONOVAN D. McCLURE MARRIED ON APRIL 29 TO GERALDINE JENISON

Geraldine Jenison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vere E. Jenison, became the bride of Donovan D. McClure, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McClure, Sunday evening, April 29, at 8:00 o'clock at the Methodist church in a candle-light ceremony. Rev. M. L. Jones read the wedding vows before an altar decorated with pink and white snapdragons.

Mrs. Paul Jenison played the nuptial music and accompanied Bill Murray as he sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a simple, white, faille dress with scoop neckline, three-quarter-length sleeves and a princess style waist. She carried a white Bible having streamers of baby pink roses.

Mrs. Charles C. Caponi of Mason City, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a cocktail-length dress of navy faille and carried a bouquet of baby pink roses an white carnations.

Robert McClure, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Jerry Murphy, Greydon Jenison, brother of the bride, and Gerald De Lano of Coulter, brother-in-law of the bride. Oscar Jenison and Roland Jenison, brother and cousin of the bride, were candle-lighters. The men wore white carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride was attired in a grey suit with white accessories and the groom's mother in a copper-hued jacket dress with brown accessories. They wore pink rose corsages. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Anna Jenison, wore a navy suit with white accessories and a white rose corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. Mrs. Duane Jenison, aunt of the bride, cut the four-tiered wedding cake and the bride's grandmother poured.

The bride graduated with the class of '55 from Belmond High school and has been employed by Bell Telephone company at Mason City.

The groom is a graduate of Belmond High school with the class of '49, served with the US Army for two years, 18 months of the time in Germany, and is now farming with his father.

being made available to Belmond Centennial, Inc. This money will enable the centennial organizers to keep up to date on financial obligations pending such time as revenue is forthcoming from sale of badges and other fund-raising projects.

Pageant Producer Coming

Richard Dunn, representative of Hal Garven Productions, Minneapolis, will be in Belmond next Monday to work out with the centennial committee preliminary plans for the pageant that is to be a highlight of the celebration. The historical production will be presented on the nights of Aug. 10-11, Friday and Saturday, and arrangements are being made to supply seating for 1,500 spectators. Mr. Garven says that his pageants, based wholly on local history, have been resoundingly successful in other communities where they have been produced, and he confidently expects the Belmond pageant to enjoy similar success.

A week-to-week account of centennial developments will appear in The Independent fom now until time of the celebration. During the month or six weeks immediately preceding the celebration, a Centennial Headquarters is to be established at a downtown location to serve as a clearing house for plans and an information center. Until that time, inquiries can be directed to any of the three cochairmen of the general committee.

Mrs. Hoffman Has M. A.

Mr. Faris reports that Mrs. Hoffman, who is a widow, also comes to Belmond with exceptionally fine references. A graduate of old Des Moines university and holder of a Master's degree in education from Drake, received in 1954, she entered the teaching profession as a rural school teacher in 1924.

She did not teach from 1932 to 1942 but resumed her profession in the latter year after death of her husband. Among schools in which she had taught are those at Gladbrook, Prairie City, Oakland and Lamoni, having been at the latter place the past eight years. She brings with her recommendations as an extraordinarily fine teacher.

Safety Citation To Bob Blecker

Sheriff Bob Blecker, as safety coordinator for Wright county, recently received a citation from State Safety Commisioner Clinton H. Moyer for outstanding performance of duty. The award, one of only two that went to Iowa sheriffs, was based on the county's participation in Safe-Driving Day activities last December.

The citation read: "The President's Committee for Traffic Safety Certificate of Service, to Robert L. Blecker in recognition of community service in furthering the cause of safety on the streets and highways, especially during the 1955 S-D Safe Driving Campaign."

Frank B. Ulish, field director for the Division of Safety Education, Department of Public Safety, made the presentation to Sheriff Blecker. He was lavish in praise of the Wright county official's cooperation and untiring efforts in behalf of highway safety in the area under his jurisdiction.

One In Hospital One "In Dutch;" Result of Crash

One man ended up in Belmond Community hospital and another in the court of Mayor Henry Hokel last Saturday as results of an accident several miles south of Belmond on Highway 69 last Saturday about 8:45 a. m.

Dafica Prati, 40, of Nevada, who was a passenger in a car driven by Deno Cerretti, 23, also of Nevada, was hospitalized with scalph lacerations, fractured ribs and numerous cuts and bruises. At mid-week he was still a patient.

Cerretti was hailed before Mayor Hokel by Patrolman Al Sparby on a charge of failing to have his car under control. He was assessed a fine of $8.00 and costs.

Patrolman Sparby informed Mayor Hokel that Cerretti must have been traveling south at somewhat more than judicious speed toward a scene of highway-widening activity when he was given a stop warning by a flagman. Water to cool cement saws that are being used to remove the old highway shoulders lay on the paving at that point and Cerretti blamed the resulting slippery surface for putting his car into a spin as he applied the brakes.

His '51 Packard described a 180-degree turn on the paving and skidding backward, heavily sideswiped an approaching truck owned by Hallett Construction company and driven by William Kee of Clarion. Damage to the truck was estimated by Patrolman Sparby at $300 and he regarded the Packard as wrecked beyond repair.

Mr. and Mrs. George Elder were weekend guests in the home of their daughter and family, the Dick De Vries.

Final Rites Held For Mabel Probst

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Congregational church for Mrs. Mabel Probst, 69, who died suddenly Saturday morning of a heart attack at the home of her daughter, Sarah Probst. Rev. William Schorman officiated over the rites and Johnston Funeral Home was in charge. Burial was in the cemetery at Galt.

Pallbearers were Arnold Mennenga, Peter Bohning, Henry Larsen, Lloyd Lewis, Emory Thompson and Charles Norris.

Lucy Mabel Sisson was born at Shellsburg on Feb. 5, 1877, daughter of Charles and Katherine Sisson. At the age of 18 she moved to Wright county, living first south of Clarion and later assisting her brother George in operation of a hotel at Galt.

She was married on Nov. 24, 1908, to John Probst of Galt. Following his death on Nov. 17, 1926, she moved to Belmond and had made her home here since that time. Mrs. Probst was a member of the Galt Congregational church, transferring her membership to the church of the same demonination here on moving to Belmond. She was a faithful member of the church's adult Bible class and Women's Fellowship. She was also a member of the Rebekah lodge.

Surviving are the three children born to her and Mr. Probst and a step-daughter: Sarah Probst of Belmond, Mrs. Robert (Grace) Lobdell of Ottumwa and Charles of Radmor, Pa.; and Mrs. Norris (Genevieve) Odland of Clarion. She also leaves 15 grandchildren and five great grandchildren; and two brothers, George Sisson of Pine Bluff, Wyo., and Ray of Springfield, Mo.

Once Again Time For Swim Sign-up

Mrs. L. M. Helland, who again this year is in charge of the Red Cross swimming program, asks that all children planning to enroll for the swimming classes at Clarion should register with her within the coming week. Mrs. Gunnar Kling will assist Mrs. Helland in supervising the program, but registrations should be made with the latter.

The program will be open to youngsters of seven through 14 years of age. In other years, children beyond the age 14 have been accepted but Mrs. Helland says that some retrenchment has been necessary this year due to dwindling fund in the Red Cross treasury.

While Belmond proper has continued to meet its share of the annual quota, donations from the rural part of the chapter area have been short the past two years and some resulting shortages have had to be made up out of local chapter funds, Mrs. Helland explained.

As in the past, only $2.50 of the cost of using the Clarion pool will have to be met by a child enrolling for the classes. Tickets for those under 12 cost the Red Cross $4.50 and for those over that age, $5.00. Besides making up the difference in ticket prices, the Red Cross also meets the full transportation cost.

Once again, the Belmond group will swim in the pool on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Mrs. Helland has not yet been informed as to when the swimming classes will start. As usual, though, it will not be until after vacation Bible schools have come to a close.

State Patrolman Will Locate Here

Belmond will soon be the headquarters of a highway patrolman, it was announced last weekend by David Herick, patrol chief. Jerry J. Kramer of Arnolds Park, one of 23 new appointees to the patrol named last week to bring it up to full strength of 221 men, has been assigned to Belmond.

Wright county has been short of its normal compliment of two patrolmen since Harland Sievers was transferred to another district last year. Mr. Kramer will work in this county with Patrolman Al Sparby of Clarion. When Sievers was still in this district, he also made his home at the county seat.

Mr. Kramer is married but has no children. He has purchased the home at 716 Fifth street NE that formerly belonged to Oscar Lunstrum. He was scheduled to begin his patrol duties Wednesday.

TOT'S NAME OMITTED

Attention has been called to the omission of the name of another tot who will be attending kindergarten in the Belmond Community schools next fall. That of Linda Kay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Helmar Svendsen of Kanawha, was apparently overlooked. Addition of her name brings the enrollment up to 91.

Close to 40 Per Cent of Seniors Make Honor Roll

One of the highlights of the Senior Class Night program held Monday at the high school auditorium was announcement of the honor roll students of the Class of '56 by Principal Clair Hugh. Twenty-one of the 54 graduating seniors earned the grade point average of 2.8 required for listing on the honor roll, one of the highest percentages — over 39 per cent of the entire class—in a number of years.

Heading the list of honor students were the class valedictorian and salutatorian, Connie Hill and Corrine Davenport, respectively. Although boys outnumbered girls in the senior class, 29 to 25, the girls predominated the honor roll with 15 (an even 60 per cent) winning scholarship recognition.

The six boys who led their 23 fellow classmates in the grade derby were Arlyn Frohling, Gary Gabrielson, Bradley Hammond, Charles Johnson, Tim Trees and Larry Wolters. Girls, besides the two top scholars, on the honor list were: Mary Jo Benson, Marlene Bunjer, Darlene Busick, Beverly DeMerritt, Sandra Didio, Loretta Fuller, Marcia Henn, Elna Jenison, Maryellen Johnson, Monica Jones, Neva Kyser, Mary Luick and Sharon Thompsen.

As previously announced, their high scholastic rank has won college scholarships for four members of the honor roll, which will pay part of their enrollment expenses for the coming year. They are: Connie Hill, Luther college; Loretta Fuller, Iowa State Teachers; Arlyn Frohling and Bradley Hammond, Iowa State college.

Mr. and Mrs. Harland Eide and children of Adel were weekend visitors in the parental Guy Withers home. They all were Mother's Day dinner guests in the Melvin Swenson home.

Plans for Annual Election Prepared By Officials of Wright County ASC

Plans for holding the annual ASC convention in July were announced this week by the Wright county ASC committee. In the elections, an ASC community committee consisting of a chairman, vice chairman and regular member will be named in every township. In addition, first and second alternate members will be elected in each township.

At the county convention, a county ASC committee will be elected, consisting of a chairman, vice chairman and regular member, as well as 1st and 2nd alternate. The county and community committees administer the federal government's price support, production adjustment and cost-sharing conservation programs on the local level.

Election by Mail

The township elections will be conducted by mail, the same as in recent years, with the county ASC office sending a secret ballot and a return envelope to every eligible voter on its records. The period for voting will be from July 5 through July 13. The county convention will be held on July 28 in the ASC office at Clarion.

The one-year terms of all committeemen will begin on Aug. 1. However, newly elected chairmen and vice chairmen of the community committees will serve as delegates and alternate delegates to the county convention.

Dates and procedure for the annual elections and conventions will be the same in all counties of the state. The general rules on eligibility to vote and hold office will be the same as last year. There are no restrictions on the number of terms which may be served by an eligible person.

Bowman, Locke Supervise

Supervision and direction of the elections will be the duty of a county election board composed of officially designated persons outside the ASC organization. Under this plan, Aaron Bowman, county extension director, will serve as chairman. Other election board members are Robert Locke, local head of the Soil Conservation Service, and Harry Ladman, Farmers Home Administration supervisor for this county.

Formally organized county units of national farm organizations may each have a representative on the election board. In Iowa, such organizations are the Farm Bureau and the Grange.

The first work of the county election board will be the appointment of a community election board in each township, composed of three farmers who are not incumbent ASC officers. It will be the duty of each community election board to nominate at least 10 candidates for the community committeemen.

Filing Deadline June 22

However, additional candidates may be nominated and added to the list to be printed on the ballots upon petition of 10 or more farmers. As in past ASC elections, voters will be permitted to write in names of candidates.

Formal nomination of candidates for community committeemen will close on June 22. The ballots will be mailed out by July 3.

Any farm owner, operator or tenant may vote in the ASC township elections if he is now participating in any of the agency's programs or if he is or will be eligible to participate in the price support program.

May 31 Deadline On Support Loans

Farmers have only until May 31 — the remainder of this month — to obtain loans and purchase agreements on 1955-crop corn eligible for price support, it was pointed out this week by the Wright county ASC committee.

May 31 is also the date on which all outstanding price support loans and purchase agreements on soybeans mature. It is generally believed there will be a rush of repayments of soybean loans since the market price has been running above the support rate. Of the 186,867 bushels placed under loans in this county, 120,817 bushels were redeemed by April 15th, according to county ASC office records.

The committee stated that due to the currently stronger market prices, considerable demand for price support on 1955 corn is expected in the closing weeks of the application period for that grain. If the pattern of past years is repeated, the final weeks of the period will bring a big increase in purchase agreements.

As of April 15th, there were 2,299,771 bushels of 1955 corn under loan and 123,813 bushels under purchase agreements in Wright county. A year ago, there were 1,902,263 bushels of 1954 corn under original loans and 128,778 bushels under purchase agreements.

Only corn raised in 1955 in compliance with acreage allotments is eligible for price support in the current program.

Institute of Rural Medicine Seeking Problem Answers

IOWA CITY (Special) — Questionnaires concerning their health and experience with farm accidents were to be received by 7,000 Iowa farmers — including a number in Wright county — early in May for a study to be conducted by the State University of Iowa's Institute of Agricultural Medicine.

Professor Clyde M. Berry, associate director of the Institute says the purpose of the questionnaire is to determine where the greatest need for attention lies in the Iowa rural health picture.

"We want to concentrate our first efforts on the most pressing problems," he said, "and the answers we get to this survey will serve as our initial guide."

Institute First of Kind

The first of its kind in the nation, the SUI Institute of Agricultural Medicine was established last fall to conduct medical and social research on diseases and accidents to which farm families are especially susceptible. The institute was set up with a $109,000 grant from the Kellogg Foundation.

Questions to be asked those families receiving the questionnaire will be designed to ascertain what illnesses and what type of accidents have been most widely prevalent on Iowa farms in the past 12 months. This information will be supplemented with data the Institute hopes to secure from Iowa doctors along the same line.

Close cooperation has been received by the Institute in planning its research into Iowa rural health from the Iowa State Medical Society's sub-committee on rural health, which is headed by Dr. S. P. Leinbach of Belmond.

Prompt Replies Urged

Dr. Franklin H. Top, professor and head of hygiene and preventive medicine at SUI and director of the Institute, says research findings and recommendations of the Institute staff will be made available to physicians throughout Iowa for application in their treatment and counselling of rural patients.

Prompt and complete reply to the questionnaires by the farm families that receive them will be an invaluable aid to the Institute, Dr. Top adds. In turn, he believes that the information may well enable the Institute to evolve preventive measures that will be important health safeguards to protect families engaged in modern-day farming.

SIXTEEN PAGES THIS ISSUE

VOL. 36 NO. 32 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, MAY 17, 1956 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

AN EDITORIAL . . .

IT AIN'T NECESSARILY SO!

By the time this issue of The Independent has been published, the members of BHS Class of '56 have probably been sermonized at enough that they think the stock of advice they've received should last them well into middle age. But it's become a custom for us to direct a few words of dubious wisdom to each graduating class, and the Fifty-Sixers are going to have to take their medicine, just like the others.

We might take as the topic of our remarks, "It Ain't necessarily So!" And what we've got in mind is the innumerable times in the years to come that you're going to be soberly informed, "It just can't be done;" or "Forget it. There's nothing can be done about it."

A lot of times it will be the truth. But just often enough to keep life interesting, the REAL truth of the matter will simply be, "Nobody HAS done it," or "No one's SUCCEEDED in doing anything about it."

It's surprising occasionally how persistence and belief in yourself (folks may sometimes call it just dumb stubbornness) WILL enable you to do things that "can't be done"—or to change things that "nothing can be done about."

There are few bigger kicks in life than pulling a "hat trick" of this sort. Whether it's a new way to do an old job, a pleasanter way of performing a disagreeable household chore or a civic achievement that had looked impossible just because nobody before had sufficiently WANTED to see it achieved—it's a wonderful thrill to prove the skeptics wrong.

Maybe right now it adds up that it's "impossible" for some of you to go to college, who ever so much want to do so; or it's "impossible" to get into a line of business or trade that you'd prefer—no "available' openings; or it's "impossible" to seek greener pastures, though the grass in the meadow you're browsing tastes like sawdust.

Well . . . there's no time like now to start testing life's "impossibles." Maybe you'll bark a shin on one that's stonily real. Then again, maybe you'll discover right off that "It ain't necessarily so!" There's fun—and a lot of satisfaction—in finding out for yourself.

BELIEVE $13.5 MILLION IN BONDS UNREDEEMED IN WRIGHT COUNTY

Iowans own series E and H United States savings bonds worth more than 1.3 billion dollars, and this great wealth is in the hands of individuals. Charles Kramer of Clarion, Wright county volunteer chairman of the savings bonds program, said Iowa's savings bonds holdings are based on reliable estimates made by the savings bonds office.

This month marks the 15th anniversary of series E savings bonds, and during the 15-year period citizens of Iowa have invested well over two billion dollars in E and H bonds, both of which can be owned by individuals only.

"Purchases of series E and H savings bonds in Wright county during the 15 years totalled $22,613,450. If residents of our county have held their bonds as well as the average bond owners throughout the state, the current cash value of them would be $13,533,000," Mr. Kramer said.

"Bankers and businessmen, as well as everyone in the community, should be encouraged by the knowledge that we have this tremendous secondary reserve. Savings bonds can be cashed easily when the owner wants his money, and most of those dollars will be spent locally. As they circulate through our trade channels, they will stimulate business, provide employment and benefit everyone."

Total E and H savings bonds purchases during the 15-year period, and estimated cash value of those not yet redeemed, are shown for other counties in this area: Hancock county, $14,873,093 sales, $8,899,000 retained; Franklin, $14,117,129 sales, 8,444,000 retained; Hamilton, $21,757,459 sales, $13,018,000 retained; Kossuth, $25,101,055 sales, $15,023,000 retained.

Class Night and 8th grade graduation will be held at the school gymnasium-auditorium at 8:00 p.m. Tuesday. At this time, awards will be presented for achievements in extra-curricular activties during the school year.

Twenty-three students comprise this year's 8th grade class. They are: Dennis Aldrich, Lynne Arends, Carla Benton, Janet Day, Diane Frohling, Bruce Gardiner, Catherine Hackbarth, Ronald Hackley, Lavonne Hansen, Carolyn Ihm, Elaine Lager, Violet Lockett, Robert Nielsen, Ronald Olson, Jerelyn Reese, Harold Sanders, Ted Smith, Donna Steffen, Phyllis Steffen, Carol Swanson, Betty Tudor and Cynthia Wolff.

Supt. H. L. Pesch announces that a special invitation to the general public is issued to attend the commencement exercises 8:15 p. m. on Wednesday of next week. He believes the speaker of the occasion, Hans Tofte of Mason City, will be found particularly interesting.

Tofte's Career Unusual

Mr Tofte, president and general manager of the Klipto Loose-Leaf company, is a native of Denmark but served in World War II as an officer in the U. S. Army Air Force with the paratroopers.

During the years 1930-40 he was employed in the Far East by the East Asiatic company. After learning the Chinese language he lived in Manchuria and traveled widely in Korea, Japan and elsewhere in the Orient.

Aftter his return to Europe he lived in Germany, Italy and Austria Subsequent to the start of World War II he was in Copenhagen when the Nazis invaded Denmark.

Knighted by Denmark

By the time he was honorably discharge by the American Army, he had earned the Legion of Merit for valor and the Distinguished Service citation. When back in Denmark he was knighted by King Frederik IX and at the time was the youngest Knight of the Order of Dannebrog.

Mr. Toft while in China had married a native Iowan, which in 1949 prompted him to come to this country and they settled in Mason City, where he purchased controlling interest in and took over management of the Klipto concern.

Weather permitting, the start of summer vacation will be marked on Saturday of next week with holding of a school-community picnic in the timber.

Ag. Honor Earned By Jerry Aldrich

Jerry Aldrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lee Aldrich, Jr., of Belmond rural route 1, was among 70 seniors who joined Iowa State college chapter of Gamma Sigma Delta, the honor society of agriculture, recently. Other initiates included 72 graduate students, 10 faculty members and five alumni.

Membership of seniors in the honor society is limited to those who will be ranking in the upper 15 per cent of students graduating in their particular agricultural fields.

In addition to Aldrich, Darwin Schroder of Clarion was the only other Wright county student initiated into Gamma Sigma Delta.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Spurling and Dennis of Iowa Falls were visitors a week ago Sunday in the Henry Hokel home.

"Class Day" Takes Place of Former 8th Grade "Graduation" Exercises

Eighth grade Class Day will be held next Tuesday at the high school auditorium, starting at 10:00 a. m., with seventh-graders this year sharing the spotlight with their schoolmates who next year will be entering high school.

Supt. Don Faris admits that the new style of program is a deliberate effort to de-emphasize the traditional eighth grade "commencement," since the occasion has lost much of its original significance in late years.

Significance Diminished

When the practice of holding eighth grade graduation exercises was established years ago, it marked a time when many rural students were about to enroll in the city schools for the first time. There were tests to determine if the country school pupils were adequately prepared to master studies on the high school level and, all in all, it added up to a "big event."

Now, Mr. Faris pointed out, there is actually little difference in importance between the advance from eighth to ninth grade and promotion from ninth to tenth. In fact, many school systems regard junior high school to include the freshman class — or ninth grade. So the school board, the superintendent added, felt the time has arrived to put the "graduation" from eighth grade into high school in proper perspective.

No More Rural Schools

There are, of course, no rural schools whatever in the Belmond Community School system, so the former transition from country to town school is completely a thing of the past in the new district. In Mr. Faris's opinion, there never was real justification for all the ceremony that accompanied the advancement of town pupils from eighth to ninth grade, but the attendant "commencement" program was more or less a concession to the town students as a counterpart of the more significant "graduation" exercises held by the rural schools.

A false importance had attached to the event in the city junior high, which called for expensive graduation gifts and new clothes that the circumstances did not justify. Hence, the move to make the ceremonies a general Class Day, says Mr. Faris, with less meaning than the old eighth grade "commencement" had attained.

Faris Will Speak

An informal talk by Supt. Faris will feature next Tuesday's program. Three selections will be presented by the junior high chorus, under the direction of Donna Doeringsfeld, and a short play will be given by members of the seventh grade class.

In the cast of "Getting Gertie Graduated" will be Marcia Stoltenberg, Dwight Mennenga, Ann Goeman, Janet Howell, Michael Taylor, Michael Hunst, Kathy Norris, Nadyne Johnson, Jerry Prohling, Paul Thompson, Robbie Courson, Diane Kessler, Nancy Gabrielson, Miran Kling, Ilene Morris and Jerry Jenson. Director is Beth Haberkamp, who is having Kenny Johnson assist her.

Eighth graders who earned Palmer certificates will receive them at the close of the program. But gone will be the certificates or "diplomas" that once marked eighth grade "graduation" . . . The old order changeth!

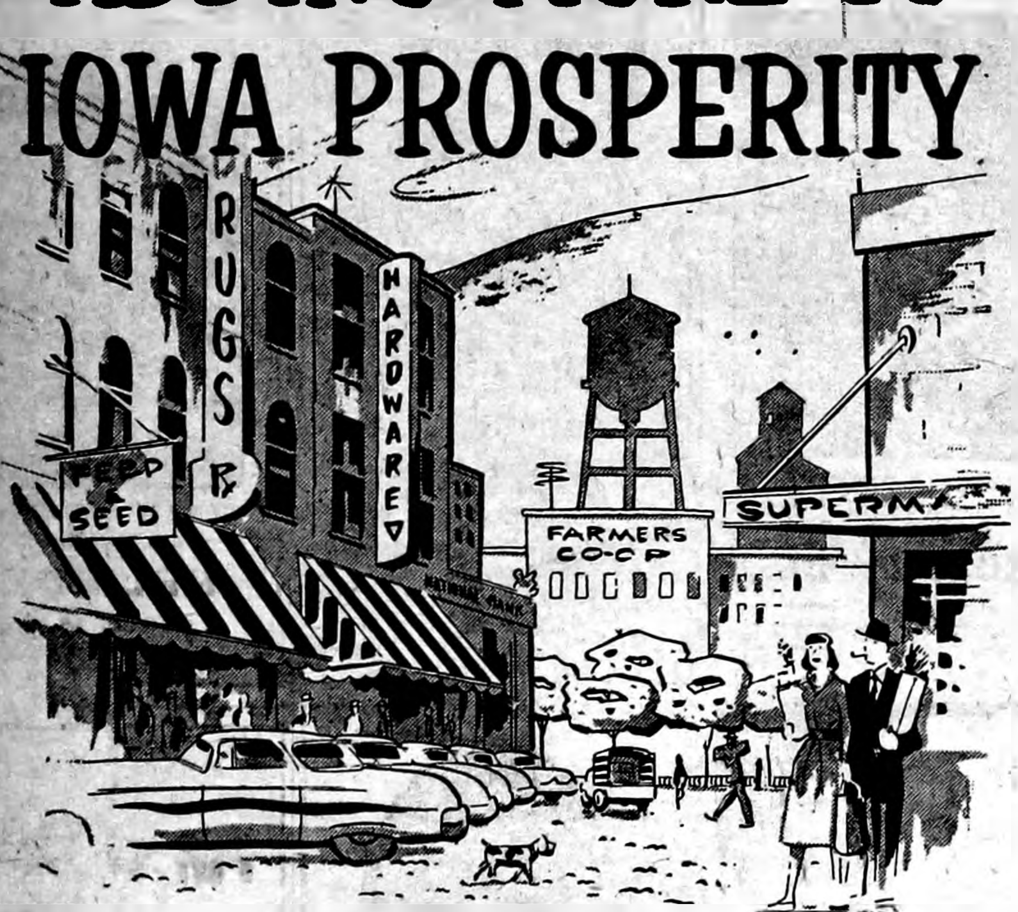
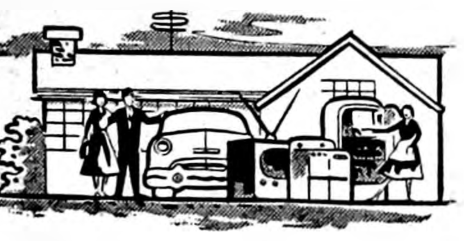
ADDING MORE TO IOWA PROSPERITY



To Iowa's ever-growing prosperity the brewing industry makes a steady and substantial contribution. For example, each year the industry spends more than $27,500,000 for miscellaneous business costs in this state, in addition to its huge Iowa payroll. These business costs range all the way from rent to insurance, from truck maintenance to advertising, from freight to electricity. And these expenditures are a steady source of expanding income to literally every section of our state.

Added Wealth for all Iowa



Yet, this is only one of the many ways in which the brewing industry adds to Iowa's income. For example, take the industry's $30,000,000 per year Iowa payroll, or the better than $62,000,000 it has invested in the state, or the more than $25,000,000 per year in taxes . . . plus the hundreds of thousands of dollars spent for farm products. Yes, in many, many ways . . .

18 Receive Track Monograms; Ten Letter in Baseball

Eighteen BHS athletes received track letters and 10 got baseball monograms at Monday evening's Class Night exercises. Five of the boys lettered in both sports. They were Tom Lowenberg, a senior; Jerry Chandler, Roland Jenison and Larry Schimp, juniors; and Tom McNulty, sophomore.

It was the third letter for Chandler in baseball, the first for McNulty and the second for each of the other three. Lowenberg had also lettered in track last season, but the other boys were lettering for the first time in that sport.

Roger "Joe" Smith and Dave Long, senior and junior respectively, each received a track letter for the third time. Second-time letter winners in track were: Alro Stoltenberg and Gary Meyer, seniors; Jim Fetrow and Jim Stadtlander, juniors; Ronnie Courson, DaDean Obrecht, Dean Pruisman and Bill Kaufman, sophomores.

Lettering for the first time in track, besides Chandler, Schimp, Jenison and McNulty, were: Doug Nodland and Bill Ayers, sophomores and Rich Kuhlers, senior.

Seniors Dale Caquelin and Arlyn Frohling and Juniors Bill Murray like Chandler were each awarded a third letter in baseball. Tom Lowenberg, Jenison and Schimp lettered for the second time. Winning baseball monograms for the first time were Gordon Sandman, a junior, Duane Lowenberg and McNulty, sophomores.

It might be noted that Tom Lowenberg won the distinction of lettering in all four fields of sport engaged in at BHS each year that he was enrolled at the local high school. Transferring to Belmond from Goodell as a junior, after the school reorganization, he lettered as a junior and senior in both football and basketball as well as track and baseball.

SPORTS

Plan for Archery Club Takes Shape

Coach Dick Hobbs reports that so much interest in archery has developed from introduction of that pastime as an activity in the high school's physical training program that plans are proceeding for the organization of an archery club. The club will be set up shortly after school lets out for summer vacation.

Rex Fetrow has agreed to provide an area on his farm, just east of the city cemetery, where a range can be established. Mr. Hobbs says it is the present plan to hold practice or shooting matches on the range each evening, after the club has been formed. Anyone interested in becoming a member of the archery club is asked to contact Mr. Hobbs.

Bronco Tracksters Pull Surprise; Win District Title

Belmond High school's up-and-coming track and field forces last Saturday afternoon added to the North Iowa conference championship won earlier in the season a surprising victory in the Class B district meet held at Charles City. With the field including the strong teams from Greene and Fayette that had outpointed the Broncos at the recent Mohawk Relays at Mason City, little hope had been held by Coach Dick Hobbs that his boys would be serious contenders for the district title.

When the final "tote" was made, though, Belmond was on top with 34 points followed by: Swea City 31, Britt 30½; Calmar 29½; Manly 29; Fayette and Greene 28 each; Nashua and Riceville 23 each, Rockford 18, Buffalo Center 15, and Kanawha 10. Actually, Belmond earned two more points than its total showed, too. Jim Fetrow won 4th in the 880, but in an identification mix-up went officially unplaced.

2-Mile Team Misses Out

Ironically, the Broncos showed up well in all of the relay events except the one in which they were regarded as the favorites—the two-mile. Due to a misunderstanding over the time schedule, the Purple and White entry wasn't on hand in time to compete in that event. Neither did Fetrow arrive in time to run in the mile; and he would very possibly have won the race, considering the winner's time.

But once the Broncs got into action, they did themselves proud and it was no fluke that they ran off with top honors. It was depth of material, rather than stand-out performances, that did the trick. Roger "Joe" Smith ran a fine 880 to take that event and Dean Pruisman tied for 1st in the pole vault. Other than that, Belmond's total was built up out of lower place points.

Five Entries to State

Besides Smith and Pruisman, three other Purple and White entries qualified to compete in the state meet at Ames next Saturday by taking 2nds. The mile medley team came through as expected; the 880 quartet surprised some of the competition, trailing only the strong Fayette foursome; and Bill Kaufman made his best leap of the year in the high jump (5-6¼) to share runner-up honors with Bob Everett of Britt and Backhaus of Manly.

Failure to get his team of half-milers into the two-mile event led Coach Hobbs to give Smith a chance in the open 880 and to substitute Arlo Stoltenberg as anchorman in the medley race. This worked out fine. Smith took the lead at the very outset of the half mile and held it throughout the race to win the very respectable time of 2:09.1. That was the third best time in state district (Class B) competition and stamps Joe as a likely point-getter in the state meet.

Courson Runs Fine 440

Ronnie Courson got the medley team off to an excellent start by running a speedy :54.5 quarter bring the baton in a strong second. DaDean Obrecht and Tom Lowenberg turned in fast 220's to keep the Broncs in the thick of the battle and Stoltenberg finished off with a good 880 to win the boys a ticket to Ames.

Smith anchored the 880 team nicely to cop 2nd after the preceding 220's had been run well by Lowenberg, Jerry Chandler and Courson. Both the mile and 440 relay teams grabbed off 3rd places. In the sprint event, Pruisman was unable to stay with Wygle of Greene and Tietjens of Manly after Obrecht, Lowenberg and Chandler had kept the Broncs in a challenging position through the first 330 yards. It was a tired foursome—Courson, Chandler, Stoltenberg and Lowenberg—who carried the mail in the mile event, but the third place they won was a real testimony to their courage.

Field Event Points Help

It was surprising strength in the field events that did as much as anything to give Belmond the meet title. In addition to Kaufman's and Pruisman's efforts, the following Broncos earned points to abet the runners' showings: discus—Rich Kuhlers 3rd, Gary Meyer 4th; shot put—Tom McNulty 4th; broad jump—Chandler 4th; and football throw—Larry Schimp 5th.

An additional point in individual track events was won by Doug Nodland with a 5th in the 440. This race was won by Dale Nielson of Britt, who also anchored the Eagles home first in the mile relay. Don Albers of Buffalo Center gave the NIC another state meet entry by winning the low hurdles. Larry Abbas accounted for all of Kanawha's points with first places in both the shot put and discus.

FREEDOM OF PRESS DOESN'T INCLUDE "PRIVILEGE" OF INVADING PRIVACY

We never thought we'd see the day when we'd side against a newspaper publisher in a matter that involved the principle of "freedom of the press." However, we feel that the Iowa supreme court last week gave the Sioux City Journal-Tribune all too much benefit of the doubt when it found in the newspaper's favor in a damage suit that theoretically involved that principle.

This suit was brought by the parents of a boy who had been mutilated and murdered. The Journal-Tribune published on its front page a picture of the ravaged body; and we consider the newspaper was clearly overstepping the bounds of propriety.

Freedom of the press was in no degree involved, we would say. If morbidly curious thrill-seekers had gathered around to glimpse the pitiful murder victim, we doubt not that the authorities in charge would have sent them packing in a hurry. The public possesses no inherent right to witness such sights. Contrary to the court decision, we believe that the parents' right of privacy WAS definitely violated when the newspaper showed the poor taste of spreading a picture of the boy on its front page.

When newspapers fail to exercise satisfactory self-censorship in such matters, we regard that they are asking for control from other quarters. We've never been able to see what honest, newsworthy purpose is served by printing gruesome photos of mentally unbalanced suicide victims after a fatal leap, or of innocent victims of highway tragedies in poses of tragic death. And the Journal-Tribune picture certainly fit into the same category.

The "obligation" of a newspaper to give "all the news" does not go this far. Certainly invasion of the privacy of death should not be indulged in without good cause. We'll concede that there might be occasion when it could be justified. But to our viewpoint, the Sioux City case did not represent a valid exception.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AND OFFICERS CONCLUDING HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Congratulations are order for the extraordinarily fine job that was done by the 1955-56 officers of the Belmond Chamber of Commerce—and the entire organization under their leadership. The scope of Chamber activities has been broadened greatly in the past couple of years. It no longer regards itself solely as a trade promotion group, but as a force that should lend its full influence to all projects for civic betterment. This new understanding of its responsibility has been instrumental in greatly expanding its potentialities.

Len Collier has been one of the finest C-of-C presidents the membership has had the privilege of working under. Henry Stokke and Chet Hiddleston did outstanding jobs as chairmen of the Civic and Retail Bureaus, respectively. And the importance of the work done by Clair Hugh and Don Bunnell and their city planning and post office committees can hardly be overestimated.

That Lloyd Lewis and his committee on trade pomotion, aided and abetted by alert and aggresive cooperation on the part of all members of the Retail Bureau, performed their assignments effectively is reflected in the steadily increasing trade volume that Belmond merchants enjoyed last year. That record-breaking gross of more than four million dollars in trade in 1955 was achieved in no small part by the coordinated effort of our merchants to serve their patrons better than ever before.

Belmond has never been a more dynamic community than it is today. Continued administration of Chamber of Commerce affairs on the same plane as maintained during the past year will do much to KEEP Belmond alive and growing.

DO "LEADERS" ACTUALLY SPEAK FOR VETS IN PURSUING PENSION GRABS?

It is a sad commentary that the men whose valor, ingenuity and initiative preserved this country's freedom in two great wars today represent one of the most serious threats to its continued stability. We refer to the veterans of both the World Wars and the constant campaign of their leaders for benefits and privileges that have no basis whatever in sound judgement and moral justification.

Since all three of The Independent's publishers are proud of having served their country in time of war, this comment cannot be regarded as founded on any lack of understanding of the "veteran's viewpoint." On the other hand, we're inclined to question if that viewpoint is HONESTLY reflected in a statement such as was published in the daily press last week, "The American Legion Wednesday called the report of President Eisenhower's commission on veterans' pensions 'practically an insult' to Congress."

This commission, headed by Gen. Omar Bradley, last month recommended INCREASED benefits for combat-disabled veterans, but lesser benefits for veterans who suffered no disability. Simultaneously, the Legion leaders appear to be launching an all-out drive to obtain greatly increased benefits for all World War I veterans in complete disregard of fiscal implications.

Offhand, the tack being taken by General Bradley's commission strikes us as having much more reason behind it than the Legion's. The latter assumes that the American virtues of providence and thrift have been so lacking in the World War I generation that the government must accept as inevitable that veterans of that war will, almost to a man, ultimately become charges of their "grateful nation." That, we declare, is pure twaddle.

Furthermore, we seriously question that veterans of either World War I or II, by and large, actually seek — or WANT — the largesse that their nominal leaders so single-mindedly pursue.

The something-for-nothing philosophy that is growing so alarmingly in this country HAS to be stopped somewhere. We can think of no group that should more fittingly take a step toward stemming the tide than the rank and file of the veterans' organizations, whose ability to look after themselves was so clearly demonstrated under circumstances much more devestating than day-to-day living in this nation of unlimited opportunity!

4 Musicians Get Names Inscribed On Honor Plaque

Four seniors received the highest honor to be won by a participant in musical activities at Belmond High school when it was announced at Monday evening's Class Night ceremonies that their names are being inscribed on the music department's honor plaque.

Roland Brom, instrumental music instructor, announced that the required total of 1,800 points was attained this year by the following four seniors: Joan Kriens, 2,175; Shirley Pals, 2,025; Bradley Hammond, 1,950; and Paul Nassen, 1,875. The points are accumulated throughout a musician's high school career in accord with a set system of credits.

Totals of 1,000 or more earned major music pins for the following: Gary Gabrielson, Marilyn Nelson, Sara Simerson, Judy Oberhauser and DaDean Obrecht.

Musicians who received, or had earlier qualified for minor pins with totals of 400 or more but less than a thousand points were: Ellen Ann Finn, Marjorie Johnson, Marilyn Steenhard, Donna Nolan, Sharon Eide, Janis Kalkwarf, Sondra Kamm, Tedmar Thompson, Richard Smith, Marjorie Gabrielson.

Also Terril Baker, Jo Ann McMannus, Douglas Nodland, Billy Halfwassen, Sharon Thompsen, Meredith Jenison, Wilma Pruisman, Eloise Kirkendall, Karen McMurray, Gloria Rogalla, Connie Gabrielson and Mary Ennen.

The instrumental music department had an especially successful record this year, Division I ratings having been earned in state competition by the concert band and by 11 soloists and small groups.

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Friends of Ron Courson were left curious by that picture that appeared in the society section of last Sunday's Des Moines Register showing Mrs. C., Mr. and Mrs. Clark McNeal and Dr. and Mrs. S. P. Leinbach arriving at KRNT theater for the opera performance. Husbands who feared they might be rung in on a similar deal sometime wanted to know how Ron managed to escape.

Fact of the matter is, he didn't. He was concealed in the car, and after parking same was obliged to join the party.

Even the feminine members of the group concede it was appropriate that the picture caption identified them as opera-goers rather than opera-lovers. Though the ladies professed to enjoy the performance greatly, the men were in pretty unanimous agreement that this opera business is for the birds. Anyway, it proved we got culture here in Belmond, by golly!

Mrs. Harold Johnson, Americanism chairman of the American Legion Auxiliary, says the American Legion and Auxiliary are conducting a nationwide campaign to inspire wider display of the flag on patriotic holidays.

The local unit hopes to see Belmond cooperate by having a flag waving in front of every home and business place on Memorial Day — and all similar holidays during the year.

The Belmond Jaycees still have some flags on hand, left over fom their sale of flags last year. Families not having a flag to display next Wednesday can correct that deficiency by contacting Duane Anderson at The Independent.

Mrs. Merle Bonte asks that all clubs and organizations in town submit to her about a 100-word review of their histories for inclusion in a historical booklet that is to be published in conjunction with the centennial. The Culture Study club is taking responsibility for preparation of the booklet. The copy should be turned in to Mrs. Al Mennenga. Mrs. Bonte realizes that some of the older organizations may have difficulty staying within the word limit; but they're asked to come as close to it as possible. The reviews should be prepared and submitted with the greatest possible speed, she adds.

Librarian Faye Colby informs us that children in grades three through six will have an opportunity to battle dragons, tour a magic forest and risk passage through a perilous swamp this summer—by taking part in the library's reading program.

There'll be fun for all who participate, she promises; and parents will find the program a big help in solving reading problems that may bother their children.

The library has a wonderfully fine stock of new books for children, which all the age groups eligible to take part in the summer program should find appealing. Mrs. Colby says that boys and girls should sign up for June 1, if they want to take part.

—M-S—

County Supt. Claude Sankey dropped us a note to say he appreciated the mention in last week's "Times Have Changed" column noting that he was first elected to his present position 20 years ago. We're happy to claim Claude as one of the brotherhood of Past Publishers of The Independent. In the course of centennial-time reminiscing, we plan to review the whole illustrious list. Some went on to fame considerably greater than the Mainstreeters have any delusions of attaining.

—M-S—

It might be noted that the restrictions on Salk polio vaccine have been eased so that "shots" can now be obtained by any applicants from age zero (well, nearly zero) to 20. Also, pregnant mothers are eligible. No third "shots" are being given. but persons of eligible age who have had none or only one should make inquiries of their family doctors if they'd like "the treatment."

The age limits WERE three through 12.

The Steele Memorial Clinic reports that it's supply may not prove sufficient to meet the complete demand, but there's some on hand—on a first-come, first-served basis. The polio authorities say shots should be obtained before July 1, as they deem it advisable to cease immunization during the hot months.

Last Friday brought to a close a slogan contest conducted among staff members of Belmond Community hospital, in which 20 entries were submitted. Mrs. Lois Milligan was awarded the first prize, a pen and pencil set.

Her slogan, "Your Home Away from Home," was judged as best of the lot by the members of the hospital board of trustees, R. W. Courson, Mrs. George Hansen and George Elder.

Four "gag" prizes were awarded also. Among them was a do-it-yourself kit for the manufacture of finger stalls, consisting of several discarded surgical gloves, each guaranteed to have at least three good fingers left in it.

WITH DOCTOR LEINBACH CAST IN THE STARRING ROLE—

National Medical Journal Tells Story of Belmond's Health Facilities

—REPORTS ON VAST STRIDES MADE IN RURAL MEDICINE

That's one of the new standards that rural medicine measures itself by today. Another requires that its clients shall enjoy medical services equal to those available anywhere—anywhere but at the hands of a metropolitan specialist or in noted clinics.

Few spots on the map better portray attainment of the new ideal than this community of 2,260 population. Here Dr. Samuel P. Leinbach is senior partner in a clinic that offers the skills of a highly competent surgeon, an experienced internist, a visiting radiologist, and another able practitioner besides "Doctor Sam."

Where is the horse-and-buggy doctor who not so long ago epitomized rural medicine? Truly, the day of that overworked, underpaid, selfless hero of fiction and fact is all but past. Hero he often was—but too frequently he was also a deeply frustrated man.

He was disheartened by the meager facilities at his disposal, the limitations of his equipment. He often longed for the opportunity to share responsibility for a diagnosis with a fellow physician or consign a case of unusual nature to one more fully trained to deal with its complexities.

From this feeling of frustration so commonly shared by rural doctors of a generation ago have evolved new goals in rural medicine that have been attained to remarkable degree in this typical corn-and-hog country community.

Patients drawn from an area extending into four counties stream through the clinic or come to Belmond's excellently equipped 26-bed hospital for medical or surgical treatment. Last year the hospital operated at 64 per cent of full capacity.

Converting distance into time, probably 90 per cent of the clinic doctors' clients must travel no more than 20 minutes to reach either clinic or hospital.

Yes, Belmond has become a rural medical center that would surpass the fondest dreams of the weary horse-and-buggy doctor. But it is Dr. Leinbach's honest belief that its counterpart will soon be found in a great many rural areas.

Setting Belmond most distinctly apart from localities still pursuing the ideal is the handsome $85,000 clinic where Doctor Sam and his partners conduct their practices. Their private staff of six includes a medical technician capable of conducting nearly the whole range of laboratory tests that are vital adjuncts of modern medicine — and provided with equipment to do so.

People of Belmond and the 8-to-10,000 population area that the clinic serves are keenly appreciative of the extraordinary medical services they enjoy. This was testified to by response to the fund campaign that preceded building of the hospital in 1951. Except for a $38,000 bond issue approved by the townspeople, the entire $250,000 construction cost was met by public subscription. Great pride is taken in the fact that not a cent of Federal aid was solicited.

Last year, 275 babies were delivered at Belmond community hospital. More significant, in view of the locale's rural character, an average of 120 major surgical procedures have been conducted annually in its air-conditioned operating room by the clinic's surgeon.

Farm hazards being what they are these days, reconstructive surgery has by necessity become a specialty of the rural surgeon. Corn pickers and grain combines can dreadfully maim a careless farmer in a trice. Especially hazardous are the rollers of the automatic corn picker that can strip a field of corn faster than a plague of locusts. Last year alone, 48 farm people were hospitalized at Belmond by mishaps involving machinery.

Loss of a member, multiple fractures, and extensive injury to soft tissue and tendons are the familiar toll of a moment's negligence around farm machines. The Belmond doctors are grateful they can report that every machine victim they administered to in 1955 was rehabilitated sufficiently to resume his normal occupation.

Dr. Leinbach regards it as lamentably tragic that virtually 100 per cent of these machinery accidents could easily be prevented. Fatigue, emotional stresses, and domestic distractions cause most of them. Research has suggested one simple antidote to diminish the toll — that familiar institution of of the metropolitan workaday world, the coffee break!

The rural practitioner contends with the full gamut of human ills that face G. P.'s everywhere. But a few flourish in abnormal degree. Allergies, for example, are the one most frequent cause of farmers' premature retirement. Dr. Leinbach suspects that for this reason the horse's surrender to the tractor was an unrecognized blessing.

But the dander of domestic animals still helps push incidence of allergy on the farm considerably above normal, and dermatitis produced by contact with chemicals now common to agriculture, with grains and vegetation, is an all too familiar complaint.

Oddly enough, while the farmer has been relentless in combating animal ailments that endanger his livestock, not infrequently by legislation, he has been much more tolerant of threats to his own health and that of his family. This ironic truth recently led to statewide circulation of a remark by Dr. Leinbach that "if hogs got hay fever, there'd be no more ragweed in Iowa."

As both a member of the Iowa State Board of Health and chairman of the Iowa State Medical Society's committee on rural health, Dr. Leinbach has been in an ideal position to help coordinate governmental and professional efforts toward raising rural health standards. A major objective has been to attract competent young physicians into the field of rural medicine.

THE STORY BEHIND THIS STORY

The accompanying article on Dr. S. P. Leinbach and the health center that he and his Steele Memorial Clinic partners have been instrumental in creating here at Belmond appeared in the May 23 issue of SCOPE Weekly, a national medical journal published by The Upjohn company. The pharmaceutical firm sends the magazine to all physicians in the country and it has a total circulation over more than 180,000 copies.

Elaborately illustrated with pictures, the story was captioned, "Rural Medical Care Today Is the City's Rival." Familiar faces appearing in the two page spread were those of Drs. Leinbach, Arlo Pitcher, G. J. Hruska, M. J. Colbert and Dean C. Cooper (visiting radiologist) of the clinic's medical staff, Medical Technician Helen McNulty and Laboratory Aide Ruth Kasper; also Farmers L. B. Oberhauser, Bill Sheriff, Sr., and Alvin Halfpap.

Scope Weekly commissioned Editor J. R. Gallagher of The Independent to write the article. Belmond had been cited to the publishers as possessing as nearly ideal a rural-health center as is to be found in the nation. Some of the photos were taken by Al Scarpini, a nationally known photographer who does work for Life and other prominent magazines; others by Dick Mueller of Clarion.

Rev. M. L. Jones Chosen to Deliver Traditional Address on Memorial Day

Annual Memorial Day ceremonies honoring Belmond's war dead will be under the direction of Pierce-Zeiger Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, of which Merle Bonte is commander, assisted by Eimbrink Post of the American Legion. The traditional rites will be held at Belmond cemetery next Wednesday at 10:00 a. m., with Rev. M. L. Jones of the Methodist chuch delivering the address.

As customary, the VFW-Legion color guard and firing squad will march from the Veterans' Memorial hall to the city cemetery via Main street. All former servicemen are asked by Commander Bonte to meet at the hall at 9:00 a. m. to form up and march with the parade.

Belmond Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls will march, also; and, as usual, local Gold Star Mothers will ride in the parade and be guests of honor at the ceremonies. Marching music will be provided by the BHS band, under leadership of Roland Brom, and the musicians will also play the national anthem at the cemetery. All parade units other that the servicemen are to be at the Vets' hall by 9:00 a. m., also.

Before the ceremonies, graves of war veterans will have been decorated by the Explorer Scouts with flags and flowers. During the memorial rites, the BHS boys quartet — Larry Schimp, Bill Murray, Doug Nodland and Brad Hammond — will sing "Sleep, Soldier Boy, Sleep."

Commander Bonte will read the traditional tribute to the war dead and Dick Gowdy will read the roll of honor. Others who will participate in the ceremonies will be: Gus Taylor, Legion commander; Frank Retleff, VFW senior vice commander; Ted Buchanan, VFW junior vice commander; Earl Cronk, VFW officer of the day; Mrs. Glen Eccles, VFW Auxiliary president; Mrs. Ted Behrends, Legion Auxiliary president.

Sales of Poppies Set for Saturday

Annual Poppy Day of the American Legion Auxiliary will be conducted this Saturday. Mrs. Leland Barkema and Mrs. Paul Couchman are serving as co-chairmen in charge of Poppy sales.

They urge that Belmond gives its usual, generous support to this yearly project, remembering that the colorful paper flowers serve an admirable double purpose.

These Poppies are made for the Auxiliary by veterans in the Des Moines Veterans hospital, the Clinton Domiciliary and the Iowa Soldiers Home at Marshalltown.

Makers of the Poppies not only benefit by the therapy derived from their production as a handcraft, but they receive a small fee for each completed flower. Many of them look upon this money as a means of assisting in the support of their families in a small way.

In addition, the Poppies give the public opportunity to pay tribute to this nation's war dead and at the same time provide funds that are important in the rehabilitation of disabled and needy veterans and their families.

"Wearing these memorial flowers on Poppy Day is a gesture in which most Americans take pride and satisfaction," Mrs. Barkema and Mrs. Couchman point out. "We're confident that this pride will make Poppy Day its customary success in Belmond."

They add that the help of any Legion Auxiliary members who can spare a couple of hours Saturday to assist in the sale of Poppies will be welcomed. Volunteers may call either of the co-chairmen.

Vicki Wolfe, Marilyn Mennenga First Two Candidates for Centennial Queen

Just $50 Went; Post $500 Again

Members of the Cash Gift Day committee were to be heard Tuesday afternoon mumbling that it's getting durned near as hard to give money away hereabouts as it is to get it to rain. With $500 in CGD awards there for the claiming, only one $50 prize at 3:00 o'clock was actually picked off. So the committee has resolutely replaced the missing 50 to once again make the line-up of prizes next Tuesday stand at six $25's at 2:00 p. m. and seven $50's at 3:00 o'clock. Mrs. Claude Johnson was the opportunist who showed up with a number last Tuesday that was worth 50 smackers.

TWO BROTHERS AND SISTER TOGETHER AFTER 20 YEARS

There was a lot of catching up on conversation going on at the Oscar and Otis Nelson homes for about 10 days as the two brothers entertained a sister whom they had not seen in 20 years. She is Mrs. Gus Lindberg, nee Mabel Nelson, of Renton, Wash., who brought with her her daughter Pearl. Mrs. Lindberg also visited with other relatives and friends.

With Mrs. Lindberg came a cousin, Mrs. J. S. Mills of Hollywood, Calif., and her daughter. They have been spending their time visiting with relatives at Dows and other towns in this vicinity. They and Mrs. Lindberg and daughter started back home Tuesday.

Three aspects of the Belmond centennial program were singled out at a meeting of the general committee last Friday for particular emphasis in the next few weeks. Of very immediate importance is the need to get the Centennial Queen contest organized and underway as quickly as possible. Mrs. Jim Cairns has accepted chairmanship of this committee and is currently at work lining up sponsors.

First candidate for Centennial Queen honors was nominated this week, her sponsor being the General Mills Men's club. The club's candidate will be Vicki Wolfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wolfe.

Member of GMI Family

Her father, appropriately enough, is a local GMI employee and it is expected that the General Mills "gang" will give her very thorough-going support in the contest. The very attractive Miss Wolfe will be a BHS sophomore next fall. To be eligible as a candidate, a girl must be no more than 23 years old and must be in at least her sophomore year in school next autumn.

Soon after the GMI Men's club selection was announced, the nomination of Marilyn Mennenga as Queen candidate No. 2 was made by the Belmond Co-op Creamery. Miss Mennenga, who like Miss Wolfe will be a BHS sophomore next fall, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Mennenga. Her choice was also a logical and appropriate one, as the Mennenga family has long been prominent in affairs of the creamery both as member-patrons and as office-holders.

Hope for 10 Candidates

Mrs. Cairns was contacting other, potential sponsors this week in the hope of lining up a minimum of 10 candidates to contend for the Queen title. Any group interested in sponsoring a candidate is welcome to contact Mrs. Cairns. Only charge to a sponsor is a $10 entry fee, which will cover cost of photographing the candidates and other minor expenses involved in conducting the contest.

In addition, the general committee wishes to see some definite headway made on plans for the parade and for display of family keepsakes and antiques. Dwight Tyrrell heads the parade committee and the heirloom committee is headed by Mrs. Harold Jhnson.

Urge Early Planning

In order that ample time can be given to development of good ideas for centennial floats, Mr. Tyrrell will soon be contacting groups and organizations regarding their preliminary plans. The historical motif is to be emphasized in the floats, with "fanciness" entirely secondary to a centennial theme. Displays that will depict the early days of clubs, lodges, churches and the like will be considered particularly appropriate. Business firms will be encouraged to plan floats that will illustrate merchandising in their fields 100 years ago.

Mr. Tyrrell urges all groups and firms give thought now to the basic idea their floats will follow so that unnecessary duplications may possibly be avoided and that groups intending to enter floats will not delay in starting their plans. Entries that are original rather than elaborate is the objective of the parade committee. Organizations, particularly, are asked to appoint float committees now so that ample

WHISKER CLUB MEETS SUNDAY

Eldon Boyd, president of the Centennial Whisker club, says a meeting of the bearded brotherhood is to be held Sunday at 2:00 p. m. at the city hall. Purpose of the get-together will be to formulate plans for assembling of a posse to undertake enforcement of the club's rules and see that the gentry of this vicinity herewith start displaying either whiskers or a Shaver's Permit. President Boyd observes that a number of gentlemen who initially saved a dollar by buying a Whisker club button instead of a Shaver's Permit are now appearing on the streets smooth-cheeked and therefor owe an additional buck on the price of a permit. He intends to see that the Whisker club affiliates round up these black sheep—and see that ALL men are properly identified either as shavers or non-shavers. All brothers of the brush are urged to be on hand Sunday.

Barkema Elected Jaycee President

Leland "Bud" Barkema was elected president of the Belmond Junior Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of that organization held Monday evening at McCormick's cafe. He succeeds Dwight Tyrrell as Jaycee president.

Other officers elected for the year 1956-57 were as follows: Harold Nelson, 1st vice president; Luther Proeger, 2nd vice president; Roger Tendall, secretary; and George Sharp, treasurer.

Dwight Tyrrell automatically became state director, as retiring president. Others elected to the Jaycee board were Merle Bonte, Al Korthas and Archie Allen.

Central Telephone Workers Unionize

As a result of ballotting conducted this month by the National Labor Relations Board, the Communication Workers of America (CIO-AFL) has been approved by employees in the Iowa District of the Central Telephone company as their bargaining agent. Deadline for receipt of ballots by the NLRB was last Friday and results of the voting were announced Monday. More than 60 per cent of the telephone employees favored having the CWA represent them in future negotiations with management.

Al Korthas, Belmond, has been elected vice president of the newly formed Local No. 7175 of CWA, covering the Iowa District. President is Junior Warneke, Kingsley; secretary-treasurer, Emma Trafford, Le Mars; chief stewards, L. M. Walrod of Belmond, Charley Van Sickle of Sac City, Don Harrison of Le Mars. Local steward for employees under management of Central Telephone's Belmond office is Laurel Baines of Rowan.

With announcement by NLRB of the favorable vote cast by Central Telephone's employees for CWA representation, the CIO-AFL international has been recognized by the telephone company as its employees' official bargaining agent in negotiations with management.

Deadline on P. O. Job Approaching

Postmaster George Jenison offers a reminder that the deadline for entering application for the job of substitute carrier-clerk on the local post office force is May 31. He says that about 20 individuals have thus far obtained application blanks, but he has no way of knowing how many completed them and forwarded them to the civil service commission.

This job is not a part-time proposition, Mr. Jenison says. The weekly employment of the new substitute can likely be expected to average 40 hours and the job has one distinct advantage in that its holder is not infrequently called on to put in over-time hours. The base pay is $1.82 per hour.

As other openings develop on the force, new substitutes are customarily drawn from a list of qualified applicants such as is being drafted at this time. Application blanks can be obtained at the post office. Mr. Jenison encourages any persons interested in the substitute's job to ask for a blank and mail it in promptly.

TWO BHS GRADUATES TO RECEIVE CERTIFICATES AS NURSES SUNDAY

Rose Negrete of the BHS Class of '52 and Gertrude McLaughlin, Class of '53, both will receive certificates as graduate nurses at ceremonies to be held next Sunday.

Miss Negrete, daughter of Simon Negrete, has been getting her training at Mercy hospital in Davenport and will be awarded her certificate by St. Ambrose college. Miss McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McLaughlin, is a member of the graduating class of the St. Joseph Mercy School of Nursing, Sioux City.

• • •

McLaughlin

It is Miss Negrete's intention to continue her studies at St. Ambrose until she has earned her Bachelor of Science degree. Meanwhile she will continue on the nursing staff at Mercy hospital. Miss McLaughlin will join the Belmond Community hospital nursing staff on Sept. 1.

With her graduation, Miss Negrete becomes the third daughter of Simon Negrete to earn a nursing certificate. Her sister Mary, who was a member of the BHS Class of '50, obtained her nurse's training with the aid of a scholarship granted by the Iowa Division of the American Cancer Society and got her graduate certificate in 1953. She is now on the staff of the University hospitals at Iowa City and also studying for her B. S. degree in nursing.

Also working towards a college degree is Isabel, Belmond High graduate of '51. She is studying toward her Bachelor's degree at Drake university while working on the staff of Mercy hospital at Des Moines. She became a graduate nurse in 1953.

Scoring 192 out of a possible 200 points on the written examination given in conjunction with the Road-e-o gave Stadtlander his winning score, although two other contestants did better in the driving tests. He made 205 points out of a possible 300 in the driving trials, compared to 228 by Merrill Jenison and 208 by Ronald Loeffler.

Jenison and Loeffler were both handicapped by low grades on their written tests, getting only 144 and 148, respectively. In fourth place was Clement McLaughlin, who scored 172 on the examination and 176 on the driving tests for a total of 348; and fifth was Richard White, with 180 and 145 for a 325 total out of the maximum of 500 points.

Five other entrants took the written quiz, given in advance, but did not take part in the driving tests. They, and their test scores, were: Meredith Jenison 176, Janice Flanagan 160, Myrna Strait 152, Ellen Brooks and Jerry Hopkey each 148.

Tests of driving varied from negotiating a path marked by five pairs of baseballs — set about twice the width of a wheel apart— to parallel parking.

• • •

Mayor Issues Official Proclamation Endorsing Statewide Safety Drive

Mayor Henry Hokel this week issued a proclamation naming the period of May 30-Sept. 3 as "SLOW DOWN AND LIVE" months in Belmond, in cooperation with the statewide traffic safety campaign launched by Gov. Leo Hoegh.

Especially close adherence to traffic laws will be asked of Belmond motorists during that period, Mayor Hokel says, and local police will be asked to enforce those laws rigidly.

It is the hope of Governor Hoegh and civic leaders the state over that a concerted effort on a statewide basis will succeed in stemming the rising tide of accidents that has been breaking all state records for fatalities, injuries and property damage.

Mayor Hokel's proclamation reads as follows:

"WHEREAS, the Governor of the State of Iowa has called for a statewide effort to save lives on our streets and highways during the summer months, and

WHEREAS, the heavy increase in traffic and travel experienced by Iowa during the summer will create a greater threat to the life and safety of every citizen of Belmond, and

WHEREAS, the improper use of speed in heavy traffic often is the direct or indirect cause or injury, and

WHEREAS, the active support and co-operation of every citizen of Belmond is imperative to the success of this safety effort,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Henry Hokel, Mayor of Belmond, hereby declare the period from May 30 through September 3 as months in Belmond and urge drivers to observe all laws and rules of reason relating to speed, and call upon each organized group in Belmond to make the contribution to this campaign it deems most effective.

"SLOW DOWN AND LIVE"

Cash Prize Goes To H. O. Sandberg

A copy of the Marshalltown Times-Republican reporting the recent opening of Iowa Electric Light and Power company's new power plant at Marshalltown reports that H. O. Sandberg of Clear Lake received a cash prize for giving the plant its name.

The copy of the paper was received by Mr. Sandberg's father, O. Sandberg. It told that H. O. Sandberg's suggestion was that the new generating plant be named "Sutherland station," in honor of IEL&P's president, Sutherland Dows of Cedar Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Schneider accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Schneider of Ames went to Moville last Thursday and visited overnight in the Dale Schreiner home. They went especially for graduation as the formers' granddaughter, Marilyn Schreiner, was a senior. Marilyn plans to attend college in Lincoln, Nebr.

Historian of Class of '56 Traces Advancement of First Members, Added Pupils Through Their School Careers

By Maryellen Johnson

Parents, teachers, and friends. We, the senior class, in this dissertation, wish to review our class history and in so doing thank our many friends, teachers and parents through whose efforts our school days have been a happy, memorable and profitable experience.

Our class history dates back to 1943, when Mary Jo Benson, Darlene Busick, Marlan Cunningham, Arlyn Frohling, Bradley Hammond, Oscar Jenison, Charles Johnson, Maryellen Johnson, Monica Jones, Mary Luick, Tommy Stadtlander, Sandra Steenblock, Luanne Steinlicht, Arlo Wayne Stoltenberg, Annette Swenson, Merle Van Gerpen, and Patty Ammerman entered the Belmond public school for the first time.

Our kindergarten teacher was Miss Tokheim, and under her able guidance we learned a great deal about working and playing with other children.

Miss Lein Taught 1st

Miss Lake and Miss Pitstick were our teachers in second grade. Here Dwight Daniels, Mary Ann Ostrand, Russell Fleming, Ronald Smith and Harold Tendall joined us. Judy Lyttle and Roger Shahan left us. Della Harty, Ellen Bode and Deone Harty joined us and left us that same year.

Four More Join Class

Our fifth grade teacher was Mrs. Haas. Here Connie Hill, Ervin Johnson, Ronald Loeffler, Larry McMurray, Veron McLaughlin, Roger Shahan, Jolane Sheller, Shirley Soma and Bernard Wesels joined us.

It was probably during those years that our class worked most compactly as a union. We will probably never forget playing cowboys and Indians and with luck, in those days, the fellows on rare occasions even let us girls play ball with them. Also, never to be forgotten was the little silver bell Mrs. Haas rang at the conclusion of each recess period.

In seventh grade we were officially in junior high. We had four teachers, Mr. Lauffer, Mr. Bunnell, Mrs. Sandage, and Miss Darrah. Here Robert Aarons, Karen Bohning, Corrine Davenport, Marjorie Christenson, Sandra Didio, David Soma, Donald Waddington and Elna Jenison joined us. Minnie Holman and James Johnson entered that year but later left us.

Our teachers for eighth grade were, Miss Darrah, Mr. Lauffer, Mr. Bunnell the first semester, Mrs. Fearing the second semester, Mr. Faris the first semester, and Mrs. Henderson the second semester. Here Della Harty, Deone Harty, Arley Harty and Norman Nelson joined us. Marjorie Christenson left us.

The day of our entry into high school dawned bright and clear. In addition to our members of eighth grade graduation we gained Alice Hunst, Marvin Thompson, Bernard Wessels, Larry Wessels, Larry Wolters and Phyllis Lee, which gave our freshman class a number of 53. Our freshman year was highlighted by initiation, joining the various organizations and developing interests in FFA, FHA, GAA, pep club, student council, journalism, music etc. Athletic events and parties also ranked high in popularity on the ninth grade calendar.

Jr.-Sr. Prom High Point

In tenth grade we were joined by George Earhart Marilyn Steenhard and Elaine Reichardt. That same year George Earhart, Della Harty, Mary Lou Loth, Ellen Bode and Deone Harty left us. It was in this year that Belmond's basketball team progressed to the sub-state finals and were there defeated by Carroll.

In eleventh grade we were joined by Loretta Fuller, John Pulver, Byron Heginger, Richard Kuhlers, Kenny Langlitz, Beverly DeMerritt, Thomas Lowenberg and Marcia Watne. Patty Ammerman, and Marcia Watne left us. Our eleventh year was filled with money making projects from which the profits went toward the Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom which we sponsored in the spring. The theme "An Evening in Paris" was carried out and we really had a great deal of fun working on it. That night really did seem to take on the full effect of an evening in Paris.

Many Memories Gathered

On August 29, 1955, 54 anxious seniors entered these halls knowing that this was to be their last year. During this year, we seniors have deemed ourselves somewhat more mature and adult. We have taken our subjects a bit more seriously. Our extra-curriculars have narrowed down to be those which have a very definite interest appeal.

We have watched the completion of the football, basketball, track and baseball seasons with dim eyes, for we know the closeness we've had to these sports will never be recaptured as a graduate or college student. This same sad awareness applies to all clubs, music, band and dramatic groups. Now we see our high school days closing, and as our history and private memories pass in review, we seniors take final leave of Belmond High school.

With the many pleasant memories and education we take with us, we sincerely hope and feel that we are prepared to take important steps into the world and continue through life making history that will be commendable.

GUSTY WINDS that prevailed last week weren't bothering Earl Swenson as this picture was taken while he applied complete analysis fertilizer while planting a 100-acre-plus field of corn — because it was in liquid form, obtained from Ris-Van Fertilizer company.

Earl Swenson Says The Advantages Of Liquid Fertilizer "Sold" Him

Earl Swenson, who farms northwest of Belmond, has become quite an ardent convert to the advantages of liquid fertilizer. He confesses that his use of anhydrous ammonia last year didn't give him much chance to measure results (even with THAT, you need rain — which he didn't get); but he's satisfied that it will do all that's claimed for it. That's why he chose to apply complete analysis liquid fertilizer supplied by Ris-Van Fertilizer company on something over 100 acres of corn last week.

"What a wonderful time and labor saver that liquid fertilizer is," Earl told your reporter during a brief interview in the field. It was a windy day, and he was mighty happy he wasn't having to breathe clouds of flying fertilizer.

Speaking of the Ris-Van product, Mr. Swenson said. "I stored my liquid fertilizer in a gravity, diesel fuel tank, which made loading in the tractor tanks a cinch. I was even able to get some chores done while the tanks were filling.

"It's a great convenience, too, not to have to take a wagon of dry fertilizer to the field and stop regularly to fill the planter attachment. My tractor tanks carry enough Ris-Van fertilizer for a full half day's work. And I don't have to worry about loss by wind or covering the wagon if it rains.

"And I'm not forgetting," he added, "that a great deal of handling labor is saved by using complete analysis fertilizer in liquid form. Besides, I need those tractor tanks for corn borer spray, weed spray and the like from time to time, so I don't feel they need count as an expense of using liquid fertilizer. I'd have to have them, anyhow."

Adding up all the advantages of using Ris-Van liquid fertilizer, Earl said, "When you consider the labor, time and inconvenience saved by applying your fertilizer in this form, it's no surprise to me that Ris-Van is kept hopping to supply the demand for their products in this vicinity." (Advt.)

Broncos' "Joe" Smith 3rd in 880 at State Meet

ROGER "JOE" SMITH

Among State's Best Half-milers

Records are not available to prove whether Belmond High school has ever before scored points in a state track meet, but the Broncos came home from Ames last Saturday with that achievement to their credit. It was an impressive third-place performance by "Joe" Smith in the Class B 880 and a tie for fifth by Bill Kaufman in the high jump that gave Belmond its 3 1 5 points. The total sufficed to give BHS 26th place in a field of 97 schools.

In retrospect, it appears that the Broncos would very possibly have won the mile medley relay if Coach Dick Hobbs had chosen to run Smith as anchorman in that event instead of entering him in the open half-mile. But the half followed immediately after the medley, so there was no chance of the Bronco ace competing in both.

Courson Runs Fine 440

In Belmond's heat of the mile medley, Ronnie Courson ran a beautiful race in the opening 440, covering the quarter mile in 53 seconds. That got DaDean Obrecht off on the second leg of 220 yards strongly in second place. He held that position and Tom Lowenberg clipped off his 220 with such speed that Belmond's final baton pass was made only a split second after the leading team's.

Almost certainly these first three men completed their portion of the race in no more that a minute and 43 seconds — possibly less; and the 2:02 and a fraction that Smith later achieved in the 880 would have given the Broncs a medley time of about 3:45. Johnson's winning time in the medley was 3:45.9, so it is apparent that Belmond would certainly have been a strong contender for first place.

Smith Outlasts Challenger

Arlo Stoltenberg, who carried the baton on the medley 880, was outclassed by his opponents and finally finished next to last in the heat. In contrast, "Joe" Smith stamped himself as very much one of the state's best half-milers with his showing in the open half-mile.

He hit the back-stretch, after the opening sprint around the first turn, in second place and he held that position until nearly around the final turn on the second lap. Here the winner of the event, Gary Haltmeyer of Postville, overtook Joe and went on to out-race Larry Shipley of Sigourney, who had been the front-runner up to that time.

Don Heltibridle of Grundy Center sharply challenged Smith for third on the home stretch, but Joe courageously fought off the bid and preserved his third place by a matter of six or eight inches. Haltmeyer's time was 2:01.2 Smith was not more than two strides to the rear and must have had close to an even 2:02 for the distance.

Two Sophs Do Well

Sophomore Bill Kaufman cleared 5-5¾ in the high jump to add the fraction of a point to Belmond's scoring total. Had Dean Pruisman, another soph, cleared the pole vault bar one more time he, too, would have figured "in the money." He made 10 feet — matching his best height so far—but failed at 10-5, at which four vaulters tied for fourth place.

Belmond's 880-yard relay team turned in the ver yrespectable time of 1:36.8 in spite of one very bad baton pass. This wasn't good enough to place but was undoubtedly a new school record by a considerable margin. Lowenberg, Jerry Chandler, Courson and Smith made up the Bronco entry in this event. Obrecht, Pruisman, Chandler and Lowenberg ran in the 440-yard relay. Mediocre passes slowed them down quite a bit and they finished well back in their heat, but nevertheless probably had their best time of the season.

Father, Son Hurt In Auto Mishap

Painful injuries were suffered by Tom Greenwood, Jr., and his four-year-old son John when the car Tom was driving went out of control about 6:30 p.m. Wednesday of last week and came to a stop only after snapping off two small trees. The mishap occurred just south of the intersection of Sixth avenue and Sixth street NE as Mr. Greenwood was driving to his home at 603 Sixth street NE.

He told Officer Doug Walrod that he'd apparently "blacked out," as he had no recollection of the car leaving the street and crossing an adjacent yard.

The senior Greenwood suffered a facial laceration and slight fracture of the breast bone. John's lower lip was badly gashed and three of his teeth were knocked out but were "replanted" by the family denist. An older son sustained only minor bruises. Damage to the car was estimated at about $350.

When the group returned to its home base, a welcome lunch was consumed and plans for a horse show discussed. The next ride will be June 10, with the Gerald Ersland and Harold Vanness families as hosts.

A system of preceptorship, which each summer places all University of Iowa senior medical students in offices of experienced rural practitioners, has been highly effective in furthering this aim. Now in its fourth year under cosponsorship of the university and the State Medical Society, the innovation has directed a very satisfying number of promising young doctors into rural practice.

While horse-and-buggy methods have almost wholly departed from the practice of rural medicine, Dr. Leinbach is living witness to the fact that the staunch principles of earlier days have not. He admits matter-of-factly that in 20 years of doctoring he has never refused a house or night call that a client deemed of unquestionable necessity.

As he was being interviewed, an evening summons came from a town eight miles distant, from the disturbed husband of a woman terrified by anginal pains. As he set out on the call, the friendly doctor mused on his favorite subject.

"You can say," he declared, "that the caliber of rural medicine has more than caught up with the field of medicine in general. Rural people are receiving better attention than ever before, and the prospect of their enjoying continually improving medical service is bright."

No, the father-confessor, family friend, and spiritual advisor who was the "horse-and-buggy" doctor has not disappeared. But today he's a modern man of medicine whose qualifications, equipment, and facilities for dispensing health service have more than kept pace with the advance in his mode of transportation.

Call In About Heirlooms

The committee on keepsake and antique displays plans to contact by phone as many of the long-established families of the community as possible and have them make a deliberate search of attics and closets for appropriate items. It will be impossible, though, for the committee to run down anywhere near all the displays needed. Any and all persons having antiques and heirlooms they feel would be of interest are requested to contact Mrs. Johnson and advise her what they would be able to loan for centennial displays. Needless to say, every care will be taken to see that no harm comes to any heirlooms turned over to the committee.

Merchants with good windows for display purposes are invited to make efforts on their own parts to line up items to be shown during the celebration. Some may want to place emphasis on articles related to their own line of business, or devote at least part of their window space to a display of this nature. Mrs. Johnson points out that the more preparation that goes into the antique displays, the better they are certain to be.

no other gasoline can do...

Other gasolines build up power-stealing carbon and lead deposits in your engine. But Skelly Supreme Gasoline with new Keotane formula reduces these deposits. Keotane dissolves the "glue-like" gum that holds them — and without gum to stick to, carbon and lead go out the exhaust.

Tests prove an average of 12.7% more mileage, performance effect of 3 more octane points, and 14.6% more h.p. outpnt. These and other benefits give you over 6c extra value per gallon — at no extra cost.

● Reddy's new "Mobile Unit" is a wonderful service. The word "mobile" tells it all. This unit can be quickly, easily moved anywhere it's needed. It can travel on highways without escort and it can be "tied in" wherever needed without interruption of your electric service.

Thus, when your electric service is being expanded you need not be bothered as work is done. The mobile sub-station can handle the electric power you normally use. The work progresses but you aren't bothered and your needs are fully met.

Also, this Mobile Unit serves as an emergency measure — standing by to give service needed while repairs or adjustments are made. Reddy's proud of his new $75,000 Mobile Sub-Station! It's another instance of the constant endeavor of your electric company to always give you the best in service.

THERE'S NO MEMORIAL DAY FOR THOSE KILLED BY IRRESPONSIBLE DRIVERS

Iowa motorists are well on their way to establishing an all-time record for mayhem and carnage on their highways. In the first three months of the year the tally of traffic deaths was up to 153, which exceeded the previous highest first-quarter toll (in 1951) by 23. No decline in the murderous pace was perceptible in April and May. By last Thursday the toll had risen to 245, an increase of 46 over that of last year for the same period.

Clinton Moyer, state safety commissioner, says that not much guesswork is required to put a finger on the major causes of this shameful, tragic rise in traffic fatalities. The record shows that young drivers, fast drivers and drinking drivers are by all odds the largest contributors.

In January through March the number of teenage drivers involved in fatal accidents jumped from only 12 in the first quarter of 1955 up to 30. In the comparable quarters, deaths that involved speeds of 70 miles and hour or more increased from eight to 29; and the toll at speeds ranging from 60 to 70 mph rose from nine to 24. The number of fatal mishaps that involved drinking drivers exactly doubled, going from 20 to 40.

It is a bit ironical that we Americans set aside Memorial Day to commemorate the lives of those who died in the service of their nation and attach so little significance to the horrible toll that our highways claim year in and year out. Not that the sacrifices of the war dead should merit less respect than they are given; but certainly we regard too lightly the slaughter on our highways.

In all of our nation's wars, 616,717 lives were lost in the service of their country. Last December, the millionth life was claimed as a traffic fatality. A million lives lost to no purpose!

Of course, we know that no day of national mourning is likely to be set aside to commemorate the hundreds of thousands of innocent victims who have met abrupt death as irresponsible drivers have careened to their own fates. But the tragedy is no less than that intrinsic in futile war. Indeed, it is the greater in that the loss is wholly preventable and leaves the victims' families not even the solace that a purpose was served.

"SAVING" MONEY AT EXPENSE OF THE MENTALLY ILL IS A COSTLY DELUSION

The month of May is being observed as Mental Health Month — a fact that should lend some small hope that in time the public will come to realize that penny wisdom in treatment of the mentally ill has constituted pound foolishness for all too many years.

Another in a number of important breakthroughs in the fight against mental illness was won in the past year's time — the successful use of drugs in treating some of the mentally ill. The sad fact is, though, that public acceptance of mental illness as a problem that can successfully be attacked has never matched medicine's resolve that new techniques to that end be developed and used to maximum effect.

It is difficult to understand public apathy toward this vitally important matter. Maybe it hearkens back to the day when lack of understanding and prevailing superstition led to the belief that the insane were possessed by evil spirits. We know better than that now, of course, but madness is still something we too little understand and we wish to have its existence kept as aloof from our consciousness as possible.

Our insistent pretense that mental illness need be a concern only of doctors and sociologists is a costly one in two ways. It is responsible for the fact that the public frequently pays for the domiciliary care of a patient, year after year, because state hospitals are deprived of the staff, the equipment and the medical supplies that might return the patient to a useful place in society — or at least return him safely to the normal surroundings of his home.

More regrettable yet is the human cost in lives spent in endless confinement due to our callous acceptance of conditions that doom many who are mentally sick to be KEPT mentally sick. That's the price of our "saving" the cost of adequately staffing and equipping our mental institutions.

Many of the 250,000 new patients who will be admitted to the nation's mental hospitals this year will be going there because there was no psyciatric aid available to them when their illness was first developing. And once admitted to an institution, many will stay there for months longer than necessary — perhaps for the balance of their lives — not because their illness is untreatable but because the treatment afforded is inadequate to the need.

Only aroused public interest and ACTION will correct this deplorable situation. That a groundswell of public concern IS developing can be discerned in the mere observance of Mental Health Month. How you, a reader of this column, can lend your weight to the movement can be learned by writing the Iowa Association for Mental Health, 406 Flynn Building, Des Moines, and inquiring how YOU can help fight the nation's No. 1 Health Problem.

For that washed-out feeling...

Hot weather takes a lot out of you—MILK puts it back fast! Chock-full of nature's protein, here's the lift without a letdown, And where man-made beverages only irrigate your thirst, milk drowns it in cool refreshment. On simmery, summery days give yourself a "break" with ice cold milk!

Drink ③ glasses of Milk every day

Simon P. Fischer Funeral Saturday

Funeral services were held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. from Fulton Home at Belmond and at 2:00 o'clock from the Salem EUB church, Meservey, for Simon P. Fischer, 68. He passed away suddenly of a heart ailment on Wednesday of last week while he was at Swaledale carrying out his job of reading electric meters.

Rev. P. W. Pfaltzgraff conducted the services. Burial was in the Meservey cemetery and pallbearers were Harm Groen, Jr., Lester Hopkey, Jake Pals, Dale Smith, Charles Waddingham and Henry Wendel.

Simon P. Fischer was born Nov. 30, 1887, at Freeport Ill. He was one of five children born of George and Elizabeth Fischer. His parents and two brothers preceded him in death.

When he was a child the family moved to a farm near Meservey. Since then, except for short times in Mason City and in Wisconsin, he had lived in the Meservey vicinity.

In addition to farming, he operated a drag line in Meservey and was sexton of the Meservey Cemetery. For a number of years he has been reading meters for the Iowa Electric Light and Power Company in Meservey and vicinity. Also, he looked after the town water pump, flushed the hydrants and read the water meters in Meservey.

He was married to Reaka Janssen on Dec. 28, 1910, at the farm home of the bride's parents. Two children, a daughter and a son, were born to them.

He and his wife were permitted to share almost 40 years of married life. Mrs. Fischer passed away on October 9, 1950. His granddaughter, Marian Wessels, kept house for him for about three years. The rest of the time he carried on alone.

He was baptized in infancy and confirmed when a lad of 13 and united with the Meservey Salem E. U. B. church. He was a faithful and regular attendant of the Sunday morning and evening services of the church.

About three years ago he was in a hospital because of a serious heart ailment. Since then he had carried on his work as health and strength would permit.

He leaves his daughter, Mrs. Glady Wessels of Osage, and son Dale of Thornton; also a brother Walter, Wahkon, Minn.; a sister, Mrs. Henry Dearmin, Mason City; and nine grandchildren. Two grandchildren preceded him in death.

Auxiliary Will Sell Poppies Saturday

American Legion Auxiliary unit of William Schmale Post 171, Meservey, will conduct its annual Poppy Day this Saturday. Mrs. Richard Nissen is the unit Poppy chairman.

Mrs. Lovell Diddy, Auxiliary president, says the annual Poppy Day serves a three-fold purpose: (1) the poppies serve as a memorial to the war dead; (2) disabled veterans in V Ahospitals receive nominal pay for making the flowers to help toward support of their families. (3) the proceeds are used in welfare work for disabled veterans and their needy families.

Auxiliary members will distribute poppies on the streets of Meservey and Mrs. Nissen and Mrs. Diddy join in urging generous public support of the project.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Pals were Monday afternoon and supper guests at the Ray Meyer home at Hampton.

Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Ruiter and Roxanne were Sunday dinner guests at the parental Kermit Stille home at Thornton and attended church service with them at the Methodist church there.

Mrs. Mary Thomas came home Wednesday after spending about a week at the home of her daughter and family, the Ray Peters, at Swaledale.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Faaborg and Mrs. Lilly Faaborg were Sunday dinner guests at the Hauko Barkema home near Garner. Others there were Mrs. Helen Lieuwen and Donald.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Guth and Mr. and Mrs. Merle Avery were at Peterson Sunday where they attended the wedding of their nephew, Melvin Pieper, to Marlene Johnson held at the Methodist church at 2:30 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Waddingham accompanied by Mrs. Susie Rooks were at Mason City Sunday where they went to see Charley's brother, William Waddingham of Klemme, who is in the Mercy hospital. They also visited Mrs. Rooks' sister, Mrs. Alice Smith, at the Norris Nursing home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud VanGerpen and girls of Hanley Falls, Minn., were weekend guests in the parental William Guthrie home.

VOL. 36 NO. 34 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA— THURSDAY, MAY 31, 1956 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Lem Long put on quite a demonstration of bravery and youthful energy Tuesday afternoon after it had been discovered that the copper chain that serves as a lanyard on the library flag pole had been thoughtlessly broken by some unknow culprit. Chief "Doc" Johnson assembled some firemen to get it replaced through the pulley after the chain had been mended.

But when the fire department's tallest ladder was leaned against the pole, its 50-foot length still left the top of the pole about 15 feet out of reach!

A lot of head-scratching was going on when Lem showed up and volunteered to "shinny" up to the pulley. He did it once, and could not thread the chain through the opening. Then he did it again with a wire attached to the chain end — but the wire was too stiff. A third try, with a more limber piece of wire, saw his effort crowned with success. Hats off to Lem!

"Cec" Carstens has on display in the Iowa Electric Light and Power company's office window one of the light fixtures that will go into use on Main street when the new city lighting is installed. A shipment of 15 of them was received from the manufacturer — about half enough for Main street.

The steel poles on which the fixtures will be placed have not yet been delivered, however; and "Cec" doesn't know when they will be.

He's pretty proud of the new lighting apparatus and is as anxious as his fellow townsmen to see the new fixtures go up. It is his fond hope that the balance of the fixtures, AND the poles, may be here by centennial celebration time so we can show off before the assembled populace. It's by no means certain, though.

When Mrs. A. C. Lieuwen was obtaining for us some information regarding the growth of the city cemetery, she jotted down from the original plat describing Belmond's first cemetery the following, which was signed on the back by G. L. Cutler:

"Commencing four chains and seventy-five links north of the S. W. corner of the S. E. quarter of Section 30 T93 R23 in center of road hence north along center of road and sixty links hence east to place of beginning — nine chains and thirty-nine links containing four acres of land beside the road for a burial ground of said association. This is all lying in the County of Wright and State of Iowa."

The description measurements are made in terms of the Gunter's (or surveyor's) chain — a chain-like measuring instrument of the day that was 66 feet in length. A link was 7.92 inches. The area was resurveyed when 1.72 acres were added in 1899.

An effort is being made to obtain pictures of ALL of Belmond High school's graduating classes for public display during the centennial celebration. We have on hand a group picture of the Class of '16 — the last to be graduated from the old building that was replaced in that year. That leaves us with just 70 to go.

Of course, a number of those of later years will be available from the high school; but to obtain earlier class pictures is going to require some attic-hunting.

We will welcome reports from individuals who have old class pictures on hand so we can draft as nearly as possible a full list — AND know where we can obtain the pictures when time of the celebration arrives. Just call Mrs. Harold Johnson (240), heirlocm and antique chairman, and let her know what you have.

Harry Ruka brought in to us last week the shattered remains of a large baloon he thought might have been one of the trial balloons that General Mills released and is trying to keep track of. It wasn't though. "The General's" are of clear plastic. Harry's was a large, red rubber affair. We suspect it might have been a weather balloon sent aloft from Mason City airport or some similar source.

Fine thing! We hear that Morse lake is being made a nursery for Lake Cornelia! About 25,000 northern pike fry were recently placed in the southeast pond adjoining Morse with a view to letting 'em grow to six inches and then transferring them to Cornelia. Anyway, this and other news of a similar nature indicates that the state conservation commission is keeping fishermen of this vicinity in mind.

Last Wednesday, a million (even!) walleye fry were placed in Cornelia and a few days earlier 10,000 adult bullheads — from the Spirit Lake area — went into the same lake.

A quantity of northern, walleye and largemouth bass fingerlings are due to be placed in Cornelia this fall, the commission says. Or if you don't mnd going farther afield for your fishing, 750,000 walleye fry placed recently in the Boone river between Eagle Grove and Goldfield should make for some good catches several seasons from now. . . . And the stories, as usual, will probably be even better!

G. Hansen Victim Of 2nd Coronary

George Hansen, co-publisher of The Independent, Sunday afternoon for the second time in less than [illegible] months was hospitalized by a coronary thrombosis. He had attended the open house for Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Nelson and had returned home when he was stricken.

According to his physician, Mr. Hansen's attack was less severe than the one that struck him on [illegible] last year and forced him [illegible] for a period of near[illegible].

Centennial Pageant Plans Now Rapidly Taking Form

Plans for the Belmond Centennial Pageant went into high gear this week with appointment of committees on casting, costuming and ticket sales. Earl Dunn of Hal Garven Productions, Minneapolis, which will write and produce the pageant, met the three committees Monday afternoon and declared himself both impressed and highly pleased with the enthusiasm and willingness exhibited by the persons who have accepted assignment to these various committees.

Each of six, local churches will present one of the six episodes that will make up the pageant, and from each of the congregations have been chosen representatives to work on the casting, costuming and ticket committees. The churches are the Congregational, Methodist, St. Francis Catholic, St John American Lutheran, St. Olaf Lutheran and Trinity Lutheran.

Scheduled Aug. 10-11

Performances of the pageant are scheduled for Friday and Saturday evenings, Aug. 10-11. In the event of rain on one of those nights, it would likely be necessary to present a Sunday evening performance to avoid a serious financial loss. Spokesmen for the Baptist, Bethany Reformed and Immanuel Reformed churches, which hold Sunday night services, thought it best that their members be omitted from the cast to avoid any possible conflict. It is believed though, that these three churches will lend full cooperation on costuming and ticket sales.

PHYLLIS LEE
Latest Queen Candidate

It is the hope of the centennial committee that all of the churches can be rewarded with a 10 per cent commission on all of their ticket sales and it is the tentative plan that this be done. Such action will be contingent upon the centennial celebration being as successful as anticipated. It is the general committee's plan that the celebration be self-financed and that the need for any underwriting on the part of individuals or organizations will be made unnecessary.

At this early point, such a pros-

Belmond's Annual Car-Safety Check Scheduled for Next Monday-Tuesday

Sheriff Bob Blecker announced this week that the annual county "Safety Lane" check of the Wright County Peace Officers association will be launched next week when car inspections are conducted on Monday and Tuesday evenings in Belmond.

Since the "Safety Lane" program was introduced in 1952, some 250 to 300 motorists have usually availed themselves of the free service here each year to learn if their cars have any defects that require attention. Consequently, Sheriff Blecker recommends getting into line as early as possibile when the "Safety Lane" opens at 6:30 p. m. on the evenings specified.

The inspections will be made up to 9:00 p. m., both Monday and Tuesday. As a usual thing, some 40 to 60 per cent of the cars checked are discovered to have mechanical faults that need correction. However, last year, when a single night's inspection accommodated just 161 cars here, 87 per cent were found in satisfactory running condition. The year before, 292 cars were inspected in the course of two nights and 125 were discovered to need repairs or adjustments.

On all the cars, the following equipment will be tested for satisfactory condition or performance: (1) stop-light; (2) tail light; (3) headlights; (4) horn; (5) windshield wipers; (6) brakes; (7) wheels, for alignment; (8) tie rods; (9) dimmer switch; (10) directional lights.

"Safety Lane" will again be set up on the 200 block in downtown Main street. Drivers are asked to approach the inspection area from the west. Cars are checked on a voluntary basis, but Sheriff Blecker suggests it is well worthwhile to take advantage of the free service.

Burial Rites Held For Virgil Lent Here on Friday

Burial rites were held at Belmond cemetery Friday for Virgil Lent, age 18, of Charles City, who was born here on Aug. 22, 1937. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. (nee Ethel Hedges) Claude Lent of Floyd and the grandson of Mrs. Alice Hedges.

Death came to the young man at his home at Floyd on Wednesday of last week. Funeral services were held Friday at the Covenant Evangelical Mission church at Charles City. Mr. Lent was a member of the Methodist church at Swaledale.

Surviving besides his parents and grandmother are his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weber of Sheffied, three sisters and two brothers — Marilyn Lent of Clarion, Mrs. Joan Anderson of Albuquerque, N. M., Charles Lent of Charles City, Claudia and Clair Dean Lent, living at home.

$25 TO HOSPITAL

WILL GET DRAKE DEGREE

Donald C. Toft of Belmond will be among those receiving degrees as Drake university holds its 75th annual spring commencement next Monday.

Father McNulty Will Say First High Mass Here

Rev. Edward J. McNulty, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. P McNulty, Saturday at 10:00 a. m. at the St. Francis church will say his first Solemn High Mass. He was ordained as a Catholic priest last Saturday at ceremonies conducted at St. Rose Priory, Dubuque.

Officers of Saturday's Mass will be: Rev. R. A. Ormsby, assistant priest; Rev. Ronald Axen, State Center, deacon; Rev. Albert Manternach, Loras college, sub-deacon; Rev. John Kissling, Cascade, and Rev. Harold Drexler, Rockwell, masters of ceremonies. Msgr. Duane A. Brady of Waterloo, also a native of Belmond, will preach the sermon.

BHS Graduate in '32

Father McNulty was graduated from Belmond High school in 1932 and from the University of Iowa in 1937, with a B. S. degree. For four years following he was employed by Chevrolet division of General Motors, including nine months that he attended the GM Institute of Technology as an executive trainee.

He was in service from 1941-46, entering the U. S. Army as an infantry officer and later transferring to the Army Air Force. He served as assistant to Lieutenant-General Yount, commanding officer of the USAAF Training Command. He attained the rank of Lieutenant Colonel on June 5, 1945 and was discharged from service the following February.

Jaycee "Key" Winner

He was engaged in the insurance business in Chicago, 1946-50, during which time he was active in and served as a director of the Chicago Junior Chamber of Commerce. He was one of seven young Chicagoans to receive the JCC Key Award in 1948.

In 1950, Father McNulty entered Loras college at Dubuque to study philosophy and in 1952 entered St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore, Md., where he just recently completed four years of theology.

All friends of Father McNulty and his family are cordially invited to attend the mass and also a reception to be held at the T. P. McNulty home Sunday afternoon.

THIS BUILDING on downtown Main street has launched on a new career of usefulness since being leased to Madsen Plumbing and Heating after recent, complete remodeling by Lee Mussell. Formerly the Chevrolet garage, since the present Mussell garage was built on the highway, the Main street site has been used only for storage. It has always, prior to now, served either as a garage or repair shop. Fred Madsen is holding a grand opening of his new quarters Saturday.

It'll be six of one and half dozen of the other next week. That is to say, next Tuesday at 2:00 p. m. there will be six $25 prizes for Cash Gift Day number-holders to shoot at; and at 3:00 o'clock, a half dozen $50's. This week one $25 and one $50 prize found a taker. At 2:00 o'clock it was Clyde Blau of Alexander and at 3:00 p. m. Henry Larsen picked off the $50.

New HS Principal And Band Director Added to Faculty

Several unexpected resignations last week left unanticipated vacancies in the Belmond school faculty, but some quick work on the part of Supt. Don Faris and members of the school board found the "lost ground" all but made up by the first of this week. This entailed signing to contracts a new band instructor, a high school principal and teacher of bookkeeping and social studies—need for the last two having existed earlier.

As a result, the faculty picture is about what it was a few weeks ago, Mr. Faris says. Another high school English teacher and a junior high principal are needed to complete the staff. James Schmitt, English instructor, was one of the late resigners; along with Band Director Roland Brom and Mildred Henry, who was acting principal of the junior high. Brom and Schmitt are going to Waverly and Miss Henry to Humboldt.

Mr. Faris reports that he and the school board members believe they have been fortunate in obtaining fine replacements for three of the vacancies. The newcomers will be: Paul Buck, originally from Putnam, Mo., who will succeed Clair Hugh as high school principal; John D. Duncan, an alumnus of Fort Madison High school, band director; and Harold Eiffler, whose home was originally Elma, high school bookkeeping and social studies.

Mr. Buck attended high school at Seymour, obtained his teaching certificate at Des Moines university and then took summer work at Iowa State Teachers college to earn his B. A. degree in 1935. Three years ago he received a Master's degree in the science of education from Drake university.

Starting his teaching career at Seymour in 1928, Mr. Buck subsequently taught at Charles City and Shattuck Military academy before going to Lake Mills High school as principal in 1946. He held that position for six years before going to Lime Springs as high school superintendent in 1952.

A graduate of the University of Iowa with a Bachelor of Music degree in 1952, Mr. Duncan received his Master of Arts degree in music from SUI the following year. He taught for a year as Sherrard, Ill. He was drafted in 1954 and, after completing his basic training, played trumpet and string bass with a U. S. Army band at San Antonio, Tex., base.

Mr. Eiffler was graduated from Upper Iowa university, Fayette, in 1940. He has taught commercial subjects at Elma, Lake Park, Lime Springs, Meservey and Harmony, Minn., and also coached during 10 of his 13 years of teaching. He is a World War II veteran.

McMannus Breaks Leg on Ditch Job

Melvin McMannus's right thigh was badly broken in a mishap about 10:00 a. m. Tuesday as he and some fellow workmen from Kinseth Plumbing and Heating were installing water and sewer connections to Mrs. Matt Followwill's home in the south part of town.

A large chunk of dirt toppled from a pile at the edge of the ditch in which Mr. McMannus was working, causing the injury. The fracture was of such a severe nature that his physician estimates Mel will be hospitalized for about a month.

Will Show Special Movie at Hospital

A film entitled "Medical Technologist" is to be shown Friday at 6:30 p. m. at the Belmond Community hospital for the benefit of high school students who might be interested in the career of a medical technician.

Administrator Stuart Kutz says the movie gives a good insight into the attractions and responsibilities of a technician's job. Any students who were in one of the last three grades in high school this past year are welcome to see the movie.

County Attorney Contest Will Claim Major Attention in Monday Primary

Although plenty of Republican contests will prevail in next Monday's primary election, major interest in Wright county seems likely to center on one in particular. That is the wide-open race for county attorney, in which three young lawyers have been campaigning strenuously for the voters' favor.

A particularly aggressive campaign has been waged in the Belmond vicinity — and, presumably, in other parts of the county as well — by Arthur "Newt" Draheim, Jr., of Clarion. He has done extensive door-to-door canvassing, has greeted voters on downtown Main street on a number of occasions and has been assisted in his electioneering by his attractive wife.

Just One County Contest

Marvin G. Kjellberg of Clarion and Ben V. Willie of Eagle Grove, both of whom in contrast to Mr. Draheim are affiliated with established law firms in their home towns, have concentrated a bit more on their own bailiwicks than their Clarion opponent. Mr. Draheim has emphasized in his appearances as speaker before various groups and organizations that, if elected, he intends to concentrate his time almost exclusively upon the responsibilities of his office.

The attorneyship is the only county office for which the Democratic party has a candidate in the field. He is Martin H. Morrissey of Clarion. County Attorney R. Ralph Austin is not trying for re-election, but all the other courthouse incumbents are running for new terms and are unopposed. They are Myron Price, auditor; Bessie Johnson, clerk of court; Harold Sullivan, treasurer; Bob Blecker, sheriff; and Grace Fletcher, recorder.

Demo After McNeal Post

Clark McNeal, state representative from Wright county, has no opponent for renomination but the Democrats have a nominee who will oppose the Belmond legislator in the general election. He is Marion Robinson of Holmes.

Except for the Republican nomination for governor, which finds Leo Hoegh unopposed in his try for a second term, there will be contests for nominations to most of the congressional and major state posts. On the GOP ticket, though, Secretary of State Melvin Synhorst, Treasurer M. L. Abrahamson, Auditor Chet Akers and Secretary of Agriculture Clyde Spry will be without opposition.

Attorney General Dayton Countryman is raising his sights and contending with Bourke Hickenlooper for the U. S. Senate nomination; but J. I. Dolliver is unopposed in seeking the congressional nomination from the Sixth District. W. H. Nicholas, Mason City, and Wendell Pendleton, Storm Lake, are vying for the lieutenant-governor nomination. Norman Erbe of Boone and Don Hise, Des Moines, are battling it out of the state attorney generalship.

Evans vs. Wilcox

Seeking the GOP nomination for commerce commissioner are H. M. Reed of Panora, B. M. Richardson of Des Moines—who resigned before filling out an earlier term — and Ray Thompson of Newton.

The Democratic office-seekers are: U. S. Senate — R. M. "Spike" Evans of Arnolds Park and Lumund Wilcox of Jefferson; U. S. Representative, Sixth District — Merwin Coad, Boone; governor — Herschel Loveless of Ottumwa and Lawrence Plummer of Northwood; lieutenant-governor — William William Bartley of Iowa City and George O'Malley of Des Moines; attorney general — Edward Fitzgerald of Des Moines, William Welch of Logan and Don Wilson, West Des Moines.

Polls Open at 8:00 a. m.

Secretary of state — George Eischeid, Sr., Norwalk; treasurer — John E. Hansen, Eagle Grove; secretary of agriculture — Harold Ohlson, Spirit Lake; commerce commissioner — Lewis Lint of Des Moines and Walter Vaughn, Clinton.

All but George Trowbridge of Dows, in District 4, among the county's supervisors, are unopposed on the Republican ticket for renomination. In addition to John Greenlander, Belmond, District 1, they are: Roland Trotter, Goldfield, District 2; A. W. Christopher, Eagle Grove, District 3; and Harland Hill, Clarion, District 5. Trowbridge is not up for reelection this year.

Belmond polling places will be the same as customary: Ward 1, city library; Ward 2, city hall; Ward 3, school house. The polls will be open from 8:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m.

TWO ACRES ADDED TO BELMOND'S CITY CEMETERY; THIRD EXPANSION SINCE ITS FOUNDING IN 1857

Participants in the Memorial Day ceremonies found the Belmond city cemetery increased in size by a matter of two acres. The additional land, bounding on the north of the older area, was purchased by the city this spring from Ira Studebaker, Jr.

Before the newly acquired land was platted for cemetery use, it was tiled to improve drainage. Since then both the city and county road maintainers have engaged in a considerable amount of dirt-moving. Work done by the county machinery was provided gratis. The highest rise was leveled to some extent and the earth transferred to a slope that was lower than desirable.

The old fence marking the north boundary has been removed and new woven wire fencing, purchased by the Cemetery Aid society, has been erected to mark the new limits of the cemetery.

Another cemetery improvement was made earlier in the year by the aid society in the form of crushed rock surfacing for the parking space adjoining the cemetery to the west. This parking space will be expanded to extend in front of the new addition.

Mrs. A. C. Lieuwen says that the Cemetery Aid society will also shoulder responsibility for landscaping the new area. While funds for this purpose are already on hand, Mrs. Lieuwen remarked that the society would welcome additional support in its work from women of the community.

She pointed out that all families owning lots or part lots in the cemetery should have an interest in its appearance and upkeep and that the aid society is the logical instrument for seeing that the burial grounds are properly maintained. She will welcome inquiries regarding affiliation with the society.

This latest addition is the third made to the original cemetery that was established in 1857. The first burial in the cemetery was made not long afterward when an elderly Mr. Gray was laid to rest. As the first area filled up, another 1.72 acres were added in November of 1899 and in 1918 it was deemed advisable to increase the cemetery's area by approximately another two acres.

As of today, the burial grounds cover about 9 acres, and the city council and cemetery aid society regard that this should meet the needs of the community for a good many years to come.

During 4th Quarter, Loretta Fuller Again Led Belmond High Honor Roll

As she did throughout most of her senior year, Loretta Fuller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus Fuller of Goodell, in the last quarter of the BHS school lear led the entire student body in grade average. She was the only Belmond High school student to maintain a straight-A average during the nine week period.

Just two others had A-minus averages for the final nine weeks. They were Corrine Davenport, salutatorian of the Class of '56, and Marlin Pals, a member of the sophomore class.

Principal Clair Hugh reports that the seniors came through with a flourish in the concluding quarter of their last year in school. Seventeen members of the class, which totals 54 in number, had at least B averages. This represented over 31 percent of the class.

Next best class, from the standpoint of percentage on the honor roll, was the junior with 15 of its 64 members cited for scholarship or 23 per cent. Just 16 per cent of the sophomore class — 12 out of its 76 members — made the honor list. Bringing up the rear was the freshman class. Only six out of 63 freshmen, or less than 10 per cent, won grade honors.

Besides Miss Fuller and Miss Davenport, the following seniors were listed on the honor roll: Karen Bohning, Darlene Busick, Beverly DeMerritt, Marcia Henn, Connie Hill, Elna Jenison, Maryellen Johnson, Monica Jones, Neva Kyser, Mary Luick, Shirley Soma, Annette Swenson, Harold Tendall, Sharon Thompsen and Larry Wolters.

SUI'S MEDICAL SENIORS HEAR DOCTOR LEINBACH

Dr. and Mrs. S. P. Leinbach spent Saturday and part of Sunday at the State University of Iowa, Iowa City, where Doctor Leinbach for the third year spoke before the graduating class of the college of medicine. As on previous occasions, he was assigned to outline for the young doctors-to-be the attractions and rewards of rural practice.

Saturday evening the Belmond physician appeared on a panel that conducted an open forum on various phases of medicine, which elicited many interesting questions from the young men of the college's Class of '56.

Top Grade Honors In Jr. Hi Earned By Diane Fetrow

Diane Fetrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Fetrow, topped the junior high school honor roll in the final quarter of the school year with a grade-point total of 24. That indicated that the seventh-grade miss had A's in all of her subjects. Mildred Henry, who prepared the honor roll report, says Diane was closely followed by Dennis Anderson, who had a 23-point grade total.

A similar total of 23 was achieved by Lynn Jenison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Jenison, and gave him the top position on the eighth grade honor roll.

Following the two leaders on the seventh grade list of honor students were the following, with their point total (four points given for an A, three for a B, etc.): 22 — Conrad Krass; 21 — Kay Stecher, Paul Thompson: 20 — Nancy Gabrielson, Diane Kessler, Mike Taylor.

With 19 — Jay Mennenga, Barbara Musselman, Howard Pals; 18 — Lynne Boller, Kirk Cunningham, Jerry Jenison. This made a total of 14 honor students out of a class enrollment of 72.

Sixteen eighth-graders earned a grade average of B (18 points) or better in the final quarter. There are 73 students in the class. Following Lynn Jenison on the list were: 22 — Carol Finn, Ilene Miller; 21 — Mary Lu Cox, Nancy Gallagher.

With 20 — Gary Ruka; 19 — Duane Dorenkamp, Jeff Hansen, Linda Hauge, Ardith Pals; 18 — Bonnie Nolan, Merle Anderson, Linda Stevens, Leroy Kramer, Roger Ginapp and Barbara Beenken.

GUEST SPEAKER at the general meeting of the Belmond Woman's club Monday afternoon at the Congregational church will be Mrs. Max Goldman, Japanese-American housewife of Titonka. Details regarding her appearance will be found in a story on page 6.

Violations Bring 9 Drivers Fines

A drive to compel closer observance of traffic regulations, conducted jointly by the Belmond police force and county sheriff's office, last Saturday night, brought 11 arrests on a variety of violations. One driver was arrested twice. All but one against whom information was filed was fined by Mayor Henry Hokel.

Working as teams, Officer Doug Walrod and Deputy Sheriff Ben Speedling and Deputy Dale Walrod and Officer Harold Erdman devoted about 2½ hours to their unannounced round-up of violators.

Heard and fined in mayor's court were the following: Richard Hedum, Forest City — speeding, passing stop sign and drinking on public highway, fine $25 plus costs; Arden Keifer, Clarion — speeding, $3 plus; Roger Uhlenhopp, Eagle Grove — speeding, $3 plus; Edward Roskamp, Belmond — improper passing, $3 plus.

Kenneth Wessels, Belmond — speeding, $3 plus; Mary Alice McLaughlin, Belmond — speeding, $3 plus; Dale Caquelin, Belmond — speeding, $3 plus; Lowell Call, Kansas City, Mo. — speeding, $3 plus; Gary Diddy, Meservey — speeding, $3 plus.

Rev. O.G. Poppen Concludes 32 Years' Service; Preaches Final Sermon at Immanuel Reformed

Last Sunday, Rev. O. G. Poppen preached his final sermon as pastor of the Immanuel Reformed church. He is retiring after 38 years in the ministry, 32 of which were spent at the rural church east of Belmond. He tells the Independent that in retiring he does not contemplate entering a period of complete inactivity, however. He plans to serve as a supply pastor, filling temporary pulpit vacancies where his services might be needed.

Mr. Poppen is moving to Grundy Center, where he will make his home in the Graves apartment; and he hopes to maintain contact with his many Belmond friends.

He held a charge at George for six years before coming to the Immanuel Reformed church in 1924. He recalls that for 25 of his 38 years in the ministry he preached all or part of his sermons in German. As a break with the old custom was introduced, he first delivered one Sunday morning sermon a month in English, then two, later three, and finally the services were conducted exclusively in English. He says that throughout his career as a pastor, the Sunday evening services were held in English.

Both of his sons have followed him in the ministry. Rev. Henry Poppen is a Reformed minister at Waupun, Wis., and Rev. George Poppen is pastor at the Wellsberg Reformed church. Both of them and his daughter, Mrs. Jay (Anna) Bosch of Holland, Mich., attended Central college at Pella. All but George got their degrees there; he completed his studies at Hope college, Holland, Mich. Mrs. Bosch was a puplic school teacher at Holland for a number of years before her marriage.

Mr. Poppen's wife, who shared the responsibility of his charges for 34 years, died on Sept. 21, 1952.

Under Mr. Poppen's leadership, the Immanuel Reformed church underwent many improvements and experienced much growth. Seventy-two families composed its membership at the time of his arrival. The number grew steadily over the years and the consequent overcrowding of the church was in large part responsible for formation of the new Bethany Reformed church three years ago. Even with division of the membership at that time, hhe Immanuel Reformed today still has 91 families in its membership.

Costly Repairs Put Generator Into Use Again

Iowa Electric Light and Power company last week got back in operation the generator at the local diesel plant that burned out in December. The extensive rewiring that was required to get the generator back in running condition cost close to $18,000, according to Cecil Carstens, manager of the Belmond IEL&P office.

At least another $10,000 was spent on overhauling the diesel engine that was damaged when the generator exploded as a result of a short circuit, repairs to the switch board, lead wires and the like.

Mr. Carstens says installation of the repaired generator was completed weekend before last and it joined the plant's other generator in producing electricity on Monday of last week. Both are now once again in operation about 17 hours daily, feeding into the IEL&P highline.

JAP-AMERICAN WOMAN WILL SPEAK AT CLUB MEETING ON MONDAY

Mrs. Max E. Goldman of Titonka, who has gained a reputation as being one of north Iowa's most interesting public speakers, has been engaged to present a talk before a general meeting of the Belmond Woman's club next Monday afternoon at the Congregational church.

Mrs. Martin Qualen, president of the club, says that a joint meeting of the four study groups will be held at 1:30 p. m. Mrs. Goldman will speak at 2:15 o'clock, and a general invitation is issued to any women of the community who would like to hear her to join the group at that time.

She has chosen as the topic of her remarks next Monday the intriguing title, "A Key, A Kite and A Kitchen." A number of Belmond women have heard Mrs. Goldman talk on other occasions and recommend her highly as a highly informative speaker and a woman of very unusual personality.

Mrs. Qualen says that officers for the Woman's club's 1956-57 year will be installed Monday and that the four study units will regroup for the coming year. Any members wishing to change the unit with which they are affiliated may do so at that time and any women interested in joining the club and becoming a member of one of the groups will be welcomed.

Last Friday in district court at Clarion, the First State Bank of [illegible] filed two petitions in equity [illegible] named L. O. Mussell of Belmond as defendant. One also listed his wife, Doris Mussell, as co-defendant.

The first suit asked judgment in the amount of $19,533.65 in principal and interest on chattel mortgages backed by various automobiles and trucks and sought recovery of the chattel property.

Foreclosure on three pieces of [illegible] real estate was asked of the court in the second petition. Financial consideration in this suit was $[illegible]458.95 in principal and interest.

Movies Assisting Hospital to Train Staff Personnel

Administrator Stuart Kutz reports that moving pictures have come to play an increasingly important part at Belmond Community hospital in training staff members, widening their knowledge of medical matters and giving interested groups a better insight into medical and hospital procedures. He adds that General Mills has kindly made available to the hospital a projector used for showing training films at the local GMI [illegible].

A week ago Friday a film on nursing as a profession was shown to approximately 15 Belmond High school girls who have indicated an interest in nursing as a career.

Movies are shown for the benefit of staff members the first and third Fridays of every month. Typical films they have seen included training films on "Feeding the Patient" and "Handling Oxygen Equipment" and on such general subjects as "Epilepsy." Some of the movies have also been shown to the hospital auxiliary.

Garner's Chamber To Hold Air Show

People of this vicinity will have an opportunity to see what is reputed to be the nation's largest air show when the Garner Chamber of Commerce brings the Sky Kings to Garner on Sunday, June 3.

Don C. Roe, general chairman of the event, says the Sky Kings boast America's best-known stunt pilots and stunt men, including Maj. Arthur J. Davis, noted stunt and racing pilot, "Upside-Down" Roy Timm, midwest champion, and others.

There will be parachute jumping and a wide variety of thrill acts, Roe says. Gates will open at 11:00 a.m. and the show will start at 2:30 p. m. No parking will be allowed on roads in the vicinity of the airport; but arrangements have been made to accommodate 10,000 or more spectators on a parking area near the airport.

Living Memorials Dedicated to 56 Wright Countians

Up to Memorial Day of 1956 "living memorials" had been set up by friends or relatives in the names of 56 deceased Wright county people, according to NEW HORIZONS, Iowa's free magazine with the world's largest circulation in the cancer field (280,000).

"By using grief to prevent grief," the magazine reports, "a lasting and meaningful tribute is paid. Funds are used to save lives tomorrow through cancer research and lives of others today through cancer education."

Cancer memorial funds ranging as high as $5,000 are being established at the rate of 140 monthly and thus far in commemoration of 4,350 departed Iowans, the magazine stated.

A living memorial may be started by writing to NEW HORIZONS, American Cancer Society, Mason City. Upon receiving a contribution, a letter and card will be sent to those members of the bereaved family designated, telling them that a memorial has been established. If a memorial has already been established, the family will be notified of the additional gift.

The name of the person for whom a memorial has been set up will be inscribed in the permanent "Living Memorials" book of Iowa and will be honored on the pages of future issues of NEW HORIZONS, official publication of the Iowa division of the American Cancer Society.

Those from this county for whom cancer memorials have been established since Memorial Day 1955 are as follows: Mrs. Mary Nielson, Mrs. Olaf Lee, Martin Olson, Cora May Orr, John Keppers, Gertrude Dougherty, Grace Wampler, John H. Munnis, Marie McCoy, Mrs. Ed Hartsock, Mrs. Inez Merson, Mrs. Arthur Bohy, Mrs. Edward Ericksen, Mrs. Homer Mechem, Mrs. J. Paul Yon, Mac Russell, Alice Pierce, Mac Fisher and Mabel Ryan Skipton.

Mission Festival Conducted Today

Annual mission festival of the Immanuel Reformed church is being held today (Thursday). As customary, offerings will be taken for the cause of missions and the general public is invited to participate in the services. Free meals will be served at noon and in the evening.

Rev. O. G. Poppen says a program has been prepared that should be both interesting and challenging. It will open at 9:30 a. m. with a Sunday school session conducted by Bernice Roos of the Winnebago, Neb., Indian mission.

At 10:30 o'clock, Mr. Poppen's son, Rev. H. B. Poppen of Waupun, Wis., will preach. Following the lunch period, the speaker at 2:00 p.m. will be Rev. John Buteyn, who has been active in mission work in India.

At 3:00 p. m. Miss Roos will be the speaker and at 7:30, Mr. Buteyn again. Rev. H. B. Poppen will be heard at 8:30, to complete the day's services. Special music will be provided by the Immanuel Reformed's junior and senior choirs and Mrs. George C. Poppen of Wellsburg will offer a solo.

Child Molester To Penitentiary

Sam Paul, Fort Dodge contractor who in March of last year was paroled after being sentenced by Judge H. C. Nichol to three years in the state penitentiary, on Tuesday of this week was taken to Fort Madison after violation of his parole.

Sentencing of Paul followed his plea of guilty to committing lascivious acts with a child. He had been involved in a number of molestation incidents involving Wright county children.

He was brought before Judge Nichol on Monday after the Webster county parole officer recommended that Paul's parole be revoked. The judge found Paul guilty of violation of parole and ordered him committed to the penitentiary for a period not to exceed three years, as specified in his original sentence.

Nearly ½ Wright County Farms Have Had Soil Tested

Nearly half of the farms in Wright county have had from one to 30 samples of soil completely analyzed at the state soil test laboratory at Iowa State college to determine need for commercial fertilizers, according to recent returns received at the county extension office.

Farmers' growing realization of the need for complete soil analysis is indicated by the number of requests already on hand for complete soil tests for this year, says Aaron Bowman, county extension director. Approximately 100 farmers have requested that soil samples be taken on their farms for sending to Ames. This number will be increased as other farmers request this service during the summer, Bowman confidently predicts.

Trained Samplers Soon Available

Demand for complete soil tests has varied from one part of the county to another. Lake and Lincoln townships each have 78 farms from which samples have been submitted for complete soil tests. Close behind is Vernon with 73 farms, followed by Boone 66, Grant 62, Belmond 58, Troy 55, Dayton 55, Liberty 54, Iowa 50, Eagle Grove 48, Norway 44, Woolstock 43, Wall Lake 42, Pleasant 36 and Blaine 35.

Three, trained soil-samplers will be on the job about June 1 to take samples in this county to send to the state soil testing laboratory. These soil-samplers are hired and paid by the county ASC committee and trained by the county extension service.

$1.50 Charge Per Test

There is no charge for collecting the soil samples, but a fee of $1.50 per sample must be paid for the laboratory test. The result of the test, plus fertilizer recommendations, are returned to the farmer. Tests are run on lime requirement and to determine available supplies of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

Reliable soil tests of a farm should be taken about once each rotation, or every four to five years, Bowman says. He suggests that farms which were tested from 1950 to 1952 should be retested soon. It takes from four to eight weeks from time of sampling until results of a test are returned, depending upon how rushed the soil laboratory is.

1,066 in County Purchased Seals

R. W. Gibson of Eagle Grove, co-chairman of the Wright county unit of the Iowa Society for Crippled Children and Adults, has announced that Easter Seals were purchased during the recent, annual fund-raising campaign by 1,066 individuals in the county. Their generosity made the drive an outstanding success, he reports.

Commenting on the '56 campaign, Mr. Gibson says, "Crippled children have a brighter outlook because of the understanding shown in the problems that confront them. The generosity of their friends is providing these youngsters with means of living with their handicaps, aids and appliances to overcome some of them, and even means of recovery in some instances."

Mr. Gibson adds that contributions are gratefully accepted the year through, and if donations were neglected by some persons who intended to contribute to the campaign it is not too late to send them in. They should be sent to Mrs. William Fisher, secretary of the Crippled Childrens Society, Eagle Grove.

WRIGHT MIGHT WELL TAKE A LESSON FROM KOSSUTH ON ROAD-SURFACING

Wright county's board of supervisors might well look to the northwest for some valuable hints on how to make their 10-year program of road surfacing turn into a dream come true. Kossuth county a week ago last Friday let contract for 42 miles of 1956 blacktopping, entirely out of county construction funds. In addition, Kossuth is getting another 20½ miles of hard-surfacing done with farm-to-market funds.

Whereas Wright's surfacing of secondary roads prior to launching of the current, long-range program was insignificant in volume, Kossuth since 1950 has blacktopped 143 miles and by the end of the year will have more than 200 miles of hard-surfaced secondary roads.

That evokes the very logical question, "How have they done it?" For one thing—although Kossuth has 1,666 miles of secondary road to Wright's [illegible]—our neighbors to the north find they can maintain their roads with a crew of 32 men. Wright county currently has 49 on the road payroll. In 1954, Kossuth transferred maintenance funds in the amount of $150,000 into construction; in 1955, the same; and this year $200,000 in maintenance funds will be diverted to construction. On the other hand Wright county has regularly, for a period of years, annually transferred very sizeable chunks of construction money into the maintenance fund.

Money diverted in this manner builds no hard-surfaced roads. More than that, it encourages wasteful maintenance practices. In this connection, the Kossuth County Advance made the following observation regarding Kossuth's remarkable hard-surfacing program:

"The reason for undertaking this hard-surfacing is not only to provide for better transportation, but also to save the dwindling supply of gravel (which is also a serious consideration in Wright county) and to save on maintenance costs. It is estimated that Kossuth county has already SAVED some HALF MILLION DOLLARS (our capitals) in maintenance since this program was initiated."

It might be mentioned that Kossuth's program entails a process of progressive construction. One year a road is given a stabilized base by mixing the gravel with clay so it will stay in place. The next year, this road—which has also been brought to proper grade—is ready to receive blacktop. At a later date, when the three-inch mat of blacktop begins to deteriorate, a two-inch coating of hot mix will extend the useful life of the road for another stretch of years.

H. M. Smith, Kossuth county engineer, says that the 20 miles of hard-surfaced road that were constructed six years ago have stood up very satisfactorily and as yet show no need for the hot-mix application. He adds that the project has been so successful in lowering road costs that "money and more money" is becoming available as more roads are surfaced!

We've said before, and we again repeat, that all credit is due the Wright county board for undertaking the new road-surfacing program. BUT we wish also to stress once more that conception of such a plan is a far cry from execution. Our program is not so ambitious but what it should lend itself easily to realization, IF a halt is called to maintenance extravagance. That will call the turn on whether the plan succeeeds, or whether it doesn't.

ALGONA FINDS A WAY TO GET SOME STREET SURFACING DONE REASONABLY

In addition to the item in last week's Algona Advance which prompted the above editorial, there was another brief story in that newspaper which caught our eye. It had to do with solicitation of bids for the blacktopping of several blocks of street in Algona and it waspointed out that the work could be done at a minimum of expense if let so it could be completed as a part of the county road-surfacing project.

With all the progressiveness that Belmond has shown in recent years, we can't help feel that the day is not far distant when some of our residents will become grossly dissatisfied with the streets that now front their homes. There would seem to be the nub of an idea in that Algona story.

Of course, curb and gutter is a prior "must" before a street can be hard-surfaced satisfactorily. But home-owners in several blocks have reached the "talking stage" in consideration of improving their streets. We've felt that if a little private initiative should get the ball rolling, the next five years might see a good deal of street improvement here.

Next year, the county road program will involve the blacktopping of a number of miles of road. As in the case of Algona this year, a contractor will be having heavy machinery close by and some surfacing could be done in Belmond at a cost well under that customary for a few blocks of street. Does this give anyone ideas?

Draheim Polls More Votes Than Both Rivals for County Attorney

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Monday was a busy day at the Methodist church building site. Pouring of cement on 171 running yards of wall nearly nine feet high was started at 5:45 a. m. and the last cubic yard of concrete flowed into the forms about 9:15 p. m. Fifty-four men and four boys worked the day through at the job, which — once started — could not be interrupted. Six women served lunch both morning and afternoon. Nine regular employees of the A. H. Hattendorf Construction company worked along with the local laborers.

Andy Lieuwen, general chairman of the church committee, reports that 248 man-hours of work were contributed on the job during the day, which represents a tidy savings in construction cost!

Rev. M. L. Jones tells us that possessors of faces which he didn't see in the pews the day before were kept from idleness by being assigned to the "rock pile" when otherwise unoccupied. Those on the "rock pile" were engaged in trimming the stone that will serve as facing on the new church. With a twinkle in his eye, Parson Jones told us, "I'm going to make good Christians out of those non-churchgoers one way or another." He only regrets he won't always have a rock pile handy to abet his efforts.

Who's got a surrey — with or without fringe on top? Or some other type of horse-drawn vehicle of some degree of elegance? The centennial committee would like to know about any and all buggies, wagons, etc., of reasonably ancient vintage that might still be stored in barns around the countryside. If you have one, or know someone who has, please notify Mrs. S. P. Leinbach, secretary of the committee.

Apparently General Mills launched another balloon barrage from Minneapolis last week. Four of the giant, plastic affairs descended in this vicinity on Friday and were recovered. None, however, had either a barograph or mailing card attached. Seems strange!

Mrs. Earl Hinman brought one of the balloons in to The Independent. They're really whoppers! Other "finds" were reported by phone by Mrs. John Davids, the Jim McLaughlins and Ed McLaughlins.

All were anxious to keep the heavy gauge plastic, which gave promise of having many useful purposes. One of those babies could sure keep a lot of lettuce crisp in the Frigidaire! . . . In absence of the mailing cards, we're informing "The General" where the balloons lit.

Sheriff Bob Blecker tells us that a gentleman from Florida got involved in the "Safety Lane" line-up Monday evening and was more than a little perplexed to find his auto being inspected from A to Izzard without a by-your-leave being obtained from him. When his car had run the gamut and been rewarded with an OK sticker, he was pleasantly surprised to learn that it had been thoroughly checked for defects and maladjustments at no cost to himself. He went his way thinking highly of the Wright County Peace Officers association.

Mrs. Bena Jordan last week brought in a puzzler to submit to the Mainstreeters' wildlife question and answer service. With the help of Nancy G's tree book, we're able to come up with the requested information. Mrs. Jordan's offering was a strange looking growth from an evergreen. It looked like a berry whose mother had been scared by an octopus. Fleshy tentacles extended from it in profusion, giving it an appearance much like a tiny chrysanthemum — but almost repulsively "alive" to the touch.

We're prepared to inform Mrs. B. that her "find" (the tree, incidentally, was liberally covered with the odd growths) was a juniper berry.

This peculiar fruit with the snakelike protuberances has been known to make intemperate individuals see snakes in more conventional form after over-imbibing in a well known juniper-flavored beverage — gin. The juniper is not native to these parts, the Rocky Mountain area and western states being its natural habitat. The book says that many Indians — along with birds and other small wildlife — like to eat the berries. We didn't sample the one we had on hand to find out why.

When the election results from only four precincts had been posted on the tally board at the county auditor's office Monday night, "Newt" Draheim and Ben Willie — opponents for the GOP county attorney nomination — were simultaneously inspecting the results. The "first up" were from the four wards in Eagle Grove, and all gave an edge to the home-towner, Willie. He looked pleased. His Clarion opponent reflected some dismay. But things took a turn, shortly. Willie did not capture a single additional precinct out of the county's 28!

LOATS, DANIELS, SCHULTE ON DORMITORY COUNCIL

Three students from this vicinity have been re-elected to the council of Gaass hall, Central college dormitory. They are Kenneth Loats and Wilbur Daniels of Belmond and Eldon Schulte of Alexander.

Dr. Walter DeKoch, director of the dormitory, in informing the boys' parents of their re-election to the council said it spoke well of the fine leadership the young men have shown.

Car Safety Check Reveals 348 Out Of 440 Autos OK

Not so high a percentage of cars was found in satisfactory operating condition in this year's "Safety Lane" check in Belmond as last year. But Sheriff Bob Blecker was nevertheless pleased by the outcome of Monday and Tuesday nights' car inspections.

Out of a total of 440 cars that ran through the "Safety Lane" on the two nights, 348 were found without faults needing correction. That made the OK cars amount to slightly under 81 per cent of the number inspected. A year ago, 87 per cent of the cars "passed;" but in 1954, only 67 per cent were in satisfactory condition.

Most prevalent defect of major importance, Sheriff Blecker reports, was loose tie rods. If it was at all a representative group of cars that ran through "Safety Lane" here, he suspects that quite a number of Belmond drivers would do well to have their steering equipment examined.

The minor defect most frequently discovered was headlights that focused too high. The sheriff pointed out that this is a fault that represents as big a hazard to the owner of the car as to others and one that no driver should allow to persist.

Belmond's policemen and mechanics were assisted by members of the Wright County Peace Officers association in conducting the 'Safety Lane" check. The association sponsors the project on a countywide basis annually.

As an added feature of this year's inspections, safety literature was handed out to all drivers who had their autos inspected. Assisting the officers by distributing this material were four Belmond Boy Scouts: Gary Porter, Jay Mennenga, Tommy Middleton and Jerry Frohling.

BELMOND CO-OP CREAMERY NOMINATES 3 TO SEEK TITLE OF DAIRY PRINCESS AT ANNUAL BANQUET

Belmond Co-op Creamery will have three candidates contending for the title of Wright County Dairy Princess at the June Dairy Month Banquet to be held Monday at the Dows High school gymnasium. They are Marcia Henn, who graduated this spring from Belmond High school; Carol Ann Poulson, Rowan High graduate with the Class of '56; and Lorene Bobst, an Alexander High school alumna who now is employed in Mason City.

These girls will be among approximately two dozen from whom the 1956 Dairy Princess will be chosen by vote of the persons attending the Dairy Banquet. The county winner will later represent Wright in the Iowa Dairy Princess contest at Waverly, and the state winner will advance to the national contest.

Featured speaker on the after-dinner program will be Clinton Hentrich of Chicago, who has been in the sales promotion organization of the American Dairy association since 1954. He was employed in the dairy division of Swift and company for 17 years before accepting his present position. Extension Director Aaron Bowman will also speak, telling something about a tour to the eastern coast that he recently enjoyed.

Curtis Rise, manager of the Belmond Creamery, says the committee in charge has arranged other entertainment that he is sure the guests will find enjoyable. The local creamery has an allotment of tickets. These may be obtained at $1.50 per place from the creamery or any of its directors.

CAROL ANN POULSON

MARCIA HENN

Sharon Hilpipre of the Lincoln Lassies League was elected at last Saturday's county 4-H Rally Day at Clarion to succeed Beth Bobie of the Dayton Dandies as president of the 4-H girls of Wright county. The annual gathering, held at the Clarion High school gymnasium, was attended by 335 4-H members, mothers, club leaders, county committeewomen and guests.

Miss Hilpipre will be a Clarion High school senior next year, although at present she is only 15 years old. She has been active in club work for six years and has held all offices in her club but that of vice president. She has made an outstanding 4-H record from all standpoints, had top record book in the county in 1954, has won 27 blue ribbons at the Eagle Grove Junior Fair, and has sung with the county 4-H chorus.

Marjorie Johnson, Historian

Nine candidates vied for county offices, with club voting delegates listing their choices for the top five in numerical order. The candidate polling the best vote automatically became president, the second in rank became vice president and so on until the five officers were all selected.

The Belmond Busy Bees are again represented in the list of officers, Marjorie Johnson winning the historian's post. Others elected were: Ellen Smith, Grant Go-Getters, vice president; Jane Baker, Norway Jolly Joy Makers, secretary; and Gloria Arends, Iowa U-Go-I-Go, treasurer, Retiring officers, besides Miss Robie, are: Arlene Boyington, Blaine Blue Ribbon Winners, vice president; Melvene Weld, Lincoln Lassies League, secretary; Mary Alice Studebaker, Belmond Busy Bees, treasurer; and Karen Azeltine, Iowa U-Go-I-Go, historian.

Same Cash Gifts "Up" Next Week

Only two out of a dozen Cash Gift Day numbers posted Tuesday afternoon were "cashed in." Mrs. Wayne Shaw of Thornton was well repaid for her trip all the way to Belmond; she received $25 at 2:00 p. m. There was one 3:00 o'clock winner, too — Ruth Boelman; her purse was fattened to the extent of $50. Another $450 will be laid on the line next Tuesday afternoon. That will again provide for six $25's at 2:00 p. m. and a half dozen $50's at 3:00 o'clock. ALL $450 will be paid out — IF the holders of the proper numbers are on hand.

Plans for Summer Recreation Drawn; Starts June 18th

Plans for the annual PTA summer recreation program were completed at a meeting of the recreation committee held Monday evening. On the committee are M. B. Dannewitz, Mrs. Robert Garms, Rev. William Schorman, Mrs. Al Mennenga and Sol Krass. Don Hoppel has again been engaged as director of the program.

Activities will start on Monday, June 18, and continue through seven weeks. The type of program will be somewhat different from that followed the past couple of years, when peewee baseball more or less monopolized the spotlight.

Movies on Monday

On Mondays, special movies will be shown at the New Belmond theater at 2:00 p. m. There will be the customary charge of 20 cents, but the films will be outstanding pictures made especially for child audiences.

Tuesdays and Wednesdays will be devoted to peewee baseball, with Hoppel directing play from 1:30 to 4:00 p. m. Participation will be limited to boys from the ages of eight through 12. If there is sufficient demand, midget ball may be added for the 13-15 age group and a test of interest in girls' softball will be made, also.

Swimming Planned

There will be a swim period each Thursday afternoon at the Clarion pool, with busses loading up at the city park at 1:00 p. m. The swim periods will extend from 1:30 to 4:00 p. m. Director Hoppel says only two busses will be available, so the period may have to be divided into two sessions if so many children sign up that the pool cannot accommodate them all at one time.

Friday will be special events day, with baseball to occupy the early afternoons on days that evening or late afternoon activities are planned. The Friday schedule calls for the following events: June 22, play day; June 29, bicycle races.

July 6, junior hike and candy hunt; July 13, fish day; July 20, kiddies parade on Main street at 7:00 p. m.; July 27, family night at Morse lake, with picnic and free boat rides; Aug. 3, pewee baseball championship play-off between North and South teams, 6:15 p. m.

Further explanation of the program and additional details will be published next week.

Local Boy Scouts Back from Week's Black Hills Outing

Thirteen Belmond Boy Scouts returned home last Saturday just after noon, concluding a week's enjoyable outing in the Black Hills of South Dakota. They were accompanied by Scoutmaster "Jake" Freshwater, with Ed Frohling and George Hoppel also serving as drivers and Bill Murray chauffering a station wagon full of supplies.

They left Saturday morning, May 26, reaching Mitchell, S. D., for their first night's camp. The rest of the week they headquartered on the shores of Lake Sheridan. They took trips to Mount Rushmore National Monument, the Deadwood and Lead area, Carter Lake National Park, Hot Springs and Rushmore Cave. They made a stop-over at Mitchell, again, on their way home.

7 Precincts Give Countryman Edge Over Hickenlooper

Arthur F. "Newt" Draheim, Jr., proved in Monday's primary election that no better key to political success has yet been discovered than going the rounds and meeting the voters. The young, Clarion lawyer easily won the three-way contest for the GOP county attorney nomination, accumulating half again more votes than both of his opponents — Marvin Kjellberg of Clarion and Ben Willie of Eagle Grove — together.

After having conducted one of the most aggressive campaigns Wright county has witnessed on the local level in a good many years, Draheim totalled 1,492 votes to Kjellberg's 510 and Willie's 477. His Democratic opponent in the November election, Martin Morrissey of Clarion, polled only 387 votes — nearly 224 less than the best vote-getter for his party in the primary.

Vote Larger Than '54

With some 400 to 500 more voters going to the polls this year than in 1954's primary, the balloting Monday largely followed a predictable pattern. The top tally received by any Republican candidates (Clerk of Court Bessie Johnson) was 2,257; and John Hansen of Eagle Grove, unopposed Democratic candidate for state treasurer, polled 610 votes. These totals indicate a probable over-all total vote of 2,950 to 3,000.

Bill Nicholas, winner over Governor Hoegh in Wright county in '54, ran strongly over Pendleton in the GOP lieutenant-governor race, 1,609 to 724. U. S. Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper didn't do equally well against Dayton Countryman. The votes of dissatisfied farmers resulted in the incumbent senator trailing his young opponent in seven precincts, including Belmond and Norway townships. His edge over Countryman was 1,458 to 982.

Evans Over Wilcox

Incumbent Carl Reed barely nosed out former commissioner B. M. Richardson in the tussle for the GOP commerce commission nomination, 637 to 615. Ray Thompson brought up the rear with 595. Wright county voters joined up in opposition to the "big city" by giving Erbe of Boone a 1,448-526 edge over Hise of Des Moines for the Republican attorney general nomination.

In Democratic contests, the vote in this county ras as follows: U. S. senator — Evans 530, Wilcox 161; governor — Loveless 447, Plummer 241; lieutenant-governor — Bartley 339, O'Malley 304; attorney general — Fitzgerald 223, Welch 213, Wilson 177; commerce commissioner — Vaughn 360, Lint 206.

Dolliver Runs Strong

Best Republican vote-getter above the local level was Rep. J. I. Dolliver with 2,073. Clark McNeal tallied 2,083 for the state representative nomination compared to 576 votes for Robinson, his Democratic opponent next fall. Incumbent county officers polled: Recorder Grace Fletcher 2,228, Sheriff Bob Blecker 2,224, Treasurer Harold Sullivan 2,190, and Auditor Myron Price 2,129. Clerk Bessie Johnson, as earlier mentioned, captured 2,257 votes.

Dr. Robert Eaton of Clarion led in the write-in vote for coroner, but lacked a high enough total for nomination.

Following are details on the voting in Belmond and adjacent precincts, showing in order the number of Republican and Democratic ballots cast, the division of votes for GOP county attorney candidates and between Hickenlooper and Countryman for U. S. senator.

Belmond — 1st Ward, (R) 55 (D) 39; Draheim 32, Kjellberg 9, Willie 7; Hickenlooper 33, Countryman 20; 2nd Ward, (R) 60 (D) 17; (Dr.) 33, (K) 15, (W) 4; (H) 33, (C) 22; 3rd Ward, (R) 73 (D) 31; (Dr.) 45, (K) 5, (W) 11; (H) 51, (C) 16.

Belmond Women Will Organize "Sisters of Swish" Next week

An organization meeting to form an "auxiliary" of the Belmond Whisker club is scheduled for 8:00 p. m. next Tuesday at the city hall, under sponsorship of Beta Sigma Phi sorority. To be known as the Sisters of the Swish, its members will be expected to blossom forth in 19th century sunbonnets and old-fashioned dresses.

Mrs. Pete Pals, president of the sorority, says an effort is being made to contact all women's organizations in town with an open invitation to their members to attend Tuesday's meeting. She assures that if any women are not contacted through an organization, they are nevertheless cordially invited to be present to take part in the Sisters' activities.

Members of the pageant costuming committee have also shown interest in the proposed Sisters of the Swish and are expected to play a part in its establishment. Also, they foresee that costumes created by the Sisters may help in outfitting the pageant cast, when the time comes for the pageant to be produced.

Women with old-time patterns for dresses or bonnets are urged to bring them along.

Converter on Police Car Radio Here Gives New Link with State Station

Police Chief Gilford Paxton advises The Independent that the converter enabling the police car radio to receive on the state highway patrol frequency has now been installed. This will permit Belmond residents to obtain police assistance in case of emergency quicker than ever before.

Emmett King, who is in charge of the state radio station north of town, asks that all day calls continue to be routed through the city hall (dial 386). Depending upon the urgency of the matter at hand, City Clerk Carrie Courtney can then contact an officer via the police lights or make contact through the state station.

When the city hall is closed, however, Mr. King says the state station will be happy to serve as liason with the local police when emergencies arise that require the attention of an officer. By dialing 511, the station can be reached and the police summons broadcast to the city patrol car.

This system will put Belmond residents within phone's reach of an officer and reduce to almost a matter a seconds the length of time needed to contact an officer of the law.

Chief Paxton and the city mayor and council believe installation of the converter will prove a large, forward step toward increasing the effectiveness of the Belmond police department.

The radio station is listed in the telephone book under State Public Safety department. However, the city officials suggest that No. 511 be written on the outside or flyleaf of each phone book so it will be readily at hand if needed in a hurry.

Top Shoot Honors To Deputy Walrod

Deputy Sheriff Dale Walrod was the all-events winner as the Wright County Peace Officers association conducted its annual pistol shoot last week at the Clarion city gravel pit north of Greyhound station. He was also the individual winner with the .45 calibre machine gun.

Other events were won by the following: .38 pistol, Patrolman Al Sparby (with score of 245 out of a possible 250); .30 rifle, Don Champlin, former special deputy to the sheriff; .12 riot gun, (tie) Lynn Froshee of the state police radio station, Doug Dean and E. W. "Curley" Lucas of Clarion and Sheriff Bob Blecker, each with nine out of 10.

Roving Sheep Get Blamed for Crash

Roving sheep caused an estimated $475 damage to two cars about 7:15 p. m. Sunday when they wandered out of a field on the LeRoy Tendall farm onto Highway 69 five miles south of Belmond.

Trying to avoid a brush with the woolies, Bert McGarry, 55, of Des Moines jammed on his brakes and pulled toward the right shoulder. He was headed north. So was Fern J. Huling, 50, of Britt rural route 1, who was not expecting McGarry's abrupt deceleration and crashed into the rear of the Des Moines car.

Mr. Huling's car was damaged to the extent of $300 and the estimate of damage to McGarry's was $175, Sheriff Bob Blecker reports. The sheep escaped unharmed.

Centennial Days Crowds Will See "Big-Time" Rodeo

Another major attraction for Belmond's Centenial celebration went on the program last Friday as the general committee gave the green light to scheduling a really top-flight rodeo for the afternoons of Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 11-12. Marvin "Slick" Pals has been put in charge of the arrangements and by the middle of this week had made some excellent progress towards lining up a number of special acts and spreading the word among artists of the midwest rodeo circuit that there will be an ideal opportunity to display their skills on the dates specified.

Seating for at least 1,500 spectators is being obtained to accommodate the crowds that are confidently expected to attend the centennial pageant on Friday and Saturday night, and the bleachers will also be available to seat the rodeo fans.

Barbecue Plans Advance

Tentative arrangements have been made to bring a classy, 24-horse drill team from Algona as a parade unit and to put on a riding demonstration during the rodeo. Mr. Pals is also in the process of lining up some roping and riding acts to intersperse the rodeo contests. He has been told by the centennial committee not to stint on going after the best talent he can obtain and it seems certain that the centennial fun-seekers will be treated to the best rodeo that has ever appeared in this vicinity.

Another step towards making the centennial a memorable event was taken last week when the Junior Chamber of Commerce engaged a couple of barbecue specialists from Norway, Ia., to put on the "feed" planned for Saturday noon, Aug. 11. These men have had wide experience in putting on real, old-fashioned pit barbecues. It is the plan to serve the barbecued beef in the city park, but it will not likely prove feasible to prepare the meat there. Only a "cost" charge will be made for the piping hot sandwiches.

Ten Queen Candidates

Preparations for launching the Centennial Queen contest continued apace last week. Mrs. Jim Cairns, chairman of the queen committee, announces that the field of 10 candidates was completely filled by the end of the week and the contest will open next week. The handsome, official centennial badges which the queen candidates will sell were received this week. Names of all the candidates, and their pictures, will appear in next week's Independent.

General Mills Men's club, the Belmond Co-op Creamery and the Chamber of Commerce have been joined by the following organizations as candidate sponsors: Junior Chamber of Commerce, Belmond Fire department, Odd Fellows, the local veterans' organizations (American Legion and VFW, jointly), Belmond-Pleasant township Farm Bureau, Sportsman's club and the Lions club.

Urge Thought on Floats

According to the centennial general committee, the celebration program is now virtually complete and will be ready for release in the very near future. Scores of individuals are now actively engaged in preparations for the big event, and it will be necessary to call on many more to lend a hand in the weeks to come.

Co-Chairmen Ron Courson, Pat Gallagher and Chet Hiddleston are anxious that organizations and business firms begin serious planning on their parade floats. They also urge that possessors of heirlooms and antiques that should be on display during the days of celebration phone Mrs. Harold Johnson and advise her what they can loan for the occasion.

Meeting Arranged To Revive Assn. Of B.H.S. Alumni

With numerous class reunions being planned for the time of Belmond's Centennial celebration, steps are to be taken to reactivate the Belmond Alumni association and a meeting of BHS graduates is scheduled at the city hall next Monday for that purpose. The meeting will be held at 2:00 p. m. and W. P. Tyrrell, president of the alumni group, urges a good turnout.

He and Mrs. A. C. Lieuwen, as secretary, are current officers of the association. They say that the association has been inactive for some time due to lack of interest, but both regard that it could serve a useful purpose if revived at this time.

The centennial committee is going to have letters printed, inviting BHS alumni and other former residents of the community to return for the August celebration. These will be made available to class, church, lodge and other groups without cost. The centennial program sets aside Sunday, Aug. 12, as Reunion Day, and it is hoped that a great many open houses will be scheduled at that time.

With the installation of this new playground equipment the park has taken on greater value to all.

Johnine Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, has been chosen as one of 30 members of the Junior Red Cross of America to enjoy a 34-day, expense-paid trip to Europe this summer as official representatives of the American Red Cross. Only cost having to be met by the young people is that involved in obtaining their passports.

Miss Brown will leave Meservey for New York City early in July to meet with other members of the party for a few days' briefing before they embark for Europe July 11. They will make the trip aboard the S. S. Independence.

According to Miss Brown, who will be an MHS senior next fall, the group's itinerary will include Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, Luxembourg, France, Germany, and possibly Austria. Some side trips are also planned which may perhaps take the delegation briefly into other countries.

The purpose of the trip is to give the Junior Red Cross members an opportunity to become personally acquainted with the people in the European nations they visit and acquire a first-hand knowledge of their problems and hopes.

Upon their return to the States, members of the touring party will be called upon to speak before Red Cross gatherings, school groups and organizations that might be interested in their experiences abroad. Miss Brown does not know if any other Iowans in addition to herself will be making the tour.

An active worker in the Junior Red Cross for several years, Miss Brown was named to the Cerro Gordo Junior Red Cross Council last fall and elected as its president. In October she was named as one of 10 young people in the 16-state region for which St. Louis, Mo., is headquarters to serve on the Midwestern Area Council of Junior Red Cross members.

MARYELLEN JOHNSON
Will Represent BHS

Maryellen Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson, was announced last week as Belmond High school's candidate for the title of Miss North Iowa at the North Iowa Band Festival in Mason City on June 12.

A graduate with the Class of '56, Miss Johnson was given scholastic recognition as a member of the senior honor roll and also participated in a wide range of extra-curricular activities.

She was particularly outstanding in speech and dramatics, winning a Division I rating in state speech competition the past two years and filling roles in the class play as both a junior and senior.

Miss Johnson was a contender for honors in the state music contest as a pianist and served as an accompanist in the vocal music department. She also was a member of the girls glee club, mixed chorus and various small, singing groups. She has been a twirler with the marching band.

During all four of her years in high school, Maryellen was a cheerleader. Her affiliations with BHS organizations included membership in the Future Homemakers of America, Pep club and Girls Athletic association.

She was also active on the staff of the student newspaper, "Hoofbeats," throughout her high school career and was an associate editor as a senior. As a junior she was elected to membership in Quill and Scroll, national intersholastic honor society in journalism.

ASC Urges Reseal of Eligible Corn; 45 New Bins Coming to This County

Wright county farmers having price-supported corn on their farms will be urged to reseal as much of it as possible for another year to help solve the big grain storage problem which has developed in the state. The benefits from resealing will include a storage payment of at least 15 cents a bushel for eligible corn kept on the farms a full extra year.

Eligible for resealing this year will be 1955 corn under original loans, 1955 corn under purchase agreements which are converted to loans, and 1954 corn now under reseal loans. There will be no further extension of loans on resealed 1953 corn still on the farms.

Statewide Storage Problem

The statewide storage problem results from the fact that around 165 million bushels of price-supported corn will be eligible for delivery to the government when the loans and purchase agreements mature on July 31. With most of the present binsite and commerical warehouse space already filled with government-owned corn, there is an estimated 78-million-bushel shortage of off-farm storage room.

To meet the statewide situation, these steps are planned: urge farmers of Iowa to reseal at least 50 million bushels of their price-supported corn; increase binsite space in the state by 18 million bushels by immediate erection of 5,535 bins recently puchased by the government; and make full use of all available old and new commerical space.

More Bins for Wright

Wright county will get 45 new bins having a total capacity of 146,450 bushels. Under terms of contracts awared by the Department of Agriculture, these additional government bins are to be erected and ready for use by July 31. County ASC Office Manager O. J. Hanson emphasizes, however, that these new bins provide only a partial solution to the local problem and that considerable resealing will be necessary to meet the situation entirely.

A total of 1,079,423 bushels of 1953 and 1954 corn was resealed in Wright county last year. It is predicted that at least that much 1954 and 1955 corn will be resealed this year and even more if weather and crop conditions are unfavorable at delivery time.

Pointing out that some producers lack sufficient storage space to participate in resealing, Mr. Hanson mentioned that government loans are available to finance as much as 80 per cent of the cost of needed cribs and bins. These loans draw four per cent interest and are repayable in four annual installments.

Tax Benefit Cited

The committee also mentioned that the cost of grain storage facilities completed prior to January 1, 1957, can be charged off over a five-year period on income tax returns.

In explaining the benefits of resealing, it is emphasized that delivery of resealed corn to the government is not required to earn a storage payment. At the end of the reseal period, the farmer may either deliver or repay his loan and in either case receive a full year's storage payment. The farmer also has the right to redeem his grain at any time during the reseal year and receive a pro-rated payment for the period beginning Oct. 1, 1956.

Hedge on Feed Shortage

Farmers having resealed 1954 corn who desire to continue the reseal another year will receive the storage payment for the past year when they extend their loans in the coming settlement period.

In addition to providing an opportunity to earn a storage payment, resealing permits the producer to retain title to and possession of his corn. This protects him against a feed shortage and places him in position to profit if market prices should climb above the support rate. Quality and storage requirements for resealing are the same as for obtaining original loans. The interest rate on resealed loans remains at 3½ per cent.

It will stay brighter longer too!

Select 3 Topics For Year's Family Living Meetings

Wright County's Family Living extension program committee has completed its work on the Family Living program for next fall and winter. Three main lessons will be given to the local leaders to take back to their clubs. They will be:

"The Use of New Fibers in the Home," to be given by local leaders at the November club meetings; "How to Get the Most for the Food Dollar," to be given in January; and "Landscaping," to be given in February or March.

There will be a special-interest three-day workshop for 20 women on "Refinishing old Furniture and Finishing New Wood," given during the winter on a sign-up basis. Four open meetings for both men and women interested in "Understanding Social Security" will be held at various points in the county during November.

A special meeting will be planned to enlist the support and cooperation of the schools, young people, parents and others interested in understanding the needs of development of young people, says Mrs. Bernard Collins, chairman of the committee. A survey was sent out to all interested clubs in the county to find the needs and interests of the people to determine the above program.

On the Family Living program committee, in addition to Mrs. Collins, are: Mrs. Dwight Tyrrell, secretary, Mrs. Maurice Martin, Mrs. Weirt Brower, Mrs. George Kyseth, Mrs. Albert Moellering, Mrs. Gerhard Thompson and Mrs. Ed Oldaker.

Any group, organized or unorganized, wishing to participate in the Family Living program may do so by sending to the county extension office at Clarion the name and address of the chairman of the group or club and the name and address of women (preferably two) who will attend each of the three local leader training lessons and then "repeat" the lessons to their group.

Those who are interested in the three-day workshop on "Refinishing" can send their names to the County Extension office at Clarion, so that they will receive notices of the meeting and be told materials to bring.

[illegible] to believe that Belmond [illegible] put together a good Junior [illegible] baseball team, but again [illegible] effort has been made [illegible]. The BHS nine this [illegible] showed the best potentialities [illegible] several years and might [illegible] developed into quite a classy [illegible], if it could have continued [illegible] into the summer season. [illegible] members of the team are playing with the Garner Junior Legion outfit and, according to Manager Royal Molander, committing themselves well. They are Jerry Chandler and Dale Caquelin. (We learned later that Rollie Jenison has been seeing action with Garner, too.

Molander says Jerry has won the second base assignment as a regular and Dale is being used as a pitcher and reserve first baseman. In Garner's opener with Algona, which th former won 4-2, Chandler had a double and single in three plate appearances. Doesn't seem logical that Garner should be able to field a team and Belmond not. How come, Legionnaires?

Eldon Schulte, recent Alexander High sports luminary, won his second letter at Central college as a sophomore by holding down the third-baseman job this spring on the Dutchmen's baseball nine. He'd the basketball team. Coach Marinus Kregel loses only one player from this year's diamond squad and next spring hopes to improve materially on Central's mediocre 4-9 record.

—PSS—

Ken Loats, who lettered in baseball as a pitcher-outfielder at Central last year, did not come out for the squad this season — to Coach Kregel's regret. Ken decided to bear down on his studies, instead, in hope of improving an already outstanding academic record. The former Bronco all-stater in basketba'l will be seeking new glory in the cage sport next winter, though.

The Belmond Roughrider club has another trail ride coming up next Sunday and issues an invitation to all riding enthusiasts in the vicinity to come along. They'll welcome new members, too. This weekend's ride will start from the Harold Vanness home at 1:00 p. m. and end up back at the farm for lunch at 4:30 o'clock. There are currently about 35 members in the club, drawn from quite a wide area around Belmond.

Invitations to the 4th annual Clarmond Amateur Golf tournament have been mailed out, along with posters to advertise the event in clubhouses throughout this part of the state. In its brief existance, the event has already acquired a reputation as one of north Iowa's finest tournaments.

This year, there is only one other golf meet scheduled for the weekend of July 1, and that's in southern Iowa. The committee in charge foresees that the entry here could easily approach the 140 mark, if the weatherman is kind.

One thing that Chairman George Hansen has been emphasizing in the preliminary plans is that Clarmond golfers ARE hosts for the tourney and must take a back seat if there is a larger field than can be accommodated. It's a little tough when you're having a party and don't know how many may come!

—PSS—

With the exception of Belmond's links ambassador, Fred Gordon, ALL Clarmond golfers will be required to qualify IN ADVANCE of the Sunday tournament date. Fred objected to being an exception, but the committee insisted that as a top contender for the championship he get in all his rounds on the tourney day. More specific instructions for qualifying arrangements for Clarmond members will be released soon.

—PSS—

In case you had been wondering, Bronco football games this fall will still be played on the old athletic field. Supt. Don Faris says the new gridiron will not be adequately sodded by the end of the current summer to permit its use next season.

During the current vacation period, the new field will be further leveled and the grass given the fullest possible opportunity to get a good start. Included in the property bought by the school district is a former farm well that provides a good water supply for generous sprinkling.

Also on the summer work docket is construction of a concrete curb around the gridiron to mark off the running track. Within a couple of seasons, Belmond should have a track that will enable BHS to play host to occasional meets—instead of the Broncs having to do all their running out of town.

F. Gordon Takes 1st Flight Prize At Hampton Meet

Clarmond Country club was unable to place a single contender in the championship flight at Sunday's annual Hampton Amateur golf tournament, but won a fair scattering of prizes in the lower flights. John Marschall, who will likely be in the field when the 4th annual Clarmond Amateur tournament is played July 1, took the Hampton title.

Fred Gordon, a former Hampton winner, had trouble on his qualifying round Sunday and ended up in the 1st flight — which he won with a 40-39 — 79.

Larry Larson, after qualifying with a 45, came back with a 40 to take the 4th flight. He was a stroke ahead of Bill Wright, Clarion, in the runner-up spot. Bud Trafford placed fourth in the 5th flight with a 93 and Floyd Niccum of Clarion was second in the 8th flight with a 113.

Quick Facts About HOUSEPOWER®

Trade Mark

The average home today uses about three times as much electricity as it did 15 years ago. Many more kinds of electrical appliances are now in daily use and need more HOUSEPOWER. What's more, today's appliances work faster and better and so use more power than earlier models. The electric utility companies have more than kept up with this increased demand and can supply your home with all the power you need. But four out of five homes are not wired to handle increased appliance and equipment loads. They suffer from low HOUSEPOWER.

These conditions cause low HOUSEPOWER:

1. Inadequate "service entrance." Inadequate service entrance capacity is the basic barrier to full HOUSEPOWER. To meet today's demand for electricity, you should have service entrance capacity of at least 100 amperes. This requires 3-wire service from the street. Also sufficient fuses or circuit-breakers to accommodate all the necessary branch circuits.

2. Inadequate branch circuits. Using too many fixtures and appliances on the same circuit overloads it, and none of them get enough power. They work inefficiently. Motors may even burn out—making costly repairs necessary. If the overload is too great, the circuit's fuse will blow, or its circuit-breaker will trip. You should, therefore, have enough circuits to distribute electricity to all your appliances without any one circuit having to accommodate too many of them. Some appliances like ranges and clothes dryers need special circuits just for themselves.

3. Insufficient outlets. Some home owners try to avoid this situation by using extension codrs and "Octopus" outlets (2- and 3-way plugs), or by plugging into lighting outlets. Such practices are unsightly and inconvenient and may be dangerous. Rearranging furniture to suit the location of outlets is, of course, no solution either. The only safe solution is to add more circuits and outlets.

These are the symptoms of low HOUSEPOWER:*

1) lights dimming when appliances are turned on.

2) blown fuses or tripped circuit-breakers.

5) irons, toasters, other heating appliances taking too long to heat up.

*If any of these symptoms are present in your home, you need a wriing check-up! Call your electric company or electrician. In most cases, you can get a wiring check-up without obligation. Adding the wiring necessary to give your home full HOUSEPOWER can often be done in a day; is not messy nor destructive to walls when done by a qualified electrician or electrical contractor. Remember, modernizing your wiring not only contributes to your comfort, but increases the value of your home, and equips it for appliances you may plan to buy in the next few years.

Only 20 Counties' Road Maintenance [illegible] Outstripped Wright's in 1954

Only 20 of Iowa's 99 counties spent more per mile on secondary road maintenance in 1954 than did Wright, according to computations released this week by the Iowa Taxpayers association. Wright county's per-mile figure was $429.-[illegible] compared to the state average of $338.50. Low was Chickasaw's $[illegible]19.18 and high was Scott's $[illegible]46.92.

Wright county's average maintenance expense ran appreciably higher than that of most of the other counties in its vicinity. Per mile cost in neighboring counties was shown to be: Franklin $219.63, Kossuth $[illegible].15, Hancock $253.16, Worth $[illegible], Cerro Gordo $288.-[illegible] Humboldt $296.66.

Commented Raymond E. Edwards, editor of The Iowa Taxpayer, "The '54 cash outlay to maintain 92.201 miles of secondary roads, including the 34,152 miles of farm-to-market roads we have in Iowa, came to over $31.2 million. This sum included $5.3 million which was transferred from county road construction funds and was used for what was termed maintenance.

"In view of this kind of money that is being spent throughout the state to keep county roads in good shape — and in view of the property tax headache we have (that's always getting worse) — we'd like to suggest to some of the 'high cost' counties that they take a look at what's going on in some of the 'low cost' counties."

RECORDS SIMPLY DON'T BACK UP POPULAR NOTION OF DRY CYCLES

Climatologists at Iowa State college have frequently been asked, "Are we in a dry cycle of years?" Weather records show that two, three or even more dry years have occurred in a row in the past. This is equally true of wet years, they said, according to the records. But do these dry or wet years mean a persistence in the weather? The records do not substantiate the "persistence" idea, they say.

If last year had less than average rainfall, past records indicate there is a 50-50 chance that the next year will have less than average rainfall. There is just as much chance of next year being wet as of being dry. If there was persistence in the weather, the climatologists point out, the chances would be better than 50-50 of the next year having less than average rainfall.

Past weather records in Iowa show that in the last 83 years precipitation has been greater than the average of 31.5 inches in 41 years and less than the average in 42 years. Looking at these dry years we find, the climatologists say, that just over 50 per cent of these dry years were followed by another dry year.

We can define a dry year more realistically, the climatologists point out, as one where the precipitation is two inches or more below normal. These have occured in 28 out of the past 83 years, or about one-third of the time. If there were no persistence in the weather we would have expected these dry years, by chance alone, to occur singly 19 times, two years in a row seven times and three years in a row between one and two times. Actually the records show that in 83 years, two dry years in a row have occurred seven times and three dry years in a row only once.

The climatologists say this indicates the rainfall from year to year is independent, and the chance of precipitation being at least two inches below normal in the next year is one out of three, regardless of what happened the previous year.

SIBLE UNION LEADERSHIP IS AT TO WORKERS AND COMMUNITY

Strength used to irresponsible purpose has an edifice tumbling down around the party demonstrating the muscle power years since Samson pulled his famous act. the innocent suffer along with the when self-destruction is indulged in.

Labor unions, in late years, have provided examples of the harm that misdirected can do those who possess it. And the threat Morrell & Company's withdrawl from Ottumwa as a classical demonstration.

Only a few years ago, if we remember cor- the Morrell workers at Ottumwa were mak- a big to-do about — among other things — holiday hams from their employer as a of "fringe benefit." It seems clear that their on relations with management have con- on the same level since.

Closing of the Morrell plant would have been not only to the union workers, but to ALL of company's 3,600 Ottumwa employees AND a shock to Ottumwa's entire economy. We can imagine that the situation would have evoked public sympathy for the near-sighted work- their personal plight.

One of the most important forces in raising American standard of living in the past few has been enlightened, constructive union ip. The whole nation is better off since the man has improved his economic status. But segments of the working class have suffered injury when goals have been pursued that justification in fact. The coal mining in- is a perfect case in point.

is no longer confined to metropolitan . Today it is a factor even in small com- like Belmond. We have our Grain Millers Local at the General Mills plant and only last month the employees of Central Telephone company voted to have the Communication Workers of American represent them in negotiations with management. It gratifies us that both the Grain Millers and the CWA have established reputations for responsible representation of their members. We sincerely hope — and confidently believe — that the day will never come when there's reason to question that this state of affairs has changed.

MANUFACTURER'S PROFIT-MAKING TIME LESS THAN 20 MINUTES IN EACH DAY

Just after writing the above editorial, your writer noted a piece in the Industrial Press Service to the effect that the average American manufacturing company devotes all but 19¼ minutes of each eight-hour working day to meeting the costs of doing business. These are the "profit minutes;" and if they are infringed upon, the manufacturing concern and all who depend upon it for a livelihood are headed for bad trouble.

Here's what the costs of operation require out of a day's time, we were told: materials and supplies, three hours and 55 minutes; wages and salaries, 2:19; taxes — federal, state and local, 3:57¼; repair and replacement of facilities, 29 minutes; research and promotion, :14½. That leaves less than 20 minutes to make the profit that attracts investors' money, makes possible further expansion and the creation of new jobs for the constantly growing supply of workers.

With such a relatively slender margin to go on, it is understandable that the Morrell management regarded capricious slow-downs and work stoppages among its wage personnel as intolerable — and why the Ottumwa plant has been operating in the red the past six years.

IOWANS IN HOUSE SOLIDLY SUPPORT HOOVER COMMISSION RECOMMENDATION

We would like to give credit, a bit belatedly, to Iowa's representatives in the U. S. Congress who on May 10 voted almost to a man (Schwengel of Davenport was an exception) in favor of a most significant economy measure. By a bipartisan majority of 222 to 156, the House of Representatives approved a motion by Rep. Allen (R., Ill.) to eliminate from the new Defense money bill a section that would have permitted the Appropriations Committee of either house of Congress to veto the closing of unnecessary, government business enterprises.

The Hoover Commission regarded this section, which was identical with one incorporated in the existing law, as one of the most serious barriers to the elimination of such facilities. This house action represented a clear victory for the Hoover Commission proposal to close down government owned and operated businesses such as coffee roasting plants, laundries and the like — many of which are relics of war-time necessity and now a plain extravagance.

Mr. Allen, our own representative, J. I. Dolliver of Fort Dodge, and the others who saw to elimination of this boondoggling section in Defense bill were serving well the best interests of their constituents and the country at large by their action. With all the rest of Iowa's Congressmen on the other side of the fence, we can only wonder what prompted the opposite stand of the First District's representative from Davenport.

Ten Belmond Lovelies Launch Contest to Pick Centennial Queen

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

"Centennial fever" seems to be spreading through the community at a great rate. Last Saturday, two months to the day remained until opening day of the celebration — but any member of the centennial committee will readily assure you that "It's later than you think." There's a mountainous pile of details to be gotten out of the way before we're going to "be ready for company."

Two pleasing evidences of preparation were to be noted on Main street last weekend. Johnston's furniture store was glistening under a snowy coat of fresh paint (for which, a vote of thanks to Landlord Kenneth Hanson, the store's one-time proprietor, from Tenant "Chip" Johnston and the Main street brotherhood, in general). And, by golly, even the post office flag pole was spiffed up with (if we're not mistaken) it's FIRST coat of paint.

What better time could others along the main drag find to do a bit of dolling up? We're all proud of the "old home town." Why don't we make the host of returning home-comers equally proud of us, come celebration time, by looking our VERY best? Take a look at those store fronts, window frames, etc., and see if a touch of paint wouldn't help. And if it WOULD . . . well, why not?

Mrs. George C. Johnson phones us that the farm her son Luther "Rock" Johnson operates west of town may be added to the list of locations hereabouts where GMI plastic balloons have descended. One of the big, transluscent "pillows" was discovered in a field there by "Rock," weekend before last. Like the others found in this vicinity, it had neither mailing card nor barograph attached to it. Mrs. J. says it comprises quite a challenge to find good uses to which the plastic can be put.

Belmond sports fans have watched with interest the performance of Foster Castleman with the N. Y. Giants this season, feeling that as the husband of a local girl (Joyce Waddington) he's more or less "their boy." Foster started out like a ball of fire, won the starting assignment at third base and in the early stages of the season was one of the National league's top-ranking hitters. He collected two or three homers in quick fashion, and everything looked rosy!

Than Castleman went into a terrific slump at the plate, couldn't buy a hit, and lost his position to "Whitey" Thompson, the Giants' former regular at the "hot corner." His unquestionable anguish was probably matched by that of his Belmond fans.

On Monday of last week, Foster was inserted in a game with the Cards as a pinch-hitter and came through with a homerun — than which there is no whicher, so far as pinch-hitting is concerned. Prior to Tuesday night's game, Ron Courson, Sam Leinbach, "Rock" Johnson and "Doc" Misner sent Foster a telegram of inspiration. He got in the line-up again after Thompson was "beaned" by a ball — and bang! Another homer! Maybe the boy just needs more support from his "home town" friends, huh?

Over the weekend, the telegram seemed still to be working its charm. Foster was back in the regular line-up. Saturday, he got one of only four hits the Giants were able to collect against Milwaukee; and Sunday he was two-for-four (including a triple) as New York spilled the Braves 5-3. His friends hope this indicates he's whipped that slump.

Some time ago, Administrator "Stu" Kutz had us mention that the Belmond Community hospital had its lost-and-found department so jammed with articles forgotten by departing patients (and visitors) that it was becoming a problem. Now he tells us that storage space is at such a premium at the hospital that a housecleaning is much in order. If you suspect you might have a possession among the abandoned items, better check up, pronto. They're going out the back door very shortly, Stu declares.

Wildlife Note: A young deer was seen Saturday evening headed for the city park. Bonnie Rogalia and Greg Kessler saw it cross Third street NE toward the south and chased it for a time. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bonte, enjoying the cool of dusk in their yard, saw it emerge between the houses of Otis Nelson and George Pals in the 200 block of Second street and proceed almost to the center flower bed in the park before veering off to the west and disappearing from sight. A premature Centennial visitor, perhaps?

John Anderson, editor and manager of the Britt News-Tribune, needs to get out of town more. Specifically, he most assuredly owes himself a trip to Belmond. He needs to find out what's doing in north Iowa's coming-est town. A crack we received from him in the mail last week makes it crystal clear that he's vegetated so long in Britt that a day's outing would do him a great deal of good.

Observed our brother scrivener, "Notice Belmond has added two acres to the cemetery. My worst fears have been substantiated."

We hereby issue John a personal invitation to pay Belmond a visit at Centennial time — or before, if he wishes — to see that we're NOT dying on the vine. We may not attract hoboes like some towns, but we're gaining progressive, permanent residents with [illegible] regularity. We can also [illegible] that our burial space [illegible] patch on our housing [illegible]!

RULES GOVERNING QUEEN CONTEST

1. Sale of Centennial Badges will determine Centennial Queen. Each badge sold by a Queen candidate will give her one vote. In addition, each purchaser of a badge may cast a ballot by virtue of the purchase, for any candidate of his choice. Badge will be marked on back to show when ballot has been cast, so there will be no duplication of votes on one purchase.

2. During first two weeks badges are on sale, the Queen candidates will have exclusive sales rights. On Friday, June 29, badges will go on general sale at Belmond business places. No "sale vote" for a candidate will be permitted unless badge is purchased directly from her. However, a ballot may be cast on each badge, regardless of where or from whom purchased.

3. Ballots may be cast at Centennial committee's booth on Main street on Tuesdays and Saturdays and at Iowa Electric Light and Power company office on other days of week. Queen candidates will be permitted to pick up ballot at time of badge sale, if purchaser wishes to cast vote at that time.

4. If sponsors wish to help Queen candidates during early days of contest to get off to good start, they may purchase blocks of badges for cash and then re-sell them among the organization members. No returns will be allowed in case of over-order. This arrangement will permit candidates to make a maximum number of sales contacts during the two weeks they have exclusive right to sell the badges.

5. Each Queen candidate will be rewarded at the end of the contest with a gift representing in cost 15 per cent of her total badge sales. No credit will be given a candidate on votes she receives by ballot; only on votes received for personal sales.

Marine, 20, Dies, Airman Seriously Injured in Crash

Second Wright county highway fatality of the current year was recorded Tuesday morning when the cars of two servicemen crashed head-on on the modified S-curve 7¼ miles south of the Greyhound station on No. 69. Victim of the collision was a Marine, Pfc. Kenneth Peterson, 20, of Schafer, Minn. Hospitalized at Clarion and reported in serious condition was Ralph Ennis, 23, on the staff of the U. S. Air Force radar station at Waverly.
